One thing I have not written thee, and knowing thee likes to preserve all such things, I will tell thee what occurred at the close of one of our meetings. A man stepped into the open area, around which the Doukhobors were yet standing, and made a remarkable communication.

When he was a very young man, he said, he remembered that in the year 1818 two of our Friends (Stephen Grellet and William Allen), came to their meeting in Russia, and one of them said if they, the Doukhobors, continued faithful to their religious and peace principles, the time would come when they would have to endure persecutions, "and many would have to lay down their lives in prison, and in various ways; and their property would be taken from them, and they would be driven from their homes and exiled; and when all this was done, God would hear their cry and answer their petition, and would make a way for them—take them out of that land to a strange land, and to another nation, another people, and another language or speaking people, where they would make their homes, and when they were settled in that land, God would send some of our people [Friends] to visit them."

"And I have lived," he said, "to see that all fulfilled this day!" And he bowed his aged head almost to the earth in thankfulness to God. His name was Evan Marshintoff. He was a remarkably smart old man of ninety-seven years of age. J. G. [Job Gidley] said when they went to the fields, he out-walked many of our younger men.

There are several hundred Doukhobors still in prison in Siberia. Word came a few days ago that there was no hope of their ever being released. The weeping and wailing was hard to be witnessed,—to see wives and mothers mourning for their loved ones in that far-off land, and no remedy! It is hard to think of what it must be to endure such trials. Oh! if your Nation and ours could intercede for them, that the captives might be set free, and sent to their loved ones here!

WHO would come to others' aid
Must the price of grief have paid;
Who would play the pilot's part
Must the way have got by heart;
Who would be another's guide
Must by pain be qualified.

—Ella Fuller Maitland.

Friends' Intelligencer and Journal.

EDITORS:

HOWARD M. JENKINS. LYDIA H. HALL. RACHEL W. HILLBORN.

PHILADELPHIA, TWELFTH MONTH 9, 1899.

Please address business letters to "Friends' Intelligencer, N. W. Cor. 5th and Cherry Streets, Philadelphia, Box 924."

Communications and contributions to "Editors Friends' Intelligencer," same address. Please add "Box 924"—as above.

RITUAL LEADS TO ROME.

THE question is asked and discussed, in England, and on this side of the ocean also, Why does the English Church tend Romeward? Why is it that the forces of the High Church party, the "Ritualists," increase, and the earnestness, the activity, of churchmen find expression so largely in an imitation of the Roman system?

That this is the tendency in England is not seriously denied. The "High" section of the Anglican Church has far outgrown in the past twenty years the "Low" section, and has also passed beyond the "Broad" section. So far has this been the case that in many churches the ceremonial has been openly made so much like that of churches belonging to the Roman connection that the difference can hardly be defined. The clergy in the ritualistic Anglican churches hold their places by English appointment, while Catholic priests derive theirs directly or indirectly from Pope Leo, but other than this the distinction between them is unimportant. When, recently, the two Anglican Archbishops ruled against the use of incense and of lighted candles, in churches, under certain circumstances, it was felt that only the edge of the question had been touched.

To those who look upon such subjects from the standpoint of Protestants and Puritans, and of that Puritanism which George Fox preached, there never has been any difficulty in discerning why a ceremonial church tended toward increase of ceremony, or why one in which the priest assumes to stand between man and God should more and more incline to ecclesiastical rigidity. Rome's great organization is the appropriate outgrowth of that inclination in the human mind toward "authority" and ceremony, and wherever a religious body gives itself up to these, whether consciously or unconsciously, its tendency is naturally toward the perfection of the system, toward the higher, fuller, more complete realization of the ideal.

This is seen among very plain people, and very simple religions. The steps by which the plain meeting-place developed into the grand, decorated, and adorned cathedral can be readily traced in history, and almost observed in the experience of a single lifetime. The desire for "enrichment" of ritual is well known in our own day among certain Protestant bodies. The refinements of taste, the æsthetic demand, tend continually to take on that which pleases the senses. If the road of Ritualism be once entered upon, it leads straight away to that ritual which is most elaborate and most impressive, and if deference to "authority" in religion is once well seated, the logical growth is toward that authority which has for the longest time, with the greatest completeness, been established. In England it is easy to see that those who love that which is Papal rather than Protestant are unlikely to be satisfied finally with anything which has not the full Papal development.

In brief, Ritualism grows by what it feeds on. When form supersedes spirituality, when pomp overthrows simplicity, the face of the church is set Romeward. Rome holds the ground at that extreme. No other system compares with that which the Italian church supplies in formality, and ceremonial, and subordination of the individual authority. Where any religious body permits its forces to incline upon that side its tendency is plain.

IMPORTANT action was taken by the Legislature of Georgia on the 28th ult., in defeating, by a vote of 137 to 3, a measure called the Hardwick bill, designed to prevent all colored men from voting. It proposed a constitutional amendment by which nobody should be a competent voter unless he could not only read and write any paragraph of the Constitution, but also were able to understand and give "a reasonable interpretation" of it. Exception was made, however, that any man who was entitled to vote in Georgia, in January, 1867, or the "lineal descendant" of such man, might vote without being able to understand and to interpret, etc. The law would have put the vote of every colored man, and of many white men—those who were not "lineal descendants" of voters of 1867—at the mercy of the board of election officers in each voting-place, and was on its face a most unjust and dangerous measure. And the Legislature, it is encouraging to say, almost unanimously took that view of it.

DR. C. H. PARKHURST, of New York, in his sermon on "Thanksgiving Day," referred to a subject that recently had some consideration in these columns—"strenuousness" in life.

"The thing most wanted," he said, "in this age of the world, is the hero, the 'strenuous life,'—not understanding by the phrase that passion for knocking somebody over, or shooting somebody down, that springs from an over-wrought physical development, but such sense of moral strength and such an enthusiasm of moral doing as shall cheerfully and confidently array itself against the forces that invisibly make for evil in this struggling world."

THE meeting for Sufferings of London Yearly Meeting has authorized the opening of an Indian Famine Relief Fund, the immediate object being to relieve the distress in the district of India where the Friends' missionaries are at work. The number of persons in all India now receiving relief is 828,000, and of these one half are in the Central Provinces.

BIRTHS.

MILLER.—In St. Louis, Missouri, Eighth month 31, 1899, to Zaidee T. and George B. Miller, twin daughters, who are named Zaidee Tennent, and Maria Tevis; grandchildren of Caroline H. and the late Francis Miller, of Sandy Spring, Maryland.

McKEE.—Eleventh month 22, 1899, to James Herbert and Emily Mitchell McKee, of Philadelphia, a daughter, who is named Margaret Cloyd.

MARRIAGES.

PHILIPS—CRANSTON.—Under the care of Wilmington Monthly Meeting, at the residence of the bride's parents, Twelfth month 1, 1899, Edward M. Philips, son of Caroline E. and the late Isaac D. Philips, of Wilmington, Del., and Bertha Cranston, daughter of John A. and Martha S. Cranston, of Newport, Del.

YARNALL—WATSON.—Fourth-day, Eleventh month 29, 1899, under the care of the Monthly Meeting of Friends held at Green Street, Philadelphia, William Smedley Yarnall, of Media, Pa., and Susan Verree, daughter of James V. and Elizabeth M. Watson, of Philadelphia.

DEATHS.

CORSE.—In Baltimore, Md., in the afternoon of Eleventh month 14, 1899, Caroline D. Corse, daughter of the late William and Deborah S. Corse; a member of Baltimore Yearly Meeting.

SMEDLEY.—At Bryn Mawr, Pa., suddenly, Twelfth month 1, 1899, Dr. Isaac G. Smedley, in his 45th year; a member of the Monthly Meeting of Friends of Philadelphia.

He was a son of Thomas D. and Elizabeth G. Smedley, and grandson of Isaac and Lydia L. Garrett, the latter an esteemed minister. His wife is a granddaughter of Benjamin and Margaret E. Hallowell, and of Edward and Ann A. Townsend, all well known in the Society of Friends.

Beloved by a large circle of friends and patrons, his accidental death has caused many sorrowing hearts. **

[Dr. Smedley was accidentally killed, at Bryn Mawn Station, in attempting to get on a moving railroad train. He was unable, the daily newspaper report says, to retain his grasp of the hand-rail, and being turned about, his head struck on the steps of the adjoining car, causing fatal injury. He fell on the station platform unconscious, and died a few minutes later in the waiting-room. He was born near West Chester, Pa., Second month 10, 1855, graduated at Swarthmore College in 1876, and at Hahnemann Medical College, 1880. He was regarded as among the foremost specialists in gynecology.]

SULLIVAN.—At her residence, Monrovia, Md., on the morning of Eleventh month 26, 1899, Annie E., wife of John W. Sullivan, in the 54th year of her age.

She was a highly esteemed member of Bush Creek Particular and Pipe Creek Monthly Meeting. A faithful wife and loving mother. *

WARNER.—At the residence of her son-in-law, J. A. Cadwallader, Titusville, Pa., Eleventh month 23, 1899, Edith Weatherby Warner, widow of George Warner, of Burlington, N. J., and formerly of New York, aged 91 years; a member of New York Monthly Meeting.

WILLETS.—At her home, in Andrews, Huntington county, Ind., Eighth month 24, 1899, Albina Willets, wife of Philo Willets, and daughter of the late Charles and Phebe Shinn, of Maple Grove, in her 60th year.

Compelled by a long and tedious illness to change a busy and active life for one of entire inactivity, her patience and Christian disposition bore a true likeness to the One whose follower she had been her entire life. She was ever faithful to the duties of life, always ready with a comforting word for the afflicted, open handed to the needy, and a most devoted wife, mother, and sister. C.

ELIZABETH R. HARRIS.

At her residence in Fountain City, Indiana, on the evening of Tenth month 7, 1899, Elizabeth R. Harris, widow of Thompson Harris, passed out of a life of prolonged suffering to the quiet repose of death.

Some sixteen months ago Elizabeth became afflicted with a singular form of disease that baffled the skill of physicians, and which gave her great suffering, as she was unable to breathe when lying down, either day or night. This distressed condition continued for over two months, when it suddenly gave way, and although greatly reduced, she gradually regained a moderate degree of health, which continued through the winter and early spring. As the warm weather came on her old trouble began to annoy her; and that she might have the benefit of the skilled physicians of Richmond, she went to the home of her brother, Joseph C. Ratliff, to stay for treatment, but after three weeks of great suffering, she was brought home without having received any benefit. Her days and nights of inability to lie down passed into weeks, and even months, and in a practice of over fifty years I have never witnessed such prolonged and agonizing suffering. That her frail and delicate organization could endure so much so long was a marvel to her physicians, and to her dear, loving children, who so faithfully watched over and administered to her many wants.

During all this time her mind remained clear and unclouded, except when stupor was brought on by the administration of medicine which her great suffering made unavoidable. But her constitutional vigor gradually gave way, and on the evening of the 7th she peacefully passed into the sleep of death.

Elizabeth was the daughter of Cornelius and Mary Ratliff, of Richmond, Indiana, and was consequently a birthright member of the Society of Friends, and although living too far away to attend its meetings, her life was a fitting illustration of its teaching. Her whole life was spent in efforts to make the society in which she moved purer and better, and this made her life a blessing to all around her. And while those of us who were so intimately acquainted with her will greatly feel her loss, it is to her dear children and grandchildren that her death comes with its crushing weight. Especially is this true with Sadie Williamson and her two dear little boys. Just at a time when grandmother's counsel will be so much needed by them, death has taken her to a clime where suffering and sorrow will be unknown. Let us hope that this bereavement will be the means of bringing them nearer to Him who has promised to be a father to the fatherless, and a guide to all who will put their trust in Him. T. W. T.

ABRAM R. VAIL.

Near Quakertown, Hunterdon county, N. J., on Seventh-day afternoon, Eleventh month 25, 1899, Abram R. Vail, in the 77th year of his age; an elder and clerk of Quakertown Monthly Meeting.

The death of this valued Friend was very unexpected. He had gone to a peach orchard on a distant part of his farm, with an employé, and while engaged there was stricken with heart-disease, quickly becoming unconscious, and dying in a few moments after those working near had observed his condition and hurried to him.

Abram R. Vail was descended from an old family of Friends in New Jersey. He was born Second month 16, 1823, near New Market, Middlesex county, his father being John A. Vail, and his mother's maiden name Deborah Harned. His father died when he was nine years of age. He remained with his mother until 1851, when he bought and moved to the farm near Quakertown, where he had since lived. In 1845 he married Jane D., daughter of Jonah Vail, who, with eight children—three sons and five daughters—survives.

He was all his life much attached to the principles and testimonies of the Society of Friends, and very consistent in supporting them. To the interests of the Society he ungrudgingly devoted time and labor for many years. Though living a long distance from the places where his Quarterly Meeting—Bucks—convenes, he was very seldom absent from these gatherings, where his presence was much appreciated by many Friends. The brief testimonies which he occasionally uttered bore evidence of having emanated from the alone source of all true ministry. It was increasingly his concern to live each day as though it might be his last, and we have the consoling belief that though suddenly called, he was found with his lamp trimmed and burning, ready for the change from time to eternity.

The funeral, which was large and solemn, was held on the 29th ult., in the meeting-house to which he wended his way twice a week for so many years to worship with his fellow members, in spirit and in truth, that Heavenly Father who had been so kind to him, and in serving whom he had found his greatest pleasure. Several testimonies were borne to the worth and uprightness of his Christian life among the children of men. "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace." **

DOUKHOBOR REPORT.

FURTHER subscriptions to the Fund are acknowledged below. The report closes at noon on Third-day, the 5th. We have made no further payments, and think it may be best to retain for the present, such sums as may come in, to see where the next "pinch" may occur.

THE "INTELLIGENCER" FUND.

Sadsbury Preparative Meeting, Pa.,	$10.00
Individual members of Sadsbury Prep. M.,	9.00
Friends, Madison, Wis.,	2.00
L. A., N. Y.,	25.00
M. A. J., Penrose, Ill.,	5.00
E. B. S., Phila.,	5.00
W. P. F.,	5.00

$61.00

Balance last week, 28.25

In hand, $89.25.

NEWS OF FRIENDS.

ON First-day morning, 25th ult., Henry R. Fell and wife (Trenton, N. J.), took Joshua Washburn and myself to Crosswicks, where we attended the meeting. We found a large meeting and First-day school, and an interesting company of Friends, both members and non-members. Returning to Trenton at evening, on Second- and Third-days we attended Burlington Quarterly Meeting at Trenton. It was large and of much interest. Lydia H. Price, Mary Heald Way, Samuel S. Ash, and others were in attendance, and had acceptable service. It was remarked by a Friend after the meeting that all of the sermons seemed "dove-tailed" together, making one complete service. Trenton Meeting is alive in all its arrangements of kitchen, parlor, lecture-room, library, etc., and the Young Friends' Association, held on Second-day evening, and largely attended, evinced active, working, energetic organization, bringing help and strength to the meeting.

On Fourth-day morning I took train for Flemington, N. J., and thence went by carriage, about seven miles, to Quakertown, N. J., to attend the funeral of Abram Vail, who died suddenly, at his home, on Seventh-day previous.

A very large gathering of friends and neighbors assembled at the little meeting-house, where he had rendered such long and faithful service, many more than could get in the house, and a deep sense of loss seemed to be felt by all, especially his neighbors and friends. The man who brought us to the train said of him: "Abram Vail was a man who treated everyone, whether rich or poor, alike. If he told you anything, you might feel sure that it was so; if he said he would do anything he always did it, and if he said he would not do a thing he never did it." He seemed to have just finished his work; had just completed his new barn to replace the one burned last spring by incendiary, and it is a model of convenience and completeness. But a short time before his death he had an interview with the undertaker, and gave him full instructions with regard to his funeral. On Seventh-day he went with his men to the peach-orchard to cut out some unfruitful peach-trees, marked the trees, then said that he had walked too fast, producing a pain in his chest, and sat down. His men shortly noticed that his head was bowed down upon his hands, and went to him, finding him unconscious, and he quickly passed away.

Samuel Sharp, Dr. Franklin Haines, and Alvin Haines were in attendance, and spoke at the funeral. I went to Langhorne that evening, (Joshua had returned home on Fourth-day afternoon), and attended the Quarterly Meeting on Fifth-day; very large attendance and good meeting. There was a large and interesting company of young people in attendance. [Our friend gives some other data, which were already in type.—EDS.] R. S. H.

Bucks Quarterly Meeting, at Langhorne, Penna., on the 30th ult., is reported as "one of the largest ever held. The galleries were filled with young people, many of whom were from George School."

Several visiting Friends were present who had service in the meeting. A report in a daily journal says: "Robert S. Haviland offered a prayer of thanksgiving. Isaac H. Hillborn spoke of the power of the living Christ to work in the souls of men for their salvation. Robert S. Haviland interpreted three of the Beatitudes. He said the meek are not those that are self distrustful, but are those rather who are willing to trust God that He will give them strength to use their gifts, however small, in His service. Joel Borton expressed thanks that during the past year representatives of twenty-six nations assembled in a Peace Conference at The Hague. Joseph B. Livezey defined a Christian as one who knows God in his heart, and said the object of religious meetings is to come into a closer knowledge of our Heavenly Father."

In the business meeting it was reported by the Committee on Friends' Boarding Home that about $5,000 had been subscribed toward the required endowment fund. Wesley Haldeman and Mary R. Watson were reappointed clerks.

ON the basis of results of previous exhibitions at Paris it is assumed that 52,588,280 people will pass through the turnstiles, at the Exposition of 1900, and it is possible that the total number may reach 60,000,000.

EXCURSION DAYS IN ENGLAND.

V.

IN NORTH WALES.

THREE of the most interesting and picturesque places in North Wales are Llangollen, Bettwys-y-Coed, and Beddgelert. Their names, especially the second, may repel, or at least discourage, the average reader. But all of them are pretty enough in Welsh—Thlangollen, Bettoos-y-coed, Beth-gelert. The o in the first name is long, and in the last one the th is soft, as in lithe, and the g hard. There is no soft g in Welsh.

However, all Welsh names are good enough to a Welshman, and especially to one from beyond sea on a pilgrimage to the homes of his forefathers. The fact that mere Angles or Saxons do not find them always conforming to the ideas that originated in the marshes and sand dunes on the shores of the Baltic sea, is of no consequence at all to a descendant of Rhirid the Wolf, or Llewelyn ap Gruffyd. I set forward from Shrewsbury to Llangollen, therefore, without hesitation on such account, and reached the little town late in the summer afternoon, with pleasant anticipations of enjoying its attractions.

The "Vale" of Llangollen has long been famous. It is the narrow valley of the Dee, which here flows from west to east, but presently bends northward to pass under the walls of Chester, and form a wide estuary of the Irish sea. The hills about the town are nearly mountains; they rise abruptly on all sides, to the south the range of the Berwyns, upon the other side detached hills with local—and very Welsh—names. The bridge that here spans the Dee was accounted once a "wonder of the world," and even in our day when most wonders have ceased to be wonderful, it is a quaint and interesting structure, with four pointed arches resting on triangular piers. There is, to me, always an attraction in a good old piece of masonry, and this one was built in the fourteenth century, so it has stood for at least five hundred years. The stream beneath is broad, judged by the English standard, and when it is full must be a noble river, but when I saw it, in the warm and dry season, it was rushing over its rocky bed, a partial flood only.

There are many things to be "done" at Llangollen by the faithful tourist, but some of them I unfaithfully neglected. There is an ancient house, in the outskirts of the town, "Plas Newydd," the New Place, where the "Ladies of Llangollen" for many years lived. Their story has been often told; it is romantic but not startling. They were two young Irish women, Lady Eleanor Butler and the Hon. Sarah Ponsonby, members of distinguished families, who secretly left their homes together, under a mutual vow of friendship and celibacy, in 1776, and coming to Llangollen somewhat later, lived here at Plas Newydd for fifty years. Lady Eleanor, who was the older by seventeen years, died in 1829, at the age of ninety, and her companion in 1831. In their day, many visitors came to see them—and ply them with questions, no doubt—and though nearly seventy years have passed, the tradition of them, and the house in which they lived, which is "shown," remain, as I have said, an attraction of the town. In the churchyard you may see the stone raised to their memory, and that of Mary Carryl, their faithful housekeeper, who with her "savings" bought for them the "freehold" of Plas Newydd, and died in 1809.

I did not climb to see the old ruins, Dinas Bran (Castle Crow—dinas means a fortress, a defensive place), north of the town, nor could I take the pretty ride on the little canal boats, down to Chirk Castle, as I should have liked, for the reason that the boats only run in the afternoon, and left earlier than my arrival. The ruins of the old Cistercian Abbey of Valle Crucis are near Llangollen, and are counted among its attractions.

From Llangollen the railway westward follows patiently up the Dee, crossing and recrossing among picturesque wooded hills. The scenery is regarded as among the finest in Wales. We pass through Glendower's land—Owen Glendower, who made the latest desperate effort at Welsh independence. At Corwen, eleven miles from Llangollen, on the lintel of the south door of the little church, is a rude cross which he is said to have carved with his dagger. Most of the land around Corwen belonged to him, and here he gathered his men, in 1403, to march to the fatal field of Shrewsbury, to join "Hotspur" Percy, against Henry IV., and be lampooned in the pages of Shakespeare. The Bard of Avon was not without Saxon distaste for Celtic fervor.

Llangollen is in Denbighshire, but Bala, where I alighted near noon-day, is in Merionethshire, from which county a large part of the Pennsylvania Welsh settlers in Penn's time came. Our Gwynedd company, 1698, were from the neighborhood of Bala, and Hugh Roberts, of Merion, (he had migrated in 1683), who induced them to come, was from Kiltalgarth, on the Tryweryn, north-west of the town.

If it had not been for historical and ancestral associations, I might have found Bala rather tame and dull. It certainly was quiet. The people seemed to keep very closely in-doors; perhaps, however, they were away from home,—the citizen to whom I had a letter was, and would not be back for a day or two. There was no noise of any sort. The streets were practically deserted. The pensive passage of the little hotel 'bus between the station and the White Lion inn was the most turbulent and exciting movement I saw. For awhile, in the afternoon, it rained—but not heavily, just mildly, wetly, depressingly. When it ceased, I set off in an open cart for Coed-y-foel, (Welsh: wood of the bare hill), to see the farm and old farmhouse whence Edward Foulke removed to Gwynedd, two hundred years ago. This was a pleasant drive. In front of the old place flows the Tryweryn, a pretty stream that comes down from the west out of the Arenig hills, and below, near its junction with the Dee, becomes a foaming and rapid little river.

The railway from Bala westward toward the strongholds around Snowdon, where the Welsh resisted the Normans, in the days of Llewelyn, follows up the Tryweryn, and above Fron Goch (red breast) enters the hills. It is a wild country, rather cheerless and desolate, with little wood, not so pleasing as the Dee below Bala. I set off in the morning, and before noon had gone $25\frac{1}{2}$ miles to Blaenau Festiniog. This is a new town, quite clean and neat, the centre of great slate quarries. It is said to have 11,000 people; they must live very compactly. The mountains in which the town is enclosed are being ripped and torn in great gashes by the quarrymen. As I must change cars here, and transfer my luggage as well from the station of the London and Great Western road to that of the London and Northwestern, about half a mile, I decided to do still more—to take the ride south over what is called the Toy Railway, 13 miles, to Port Madoc. The road was built to haul slate, in 1836, but now is mainly used for passengers. Its gauge is but two feet. An hour is consumed in going the thirteen miles, and you go fast enough over the heavy grades and around the sharp curves. It is a fine ride.

Returning over the same way, I went north by the railway to Bettwys-y-coed, about $12\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Blaenau Festiniog. There is first a tunnel, two miles long, by which we pass to the valley of the Lledyr, and then, near Bettws, we pass to the valley of the Conway. To the left there is a view of Snowdon, for we are now in the region, "Snowdonia," of the most romantic and wild of the North Welsh scenery. I came to Bettws by mid-afternoon, and employed the remaining hours of daylight mostly in walking and climbing. The attractions of Bettws, as they appeared to me in my brief stay, exceeded those of any other of the Welsh "tourist" towns. There are excellent hotels,—at least three,—and many pleasant looking boarding houses. The aspect of the place is clean, cheerful, and refined. It is an open space surrounded by fine mountains; on one of them the purple heather was growing luxuriantly, giving a lovely color in the declining sun. Through the interval flows the Llugwy, coming in from the west, and just below it joins the Conway, flowing to the north into the Irish Sea. The old bridge over the Llugwy, the Pont-y-pair, is a structure of the 15th Century.

From Bettws, on the following day, I took the coach ride to Beddgelert, by Capel Curig, and Pen-y-gwrid, (Pen-e-goo-rid). It was one of the pleasantest of my excursions. The weather was fine and the roads good. I enjoyed the day. An evening ride by rail from Bettws took me northward down the Conway to Llandudno Junction, fifteen miles, and turning eastward there along the seacoast, I was at Colwyn Bay, the home of our friend William Edward Turner, before darkness had set in. H. M. J.

WHAT silences we keep year after year
With those who are most near to us and dear,
We live beside each other day by day
And speak of myriad things, but seldom say
The full sweet word that lies just in our reach Beneath the commonplace of common speech.

—M. Sangster.

GEORGE R. DAVIS, ex-Representative in Congress and Director-General of the Chicago Exposition of 1893, died on the 25th ult., in Chicago, at the age of sixty-two years. He was born in Massachusetts. He was elected Mayor of Chicago in 1878.

JOSEPH CARPENTER.

From "Personal Reminiscences," by Aaron M. Powell.

WHAT Joseph and Mary Post and family were to me in my early and later anti-slavery labors on Long Island, that were Joseph and Margaret Carpenter and family, in Westchester county. Joseph Carpenter was the "Friend Joseph" mentioned with so much appreciation by Lydia Maria Child in her "Romance of the Republic." She was for a time, during the period of her editorship of the National Anti-Slavery Standard, an inmate of their very pleasant country home at Mamaroneck. She was for many years, and until her death the intimate friend of the daughter, Esther Carpenter Pierce, who still survives in a serene, beautiful old age, at Pleasantville. It was the grand daughter, who bore the honored name of Lydia Maria Child Pierce, a young woman of much promise, who was of the first graduating class of Swarthmore College. Joseph Carpenter's Mamaroneck home was also one of the important stations on the "Underground Railway," and sheltered and helped on his or her way to freedom in Canada many an escaping fugitive from slavery.

JOSEPH CARPENTER, OF MAMARONECK.

(From Aaron M. Powell's "Personal Reminiscences.")

My Westchester anti-slavery meetings, which were arranged for by Joseph Carpenter, and to which he accompanied me in Mamaroneck, New Rochelle, Port Chester, and other points, were attended by limited audiences of white people, and by more colored people, resident in the different localities. There was much prejudice against colored people in this region, so much that at that time in New Rochelle colored people were denied burial in any of its cemeteries or burial places. To meet this difficulty Joseph Carpenter set apart a portion of one of the fields of his Mamaroneck farm as a burial plot for the colored people. By his direction his own body was interred therein. I visited him a short time previous to his death, when he acquainted me with this arrangement for the disposition of his body, as a last testimony against the then prevailing—and alas! still prevalent—unchristian color prejudice. In accordance with his wish I also attended his funeral, and to those assembled bore my testimony to his memory and great personal worth. It was an occasion long to be remembered. His body, clothed in his wonted plain, Friendly costume, was placed for burial, as he had also directed, in a plain, unstained coffin. At the conclusion of the services the coffin was carried out upon the lawn, in the shade of the trees he loved so well, and then those in attendance, colored and white, gathered about it to take a last look at the face of him whom they loved and revered. Then it was borne by colored men, who had requested the privilege, to its final resting-place among those of the proscribed colored people whom he befriended.

At a later period the body of Margaret Carpenter, the wife, a woman of sterling worth, sharing fully the deep feeling of her husband concerning the great injustice from which the colored people, both bond and free, were sufferers, was also interred in this unique, and now historic, burial plot.

For Friends' Intelligencer.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA CLIMATE.

THE distinctive features of various climates, as far as they relate to health, are determined, for most part, by temperature, rainfall, and altitude.

Southern California has its own special climate, different from that of any other in the United States, because its rainfall comes in a frostless winter season. This combination results in a peculiar vegetation. A vegetation varied, moreover, by a range in the rainfall so great, that in one season it may be six times as much as in another. The deciduous fruit trees and a few others, like the sycamore and cottonwood, come into leaf in the spring and shed them in the autumn, as in the East, while the evergreen trees and shrubs, native and imported, including the orange, lemon, and olive, give to the vegetation above the surface of the ground, the appearance of perpetual summer.

The most marked distinction, however, in comparison, not only with the Mississippi Valley and Eastern States, but with the plateau region of Colorado and New Mexico, is the growth of grasses. In all the districts specified the ground is bare in winter, and clothed with grass or growing grain in summer, while here the ground is bare under the long drought from spring through the summer, and until the rains of the late fall and winter start the verdure in the valleys and on the hills.

The perennial trees and shrubs which have survived in a remarkable manner for six months or more without rain, also put on new life with the first touch of rain. The citrus fruit trees, which have been sustained by irrigation, now put forth new growth and begin to perfect their fruit, so that there is really an awakening of nature in the early winter, in response to the rain, corresponding to the new life at the opening of spring in other climes, on the return of warmth.

It follows that the health-seeker, who does not desire a dry climate but wishes to avoid high altitudes or the cold barren winters of other districts and to come under the invigorating influences of new spring-life, must not stop short of Southern California.

* * *

Another climatic contrast arises from the general atmospheric drift which, in the latitude of the United States, is from westerly to easterly, owing to which the climate of the Atlantic States is dominated by the great extremes of heat and cold from the continent, while that of the Pacific States is controlled by the moderate temperatures of the ocean.

Comparisons to find similar climates, should be made on corresponding latitudes, between the western coasts of continents or between the eastern coasts. Alaska, British Columbia, Washington, Oregon, and California should be compared with Norway, British Isles, France, Spain, and Morocco, while Labrador, Nova Scotia, the Atlantic States, Cuba, and Porto Rica are matched, in general climatic conditions, by Siberia, Japan, China, Cochin China, and the Philippines.

A striking illustration of the difference between off-ocean and off-land drift of the atmosphere is shown by the fact that at Santa Barbara, California, nothing is said of the coming of the sea-breeze, which at a New Jersey resort is of so much daily importance, and although the city is, in latitude, south of any point in Europe, and south even of Tangiers, Africa, with sunshine every day of summer, there is scarcely an awning to be found on any hotel or dwelling in the place.

* * *

But, where can an invalid seeking a dry climate, find, at the same time, low altitude and warmth? Southern California, over most of its area, has almost as large a percentage of humidity as the Atlantic States, because of its proximity to the ocean. The relative humidity of sea-board and interior points and other data, are shown in the table below, taken from the W. S. Weather Bureau records for the year 1898:

	Elevation above sea level.	Lowest Tem'ture.	Relative Humidity.
Philad'a, Pa.	117 feet	8°	71 per cent.
Denver, Col.	5290 "	—20°	48 " "
Santa Fé, N. Mex.	6998 "	—6°	45 " "
Phoenix, Ariz.	1076 "	23°	36 " "
Los Angeles, Cal.	330 "	31°	68 " "

Phoenix has the lowest per centage of humidity of any regular station of the Bureau, and at the same time has a comparatively low altitude, while the minimum temperature for the year 1898 was not as low as that of Denver by 43 degrees. In summer Arizona is too hot for comfort, but, under special railroad rates, invalids can change for that season, to the delightful Pacific coast resorts. While consumptives are sometimes made to feel that they are not wanted in Colorado or California they are welcomed in Arizona, for it is claimed that the germ of the disease cannot survive in that dry climate.

Pasadena, California.

H. G.

THE SOUTH AFRICAN WAR.

Editors FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER :

I HAVE read with pain and regret several paragraphs and an extract in your issue of Eleventh month 4, bearing on the war which is now raging in South Africa between Great Britain and the Boers.

It would be most unfortunate if the readers of your journal formed their opinions on all controversial subjects from the perusal of one-sided and misleading statements similar to those to which I have alluded. Take the extract from the Review of Reviews, in which the following statement occurs : " Yet England for months has been preparing for war on a most elaborate scale, with no pretext that any one could give except that President Kruger was not willing to make the term of years requisite for naturalization quite as short as Mr. Chamberlain thought it ought to be."

In the light of events which have taken place since the invasion of British territory by the Boers, the very reverse of this has been disclosed. The amount of preparation which has been made by the Boers, extending over the past eighteen years, for the eventual struggle to supplant the British power in South Africa, has astonished the British Government. The funds out of which these preparations have been made has been almost entirely obtained from British subjects in the Transvaal ; through whose industry and enterprise the Boer government has been enabled to purchase the cannon and shot now being used against their countrymen.

The trustfulness of our Government that some way might up to the very last be found to avoid an appeal to arms and the reluctance to send troops to South Africa has called forth even from the friends of peace severe condemnation.

Lord Salisbury and our aged Queen, perhaps two of the most earnest and devoted friends of peace in Europe, have striven to the utmost of their great power to avoid the war, but without success.

The alternative of an appeal to arms or a retirement altogether from South Africa was clearly the issue which our Government had to face, and is openly avowed now by the Boers themselves.

Your remarks, under the heading of " Current Events," are so misleading, that in the cause of truth and fairness they ought not to go without correction. You say in the second paragraph that the Boers captured nearly three thousand British troops. [This was the report from London at the time the paragraph was put in print.—EDS.] The fact is that in the engagement to which you refer, 843 men were captured. Then the quotation you make from Dr. Leyds, who is carrying on at Brussels an organized propaganda of falsehood and misrepresentation, to try and induce France to interfere in the struggle, should not go without comment. To report " that the English are arming the native races of South Africa against the Boers," merely upon the statement of a firebrand like Dr. Leyds, is a slander on our countrymen. The fact is that the British agents in South Africa are straining every nerve to keep the natives quiet.

In conclusion, may I withdraw the attention of your readers from the Review of Reviews to the responsible utterances of the Prime Minister of England at the Guildhall so recently as November 9. Referring to the objects of the war, he said : " We seek no gold fields—we seek no territory—what we desire is equal rights for all races, and safety for our fellow subjects and for the Empire."

Your friend, truly,

T. SILK WILSON.

Hanover Square, Upper Broughton, Manchester, Eng.

P. S.—I do not wish for one moment to defend this war or any war, but plead only that in approaching the consideration of all subjects where difference of opinion is sure to ensue, your facts should be fairly and impartially stated.

T. S. W.

Comment by the Intelligencer.

The severity of our friend's communication, in its opening paragraphs, we regret, and we trust he does, also. So far as our very brief reports of the progress of the South African war are concerned, we endeavor of course, to give the facts, and nothing else, but the dispatches sent hither from London and other points, are often confused, contradictory, and incomplete. The censorship over them exercised by one of the combatants no doubt contributes to these faults.

We may say, without concealment, that we have no sympathy with the war waged by Great Britain upon the Boers. Her strength is so immeasurably superior to theirs that she was sure of gaining every just end without resort to arms, and we are glad to say that a great number of English men and women, entitled to the respect both of ourselves and our correspondent, did not cease to say so, until the unhappy conflict began. We have no doubt that they now hear the echoes from South Africa, daily, with sorrow, as we do, and look forward to the inevitable further slaughter with pain. It is a horrid war.

THIRTY-FOUR thousand orphans, the National Armenian Relief Committee say, are in need of food and clothing in Armenia.

THE crow in New Zealand strikes as sweet a note as any heard in the woodland, says Henry D. Lloyd in the Atlantic. The robin has no song and no red breast ; the native hen is the greatest of rat killers ; there is a caterpillar which turns into a plant.

THE Federal Polytechnic School at Zurich is the pride of Switzerland. Out of six courses of superior training which it provides for its one thousand students, forestry and agriculture count as two.

" I HAVE two friends sorrowing over sons killed in the Philippines. General Howard lost his, and now Mrs. Logan loses hers. Others have the same sorrow. I keep asking myself what is all this for, and find no satisfactory answer, nor have I seen one made."—Andrew Carnegie.

DR. PARKHURST touched in his Thanksgiving sermon upon one development in public sentiment which he, in common with many other old-fashioned Americans, regards as especially disquieting. He defined it as " an enfeebled sense of civil liberty, its privileges and obligations." Every man who takes the trouble to think at all has noticed this, both in the utterances of the press and of public men and in the conversations of private life.—N. Y. Evening Post.

LITERARY NOTES.

A RECENTLY issued small volume, "Nancy Hanks, the Story of Abraham Lincoln's Mother," by Caroline Hanks Hitchcock, (New York: Doubleday & McClure Co.), gives considerable information of a definite character concerning the mother of President Lincoln. That her name was Nancy Hanks, that she was married to Thomas Lincoln, in Kentucky, 12th of Sixth month, 1806, a Methodist preacher, Jesse Head, "officiating," that she had two children, a daughter, Sarah, and a son, Abraham, and that she died in Indiana, Tenth month 5, 1818,—these have been the main facts heretofore well ascertained. Mrs. Hitchcock now adds quite a valuable document, the will of Joseph Hanks, of Nelson county, Kentucky, dated January 9, 1793, and probated on the 14th of May following, which unquestionably is the will of Nancy Hanks's father. It mentions his wife, "Nanny," and his children, Thomas, Joshua, William, Charles, Joseph, Elizabeth, Polly, and Nancy.

This Joseph Hanks, Mrs. Hitchcock believes, is the same as a person of that name who was living in Amelia county, Virginia, in 1747 and 1754, and who, she says, removed to Nelson county, Kentucky, "about" 1789. She says that this Joseph Hanks, of Amelia county, Virginia, married Nancy Shipley, daughter of Robert Shipley, "an Englishman," who was probably of Lunenburg county, Virginia, in 1765, when he bought 314 acres of land there. And she further traces the descent of this Virginia Joseph Hanks back through William Hanks, who was the son of Benjamin, who came from England to Plymouth county, Mass., about 1699.

It can hardly be said that it is made clear yet that the Hankses of Kentucky were descended from this Plymouth Benjamin. The little book is not so definite on this branch of the narrative as it is at other points. But the data furnished as to Joseph Hanks and his family are interesting and important. It seems that his wife Nancy, or "Nannie" as she is called in the will, was the youngest daughter of Robert Shipley, and that Robert's oldest daughter, Mary, married Abraham Lincoln, father of Thomas, and grandfather of the President. Thomas Lincoln and Nancy Hanks were therefore first cousins.

Joseph Hanks, as we have seen, died in 1793; his widow died soon after, Mrs. Hitchcock says, so that their daughter, Nancy, whose birth is fixed as occurring Second month 5, 1784, was but a child when she was completely orphaned. She was "raised," consequently in the families of her mother's folks, but especially in that of Richard and Lucy Berry, Lucy being the second of the five Shipley daughters. (The others were Mary, wife of Abraham Lincoln; Sarah, wife of Robert Mitchell; Elizabeth, wife of Thomas Sparrow; and Nancy, wife of Joseph Hanks.) This relationship explains very simply the fact that Richard Berry is "on the bond" of Thomas Lincoln, for his marriage to Nancy Hanks, in 1806.

It has heretofore been suggested that the mother of Lincoln very probably was descended from a Hank family who were in Whitemarsh, near Philadelphia, in 1730, and probably in Berks county, Pa., somewhat later. One of them, it has been said, "went to Virginia," about 1760, "with John Lincoln," the great-grandfather of President Lincoln, (father of Abraham, who married Mary Shipley). As has been said above, the descent from the Plymouth, Mass., immigrant remains to be more fully made out, and the question can hardly be regarded as settled. Mrs. Hitchcock announces that she will publish a full Genealogical Record of the Hanks Family in America, so she will perhaps give more evidence as to this.

Under the direction of its new editor—"new" for some months past,—G. B. M. Harvey, the North American Review shows remarkable enterprise and energy. The number for this month especially discusses the South African war, and this is treated with great fullness and weight of authority, no less than six articles by writers of world-wide distinction, from as many different points of view, being devoted to it. Jan es Bryce, M.P., whose paper is accompanied by a colored map of the seat of war, writes of "The Historical Causes of the War;" Karl Blind, an intimate friend of President Kruger, treats of "The War and European Opinion;" Francis Charmes, a French publicist, discusses the question, "Will the Powers Intervene?" Max Nordau deals with the "Philosophy and Morals of War," in the light of the present conflict; Andrew Carnegie analyzes the "South African Question," and Demetrius C. Boulger, a specialist on international questions, examines the possibilities as to the formation of an Anti-British Alliance of Continental Powers.

The discussion presented by these papers ought to do some good to the present evil situation. Professor Bryce writes, of course, with dignity, and with a large measure of fairness, such as his "American Commonwealth" made us expect from him; Karl Blind argues for the Boers with his old-time earnestness of style; and Andrew Carnegie and Max Nordau condemn the spirit of war as it deserves.

Robert Buchanan, the English critic, has written a very severe criticism of Kipling. Among other things he says his writings are characterized by "savage animalism and ignorant vain-glory,"—which is true enough of some of them. The New York World, however, protests that it is not worth while to take Kipling too seriously; he is, it says, "simply a storyteller and rhyme-maker, a very entertaining one in the estimation of many," and intimates that his vogue will presently "blow over."

PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED.

PERSONAL REMINISCENCES OF THE ANTI-SLAVERY AND OTHER REFORMS AND REFORMERS. By Aaron M. Powell. Pp. xx. and 279. $2.00. Published by Anna Rice Powell, Plainfield, N. J. New York: The Caluon Press.

WILD EDEN. [Poems.] By George Edward Woodberry. Pp. vi. and 92. $—. New York: The Macmillan Company.

Conferences, Associations, Etc.

NEW YORK AND BROOKLYN.—The usual number of our members met at the Library Room, on Sixteenth street, New York, on the 26th ult., there being a number of visitors acceptably present with us.

After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, Josephine M. Russell gave the report on Current Topics. She spoke of Representative Roberts as not only a Mormon with more than one wife, but a believer in heathenism, as he is supposed to have influence over the souls of his wives after death. She noted the fact that child labor in factories is decreasing, and the number of men employed increasing. Elizabeth Stover thought that the fact was accounted for by the number and influence of industrial schools.

The Literature Report was given by Arthur C. Smedley. He spoke of several books, recently published, in which favorable mention of Friends or Friendly ideas was made. Albert A. Merritt supplemented the report by mentioning the book by Aaron M. Powell, "Personal Reminiscences," just published.

Mary Stone McDowell read the paper of the evening, entitled "The Evil of Being Practical." She said, in substance: "We are living in a practical age, and men are becoming machines for making money. Practicality has extended to religion, as is shown by our paying less attention to forms. The world has become practical, and the question arises, Do we not urge this too much? 'Pure religion and undefiled before God the Father is this: to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world.' (James, I., 27.) Religion is in its essence, according to the Standard Dictionary, 'a belief binding the spiritual nature of man to a supernatural being on whom he is conscious that he is dependent; also, the practice that springs out of the recognition of such relation, including the personal life and experience, the doctrine, the duties, and the rites founded on it.

"This definition includes every religion, whether moral or not. Direct communion with God is true religion. Many born Friends have grown up with no religion at all, never having been taught to spend a time alone in prayer and meditation. All believe God to be Ideal, so when we are testing our ideals, we are doing something toward worshipping God. It is sometimes taught that creed is nothing, works everything, but man cannot be developed to the highest unless spiritual. A practical man may do the same good deeds, but he is not so warm and kind as the spiritual man. Religion is from the heart of the spiritual man, while the practical man's religion is like a coat to be put on or off at will. Put the soul in an environment of noble thoughts, and acts will take care of themselves."

In discussing the paper, these questions were raised: "What is there more of religion further than the practical side?" "What is the true communion with God?" "Shall we worship abstract goodness, or a personal God?" Some expressed the idea that we need not accept more than appeals to us through our reason, while others thought that we need the human element in thinking of God. While he transcends, he has all our attributes, and knows and loves us; hence the sense of God as Father comes sooner or later to all. Prayer does not affect special Providences, it lifts us toward God. We should get into harmony with the "Power which makes for Righteousness" and receive peace.

The questions were asked, "Is there not in our modern thought a loss of the spiritual element: do we not lose the personal communion our fathers had?" "Are we not all of us coming to feel that the old theology had something of completeness which we have lost?" They believed in a personal Devil; we must still account for evil. Sentiments were expressed that the Lord made everything good, and evil comes from ourselves when we go contrary to his laws. All is of divine origin, and many seeming evils work for righteousness. All things were created good, and evil is perverted good.

The meeting closed with a few moments of silence.

Two weeks ago a Junior Young Friends' Association was organized to meet in Brooklyn, fortnightly, for the purpose of interesting young Friends in the Society and its principles.

ANNA H. MCCORD, Cor.

RISING SUN, MD.—On the afternoon of Eleventh month 5, an impressive silence opened a very interesting session of our Young Friends' Association. The president read from Horatio Dressers, "The Power of Silence," a portion of the chapter on "The Immanent God," in which we are told that "The true God is our larger, our diviner self, nearer to us than thought, closer than thought can imagine, silently and unobserved; the spirit will breathe upon us if we reflect, if we wait for it in silence day by day."

Howard Brown presented the seventh chapter from Janney's "History of Friends," in an interesting paper. This chapter told of the persecution and successes of some of the pioneers of our faith in England. A recitation, "God is Nowhere" was given by Maude Kirk. "The Unknown Life of Jesus Christ" was the subject of a paper by Helena DeCou, a book with the above title written by Nicholas Notovitch being the basis of the paper.

Walter R. Buffington then gave a sketch of the recent session of Baltimore Yearly Meeting. Lydia E. Reynolds read an interesting article upon the same from FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER. After hearing the report of the Executive Committee and observing the usual silence, the Association closed to meet Twelfth month 3, 1899.

E. R. L., Cor. Sec.

EASTON, MD.—On Tenth month 18, Third Haven Young Friends' Association was called to order at the home of John C. Bartlett, with twenty-six members present. Two visitors were with us, Helen Hopkins Jones of Philadelphia, and Elizabeth Lloyd, of Newtown, Pa., and from the part each took in our exercises, added much interest to the meeting.

After the minutes had been read and accepted, a communication from the executive committee of the General Conference, announcing the time and place of the Autumn meeting was read, and Pauline Bartlett and Frank White were appointed to represent our Association.

Elma Willson read an interesting article from the INTELLIGENCER. Mary E. Yeo read some good items as editorials of a paper. Current Events were contributed by Lelia L. White. A debate followed, subject: "Resolved that the duty of Government to the individual does not extend beyond the protection of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Joseph Bartlett and Anna White were on the affirmative side, while William Kemp and Elizabeth Lloyd took the negative, the latter substituting for Laura Shinn. Helen Hopkins Jones consented to read a very entertaining and instructive paper, written by herself, on Friends' testimony against formalism in the churches.

After the usual closing exercises the meeting ended with a short silence.

A regular meeting of the Association was held Eleventh month 15, at Joseph H. White's. After a silence the minutes were read and approved.

An acceptable paper was contributed, with Sallie P. Kemp editor, and H. Lizzie Willson supplying Current Events. The debate for the evening was: "Resolved that the greater influence of the individual proceeds from what he really is rather than from what he professes." Isaac A. Barber and Helen C. Shreve were affirmatives; Wilson M. Tylor and Joseph Muller, negatives. Home influence was given in illustration of the affirmative side. In one's home, where affections are dropped, it is what one really is that has more influence. The real only is good and enduring. Truth has more influence than fiction. On the other hand, the negative side asked, "Who knows what our character really is?" It is only our estimation of a character which can influence us.

The usual mode of individual responses closed the meeting.

ANNA E. WHITE, Sec.

WOODSTOWN, N. J.—A regular meeting of the Association of Woodstown was held in the meeting-house, Twelfth month 2. The meeting was opened by reading the 101st Psalm. In response to the call for committee work M. L. Moore gave an interesting review of their reading of the life of John Comly.

Mary Hazelton Clark gave the report of the delegates to the Conference of the 18th. The time was then given to a general review of the papers of the Conference, Emily R. Kirby giving that of the morning session and M. H. Clark of the afternoon. Joel Borton, Charles E. Davis, and others spoke upon the different subjects.

After a period of silence the meeting was brought to a close.

E. L. D., Sec'y.

TRENTON, N. J.—A regular meeting of the Friends' Association was held Eleventh month 27. The president being absent, the meeting was called to order by the vice-president, John Wright. After the roll-call the minutes of previous meeting were read and approved. We were very much favored to have with us Robert S. Haviland, James Q. Atkinson, William Dunn Rogers, Franklin Zelle, and others who were attending quarterly meeting.

The literary exercises were begun by the paper, "When was the Meeting of Progressive Friends organized at Longwood, Pa.; on what statement of belief, doctrine, or affirmation of purpose was it founded?" prepared by Laura Fell. She explained that in the spring of 1853 a conference was called in "Old Kennett" Friends' meeting-house, and out of it grew an Association of those favorable to greater anti-slavery activity, as well as other reforms.

"How can we secure better government in our cities?" was discussed by John Wright. One Friend said, "Make your citizens right, then you will have good government." Another said, "If the good men would only turn out in force, as the bad men do, more might be accomplished; what is needed is back-bone."

"How can we make the study of the Bible helpful?" was the subject of a paper prepared by Jane Horsnall. The writer told us how as a child she stood by her mother's knee at the fire-side, looking at the pictures and listening with a child's delight to the stories she would tell them of Abraham and the angels, Moses in the small ark by the river, Joseph and his brothers, and the babe in the manger, the boy Jesus in the temple, and many more, and as they were true to her mother, they were true to her. She understood what Thomas Carlyle meant when he said, "In the smallest cottage there is one book wherein for thousands of years the spirit of man has found delight and nourishment, and a response to whatever was deepest in the heart."

Read and study the Bible carefully and thoughtfully; the deeper the study the greater the respect for others who differ from us. Let us try to answer for our faith, and as true men and women take heed that we are not and will not be as those—

"Who should have opened the door of charity

For all men's finding,

But squabbled for words upon the altar floor,

And rent the Book in struggles for the binding."

Remarks were made by many of our visiting friends. Robert S. Haviland said, "As God speaks the truth to us let us follow it." Some one else said, "If we take the parts we do understand, it will be sufficient for us all."

Reports from various committees were called for. After a few minutes' silence, the meeting adjourned to meet Twelfth month 18.

MARY D. BRANIN, Sec'y.

NORRISTOWN, PA.—The Friends' Association met at the home of John W. and Laura S. Harry, on the evening of the 28th ult. The following officers, proposed by a nominating committee, were approved: President, Sue J. Sheppard; Vice-President, Isaac Richards; Secretary, Tacie H. Cleaver; Executive Committee, John W. Harry, Mary R. Livezey, Emma B. Conrow, Ellwood Roberts, Margaret Walker.

Sue J. Sheppard read "The Guest of a Dream," Edward C. Shoemaker "Recognition of Friends on Earth," and Sue J. Sheppard, Bayard Taylor's "Quaker Widow."

Essays were read by Mary H. Forman and Mary R. Livezey in answer to questions: (1) "What train of thought should be suggested to younger minds from the age of ten to thirty years so that they may appreciate a silent meeting, and feel after attending one that they have been benefited by it?" (2) "Why do not more younger Friends feel it their religious duty to publicly profess their belief as regards the principles of Friends, and endeavor to enlighten others as they did in former days; and would not our religious meetings be better attended if there were more life manifested in that way?"

William P. Livezey, Alfred W. Wright, Charles Platt, Isaac Richards, Ellwood Roberts, and others took part in the discussion which followed. Ellwood Roberts spoke of the smaller number of ministers than in former time, and suggested some reasons therefor, among which he regarded the spirit of criticism; the methods in operation in the recognition of ministers; and the tendency to discourage younger members who might give utterance to a good thought or an inspiring word.

The next meeting will be held at Friends' Home, Swede and Powel streets, on the 19th of this month.

SHORT CREEK, O.—The Friends' Association of Short Creek Quarterly Meeting met on the afternoon of Twelfth month 18, at the Friends' meeting-house near Emerson, Ohio, with quite a full attendance of the members of the quarterly meeting.

Samuel P. Vickers read a paper, "The Kingdom of Heaven," which struck the key-note of right living. It contained the essence of Christian faith as well as the foundation principles of Friends.

There were two recitations, "The Home Hearth," by Florence Clark, and "Pictures on Memory's Wall," by Eva Heaton. Margaret Clark read Whittier's poem, "Disarmament," and an excellent selection, "The Power of Hurting Others," was read by Esther G. Scott.

Esther J. Fox gave an interesting report of the joint meeting of our Friends' Association, held during Yearly Meeting week, after which there was a discussion of the subject, "The Position Taken by Friends Regarding the Slavery Question." The substance was as follows: The first tap of the Liberty bell was made by George Fox, expressing a concern for the Friends in Carolina, when he visited America in 1672. The first petition in behalf of slaves was in 1688, when Francis Daniel Pastorius and other Friends memorialized the monthly meeting of Germantown (now in Philadelphia). In 1694 Philadelphia Yearly Meeting recommended that Friends should buy no more slaves and encourage what they now have to attend meeting. In the next century John Woolman worked diligently in behalf of slaves. Warner Mifflin was in the Virginia Legislature in the interest of slaves; and he not only liberated his own but with his concern for justice recompensed them for the time they had served him; and the Friends of Virginia of that time memorialized Congress in behalf of slaves.

Reference was made to the settlements in Jefferson county, Ohio, which had been made by Friends, who feeling they could not hold slaves, adjourned their monthly meeting in North Carolina and moved in a body, settling in Western Pennsylvania and Ohio. After a brief silence the meeting adjourned.

A. B. W., Secretary.

EDUCATIONAL.

MARTIN ACADEMY, KENNETT SQUARE.—Prof. George A. Hoadley, of Swarthmore College, gave a very interesting and instructive lecture before the students of the Academy, on the afternoon of Eleventh month 29, on the subject of "Atmosphere."

The 29th was quite a busy day at the Academy. The three literary societies met in their respective places and transacted their regular business, after which the school in a body adjourned to the meeting-house to hear Prof. Hoadley. Then, upon petition of the patrons of the school, the students were given a vacation until the following Second-day, Twelfth month 4.

All the classes have been organized and have elected their officers, the Junior class being in the lead so far as numbers are concerned, there being at present 33 in the class. This class is preparing for an entertainment on the 22d, and ten of its members have been selected to represent the Class. Grace L. Wright, one of the instructors, will give an address.

Dr. Ravenel, University of Pennsylvania will give a lecture before the school on the 13th. This will be under the auspices of the League of Good Citizenship. S.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

THE death of Eliza Wigham, a well-known English Friend, formerly resident in Edinburgh, but during the last year or two in Dublin, with her sister, (at whose home she died), has been reported in the English Friends' journals. It occurred on the 3d of last month. She was in her 80th year. Many Friends visiting Edinburgh for years past have been welcomed to her house, and it is justly said of the meeting at Edinburgh that it is likely "it would have disappeared altogether if it had not been for the work and spirit of two women Friends, Eliza Wigham and Jane Miller."

We note the arrival in New York City, on the 10th of last month, by the steamer Mesaba, of a Canadian Friend (of the other body), Margaret Ward. She was on the St. Louis, in Fifth month, when I went out, and I had some pleasant conversation with her. She was visiting connections in London, especially her nephew, William K. Baker, and she attended, as I did, the closing sessions of London Yearly Meeting. Her "plain bonnet" was one of the small number I observed there.

H. M. J.

THE report of the Russian Department of Prisons shows that in the past two years the total number of persons banished to Siberia has been 20,056, of whom 894 were women.

At the Paris Exposition there will be 250 barrels of choice American apples in cold storage, small lots being taken from the supply from time to time as needed to keep up a continuous fresh fruit exhibit. Oranges will be treated in the same manner.

PUT UP THE SWORD.

I HAVE sung of the soldier's glory
As I never shall sing again ;
I have gazed on the shambles gory,
I have smelled of the slaughter-pen.

There is blood in the ink-well clotted,
There are stains on the laurel-leaf,
And the pages of Fame are blotted
With the tears of a needless grief.

The bird is slaughtered for fashion,
And the beast is killed for sport ;
And never the word compassion
Is whispered at Moloch's court.

For the parent seal in the water
Is slain, and her child must die,
That some sister or wife or daughter
Her beauty may beautify.

And the merciful thought we smother —
For such is the way of man—
As we murder the useless mother
For the " unborn astrakhan."

But a season of rest comes never
For the rarest sport of all ;
Will His patience endure forever,
Who noteth a sparrow's fall ?

When the volleys of hell are sweeping
The sea and the battle plain,
Do you think that our God is sleeping,
And never to wake again ?

When hunger and ravenous fever
Are slaying the wasted frame,
Shall we worship the red deceiver,
The devil that men call Fame ?

We may swing the censer to cover
The odor of blood—in vain ;
God asks us, over and over,
" Where is thy brother, Cain ? " —James Jeffrey Roche, in The Century.

CURRENT EVENTS.

CONGRESS assembled on the 4th instant, at noon. The Capitol was crowded. Admission to the galleries of both Senate and House was only by cards, chiefly issued by Senators and Representatives. In the House the Republican candidate for Speaker, D. B. Henderson, of Iowa, received 177 votes, and the Democratic candidate, James D. Richardson, of Tennessee, 153. The Mormon member, Roberts, was not sworn in with other members, but a resolution declaring him ineligible was offered and laid over for consideration to the afternoon of the 5th. In the Senate the death of Vice-President Hobart was announced, and adjournment followed. The case of the claim for a seat from Pennsylvania by M. S. Quay was referred to the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections.

In Congress, on the 5th inst., the President's message was read. The death of M. L. Hayward, of Nebraska (Rep.), who had been elected Senator from that State, but had not taken his seat, was announced. In the House of Representatives, it was decided, by large majorities, after debate, to refer the case of B. H. Roberts, the Mormon member, and alleged polygamist, to a committee to investigate his right to sit, he, meanwhile, to be excluded from the House. The argument in behalf of this course was made by Representative Taylor, of Ohio. Roberts spoke in his own defense. He did not deny that he had " plural " wives.

THE President's message states that the deficit for last year was $89,000,000. This year he estimates a surplus of $40,000,000, derived from the war taxes. In reference to Cuba, he says the "pledge" in the resolution of Congress must be "sacredly kept," but he proceeds with a discussion which seems to suggest that the United States may hold the islands indefinitely, if not permanently. As to the Philippines, he insists that they belong to the United States, that a "protectorate" will not be satisfactory, and that there must be "a building up of government from the bottom" by United States officials.

THE Secretary of the Navy, in his annual report, recommends that Congress authorize the construction of eighteen more warships for the Navy. The Secretary of the Treasury estimates the expenditures for the fiscal year ending Sixth month 30, 1901, at $631,081,994. This is an increase of thirty-four millions over the appropriations for the current fiscal year. For the War Department over 190 millions is estimated, and for the Navy Department 76½ millions. This is exclusive of Pensions, which will take about 150 millions more, making for war objects and obligations about 416½ millions of dollars, besides the annual interest on the debt caused by the Civil War.

DISPATCHES from South Africa give comparatively little definite information as to the progress of the war, the policy of the English war office, which has control of all telegrams, being to keep operations obscure until completed. The English relief columns are pressing northward, with fierce resistance by the Boers. A desperate battle was fought at the Modder river by the column under Methuen, advancing to the relief of Kimberley. The losses were heavy on both sides. It is said that Queen Victoria is deeply distressed by the war. More troops are to be sent out from England.

THE National Export Exposition, at Philadelphia, closed on the 2d instant. It had been entirely successful. The total number of admissions is placed at about 1,300,000. Many exhibits are already removed; some will go to the Exposition of 1900 at Paris.

THE Trustees of the Hampton (Va.) Institute sent out a circular, Tenth month 23, earnestly asking assistance of their effort to increase the endowment fund one million dollars. The present value of the real estate is $600,000, free of all incumbrance, and the endowment $742,000. It should have, the Trustees say, two millions of invested funds, "to provide the substantial nucleus of an income adequate to its needs."

THE reports from the Philippine Islands continue to represent the "collapse" of the armed opposition to the United States forces. More United States troops, however, are on their way to Manila. The number of men and officers now there is about 65,000. A dispatch from Hong Kong says that Aguinaldo is ready to surrender.

As an offset to the lynchings, and a testimony to the rule of law, it must be noted that on the 24th ult. two colored men, named Luckey and Mitchell, were hanged at Darlington, S. C., for criminal assault on a white woman. This, the dispatch says, was the first legal execution for such a crime in the State of South Carolina. "At the time the crime was committed, five negroes were arrested, and all narrowly escaped lynching. Luckey, one of them, confessed, and implicated Mitchell. The others were released." This is apparently a step toward the legal administration of the law, instead of mob rule.

THE "bubonic plague," of which other parts of the world have vaguely heard for some years as existing at Bombay, and elsewhere in India, begins to be heard of in different parts of the world. A ship from Brazil, loaded with coffee, reached New York some fortnight or more ago, on which there is said to have been a case. The ship was of course detained and isolated, and every precaution adopted. Cases are now reported in Japan, having come there in a ship loaded with cotton from China. The port of Oporto, Portugal, has for some time been infected. In India, Pundita Ramabai, writing in the Eighth month last, reports the plague then increasing in Poona and the region near.

NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS.

THE National Advocate (Temperance monthly of New York), publishes in its current issue an extended and very earnest letter from "an eminent Christian merchant of national reputation," criticising severely the course taken by the Attorney-General of the United States in nullifying the "canteen law," and especially complaining of the President's failure to dissent from this.

—The opening of the new Victoria Bridge over the St. Lawrence, at Montreal, calls attention to the amazing progress in bridge building. The old bridge, opened by the Prince of Wales in 1860, was justly regarded as one of the wonders of the world. It weighed 9,000 tons, was 16 feet wide and 18 feet high, and cost $8,813,000. The new bridge weighs 2,200 tons, is 65 feet wide and 40 feet high and cost $2,000,000. The new bridge is many times more capacious and more durable, yet weighs less than one-fourth as much and cost less than one-fourth the money.

—The treaty for the partition of the Samoan Islands among Germany, England, and the United States, was signed at the State Department in Washington on the 2d inst.

—The report of Postmaster General Smith for the last fiscal year shows a deficit of $6,610,776. The total expenditures were $101,632,161.

NOTICES.

 Friends' Visiting Committee of Salem Quarterly Meeting have made the following appointments:

TWELFTH MONTH:

17. Mullica Hill, 10 a. m.

31. Mickleton, 10 a. m.

FIRST MONTH, 1900:

21. Woodbury, 10 a. m.

 A meeting under the care of the Committee on Philanthropic Labor of New York Monthly Meeting will be held in the Library Room, 16th and Rutherford Place, Twelfth month 9, at 7.30 p. m. An address will be delivered by Ernest H. Crosby, the subject being, "Count Tolstoy: his Philosophy of Life."

HENRY M. HAVILAND, Chairman.

 Circular Meetings during Twelfth month will occur as follows:

10. Unity and Waln streets, Frankford, 3.30 p. m.

The attendance of Friends and others is solicited.

 For the benefit of Friends' School Associations or First-day Schools, I have a line of pictures for Magic Lantern display,—a tour of the United States and Europe. This exhibit and talks upon it are given for just the actual expenses needed in connection with such an affair. I make no charge for my services. For further information inquire of or address

R. B. NICHOLSON.

523 Cooper street, Camden, N. J.

 The Young Friends' Association extends an invitation to Friends and others to be present at the opening of its new building, 140 N. 15th street, Philadelphia, Seventh-day, 9th inst., from 4 until 9 p. m.

 The next Conference under the care of Concord Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Philanthropic Labor will be held in the meeting-house at Chester, Pa., on First day, Twelfth month 17, 1899, at 2.30 p. m.

CHARLES PALMER, Clerk.

 Quarterly Meetings during Twelfth month occur as follows:

14. Haddonfield, Haddonfield, N. J.

21. Fishing Creek H. Y. M., Millville, Pa.

 The Visiting Committee of Baltimore Yearly Meeting have arranged for meetings up to First month as follows:

TWELFTH MONTH:

10. Pipe Creek.

17. Forest Hill.

24. Aisquith Street, Baltimore.

31. Woodlawn.

JOHN J. CORNELL, Chairman.

 A Conference under the care of Abington Quarterly Meeting's Philanthropic Committee will be held at Ambler, Pa., on the 10th inst., at 2.30 o'clock. Subject, "Peace and Arbitration." All are cordially invited to attend.

JAS. Q. ATKINSON, } Clerks.
ARABELLA CARTER, }

 Burlington First-day School Union will be held at Crosswicks, N. J., Twelfth month 9, at 10 o'clock a. m. Carriages will leave Bordentown for Crosswicks at 8.45 a. m. A general invitation is extended.

DANIEL WILLETS, } Clerks.
ANNA R. WALN, }

 A Circular Meeting, under the care of the Western Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Avondale Hall, Chester county, Pa., on First-day, Twelfth month 10, 1899, to convene at 2 o'clock.

OSCAR F. PASSMORE.

The Saving of Money

by the use of Royal

Baking Powder is considerable. Royal is economical, because it possesses more leavening power and goes further.

Royal saves also because it always makes fine, light, sweet food; never wastes good flour; butter and eggs.

More important still is the saving in health. Royal Baking Powder adds anti-dyspeptic qualities to the food.

There is no baking powder so economical in practical use, no matter how little others may cost, as the Royal

Imitation baking powders almost invariably contain alum. Alum makes the food unwholesome.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

"Swarthmore Idylls."

A book of verse by JOHN RUSSELL HAYES, With eight illustrations of Swarthmore scenes by Robert Shaw. Bound, 75 cents; paper, 50 cents.

By the same author, "THE BRANDYWINE." Second edition. With eight illustrations by Robert Shaw. Bound, 75 cents; paper, 50 cents.

"THE OLD-FASHIONED GARDEN AND OTHER VERSES." Bound, 75 cents.

At Friends' Book Association, Strawbridge & Clothier's, and Wanamaker's; and Wilmington and West Chester book stores. Or sent, post-paid, on receipt of price mailed to College Book-Room, Swarthmore, Pa.

SHOTS AT RANDOM

A Book of Poems,

By Howell Stroud England.

To be had at all booksellers. Price one dollar.

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY
New York City, 1899.

There are many poems of unusual merit in the little volume called "Shots at Random."—New York World.

NOW READY.

"Personal Reminiscences of Anti-Slavery and Other Reforms and Reformers,"

By AARON M. POWELL.

THIS volume, which was left unfinished by the author at the time of his death, has been completed by his sister, Elizabeth Powell Bond, and is published by his widow, Anna Rice Powell. It contains reminiscences of the leading Anti-Slavery Advocate, William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, Lucretia Mott, Lydia Maria Child, John G. Whittier, and other reformers. It will have especial interest for Friends, and all interested in Philanthropic Work, and will be of peculiar value to the young. The author had repeatedly said that he intended this book to be his "legacy to the young people." The volume contains several portraits and cuts of letters not heretofore published.

Price, $2.00; by Mail, $2.20.

Orders will be received by Mary Travilla, West Chester, Pa.; Prof. W. I. Hull, Swarthmore, Pa.; Isaac Roberts, Conshohocken, Pa.; and by the Publisher, Anna Rice Powell, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR SALE BY

Friends' Book Association, Philadelphia.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDS STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

CASE OF CRUELTY.—A little girl, whose acquaintance with the zoölogical wonders of creation was limited, was looking at one of the elephants in Lincoln Park, Chicago, while on her first visit to that popular resort. Observing that the animal stood motionless near a watering-trough, she said: "Poor thing! Why don't they lift up his trunk and fasten it back, so he can drink?"—[Drift.]

A SKUNK once challenged a lion to single combat. The lion promptly declined the honor, "How," said the skunk, "are you afraid?" "Very much so," said the lion; "for you would only gain fame for having the honor to fight with a lion, while every one who met me for a month would know I had been in company with a skunk."

DR. ENDS: "There is nothing serious the matter with Freddy, Mrs. Blankley. I think a little soap and water will do him as much good as anything." Mrs. Blankley: "Yes, doctor; an' will I give it to him before or after his meals?"

It is asserted that no two countries in the world make and eat the same kind of bread. In England and America there is the greatest similarity in this respect, but the Englishman never eats bread hot from the oven, nor does he use biscuits made with shortening.

THE wood of the redwood tree never decays, it is said, and fallen trunks which have been overgrown by other forests are as solid as the day they fell.

WOMEN employed on Japanese tea farms work twelve hours and are paid 15 cents a day.

Friends' Book Association, OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,
Kindergarten, School Supplies.
Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

Hungry for his Wheatlet.

For young or old, there is nothing so satisfying as

WHEATLET

It is delicate, substantial and easily digested. Contains a larger percentage of nutriment than any other Breakfast Food.

Sold by most grocers everywhere. A booklet on Wheatlet mailed on request.

THE FRANKLIN MILLS CO., LOCKPORT, N. Y.

These trade-mark crisscross lines on every package.

GLUTEN FLOUR For DYSPEPSIA.
SPECIAL DIABETIC FLOUR.
K. C. WHOLE WHEAT FLOUR.
Unlike all other goods. Ask Grocers.
For book on sample, write
Farwell & Rhines, Watertown, N. Y., U.S.A.

PRESUPPOSING THAT YOU HAVE A

CAMERA, or at least some of your family are Amateurs, we wish to call your attention to the fact that we make a specialty of Developing Kodak Films and Plates, Printing from them and Mounting on cards or in albums, Enlarging them for framing or Reducing for Miniatures, Touching up and Spotting out defects, and so making a pleasing picture of what otherwise might not be so.

We employ a number of experienced Artists, both men and women, who devote their whole time and energies to this work, enabling us to give much satisfaction to our Patrons.

We also keep a full supply of the best CAMERAS, PLATES, FILMS, and ALBUMS, indeed everything used by the Amateur.

Believing that promises and promptness are important factors in business, our customers may rely on us for the prompt fulfilment of engagements, for we appreciate the annoyance occasioned by failure to fulfill such.

Orders may be sent by mail and they shall have the same prompt attention and care.

THOS. H. MCCOLLIN CO.,

123 S. 11th St., Philadelphia.

We omitted to say we have a most complete shop especially fitted up for repairing of Cameras, Snap Shutters, etc., where all such repairs can be expeditiously made.

BRASS and ENAMELED BEDSTEADS

There is a right way and a cheap way to make Mattresses; perhaps you have found it out. We do it the right way; try us. Furniture reupholstered. Shades, etc.

Josiah G. Williams, 13 N. 11th St

PRACTICAL CHRISTIANITY

By RUFUS M. JONES, Litt. D.,

Professor in Haverford College. Editor of "The American Friend."

This is a collection of short, practical articles on important religious subjects. It deals with questions which every thinking man must meet in a practical way, and it contains a positive message for the times. In these fifty-three essays many of the most important phases of the spiritual life receive consideration, and the notes of hope and victory, and faith in the overcoming life, are everywhere manifest. It is a book which should appeal to all classes of Christians. The book also contains a suggestive chapter on "The Message of Quakerism."

12mo. 208 pages. Oxford linen paper. Bound in silk cloth, gilt top. Price, $1.00, postpaid.

John C. Winston & Co., 718 Arch St. Philadelphia

ATMORE'S

MINCE MEAT

Juicy,
Delicious, Appetizing.
Good, pure and wholesome. Always

the same. Ask for it. Try

ATMORE'S

Genuine English

Plum

Pudding.

RAYMOND & WHITCOMB'S ALL TRAVELING EXPENSES INCLUDED TOURS

Parties will leave Philadelphia January 11, February 1 and 22, for Three Grand Tours through the Southern States, in Special Pullman Vestibuled Trains of Sleeping, Dining, and Composite Library-Observation Cars.

MEXICO AND CALIFORNIA

Ample time will be given to all the leading cities and other places of historic and picturesque interest in Mexico, including the Wonderful Tampico Division of the Mexican Central Railway, a Week in the City of Mexico, with a trip over the Mexico, Cuernavaca & Pacific Scenic Railway, and a four Days' trip over the Vera Cruz Railway.

San Diego, Pasadena, Avalon, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, San Francisco, San Rafael, Santa Cruz, Monterey, San Jose, etc., in California, will be visited.

The return tickets may be used from California on Any Regular Train until August, or with any one of Ten Parties Under Special Escort with a choice of Three Different Routes.

Tours to California, Mexico, omitting California, Florida, Hawaiian Islands, Japan, China, and Europe.

January 9th, tour through Oriental Lands. Individual Railway and Steamship Tickets to all points.

Send for circular, mentioning the trip desired.

RAYMOND & WHITCOMB,
1005 CHESTNUT ST., PHILAD'A, PA.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

"I KNOW why little black boys is so happy," said five-year-old Willie. "Why?" asked his mother. "'Cause their mothers can't tell when their hands is dirty."—[Melbourne Weekly Times.]

TOLEDO, O., has a trolley road that is doing unique work for the farmers by hauling the farm wagons themselves. It is said to be the only railroad of the sort in the world.

THE origin of Roentgen rays and Becquerel rays has not been ascertained, though a hundred scientists have been tormenting nature to let the secret go.

VENTURE to take the wind in your face for the sake of the right.

No man is born into the world whose work is not born with him.

—A Duluth despatch says that the demand for iron ore is so great that the Minnesota Iron Company will try the experiment of extending the navigation season one or two months, running its steamers without insurance. The open lakes do not as a rule freeze till February, and the narrow channels will be kept open.

—The Spanish Consul at Manila announces in a despatch to Madrid that 135 Spanish prisoners have been released by the Filipinos.

WASHINGTON.

HOLIDAY TOUR VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

Twelfth month 28 has been selected as the date for the Personally-Conducted Holiday Tour of the Pennsylvania Railroad to Washington. This tour will cover a period of three days, affording ample time to visit all the principal points of interest at the National Capital, including the Congressional Library and the new Corcoran Art Gallery. Round-trip rate, covering railroad transportation for the round trip, hotel accommodations, and guides, $14.50 from New York, $13.50 from Trenton, and $11.50 from Philadelphia. These rates cover accommodations for two days at the Arlington, Normandy, Riggs, or Ebbitt House. For accommodations at Willard's, Regent, Metropolitan, or National Hotel, $2.50 less. Side trips to Mount Vernon, Richmond, Old Point Comfort, and Norfolk at greatly reduced rates.

All tickets good for ten days, with special hotel rates after expiration of hotel coupons.

For itineraries and full information apply to Ticket Agents: Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 4 Court Street, Brooklyn; or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

OLD POINT COMFORT.

SIX-DAY TOUR VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The first of the 1899-1900 series of personally-conducted tours to Old Point Comfort via the Pennsylvania Railroad will leave New York and Philadelphia on Fifth-day, Twelfth month 28.

Tickets including luncheon on going trip and one and three-fourths days' board at Old Point Comfort, and good to return direct by regular trains within six days, will be sold at rate of $15.00 from New York; $13.50 from Trenton; $12.50 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points.

For itineraries and full information apply to Ticket Agents: Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 4 Court Street, Brooklyn; 789 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.; or Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

YOU would like the lamp-chimneys that do not amuse themselves by popping at inconvenient times, wouldn't you?

A chimney ought not to break any more than a tumbler. A tumbler breaks when it tumbles.

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass"—they don't break from heat, not one in a hundred; a chimney lasts for years sometimes.

Our "Index" describes all lamps and their proper chimneys. With it you can always order the right size and shape of chimney for any lamp. We mail it FREE to any one who writes for it.

Address MACBETH, Pittsburgh, Pa.

SAVE 1/2 Your FUEL
wasted up chimney.

BY USING THE ROCHESTER RADIIATOR.

COST $2.00 AND UP.

Money refunded if not satisfactory. Write for booklet on economy in heating homes.

ROCHESTER RADIIATOR CO.,
45 Furnace Street, Rochester, N. Y.

DON'T YOU NEED A CALENDAR

TO ADVERTISE YOUR BUSINESS?

We can get you up something nice.

The Leeds & Biddle Co.

1019-21 MARKET ST.,

PRINTING PHILADELPHIA.

WM. D. YARNALL & CO.

REAL ESTATE, CONVEYANCING

CITY, WEST PHILADELPHIA, AND DELAWARE CO.

Properties of Every Description Bought,
Sold, Rented, or Exchanged.

MORTGAGES NEGOTIATED

We have unusually good securities to offer.

FIRE INSURANCE in Leading Companies.

ARCHITECT

Phone No. 9.

526 MAIN STREET, DARBY, PA.

Many MOTHERS can testify to the VALUE of

DELAVAL'S REMEDY

AS A CURE FOR

WHOOPIING COUGH AND CROUP, also for BRONCHITIS, BRONCHIAL CATARRH,
and ORDINARY COUGHS.

AT DRUGGISTS.

Young Friends' Association.

The Young Friends' Association Office is now open in the Association Building, 15th and Cherry streets, where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 8.30 a. m. and 5.30 p. m. Address all communications to

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION,
15th and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College. For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.

Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or, Jenkintown, Pa.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction fit to business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.Offices Removed.

The offices of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER have been removed to rooms on the second floor of the new Building of Young Friends' Association, at

N. W. Cor. 15th and Cherry Sts.,
PHILADELPHIA.CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St.,
Philadelphia.Plain Millinery

MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

REMOVED.

LIZZIE J. LAMBERT, Millinery,

Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,
To 1020 GREEN STREET.THE PENNHURST, Open all the yearMichigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAROCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J.

Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.

M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

ANNOUNCEMENT.We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a SELECT STOCK of our own reliable work.SAMUEL DUTCHER.

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 North 13th Street.

Handkerchiefs.

Our handkerchief stock is the greatest ever shown in Philadelphia, and values are better than can be found elsewhere. Now is the time to make selections, while assortments are unbroken:

Women's Plain Linen Handkerchiefs—hemstitched, with hems of different widths—good qualities at 45, 50, 60, and 75 cents a half-dozen; finer qualities at 90c., $1.00, $1.20, $1.50, and $2.25 a half-dozen.Men's Plain Linen Handkerchiefs—hemstitched, with hems of various widths—good qualities at 75c., 90c., and $1.00 a half-dozen; finer qualities at $1.20, $1.50, and $2.25 a half-dozen.Men's Unlaundered Linen Handkerchiefs—hemstitched, with initials—75 cents a half-dozen.Men's Full Laundered Linen Handkerchiefs—hemstitched, with initials—$1.50 and $2.25 a half-dozen.Women's Full Laundered Linen Handkerchiefs—hemstitched, with initials—75c., $1.50, and $2.25 a half-dozen.Men's Silk Handkerchiefs—with fine initials; unusual values—38c., 50c., 75c., and $1.00 each.Men's Plain Japanese Silk Handkerchiefs—hemstitched—25c., 38c., 50c., 75c., and $1.00 each.Silk Mufflers—a large variety of new patterns, in cream, black, and colors—50c. to $2.50 each.Children's Linen Handkerchiefs—fine quality, full laundered, with initials—75 cents a half-dozen.Children's Linen Handkerchiefs—hemstitched, with neat colored borders—2 in box for 25 cents; 4 in box for 50 cents.

Orders by mail receive prompt and accurate attention. Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,

PHILADELPHIA.

Anniversary and Donation Day*Pennsylvania Branch of the Universal Peace Union,*

PHILADELPHIA, TWELFTH MONTH 12, 1899.

2.30 O'CLOCK,

Peace Rooms, Logan Building, 1305 Arch St.

Supper, 5.30 to 7.30 o'clock, in Room 15, when the Donation Envelopes will be opened and announced.

AFTERNOON PROGRAMME.—(Room 17.)

HON. WILLIAM N. ASHMAN, Judge of Orphan's Court, President, Will open with an Address.

JOHN M. SHRIGLEY,

President of Williamson School, Address.

ANNUAL REPORT, CONVICTIONS AND ELECTION.

ADDRESS AND SONG. LYDIA B. EARLE, of Boston.

ADDRESSES, By Delegates from other Peace Societies and the members.

EVENING.

FIRST UNITARIAN CHURCH, 22D AND CHESTNUT STS.

JOSEPH MAY, Pastor, will welcome the Friends of Peace.

JUDGE ASHMAN, . . . Will preside and deliver an Address.

JAMES H. EARLE, of Boston, Address.

RABBI J. LEONARD LEVY, of Keneseth Israel Temple, Address.

JEROME F. MANNING, Esq., Lowell, Mass., . . . Address.

JOSEPH K. MASON, Pastor of the Church of the Restoration, Address.

GEORGE G. MERCER, Esq., Philadelphia, . . . Address.

Reception of Hague Peace Commission

BAPTIST TEMPLE, BROAD AND BERKS STREETS.

Twelfth month 13, 8 o'clock, p. m.

Russell H. Conwell, Pastor, will give a greeting. Hon. Samuel H. Ashbridge, Mayor of the City, will preside and open with introductory remarks. Hon. Frederick W. Holls, of New York, Secretary of the Hague Commission, will deliver the address. Prof. Edward H. Magill, A. M., of Swarthmore College, will respond.

Young Friends' Association.

A regular meeting of the Young Friends' Association will be held in the new Y. F. A. Building, Fifteenth and Cherry streets, on Second-day evening, Twelfth month 11th, at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

PROGRAM.

I. Review of "Reminiscences" by Aaron M. Powell. HANNAH CLOTHIER HULL.

II. "How far can Friends Serve the State and Preserve the Integrity of their Principles?" HENRY S. KENT.

ESTHER S. STACKHOUSE, Secretary.LEARN SHORTHAND AT HOME.Easiest, most legible, and best system successfully taught by mail, at moderate rates. Send for Free Lesson, Dept. M. FERNIN SCHOOL, 20 S. Broad St., Philadelphia, Pa.Attractive Home at Private Sale.

A Farm of Fifty Acres, good improvements, eight-room Brick House, new Barn, excellent water, plenty of fruit. Near borough of West Grove, on P. & B.C.R. Call on, or address,

REBECCA P. PENNELL,
Jennersville, Chester County, Pa.

Morgan Bunting Arthur Shrigley

BUNTING AND SHRIGLEY

ARCHITECTS

1420 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.

1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.

Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.

Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

CHARLES BURTON,Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.

Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,Undertaker*and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-29-38-D.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER

Established 1844.
The Journal, 1873. }

PHILADELPHIA, TWELFTH MONTH 16, 1899.

{ Volume LVI.
Number 50.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.

L.

SALVATION is not merely an exemption from the punishment due to sin, but consists in being delivered from the power and dominion of evil.

SAMUEL M. JANNEY.

From his Dissertation on the Doctrinal Views of George Fox, section on "Perfection."

THE FLOWER BY THE WALL.

THE flower that makes the garden sweet
Is shy, and hides by the gray old wall.
The wild bee knows of its humble seat,
And the dewdrops into its chalice fall;
But the people praise its sisters tall.

The lives that make the world so sweet
Are shy, and hide like the humble flower.
We pass them by with our careless feet,
Nor dream 'tis their fragrance fills the bower,
And cheers and comforts us, hour by hour.

—James Buckham.

CUBA AFTER THE WAR.

UNDER the title "Cuba after a Year of Peace," the "Cuban Industrial Relief Fund," whose general office is in the Tribune Building, New York city, has sent out a small illustrated pamphlet, appealing for help. The statements made of the condition of Cuba, more than a year after the war ended (in Ninth month last), are impressive. They illustrate once more the consequences of endeavoring to attain moral results by violent means. A page in the pamphlet, by Horace Porter (Rev.), of Plymouth church, New York city, says:

"In nearly all rural Cuba there reigns to-day 'the peace of the wilderness and the grave.' The fertile inlands of Cuba are a wilderness of abandoned farms, of homes in ruins. The silent grave now contains a large part of Cuba's rural population. The people who have survived still suffer for food, and are utterly destitute. Some whom I saw in Cuba as recently as August last have since died of starvation.

"What we have been able to do is but a slight beginning. Tens of thousands of wretchedly destitute and suffering people are still in need of this relief work throughout the island. They are still dying for lack of the opportunity to work."

* * *

On another page these statements are made:
"The fertile fields are vacant; the farm-houses in ruins. The destitute and helpless farm-folk remain in the towns, waiting for assistance to return to the cultivation of their lands. On the outskirts of the towns and on some of the larger plantations a little attempt has been made to resume cultivation of the soil, but the country as a whole is tenantless and idle.

"The distribution of American army rations continues. The Government has done nothing more than this to help the people return to a state of self-support. It has not provided so much as one farmer with work-oxen, agricultural implements, seeds, and domestic supplies, with which to rebuild his ruined home and reclaim his idle fields.

"Foreign capital has not come in to put life into the dormant industries; the Cubans have neither money of their own nor credit for loans. The political conditions remain unsettled.

"Thousands of Cuban widows are without employment or any means of support. Many, many thousands of helpless orphans beg their bread from door to door."

* * *

The picture of a starved child, still living, but near the point of death (not in hospital) is given, and in connection with it the General Manager of the Relief Fund, William Willard Howard, says:

"This is not an isolated case. I could present hundreds of pictures such as this. One is enough, however, to tell the story of the rest. I have been assured repeatedly, by persons who should know the facts, but, apparently do not, that there is no longer any of this sort of thing in Cuba. But I know that there is; for I have seen it. Anyone can see it who wants to look for it.

"This pitiful object was photographed by me in a rude hut in the village of Ceiba Mocha, Cuba, on September 7, 1899—more than eight months after Our Flag was hoisted over El Morro, at Havana. This little life flickered out the next day. It might have been saved had anyone thought it worth while.

"The Cubans are a proud and sensitive people. They do not parade their poverty and destitution before strangers; neither do they open the doors of their sick rooms and bid the world enter. Yet the sick and destitute are there. They suffer and die in silence."

* * *

Clarence Ross Gale (Rev.), of Boston, makes the following statements:

"During September, 1899, I investigated conditions in Matanzas province, Cuba. I saw everywhere deserted farms and ruined farmhouses. The drought of the past summer had made the situation still more appalling. Around Matanzas and in Ceiba Mocha I saw hundreds of families, huddled together like so many cattle, living on green fruits, roots, and miscellaneous scraps. Tin cans were used for cooking utensils, while benches, boxes, barrels, and a rickety chair or two constituted the furnishings.

"In every hut I saw misery, emaciation, and disease. Said the village physician to me, pointing to a skeleton-like figure: 'that girl needs just one kind of medicine, and that is food.' When starvation and disease had finished their work I helped bury the dead."

* * *

The Industrial Relief Fund proposes:

"1. To provide immediate employment for the able-bodied and idle poor, by establishing relief farms under the superintendence of capable America farmers. Ordinary food crops will be grown on these farms and sold in the best available markets. The proceeds will be returned to the Fund, to be used over again in the same way.

MARIA, (PARTLY PARALYZED BY STARVATION).

"3. To advance as loans to small land-owners sufficient work-animals, agricultural implements, seeds, and food supplies to enable them to resume the cultivation of their farms. The advances thus made will be repaid. The money will then be used to help other farmers. The rehabilitation of these desolated farms will give employment to idle farm laborers, who are now dependent upon charity.

"2. To provide suitable employment for widows, whom the war left destitute and helpless.

"4. To find homes in good Cuban families for orphans who now beg their bread from door to door.

Each farmer whom we assist to return to a state of self-support will be required to take into his family one or more orphans, to be cared for, under our supervision, as his own children."

Farms have been established at Ceiba Mocha, and, it is stated, "men, women, and children were employed to the number of 180. Whole families were supported by the earnings of one member. Already these farms have saved the lives of hundreds, while other hundreds to-day are absolutely dependent upon them for sustenance."

* * *

MARIA, THE HAT-BRAIDER.

"Maria sits in her chair on the hillside at Matanzas and braids straw hats. By working hard all day she can make one hat. For this she receives six cents. On six cents a day she lives. War and Weyler exterminated every relative that Maria had in the world. Starvation left her paralyzed below the waist, and compelled her to crawl upon the ground with the aid of her two hands.

"Not only is Maria alone in the world, but she lives alone. Her housekeeping arrangements are pathetic beyond words. Dishes she has none. Her only cooking utensils are old tin cans. Her kitchen fire is laid on the floor of the wretched room in which she lives. One end of the room is in ruins, entirely open to the weather.

There is a rude cot, upon which Maria is lifted at night by kind-hearted neighbors. They are all kind to Maria; but, as they are as destitute as herself, they can give her no material assistance.

"The Americans are very good,' says Maria. Yet, it is not easy to see what Americans have done for her, or for thousands of other sweet, patient, refined women and children who are still waging a losing fight against starvation at desperately close range. Many thousands have fallen in that fight since the [United States] flag was raised over El Morro."

* * *

ANALITA, THE WOOD-CARRIER.

"Felicia, five years old, came to our store-room to ask if we would sell a cent's worth of lard and a quarter of a pound of rice.

"Is your father one of our work-people?' I asked.

"N-no,' Felicia gasped; 'my father is not able to work. His feet are very bad, and his legs are on fire.' (Eruptions, due to the Weyler starvation, cover the man's body.)

"Where did you get these two pennies, if your father cannot work?"

"My sister, Analita, gets the pennies. She goes to the mountain every day to cut wood. She carries down from the mountain a load of wood and sells it to the baker for six cents. This is the money.'

"How old is your sister?"

"Nine years.'

"Josefa, our laundress, nodded to my look of inquiry.

"It is the truth, Senor,' she said. 'The little girl supports the family by carrying wood from the mountain at six cents a load. In addition, she has taken into the family a poor orphan to care for.'

"I cannot put into words how much it hurts to take over our store counter that heroic little wood-cutter's painfully-earned pennies; yet not for anything in this world would I tarnish that beautiful spirit of self-reliance and independence by offering charity."

THE LITTLE WOOD-CARRIER.

FRIENDS' LESSONS IN OLD TESTAMENT.

NO. 52.—TWELFTH MONTH 24.

REVIEW.

GOLDEN TEXT.—Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil; learn to do well.—Isaiah, i., 16.

Scripture Reading, Isaiah i: 10-31.

THE period of the present quarter is perhaps the most important of those presented in the Old Testament, whether from the point of view of political or religious life. It witnessed the great popular revolt against the despotism of Solomon which showed that the spirit of freedom had not been lost among the Hebrews in the founding of the kingdom. Judah was held to the reigning house by a sentiment of clan loyalty, but the other districts, including by far the greater part of both population and wealth were included in the kingdom of Israel. In the selection of Jeroboam there was a return to the method of some kind of popular choice, which had prevailed in the choice of David, but had been ignored in the enthronement of Solomon and Solomon's son. It was the misfortune, however, of Jeroboam's kingdom to be the scene of constant warfare—a condition destructive of the great stable classes of a community, and tending almost inevitably to anarchy or despotism. It was not alone the rival kingdom of Judah with which Israel found herself at war. The kingdom of Syria, founded during the reign of Solomon, was soon induced by political bargain to invade the territory of her neighbor on the south, and from that time down to the fall of Samaria the two nations were almost continually at war; about the only intervals in this strife was at such times as those in which union was forced upon the hostile peoples by the common danger of Assyrian conquest. There was war also with the Philistine cities near the borders, and with the subject kingdom of Moab. The results of these conditions of violence may be seen in the repeated over-throw of the reigning king by military revolution, the most powerful general placing himself upon a throne made vacant by assassination. When at last such a usurper was strong enough to pass the throne on to his son, it was only at a cost to the people of growing oppression—the substitution of a despotic tyranny for a condition of anarchy, probably less destructive to the free spirit of the earlier Israelites. Under Omri and his son the government was strengthened by alliances with surrounding nations, but it was maintained at such cost to the people, that the usurper, Jehu, met no opposition in the bloody work of destroying the reigning family. His descendants again gave a superficial appearance of strength to Israel, extending his borders to the ancient limits of the kingdom of David; but the real weakness of the nation was displayed on his death by the collapse of national strength. A period of anarchy and intrigue came to an end in the destruction of Israel.

Judah had a less eventful existence. The throne of David failed not even to the end of its life. After a brief struggle the kingdom of the south accepted alliance, which was often vassalage, with Israel, and thereafter she succeeded in keeping largely free from the awful waste of war. Her isolation, her rugged mountains, and her poverty saved her from invasion, and her weakness from the no less peril of foreign conquest. As Israel drew on to her fall, however, Judah was drawn into the vortex of strife. In spite of the efforts of her statesmen, her kings could not resist the temptation to snatch at some gain from the confusion about them. About the time of the fall of Samaria a period of subordination to Assyria was inaugurated, which was a time of comparative peace and prosperity. But again, in spite of the efforts of the prophets, the policy of intrigue and warfare was entered upon, leading, as in the case of Israel, to destruction and general exile.

The experiences of the religious life of Judah and Israel are so nearly parallel that they may be treated together. The revolution from the house of David was doubtless religious as well as political. The prophetic class threw their influence on the side of the popular movement in the hope that the new kingdom would take a higher stand than the half heathen Rehoboam. But they were doomed to disappointment.

In the new shrines appointed by Jeroboam image worship was introduced, hardly less dangerous because it was conducted in the name of Jehovah; because in this worship the great fundamental difference between Jehovah and Baal was in danger of being forgotten—the distinction that whereas Baal demanded only worship, Jehovah demanded righteousness. And this danger was soon realized. The policy of alliance with Canaanites and others, best illustrated by the marriage of Ahab with Jezebel in the north, and later by the Assyrian policy of Manasseh in the south, was destructive to the best things in Jehovah-worship. Well, indeed, that we are taught to pray “Lead us not into temptation.” If the policy of isolation advocated by the prophets had been carried out, it is possible that the Israelites would have accepted the hard but worthy service demanded of God—that we shall command ourselves; together with the promise that God’s reward shall not fail us—that having ruled our own spirits we shall have greater dominion. But the opportunity was ignored. The attractions of gods whose favors could be bought with material presents and without the sacrifice of obedience to the still, small voice were too great for the peoples of Israel or Judah. A small group there was indeed, centering about and voiced by the prophets, which stood out against the temptations of a shoddy and cheap-bought salvation, realizing that it was cheap only because it was worthless. But this group was powerless to mould the ways of the nation. In a few cases a powerful man among them, as in that of Isaiah, was able to dominate even the king; but these periods were few and brief. Both nations alike moved along the way of least resistance which is always downward. No doubt “manifest destiny” was invoked by weak men who had not the power to direct or oppose the drift of events. No doubt it was claimed that each error or sin made the next inevitable. Certain it is that those who raised their voices against the rudderless drifting in world currents were denounced as traitors, and their writings were in some cases destroyed. But time has made plain that what was called “destiny” was human weakness and wickedness; that the course followed was inevitable simply because wrong counsels prevailed in high places, because personal ambitions dominated rather than the interests of the whole people. Therefore both nations perished and the national religion was saved to become universal only by those who have been denounced as traitors and persecuted as heretics. “He that hath ears to hear let him hear.”

WILLIAM B. HARVEY'S DOUKHOBOR NOTES.

From The Friend, Philadelphia. Letter of William B. Harvey, companion of Joseph S. Elkinton, dated at Yorkton, Assiniboia, Eleventh month 19.

WE left Fort Pelly (Eleventh month 9), in a driving snow-storm, just about dark, going about six miles to the nearest Doukhobor settlement. The colony was a large one and the houses were crowded not a little; we were warmly welcomed, and given all the accommodations that could be expected, unique as they were. As the people gathered for the evening meeting, quite a number of men came in who had just returned from work; they embraced and kissed their companions. Next morning we enjoyed the sight of perhaps ten good-looking horses passing the window; this was evidence of prosperity, and they seemed quite at home, but the money thus spent in live stock caused distress in other ways, as will appear later.

The names of the villages seem peculiar, but carry with them a meaning. Proterpevshe, in the Russian tongue, means “much trouble.” In this village we found twenty widows, eight of whom were in one house; thirteen of their men were in exile, one woman having seven sons in banishment. The village had presented her with a cow, and in other ways showed their appreciation of her worth, and sympathy in her affliction. Men were sawing logs into planks; a pair of high trestles are made, the top being about seven feet from the ground; one man stands upon the elevated log, another on the ground; with a whip-saw they make planks and even lighter lumber, which would do credit to saw-mill work.

Veritable “dug-outs” were to be found in places; one was seen which sheltered eight persons; there was no window in it; better quarters, however, were being provided. . . .

[At another place] we attended their religious service, which consisted mainly in chanting psalms and hymns, interspersed with prayers; sometimes two hours is thus spent; the occasion impressed us that a good degree of true spiritual exercise prevailed during the meeting. . . . We are necessarily dependent on our interpreter, in conveying our words and the replies thereto; he is in sympathy with the work, and having been impressed from the first with their harmonious dealings with one another, decided to cast his lot near some of them. . . .

—We had a chance the other evening to make a pot of corn-meal mush from one of the car-loads received, and later partook of bread made from a mixture of wheat flour and corn-meal, and it seemed the judgment of our party that it was superior to any other Doukhobor bread that we had tasted. Wheat flour of fair quality has been bought for $2.40 per barrel; price since has been advanced a little. Much difficulty is experienced in securing a supply, however; some villages were just out, and numerous others had but five or six barrels; this quantity for villages of perhaps 125 to 175 people, and travel liable to be impeded any day! The timely arrival of the two cars of meal seems a real blessing. We are impressed with the cheerful countenances, and are told that when starvation or affliction are imminent they pray the more earnestly to their Heavenly Father, who always ministers to their comfort. The Cyprus people, who have suffered perhaps more than any of the others, are hopeful. After being driven about for years in their native country, not being permitted to till the soil, or to earn fair wages, they enjoy the freedom granted here, and their health is decidedly better, though a considerable amount of fever still remains. This and the scurvy, noticed in so many places, make up most of the cases of sickness, though almost every village has one or more special cases of affliction.

We spent a night and a good portion of the next day with residents of two villages, comprising the first party who came to the territory, something over 300 in number. Picture such a company, whose combined money capital was $200, landed on an uninhabited prairie! They have been at their allotted places about four months; during that time neat sod houses have been built; though very damp, we were made comfortable, and were impressed with the general cleanliness. The head man of the house where we lodged carries on his back marks of the cruel raw-hide lash, inflicted in Russia, because he would not fight.

In Petrofka Orlofka [village] we found the old patriarch Ivan Machortoff, who on a former occasion told J. S. E. of seeing Stephen Grellet in Russia in the year 1818. He said that they prayed to the same Saviour as ourselves,—that if they were favored with a prosperous season, they would show whether they would not be self-supporting. He had served in the Russian army, was in the Crimean war; being convinced that war was inconsistent with Christianity he refused to continue in the service, and suffered a long term in exile. One of his sons is a leader in his village. A seven-year-old grandson repeated for us in a dignified manner the ten commandments, and another grandson of sixteen told the writer in English that he had been working at railroad construction, making good wages; he seemed very bright and said "Country all right, good."

We have met during our travels many cases which required careful thought; considerable pecuniary assistance has been rendered, but, among so many we were unable to do as much as would have been desirable. Some of the villages bought too many horses; in fact they so used up their revenue that unless helped starvation seems imminent. When visiting them we were told that in Yorkton, they were counted rich, and were refused the supplies sent by Friends; we did what we could to set things right. The water supply problem is solved, and pumps, though in some instances desirable, can be dispensed with. Proximity to water seems to have had an undue influence in the location of villages; some are surrounded by rather inferior soil, but located because a body of water is near. It is so near the surface, in some places, that root cellars cannot be dug; but these are not a positive necessity, as the ever present Russian oven serves for warmth and baking, and roots are placed under the wide benches or beds in the houses. In some places the timber question is a serious one. Fires have destroyed great forests, and we saw comparatively few trees, and these, mostly small; almost altogether poplar, a few spruce and tamarack. Wood sells in Yorkton at $4 per cord, and Pennsylvania coal from $10 to $12 per ton. Some maple trees have been planted, but the growth is very slow. When the railroads are further developed, good coal can be secured but will be expensive.

This railroad construction has been a great help to the Doukhobors, enabling men to earn money to help in support of their families; but the work is being stopped in a number of places, and the stoppage of wages thus earned will be a great disadvantage. Many are already in debt for flour, and their condition appeals strongly to the sympathies and purses of Christian people. They expressed sorrow that they were so helpless, and do not wish to be classed as paupers; what they ask is a start in the new life.

We have no reason to alter the sentiment expressed in notes already sent, that those who know of and have dealing with the Doukhobors testify to their sterling character as a people. One is impressed with the great amount of latent energy of character; a force that is eager for employment and that really wants and needs opportunity to get work, for self-help and advancement. The women as a rule are of splendid physique, and can quickly adapt themselves to varying circumstances, either to the heavy employment of drawing timber and sods for building, or to the fabrication of delicate embroidery. Some linen was purchased for them, also colored silks, with the request that the material should be made up into handkerchiefs, etc., to be sold for their benefit.

THE TRANSVAAL WAR.

From The Friend, London, Eleventh month 24.

THE burden of this awful war is resting day after day upon the hearts of multitudes of Christians in these islands. Humiliation may well be the attitude of every Christian that such a quarrel should have arisen, and that, having arisen, the wide world should week after week be flooded with war news of the carnage between two professedly Christian nations. The allotment of blame for this great crime is not committed to our keeping. To be arguing now as to whether Boers or English have treated the natives most cruelly does not forward a settlement. Those who know most of South Africa know that both English and Boers have often been terribly unjust in their treatment of the colored races. Certainly England stands convicted at the bar of history, and does well to refrain from vilifying her Dutch neighbors. All who have carefully read "The Transvaal from Within," while allowing for over-statements, must acknowledge that gross mis-government has been proved against the Boers; and while many of us think that our own action towards the Transvaal has been very culpable, such action does not exonerate the Transvaal from responsibility in issuing their ultimatum and invading British territory. Boers and Britons are both guilty. Every battle that has been fought thus far has been on our own territory, and the Boers have been the invaders, and now the tide of war is turning, we trust that England will show moderation and forbearance.

It is not easy to see the present remedy amid the fog of misunderstanding and misrepresentation, and under the dark cloud of animosities that are emphasized and intensified as week after week the conflict runs on. No wonder that the Queen seems oppressed; no wonder that gloom rests on our national life; for how can it be right to be joyous when so many lives are sacrificed, so many homes desolate, and such cruel sorrows cunningly inflicted by means of the most skillful weapons of destruction that can be devised?

As the festivities of Christmas approach, to the lover of his country where can there be festivity? A call to humiliation and prayer is more appropriate. A few days ago the peoples of this country and of other countries were reading the pronouncement of Lord Salisbury at the Guildhall, and now we deeply sympathize with his personal bereavement. Is it possible to find in his aptly chosen and statesmanlike words the way out of our distress? We have no right to put interpretations upon words that they do not legitimately carry, but multitudes must have rejoiced in his measured terms respecting our attitude towards the Transvaal: "We seek no goldfields, we seek no territory; what we desire is equal rights for all men, and security for our fellow-subjects throughout the Empire." Whatever may be the ultimate interpretation, as the history of our position in South Africa is unravelled, we may rejoice in the nobility and royalty of the sentiments these words express. . . .

Lord Salisbury undoubtedly laid his finger on one of the leading elements that has brought us up to the present crisis when he referred to the "accumulating munitions of war," that the Transvaal Government has been preparing year after year, as being in itself a standing menace to peace. This is the very doctrine the Society of Friends has long urged. These armaments and these preparations for war are in themselves provocative of war. Professedly they are in self-defence, professedly for the sake of peace, but their actual result is to awaken suspicion in neighboring countries, and the more they are developed, the greater is the peril. We see this easily and acknowledge it openly when we are considering the action of another State, especially when that State abuts our own frontiers, but the principle applies all round. This has been the contention of the advocates of Peace in the face of the perpetual rivalry of armaments that each nation madly enters upon, and the principle is one by which we must be judged as well as the Transvaal. The Boers have made a tremendous mistake, but a mistake common to other nationalities. The accumulation of munitions of war is not a national safeguard. "All they that take the sword shall perish with the sword." We note the first word "all" in that great pronouncement of the great Judge of nations. All nations that depend upon the munitions of war for their safety shall perish with the sword. England may hem in the Transvaal and England may fight to the bitter end and crush the Boers, but with what result? England herself, her power at the Cape, her influence for good in Africa, will be weakened by her own victory. The war will have prejudiced our own high destiny. It is in the love and concord of a people that we are strong, not in the compulsion of brute force, not in our capacity for mowing down "heaps" of living men. Victory may come, but a victory of force is not prosperity. Both Boer and Briton will rue the cruel combat. . . .

But is there not even now opening out before us another possibility? The Boers have already suffered heavily as well as ourselves. We have lost many a brave soldier, and an unusually large proportion of our officers; the Boers have evidently lost a great many more in killed and wounded. Is it not possible that a way out of the conflict might be found sooner than appears if the Transvaal Government could be informed to some extent what are the terms of settlement that England demands? We heard rumors of an ultimatum prepared by our Government that was never delivered. If the Transvaal was allowed to know the "conditions of peace," it might result in an earlier decision. We are told that they believe in the old Jewish economy. One of the merciful provisions of that economy was, "When thou drawest nigh unto a city to fight against it, then proclaim peace unto it." By this proclamation of peace we may surely understand the proclaiming of the conditions on which peace will be granted. These conditions we have not yet apparently announced to the Transvaal, and we can only hope that some such pronouncement may be made along the lines of speech of our Prime Minister at the Guildhall. If we deal generously and with moderation towards the Dutch now, it will do much to heal the animosities that have been aroused.

A PRACTICAL SCRIPTURE LESSON.

C. C. Brown, in Baptist Commonwealth, Philadelphia.

SOME men are worrying themselves over the great Bible questions—election, foreordination, and miracles—who need to go back and learn the first principles. "I am nothing without love." Let us accept this as a working hypothesis. Paul describes love for us, and does it in such a way that no one need be in doubt as to whether he has love or not. If any man has love, this is the kind of thing he has:

"Love suffereth long and is kind." Passively, it endures; actively, it does good. It does not merely suffer, but does good in the midst of suffering. It suffers long. The Greek means it holds its mind a long time. It is opposite to rash anger. It does not break away like water over a dam, flooding everything with destruction. It contains itself; it endures, and is kind and good natured.

"Love envieth not." Joseph was hated by his brethren because he was beloved by his father, and Haman envied Mordecai because he had a high place in the favor of the king. An envious man is made unhappy by the good fortune of others. But love envieth not.

"Love vaunteth not itself." Love never tries to show off. True love rather seeks to conceal its good works. It conceals its goodness like the sea conceals its pearls, and the earth its beds of gold. Chrysostom used to say that virtues, like precious stones, must be concealed in order to be kept. "Love vaunteth not itself, and is not puffed up."

"Love doth not behave unseemly." "Noble manners are ever the fruit of noble minds."

"Love seeketh not its own." Christ then was the impersonation of love. What did he ever seek for himself? Not home nor lands nor worldly honors. He was rather all the time seeking the good of men, the salvation of their souls, and this he did by day and by night, in the crowded streets and in the desert places, on the mountain-side and on the seashore, in the house of the Pharisee and in the home of the publican, among Gentile kings and Jewish peasants, among the rich, among the poor, at Nazareth as at Calvary, in the beginning, the middle, the end of his life, and even while he was nailed to the tree. This was love, and love seeketh not its own.

"Love is not provoked." The Greek means it does not have paroxysms of wrath and bitterness. A man imbued with love can control his temper. Where love rules, wrath has no place. A friend said of Dr. Leighton: "I never saw him in any temper in which I would not wish to be found at death." It seems that we have come to regard a good temper rather as a gift of nature than as the result of careful self-discipline. We speak of our "unhappy temper" as if we are not at all to blame for it. The excuse is as absurd as it is mischievous. It is as if we said: "I have great need of self-control; but I need not give myself any concern about it." Really we ought to know and remember this—a bad temper is nothing more than the strength and waywardness of selfish feelings habitually indulged. A man imbued with the love of the Spirit can control himself.

"Love taketh not account of evil." That is, love keeps no books, in which to make records of wrongs received. The wrongs which love receives are written on the sand, if written at all. The evils that love sees in others are not stored away to be called up again. Love says: "May be no one is as bad as he is represented, and many of my brother's failings may exist only in my disordered mind." A flaw in one of the panes of glass in my study window has distorted many a view for me, and put the passers-by out of shape.

"Love rejoiceth not in unrighteousness, but rejoiceth with the truth." It takes no pleasure in them that commit sin, nor does it exalt over the fall of any one into sin. It is glad to see truth triumph in every human life. That was an awful remark of La Rochefoucauld, but alas! too true oftentimes: "There is something not altogether disagreeable to us in the misfortunes of our best friends." Now and then we find a man who is not content until he has arrested somebody's career of usefulness, or cast a blight upon some unblemished reputation, or marred the peace of some happy family, or inflicted a wound upon some unsuspecting heart. This is the man who pries into your business matters, into your social relations, with a diligence worthy of the lowest vice. They are like the man of whom Erasmus wrote—who collected every lame and defective verse in Homer, but passed over all that were excellent. "Love rejoiceth not in unrighteousness" of any kind.

"Love beareth all things." It endures wrongs and evils, and covers them with a beautiful reticence. It stands in the presence of a fault with a finger on its lip.

"Love believeth all things; hopeth all things." Love is not a cynic, nor a pessimist. Love takes the worst case, and then believes the best possible thing about it. Love never disparages, but bids the disheartened one to try again. Love says to the fallen: "Don't give up." It is never gloomy. It takes sunny views of man, of the world, and of God.

"Love endureth all things." If my brother sins against me seventy times seven, love is still ready to forgive him. Love says all the injuries received from our fellow-men are not as many as we have heaped upon God. If God has endured me, I will endure others, and so love is the greatest thing in the world. The earth and the seas can be measured and weighed, but no man can estimate the reach of one loving deed. Love is infinite and eternal, and imparts its nature to our actions. He that loveth and doeth the will of God shall abide forever.

ELIZA WIGHAM, OF EDINBURGH.

The death of this Friend, at Dublin, Ireland, Eleventh month 2, has been noted in the INTELLIGENCER. We take the following from the Friend, London.

ELIZA WIGHAM: A REMINISCENCE.

NEARLY twenty years ago I was riding upon the knifeboard of an omnibus in the environs of Edinburgh, in company with a Friend still living. By our side sat two well-dressed young women, who might have been better-class domestics or shopwomen, full of life and glee. All at once, going cityward, appeared our late dear friend, Eliza Wigham, with that purposeful look and step that was hers.

No doubt surprised and amused by the antique costume, the girl next me cried out quite loudly, "Look at that one! Now what's she anyway?"

But her companion very quickly answered, "Hush! that's the Quaker!"

"The Quaker; and what's the Quaker?"

Then came from her companion such a description of the goodness and the grace of our dear friend—her love to poor girls, her care for the wretched and forlorn and downtrodden and degraded—that one could but fancy from her earnest tones that she herself had been a recipient in some shape. There was no more laughing; speaker and hearer were solemnized as at church.

For me, I had a big lump in my throat and brimming eyes of joy at Christ's work by his handmaid. Never has memory turned over this page but the same lump comes back, and the same joy, and longing for more such "The" Quakers, and fewer who are merely "A" Quaker. This quarter of an hour was the happiest of a long and pleasant trip.

WILLIAM SMITHE.

AGE is progress, or age is decline. It ought to be progress and gain; it will be if one is in the right way. It may be decline and decay; it will be if one is in the wrong way. God gives to every one of us the choice of his own direction. We choose for ourselves to go up or to go down, to advance or to decline. Choosing the better way, we have God's help continually, and are making progress steadily, despite all appearances. "Wherefore we faint not; but though our outward man is decaying, yet our inward man is renewed day by day."—S. S. Times.

SUFFER, if you must: do not quarrel with the dear Lord's appointments for you. Only try, if you are to suffer, to do it splendidly. That's the only way to take up a pleasure or a pain.—Phillips Brooks.

Friends' Intelligencer and Journal.

EDITORS:

HOWARD M. JENKINS. LYDIA H. HALL. RACHEL W. HILLBORN.

PHILADELPHIA, TWELFTH MONTH 16, 1899.

Please address business letters to "Friends' Intelligencer, N. W. Cor. 15th and Cherry Streets, Philadelphia, Box 924."

Communications and contributions to "Editors Friends' Intelligencer," same address. Please add "Box 924"—as above.

UNWISE GIVING.

It seems almost a waste of energy to attempt to curb the spirit of giving that actuates the masses of people on the approach of what are—not always appropriately—called, the Holidays. The world, for a season at least, appears to be given up to the prevailing fashion of gift-making. That this has its right and proper side we do not question, and if the word moderation could be adopted and adhered to as the season's motto, we should feel ourselves excused from intruding our concern where it will most likely prove unwelcome.

But duty whispers speak, so we venture a protest against unwise and immoderate expenditure of money on Holiday gifts, when it is sorely needed to advance the many causes awaiting time and means to promote the growth of good. It is not for absolute abstinence from giving that we plead, for we recognize that to give pleasure is a part of life's duty, and should be extended to all classes; but for a wise use of the privilege, that it may not impoverish character, and destroy self-respect and independence. Especially do we plead for the children of the well-to-do, that they be not so overwhelmed by gifts as to place little or no value upon them. Sometimes these gifts are the outcome of much self-denial on the part of fond relatives whose affection leads them into a form of pleasure-giving that may help to destroy that healthy character building that comes from struggles. If only the busy thought of the well-intentioned could be turned in the direction of what is wise to do, there might be good results. With Job, however, we yet can say: "But where can wisdom be found? and where is the place of understanding?" And the answer is now as then: "Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom. And to depart from evil that is understanding." And here we must leave it to individuals, to their sense of duty to God, and to the children he has given to their keeping.

WE print elsewhere an interesting and we think a very fair article from the Friend, of London, on the South African war. It occasions the remark how trying a time it is, when war comes, for conscientious editors, especially of newspapers representing principles of morality and religion. We have deep sympathy with those who are conducting such journals now in England, for have we not seen the sifting in this country, within the past twenty months? Here, men who were supposed to stand firmly for what is true and pure, and for the simple justice that is alike for all, deserted their posts at the first clangor of the war bell, and even joined with the fomenters of war in attacking those who held to the principles of peace. In England we see evidence that like desertions have taken place, and that the conductors of Christian periodicals are beset with persuasions to compromise their testimony, and help prove evil good.

But, friends, what would you have? Would you wish us to teach peace only while peace lasts, and to make an exception for "this" war, whenever the war-makers get one begun? What worth are principles that are not held to in time of trial? What is duty not followed under difficulty? Let us not waver nor faint, because the day is dark.

THE elections for members of the Provincial Legislature of Manitoba, (in which Winnipeg is located), took place on the 7th instant and resulted in the success of the Conservative party, headed by Hugh John Macdonald, son of the late Sir John Macdonald, for many years Premier of Canada. The province of Manitoba has been Liberal for a long time, the leader being Thomas Greenway, but the Conservatives have now elected 21 members and the Liberals 16 members of the Legislature. A dispatch from St. John after mentioning influences that are supposed to have contributed to the result, says, "It is also stated that the settlement of an undesirable class of immigrants from Russia in Manitoba injured Mr. Greenway, though he was not responsible." It may be inferred from this that the endeavor to create prejudice against the Doukhobors, for party purposes, is not at an end. Their spiritual religion and desire to live in peace are shining marks for persecutors.

UP to the close of the last fiscal year (Sixth month 30, 1899), 17,500 claims for pensions have been presented at Washington on account of the Spanish and Philippine wars. Since then the number has increased to above 25,000, and thousands more will of course come in. It is evident that the expectation that the maximum expenditure for pensions had been reached is far from correct, and that the new militarized government, if the people sanction it for any length of time, will impose burdens heretofore undreamed of, and hereafter bitterly to be lamented by those who must bear them.

THE battle at the Modder River, in South Africa, on the 28th ult., was described in a despatch as "the bloodiest of the century." The description naturally caused surprise, and at once there was a list printed in many newspapers to show what destructive battles had occurred since the century came in. This list was an impressive one, indeed, and its presentation in the interest of historic truth afforded melancholy testimony to the shortcomings of men.

BIRTHS.

WALTON.—Near Kennett Square, Pa., Tenth month 16, 1899, to W. Marshall and Emma S. Walton, a daughter, who is named Maud Dorothy.

DEATHS.

BROSIUS.—At the home of his mother, Margaret W. Brosius, Cochranville, Chester county, Pa., Eleventh month 29, 1899, Alva C. Brosius, in his 36th year.

One who made little profession, but was in full possession of those Christian virtues honesty, uprightness, kindness, and charity, has passed away from a loving circle of relatives and friends, who left no deed undone to stay the hand that dealt the fatal blow.

"But when disease revealed
To his unclouded eye
The Stern Destroyer standing nigh,
Where turned he for a shield?
Wrapt he the robe of stainless rectitude Around his breast to meet cold Jordan's flood?
Grasped he the staff of pride
His steps through death's dark vale to guide?
Ah, no! Self-righteousness he cast aside, Clasping, with firm and fearless faith, the cross of Him who died.

"Serene,—serene,—
He pressed the crumbling verge of this terrestrial scene,
Breathed soft in childlike trust
The parting groan,—
Gave back to dust its dust—
To Heaven, its own."

M. W.

ELY.—At Lambertville, N. J., Twelfth month 4, 1899, Reuben P. Ely, aged 84 years, 5 months, 27 days. Interment at Solebury, Pa.

HICKLEN.—At the home of her brother-in-law, Wm. S. Cadwallader, Unionville, Centre county, Pa., where all that love could do to alleviate her suffering was done, Tenth month 28, 1899, Rachel A. Hicklen, in her 60th year. She was a member of Centre Monthly Meeting.

Her home was here for many years, and here she endeared herself to all. The evening of her return, six weeks before her death, she said, "I am so glad to be home." As daughter, sister, friend, and neighbor, she was faithful, tender, loving. In sorrow she was a ready helper. She loved nature intensely in all its forms,—mountain, cloud, water, and flower were always wonderful and beautiful to her. Her life was always a busy one, but when enforced idleness came, she bore it and her suffering with the gentle patience born of a life of earnest endeavor to do the right as revealed to her.

*

HUNT.—At the residence of his nephew, Charles Leslie Wright, North Greenwich, Conn., Eleventh month 30, 1899, Edmund L. Hunt, son of the late Lewis P. and Charles Hunt, of Chappaqua, New York, aged 78 years, one month, and 20 days.

LUKENS.—In Trenton, N. J., Eleventh month 20, 1899, Mary Ann Lukens, widow of James S. Lukens, aged 87 years; a member of Trenton Meeting over sixty years, and a most worthy example of fortitude and patience under many severe trials.

*

PAXSON.—At her residence, in Newtown, Bucks county, Pa., Twelfth month 5, 1899, Mary Paxson, in the 83d year of her age; a member of Solebury Monthly Meeting, at whose graveyard interment took place on the 9th.

SHOEMAKER.—Eleventh month 4, 1899, Charlotte W. Shoemaker, in the 86th year of her age; a member of Green Street Monthly Meeting, Philadelphia.

UNDERHILL.—At his residence, No. 855 West End Avenue, New York City, Twelfth month 6, 1899, Samuel B. Underhill, in his 83d year; a member of the Monthly Meeting of New York.

Truly applicable are the words of the Prophet Isaiah, xxxii., 17: "And the work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness quietness and assurance forever." Interment, Greenwood Cemetery, N. Y.

S. B. H.

A TRIBUTE: ISAAC G. SMEDLEY, M. D.

And so has closed a life not long in years, but rich in service to suffering humanity. Gifted by nature far beyond the common measure in those qualities which go to make up the good physician,—the gentle touch, the sympathetic ear, the untiring patience,—he had acquired "the profound knowledge and wonderful skill" to which his fellow physicians testify, and had won the confidence and love of many, many people to whom he had ministered so successfully in the dark hours of physical anguish. His cheery smile came like a gleam of sunshine into the sick-room; his quick step, so full of life and vigor, seemed to renew the courage of the anxious heart, and dispel the fear which held it in bondage.

Modest, unassuming, courteous to all, ever ready to lend a hand to the struggling young doctor, kind and helpful to his nurses, tender and true to his loved ones, ministering to the lowly and poor with the same patience, skill, and conscientious carefulness that he gave to those who could return all that could satisfy ambition,—surely his was a life to glory in, a life to thank God for, a life not lived in vain, which can not be cut off, for it shall remain an inspiration and source of strength to all whose privilege it was to know him.

* * * *

DOUKHOBOR REPORT.

THE shipment from Philadelphia of the second carload of special supplies for the Doukhobors, especially the children and sick, was somewhat delayed, but it was dispatched on the 9th inst., for Winnipeg and Yorkton. It was packed full.

Among the contents were 1,000 gallons of cottonseed oil, 4,000 pounds of barley, 45 cheeses, 33 chests of tea, 1,500 pounds of washed wool, a spinning-wheel, and some ten tons of clothing of all kinds, including blankets. The spinning-wheel is one of the old-fashioned high ones, at which the spinner stood up when in operation. It was contributed by a Friend, Martha Mickle, of Woodbury, N. J. The women will spin the wool sent them, and more wheels are very much desired. They cannot, however, be sent for the present, as the winter weather will make transportation difficult, if not impracticable.

William B. Harvey, who accompanied Joseph S. Elkinton, returned to Philadelphia on the 5th inst. He left J. S. E. in Ottawa; the latter was expected to be home about the 13th. W. B. H., during his visits to the Doukhobor settlements, took a careful inventory of them all, giving the number of persons in each village, their condition and their needs, and placed it on file with the Dominion officials at Ottawa, so that they might be fully informed as to the case of the colonists.

"I have been much interested," a friend writes from southern California, "in the articles in the INTELLIGENCER on the Doukhobors, and want to add my mite to help them."

THE "INTELLIGENCER" FUND.

A. E. M.,	$1.00
C. J.,	2.00
	<hr/>
	$3.00
Balance last week,	89.25
	<hr/>
	$92.25

This report closes on Third-day morning.

We solicit further contributions, being sure there will be pressing need for them, in many directions, before the settlers' crops of 1900 can be realized.

And yet when all is thought and said,
The heart still overrules the head;
Still what we hope we must believe,
And what is given us receive.

—[Arthur Hugh Clough.]

EXCURSION DAYS IN ENGLAND.

VI.

A GLIMPSE OF "CRANFORD."

It might be supposed that every one would have read Mrs. Gaskell's "Cranford." But it is never safe to suppose anything about people's reading, and one of the facts made most evident by a little experience is that tastes differ as to books.

Still there are many who have read Cranford, in fact many thousands. Since it was written in 1853 edition after edition has appeared, and the best artists have been employed by publishers to illustrate the scenes and characters whom it presents. It is, Lord Houghton said, "the finest piece of humoristic description that has been added to English literature since Charles Lamb." But it has much more than humor alone,—pathos, beauty, insight into character. It is, and will be, a classic of the English language.

Now Cranford of the book is Knutsford in fact. And Knutsford is a quaint little town in Cheshire, thirteen miles south of Manchester,—the "Drumble" of the story. On an afternoon of the summer, accepting an invitation of a Manchester architect to dine with him at his home at Knutsford, we went out by train, in time to see the town before the daylight had departed. He knew the place well; he had had charge quite lately of the "restorations" to the parish church, a Georgian structure of 1744; and the other buildings which have interest and importance were all familiar to him. So with his unvarying kindness, his cheerful humor, and his local and technical knowledge, how could one have a better guide?

Knutsford is delightfully interesting in itself, but with the literary associations of dear Mrs. Gaskell's book it is irresistible. There are two narrow streets, the "top" and the "bottom," winding along nearly parallel, and at a little distance from each other. There are old houses and there are thatched cottages. I borrow the description of Mrs. Ritchie (daughter of Thackeray), for how can I do better? "A little town of many oak beams and solid brick walls," she calls it; "there are so many slanting gables left, and lattices and corners, that the High street has something the look of a mediæval street. . . . From this main street several narrow courts and passage lead to the other side of the little town, the aristocratic quarter, where are the old houses with their walled gardens. One of these passages runs right through the Royal George hotel; . . . all the houses in Knutsford have gardens, with praterres beautifully kept and flowers in abundance."

That is the town as I saw it, in the decline of the summer afternoon. There was no noise, no bustle, no confusion; some children were in the streets, some grown-up people, like myself, passed sedately along. We walked through the "bottom" street—which is, I think, the "main" street—first, and paused and looked inquisitively when we chose. Here is the house which is identified as Mrs. Jamieson's,—Mrs. Jamieson, the widow, who was sister-in-law to Lady Glenmire, and whose anxiety to sustain a due gentility caused her so many trials. It has a quaint doorway and windows of the Georgian period. A road, we are told in "Cranford," ran "right before the house, which opened out upon it without any intervening garden or court. . . the living-rooms were at the back, looking onto a pleasant garden; the front windows only belonged to kitchens, and housekeepers' rooms, and pantries."

From Mrs. Jamieson's we came to some old timber-framed houses of the early 16th Century, and then the "George" inn, where poor Signor Brunorni had his performances. I have already quoted the fact that a passage-way to the upper street now runs directly through it. This passage "leads past the stables and up a slope where directly facing the pedestrian who ascends that way stands a shop, pointed out by universal acclaim as the one" where Miss Matty, after the downfall of her fortunes, on the failure of the bank, sold tea and scattered comfits. The George has been for many years the "Royal George," for early in the century the Princess Victoria, now the Queen, visited it with her mother, and the adjective was then added.

We paused in front of the post-office, too, for up on the front of the building has been placed a fine bas-relief of Mrs. Gaskell, in bronze. It is a bust from a portrait of her, taken in Edinburgh a year or two before her death, and the work was done by an Italian artist, d'Orsi, professor in the Royal Academy of Naples. I pass no opinion upon the work; some have expressed regret that the portrait chosen for it was not what is called the Richmond picture, which shows her in her earlier life; but it is an interesting and fit memorial.

Mrs. Forrester's house drew our attention, too. Do you not remember her house?—it stood in "a small cluster of houses, separated from Cranford by about two hundred yards of a dark and lonely lane," in which the ladies had the fright returning in their sedan chairs from the evening party.

My notes of our walk are very inadequate. We passed out toward the heath, and back through the "top" street, and so to the Unitarian chapel in Brook street, where in the churchyard the mortal part of the author of "Cranford" was laid to rest in 1865. The building is not so very old; it dates from Cromwellian times; but it is very quaint and interesting. Ivy hangs thick upon the walls, and creeps around the lattice windows. A stone stairway on the outside, ascending against the side of the building, gives access to the main interior room. Outside, the ground slopes sharply toward the street, and with many other graves, one up to the right hand, marked by a white marble cross, is Mrs. Gaskell's. It is carefully kept, and there were pretty flowers growing upon it.

Knutsford and the neighborhood are intimately associated with Mrs. Gaskell. Her name was Elizabeth Cleghorn, and her father was a Unitarian minister who came from Berwick-on-Tweed. Her mother dying when she was a child, she went to live with an aunt at Knutsford. The house stood outside the town, "on the heath;" it was, Mrs. Ritchie says, "a tall red house with a wide-spreading view, and with a pretty carved staircase, and many light windows, both back and front." From this old house on the heath, Elizabeth Cleghorn went to be married in the parish church, when she was but a young girl. Her husband was William Gaskell, minister of the Unitarian chapel in Cross street, Manchester. To that city she went to live, and there in her home, "Plymouth Grove," most of her books, including "Cranford," were written. But often, for rest and change, when "Drumble" labors and duties tried her, she came down to Knutsford.

Three miles away is Sandlebridge, the home of the Hollands, where Mrs. Gaskell's mother came from. One of them was Sir Peter Holland, father of Sir Henry Holland, known in his day as a distinguished physician. Sandlebridge is the "Woodley" of the story in "Cranford," the old place where poor Thomas Holbrook, the cousin of Miss Pole, and the timid faithful lover of Miss Matty, lived.

The time will come, indeed it has already come, when many visitors will place Knutsford in their list for the sake of the book which describes it, for the author's sake, and because of its own interest. But one must hope that as a place of pilgrimage it will never lose its present air of refined repose. At Stratford-on-Avon, though everything is well managed, and there is no room for complaint of unreasonable charges, there is still a danger of an uneasy feeling on the visitor's part that Shakespeare's name and fame are being coined into money.

My friend and I left the old churchyard, secured the old gate in the wall down at the street-side, and walked toward his house in the suburbs. The day was done; the sun no longer lighted up the smiling farm-lands of Cheshire; the cattle in the pastures had been driven home; everything accorded with the genius of the place.

H. M. J.

NEWS OF FRIENDS.

THE special Committee of New York Yearly Meeting for the Advancement of Friends' Principles has been collecting information regarding the needs and condition of the subordinate meetings, and has recommended a line of activity for an increase of interest in Friends' principles, in Friendly neighborhoods. The following recommendations have been made to the local meetings, as a means of creating such interest:

"A gathering to be held at least once a month, in the meeting-house, if possible, and if not in some home. To such gatherings the Friendly people of the neighborhood, and especially those persons not connected with any other religious body, should be invited.

"These gatherings should be particularly social, but stimulating in the direction of interest in Friendly principles and practical philanthropies. At these meetings, it is suggested that half an hour be devoted to reading and discussing either original papers or extracts from published articles treating of Friends' principles. Connected with these gatherings might be short studies and discussion of some of the practical things which everybody ought to know, but which many people do not, such as matters relating to the machinery of local and general government, domestic economy, etc., all to be treated from the Friendly standpoint.

"Where possible it is thought these gatherings should be held in the evening, and to add to the sociability of the occasions refreshments might be served. The object sought is the spreading of the truth, and an increase of fellowship among Friends and their neighbors.

"This monthly social meeting should be supplemented by family visitation, reviving the good old-fashioned practice of frequent informal neighborhood calls, tending to a deepened respect for an increased interest in the neighbor."

Assistance will be given meetings in the way of visitation and coöperation in local labor. A conference was held under the auspices of the committee at Quaker Street, New York, in Ninth month, which was followed by a reported increase of interest in the local meeting.—Young Friends' Review.

FROM ISAAC WILSON.—I.

Editors FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER:

HAVING felt for a long time a strong desire to visit again, in a social and religious way, some of our Friends and meetings in the Western States, the early spring of 1899 seemed to be accompanied with some prospect of our desire being granted, but some unexpected reverses during the summer released the mind entirely from any anxiety about the matter until in Ninth month our monthly meeting granted my wife and me a minute of approval to proceed as best wisdom might direct during the approaching winter.

After some weeks of necessary work at home, we left on the 28th of Eleventh month, with the kind wishes of our many dear friends for a successful trip and safe return. Feeling a desire to attend some of our own Canadian meetings before entering other fields, we made our first stop at Whitby, where a meeting had been appointed for 7 p. m., and made a social call on an aged Friend who was unable to attend the meeting. We were pleasantly surprised to find a larger gathering of Friends and others than was expected, considering the dark, unfavorable condition of the weather, and we felt it to be a favored meeting, wherein the simplicity of the teaching of Jesus was set forth as applicable to human needs. After which we returned with our Friends of the Webster home to remain for the night.

The social visiting designed for the next day must be left for my wife, as I went at 5 a. m., in response to a message, to attend a funeral near Buffalo, New York. I attended it at 4 p. m., and felt well repaid for the effort to be there. I remained at Buffalo with a cousin, over night, returning to Toronto Fifth-day morning, meeting my wife at Stephen H. Brown's, where we enjoyed our social visit very much.

Sixth-day we again separated, my wife going to our daughter's, and I to attend some meetings at Yonge Street and vicinity, and was met at New Market by a brother, who with a daughter accompanied me on Seventh-day to Uxbridge (16 miles) where a meeting was appointed for 2.30 o'clock on First-day. It was well attended and a favored occasion. But farewells must soon be said, as we had fifteen miles again to drive to a meeting at Whitchurch, at 7.30, where in the house of my boyhood days, the early impressions of a religious character were felt. There seemed now to be realized in an overflowing measure an earnest desire for faithfulness on the part of all to such individual convictions as may be given. And I have reason for believing that both the invitations extended and the testimonies borne as to the sufficiency of doctrine embraced in this simple obedience were well received, and we trust may bring some good fruit. I returned to brother's home to enjoy a night of sweet rest from the labor of the day.

Second-day, after a pleasant social visit with invited guests, my brother and I drove sixteen miles to Schomberg, where we attended an appointed meeting at 7.30 that bore evidence of the right authority.

Third-day morning we found it quite cold and wintry, but must return to Newmarket, spending the afternoon in a social way until time for meeting appointed for the evening, where a very close travail of spirit was felt with existing conditions that added no little to the labor of the evening; but thankfulness was both uttered and unexpressed for that inspiring wisdom that so fitted the occasion. And all felt it good to be there.

Fourth-day morning (6th inst.), I left at an early hour to join my wife at Guelph, and spend a few days with our daughter and family before going west. We were pleased to meet there our mutual friend George T. Powell, of Ghent, New York, who was in attendance at the annual gathering in the interest of our Provincial Agricultural College.

ISAAC WILSON.

Guelph, Canada, Twelfth month 7.

BEARING TESTIMONY AGAINST WAR.

Editors FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER:

As Friends we are required to bear testimony against war, and preparations for war. As citizens of the United States, we are a part of the government, and it must be our duty to bear such testimony by our voting as well as by our speaking. It seems to me we may well consider whether as a body we are not given to talking for principle and voting for property.

The political party that now controls the government of the country is certainly the party of expansion and of militarism. Harrison's administration made a treaty annexing the Hawaiian Islands, started the policy of expending great sums of money on the Navy, as a preparation for war, and increased the expenditure for pensions to a fearsome amount, although Grant had predicted that by this time they ought to be very much reduced. On account of these things perhaps this party was defeated, and the annexation of the islands of the Pacific and the growth of the pension expenditure was stopped for four years. But at the next election the imperial party was again put in power, and I believe that a very large majority of our members (men and women) were glad of it. The present administration has only carried out the policy it promised to carry out, and its acts are the acts of those who voted for it.

The policy of expansion has come to stay. But I cannot take such a discouraged view of the condition of the country as some of our members do. I have faith in the righteousness of a majority of our people, and faith in the fulfillment of the prophesy of the Divine Master, that "Many shall come from the east and from the west, and sit down in his kingdom." Is it not time for the friends of peace to consider how they can expedite the fulfillment of that prophesy, by turning the extended influence of our government to the promotion of peace in the world? If our lines are "far flung," need they be "battle lines"? Hard problems seem to be given to us to solve. In order to solve them right we must rid ourselves of party prejudice, and also of race prejudice. It is encouraging to think how much progress has been made by the people generally in ridding themselves of race prejudice, although our religious organization has retrograded in that respect. Colored men are now admitted to all the rights of citizens of the United States. But the flaming sword of an unwritten law (more strictly adhered to than any rule of the discipline) still keeps them out of our meetings. S.

Chester county, Pa.

FROM THE SCHOFIELD SCHOOL.

Editors FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER:

THE end of our third month of this term will soon be here, but no happy Christmas for my co-workers unless their well-earned salaries are paid. Besides a large day school, we have nearly one hundred boarders, twenty-five more than ever before at one time. This makes more work for each instructor. The business manager must buy more materials for harness-shop, printing, and carpentering. Each is full of apprentices. There is more correspondence with parents about getting monthly payments for board, often coming in sums of one, two, and three dollars by mail or money order; more work to get outside trade to keep the shops going, and more bills to collect. Carpenters have been busy finishing the Deborah F. Wharton Hall for bed-rooms in the third story; sewing-room busy making ticks to fill with the long pine needles, the only mattress we use for students, and quilting; though the cold was so great last week we had to go to a store and buy seven comfortables, and are now using all the old carpets for covering. The Treasurer sent her personal check of $51 to pay for some iron bedsteads that were necessary, which will be returned to her from the sale of old clothes. Two young men sleep on single beds to use covering of both, and three girls in a bed for the same reason.

If you were here not one of you could turn these students away. A widow was so determined to put her girl with us, they walked from Saluda county, in two days, and brought money for one month's board. When R. B. asked, "What have you to feed the other four children?" she replied, "Got peas." "Any meat?" "No, no meat; but peas and walnuts cooked together make a right good dinner."

Oh, my sister women, if you touched, as we do, the great desire of mothers to "make something good and true" of their daughters, you would realize that the Divine gift of sacred motherhood had not been withheld from the ignorant slave woman whose own body has been on the auction block. The anxiety and expressions of some of these crude, uncultured women are often more full of sublime truth for uplifting the race than any political speech ever made. More than "diamonds in the rough," for they are immortal lives hungering and thirsting for guidance and development. If I could whisper to you of the scanty wardrobes, underclothing and handkerchiefs made of flour-sacks, etc., and sometimes these girls have more energy and determination than others in far better circumstances.

Do aspiration and desire for higher things, does the noble purpose to "be somebody" come from the source of All-Good? Then the Source must know who will give us the supply for some of the demand, who is able to minister as the Christ ministered unto those about him who were in need.

The Treasurer, whose pen and hands are not idle, leaves the giving in the Father's care and yours.

*Schofield School, Aiken, S. C., M. S.
Twelfth month 7.*

CIRCULATING THE "INTELLIGENCER."

Editors FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER :

PERMIT me to say, as a stimulus to like action in other places, and for the information of all who may be benefitted thereby, that Miami Quarterly meeting has appointed Elizabeth B. Moore, of Waynesville, Ohio, its agent, to receive and forward the subscriptions of its members for FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, and that any such member can have that paper for 1900 by paying to such agent one dollar, and the Quarterly Meeting will pay the rest of the subscription price. The same arrangement is likely to continue after 1900. Members whose subscriptions expire during the year can have them continued to the end of it by paying to Elizabeth B. Moore a ratable part of one dollar for the balance of the time.

The Meeting believes that the widest circulation of the paper among the members, and especially the isolated members, will increase their interest in the Society, its work, and its principles, and so increase the life of our meetings and the interest of our members, and work like leaven for good among their neighbors.

CLARKSON BUTTERWORTH.

Waynesville, Ohio.

THE American Jewish Year Book, just issued, gives the Jewish population of the country as 1,043,800. It is stated that of these there are 400,000 in New York, 95,000 in Illinois, 95,000 in Pennsylvania, 50,000 in Ohio, 35,000 in California, 35,000 in Maryland, and 35,000 in Missouri.

ALTHOUGH the Pan-American Exposition, which is to be held in Buffalo in 1901, is a year and a half distant, the New York Central Railroad has already begun to advertise the event, and has named one of its fast trains "The Pan-American Express."

THERE never was a government which fought a war, however begun, that would admit that it was itself in the least to blame for the bloody chapter. It's always the other unprincipled fellow.—Springfield Republican.

IN the vote on liquor-selling in Massachusetts cities, on the 5th instant, two, Fitchburg and Waltham, turned from no-license to license, and Taunton from license to no-license. Otherwise the list remains as last year.

LIEUT. MARTIN E. TRUE, of the 13th Minnesota Volunteers, recently from the Philippine Islands, writes in the Minneapolis Times that there is no truth in statements that the Filipinos killed people in surrendered towns. "While with Lawton's campaign into the interior," he says, he "talked with many escaped Spanish prisoners, and not one of them would say that the insurgents had ever killed an enemy who had surrendered to them."

The First-Day Schools.

NOTES OF SWARTHMORE SCHOOL.

Editors FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER :

AT a recent meeting of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting's Committee on First-day Schools the concern was expressed that a more living interest be manifested in our various schools, that the wide-awake ones should by visits or otherwise try to infuse life and fresh courage into those that are small or laboring under discouragements. It was suggested that one means to this end would be brief reports of anything fresh and inspiring occurring in any of our First-day Schools made through the columns of the INTELLIGENCER.

We would therefore mention an entertaining session of Swarthmore School on Twelfth month 10. The superintendent, after happily appealing to the children for their help in providing for and packing three barrels of old toys, fruit, groceries, crackers, candy, etc., for two colored and one white schools and Home for children, asked the attention of the school to a talk furnished by appointment from the Monthly Meeting's Philanthropic Committee. This committee is given the general exercise in the First-day school one first-day in each month and various are the subjects looking to the improvement of the world that are brought into notice. On this day the subject was "The Rights of Property," and Prof. Arthur H. Tomlinson gave an admirable talk that should impress both younger and older people on the importance of not robbing others of their just rights. While all, or most all, are clear of stealing money, thoughtless or selfish persons will sometimes talk during a lecture and prevent persons near them from hearing what they have paid money to hear. Men in their selfish devotion to smoking will vitiate the pure air which others have the right to breathe. Boys in their play will injure others' clothing, which is, in a sense, robbery, inasmuch as money must be spent to replace it. So forcibly did he present his subject, that if the lesson it carried might happily be learned no one would hesitate to say it was rightly classified Philanthropic. ***

FIRST-DAY SCHOOL WORK.

Editors FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER :

I DESIRE to endorse the remarks of President Eliot on "Manners," in his address to the president-elect of Wellesley College, in the INTELLIGENCER of Eleventh month 18, and also, more heartily to endorse the comments by Dr. E. E. Hale. Expressions of gratitude for benefits received are too often neglected by those from whom they should come. Those whom we call our dearest friends do not always realize what a strength and inspiration a few words might be, expressing their appreciation of our efforts in their behalf. This lesson needs to be emphasized and instilled, with many others of like tendency, into the minds of the youth of this generation, giving assurance that brain culture will not stand the world's test unless genuine cultured deportment accompanies it.

Another subject has claimed my thoughts of recent years, and that is the need of help to make our First-day schools more as we would have them be. There is a lack of interest on behalf of many, and we naturally tire of a continuous routine. I have thought it very probable that communications through the INTELLIGENCER might be very profitable to many. Those who have no need of help or strength are the ones who can render much assistance to the weaker schools. We look naturally to our unions for this support, but the day of the meeting is always too short, and we are apt to feel disappointed. I realize that if the program of the Unions was simplified much time would be saved,—for instance the morning sessions are nearly consumed by reading statistical reports, which no doubt, in a way, are important, but they might be summarized, and be equally so. Also, we should avoid reading long papers on subjects foreign to the interests of First-day schools. Such papers might be very suitable in another place, and we are pleasantly entertained by them, but does this method reach the need of our First-day Schools?

Bucks county, Pa.

F.

LITERARY NOTES.

A FIRE in Philadelphia, on the 29th ult., originating in the department store of Partridge & Richardson, at Filbert and Eighth streets, destroyed that and other buildings, including the large printing and publishing establishment of the J. B. Lippincott Company, fronting on Filbert street below Eighth. The Lippincott Company immediately secured the building No. 624 Chestnut street, and are carrying on their business there, as usual. Their large stock of stereotype plates were partly saved, and partly injured by the fire. The issue of Lippincott's magazine will not be interrupted. The editorial charge of that periodical is now in the hands of Harrison S. Morris.

It is pleasant to be assured by Harper & Brothers that "despite any rumors to the contrary," their publications will continue to be published regularly as usual. In addition efforts are being made to make them more desirable and more valuable than ever. The Harpers' corporation is being reorganized. It has new a president, G. B. M. Harvey (who is also editor of the North American Review), and pending the reorganization is in charge of a receiver. It would be a public loss to have the name of Harper & Brothers removed from the list of American publishers.

A famous picture by Titian is preserved in a remote Mexican monastery. How a party of tourists went in a "dugout" in search for it is told in a characteristic manner by Charles Dudley Warner in an article which he has written for the Youth's Companion. For the same "Ian Maclaren" has written the story of his own childhood,—which was spent partly in London, and partly in Scotland,—and Gen. John B. Gordon, the "Confederate" commander, has written a sketch describing the life of a boy in Georgia before the Civil War; his recreations, including wolf-hunting; his friends among the slaves; his schools and school-masters, etc., etc. These are but a few of the striking announcements made by the Youth's Companion.

PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED.

- THE QUEEN'S TWIN AND OTHER STORIES. By Sarah Orne Jewett. Pp. 232. $1.25. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. (Received through H. T. Coates & Co.)
- ECHOES OF GREEK IDYLLS. By Lloyd Mifflin. Pp. 78. $1.25. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. (Received through H. T. Coates & Co.)
- REMINISCENCES.—1819–1899. By Julia Ward Howe. Pp. 465. $2.50. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. (Received through H. T. Coates & Co.)
- THE WIFE OF HIS YOUTH, and Other Stories of the Color Line. By Charles W. Chesnutt. Pp. 323. $1.50. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. (Received through H. T. Coates & Co.)

WE cannot kindle when we will
The fire which in our heart resides;
The spirit bloweth and is still,
In mystery our soul abides,
But tasks in hours of insight willed
Can be through hours of gloom fulfilled.
—[Matthew Arnold.]

Educational Department.

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE NOTES.

THE annual "Shakespeare Evening" will be given by the members of the Senior Class on the 16th of this month.

A Latin Society has been formed under the leadership of Prof. Ferris W. Price. The society will hold meetings once a month and will study family life among the Romans. This work, while it is, of course, primarily intended for Classical students, cannot fail to be of general interest.

On the evening of the 7th inst., a meeting of the Joseph Leidy Scientific Association was held in Science Hall. Dr. Day, in behalf of the Chemistry Department, reported briefly on recent investigations in regard to oxygen. Prof. Hoadley spoke interestingly of glacial action on stone. The chief feature of the evening, however, was Dr. Trotter's exhibition and discussion of a recently discovered Indian skeleton. This interesting relic was found in an old Indian burial ground on the banks of the Brandywine. With it were exhumed a number of beads, a lock of hair, and other relics. A hole in the forehead indicated that death had been inflicted by an arrow. The Indian is believed to have been one of the Lenape, the Indian inhabitants of this part of Pennsylvania. They were a tribe of the great Algonquin family. The skeleton may be two hundred years old or more. The discovery is considered an important one, and the skeleton has been deposited in the Swarthmore Museum.

M. S. H.

FRIENDS' SEMINARY, NEW YORK.—The enrollment of pupils is larger than it has been for many years. The attendance in the Academic Department has reached the limit of accommodation. To meet the increasing needs an additional teacher, Ida M. Morris, of Chicago, has been engaged to assist in the Primary and Intermediate classes.

The first Parents' Meeting was held in the Kindergarten room on the 22d of Eleventh month. The discussion of "The three H's"—the Head, the Hand, and the Heart,—turned mainly upon questions of moral instruction and training.

On the 6th instant Anna M. Stabler, representing Our Animal Protective League, lectured to the pupils upon "Horses, Cats, and Dogs." The lecture and the lantern slides were well calculated to further the aims of the League, which are to arouse in children feelings of kindness and consideration for animals and to instruct them so that they shall know what may be done and how to do it.

The problem of transition from Kindergarten to Primary has been successfully worked out. The work has been so modified that the difference between the kindergarten to the next class is no greater than that between any other two classes. The Kindergarten is one of the Primary classes, and no longer a separate department. **

WOODSTOWN LECTURES.—Woodstown's University Extension Lectures will begin First month 5, 1900, and will continue on each succeeding Sixth-day evening until a course of six lectures is completed.

The general subject is,—"The Cities of Italy, and their Gift to Civilization;" the lecturer is Edward Howard Griggs, M.A. It will teach us what we in this new progressive America of ours, need to learn—that we owe a great deal to the past—that, from the laws of our country down to the nursery tales told round our hearths, we are copyists.

Mr. Griggs is worthy of his subject. After studying his syllabus, one cannot but feel that to be a member of the Centre, for these lectures, would be to improve both morally and intellectually.

HELEN G. BORTON, Sec.

Woodstown, N. J.

ACCORDING to a despatch from Plattsburg, N. Y.: During the deer-hunting season just ended in the Adirondacks, twenty-two persons were accidentally killed by hunters. The number of deer killed was also larger than usual.

It is probable that Southern California will ship out fifteen thousand carloads of oranges this season.

Conferences, Associations, Etc.

WRIGHTSTOWN, PA.—The Young Friends' Association met on First-day afternoon, Twelfth month 3, at the meeting-house. Beside the usual number of members there were visiting Friends and an interesting program was rendered. A portion of Discipline, entitled "Schools," was read by Mary Scarborough, and in the discussion that followed the thought was expressed that our teachers do not strive as they should to impart a knowledge of higher things.

Anna Wright read an excellent account of Samuel M. Janney, and the thought came to us, as she told of his famous school for girls, that he must have been an ideal teacher. In fact, he seems to have been an ideal Friend, and we can do well to follow in his footsteps. Marvin H. Scarborough asked about Janney's writings and was answered by Louisa Woodman and Mary A. John.

We were led to think of the little ones of the kingdom when Watson Atkinson recited a pretty little poem called "The Three Wishes." Florence Wetherington also recited and then Louisa Woodman was called upon to give a synopsis of the First-day school lessons, as given since the close of our First-day school last month. She took up the thread of the story just where it was dropped in her class, and held the interest of all as she outlined the history of those grand old prophets. S. Wilfred Smith will continue with this subject at our next meeting, and we will thus try to keep up some connection with the First-day school work.

M. A. J., Correspondent.

HOPEWELL, VA.—The meeting at Hopewell, of the Young Friends' Association, on First-day, the 26th of Eleventh month, was unusually well attended.

The order of business was entered upon by the president reading a portion of the fifteenth chapter of Proverbs. Roll-call showed a fair, but not full attendance, and we felt glad many who were not members were attracted to our meetings.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The Executive Committee handed in the following order for exercises for the meeting to be held on Twelfth month 24: History, Annie J. Rees, Jr.; Literature, Bessie J. Robinson; Discipline, David P. Lupton; Current Topics, E. Caroline Branson. The following question was referred to Daniel T. Wood: "According to Friends' views is war ever justifiable?"

The membership committee had no new names to report. The appointed exercises for the day were opened by Sarah B. Hardesty, who read a poem on Mary Queen of Scots.

Under the head of Literature, Allen B. Bond read a portion of a selected article. Lydia W. Irish answered the question referred to her, "Should we as a Society do more proselyting?" and general remarks upon the subject followed.

A short voluntary upon "The Haste of Life" was read, after which, the usual silence, and the meeting adjourned.

M. S. L., Secretary.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.—The regular monthly meeting of the Friends' Association of Cincinnati was held at the home of E. H. Griest, First-day afternoon, Eleventh month 3. The subject for the afternoon was: "Could our war in the Philippines have been honorably avoided by the government?" The discussion was opened with an interesting talk by William McDowell. He was followed by Isaac Butterworth, who read extracts from Murat Halstead's "Story of the Philippines." The discussion was very animated and was participated in by Charles Murray, Isaac Butterworth, Barclay Spicer, and Edwin Griest.

A beautiful poem, read by Mary Pine, and an article from Young Friends' Review, entitled "The Training of the Tongue," read by Lida Layman, completed the program.

GRACE D. HALL, Asst. Clerk.

CORNWALL, N. J.—A meeting of the Cornwall Friends' Association was held at the home of Theodore Ketcham, Twelfth month 3. After the minutes of last meeting were read a report of the Woodstown Conference was listened to.

A paper, entitled "What is True Success?" was read by its author, Gilbert T. Cocks, and is as follows. [We shall give it separately.—EDS.]

Sentiments were given by nearly all present, and the meeting adjourned to meet at the "Seaman Homestead" in four weeks.

BLANCHE E. BROWN, Secretary.

LECTURE AT NEW YORK.—A friend writes from New York: "Ernest H. Crosby spoke very acceptably to us, last Seventh-day evening (9th inst.), at the lecture-room in the New York meeting-house, on 'Tolstoy's Philosophy of Life.'"

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.—A meeting of those opposed to Capital Punishment is called for this evening (Twelfth month 16), at 226 East 16th street, New York City. See under heading Notices.

Y. F. A. BUILDING, PHILADELPHIA.

THE new building, erected by the Young Friends' Association of Philadelphia, on 15th street, at the corner of Cherry, was formally "opened" on the afternoon and evening of the 9th inst. The whole building was thrown open for inspection from 4 to 9 o'clock, and refreshments were served in the dining-room. A large number of visitors were present, and many favorable expressions were made as to the attractiveness of the interior and its appointments.

The building covers the site of five dwelling houses on 15th street, and abuts in the rear upon the property of the Yearly Meeting, from whose court-yard there are convenient entrances. The ground occupied is 85 feet on 15th street and 51 feet on Cherry.

The building is of Pompeian brick. On the first floor is the library-room of Friends' Library Association (whose room has been in the school building, inside the court-yard), the dining-room, the office, the reception-room, kitchen, etc. The dining-room will seat about seventy persons at one time.

On the second floor are rooms belonging to the matron's department, a rest-room for visiting Friends, the offices of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, and other offices designed for tenants.

The main room of the third floor is the auditorium, lighted from three sides, and with a capacity for comfortably seating about 400. In the northern end of the building, on the third, fourth, and fifth floors, are bedrooms intended especially for Friends temporarily in the city; and both the bedrooms and the auditorium are connected with a fire-proof stairway from the north entrance on Fifteenth street.

At the regular meeting of the Young Friends' Association on Second-day evening, 11th inst., held in the new auditorium, the building committee (Robert M. Janney, chairman, Emma Waln, secretary), made their final report, and were released with the thanks of the Association. The report stated that the building was completed, was free from debt, and had a substantial permanent fund ($25,000) for maintenance.

The report of the Treasurer of the building committee, William W. Birdsall, was also presented. It showed in detail the expenditure for the original property (which was acquired at different times, and by different means), and for the building.

The total of donations and subscriptions (exclusive of the one property at the corner of 15th and Cherry, which was conveyed by the Friends who purchased it to the Yearly Meeting), is $86,962.07, and some accretions of interest, etc., give this item a total of $87,613.15. The real estate cost $31,300 (including $3,500 paid for extinguishing a ground-rent). The building, including pavement, extras, and architect's fee, cost $30,485.65. A policy of perpetual insurance for $23,000 cost $690. The maintenance fund, $25,000, and premium on bonds, $137.50, balance the account, with a total of $87,613.15.

(This does not include the furniture of the building, seats for auditorium, dining-room appointments, gas-fixtures, etc. These have been provided by the House Committee, at a cost of $2,800, and most of this sum, temporarily provided, remains to be covered.)

The treasurer of the building committee, concluding his report, says:

"The individual subscriptions and donations have been nearly five hundred in number, and have varied widely in amount, according to the means and interest of the donors.

"Besides the contributions of individuals, the Friends' Associations of Langhorne, West Chester, Crosswicks, Trenton, and Salem have contributed to our Funds, as has also Goshen Monthly Meeting [Chester county, Pa.]. From the estate of the late T. Ellwood Lewis we have realized the sum of $1,502.79, including the proceeds of the real estate. The Diligent Workers' Circle of King's Daughters, and the FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER Association are also numbered among our contributors. I hold, subject to the order of the Association, $5,000 par value of Southern Railway five per cent. bonds, and $20,000 Pennsylvania Consolidated mortgage six per cent. bonds; these being the amounts given for the purpose by an interested Friend who desired thus to provide for the permanent maintenance of the building."

METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY FOR ELEVENTH MONTH, 1899.

Mean barometer,	30.092
Highest barometer during the month, 7th,	30.525
Lowest barometer during the month, 1st,	29.465
Mean temperature,	46.9
Highest temperature during the month, 10th, 11th,	64.
Lowest temperature during the month, 13th,	29.
Mean of maximum temperatures,	54.6
Mean of minimum temperatures,	39.2
Greatest daily range of temperature, 7th,	21.
Least daily range of temperature, 19th,	7.
Mean daily range of temperature,	15.4
Mean relative humidity, per cent.,	77.6
Mean temperature of the Dew Point,	37.2
Total precipitation, in inches,	2.03
Greatest precipitation in any 24 consecutive hours, .80 of an inch of rain, on the 3d and 4th.
Number of days on which .01 inch or more of rain fell, 8.
Number of clear days 14, fair days 6, cloudy days 10.
Prevailing direction of wind from the Northwest.
Thunder storm on eve of the 3d.
Snow, light flurries, afternoon of the 14th.
Sleet on the 14th.
Heavy frost on 13th, 14th, 25th, 26th, 27th.
Meteor on the 13th.

SENSIBLE TEMPERATURE DATA.

Maximum temperature of wet bulb thermometer at 8 a. m., 58, on 1st.
Minimum temperature of wet bulb thermometer at 8 a. m., 29, on 13th.
Mean temperature of wet bulb thermometer at 8 a. m., 39.3.
Maximum temperature of wet bulb thermometer at 8 p. m., 52.5, on 19th.
Minimum temperature of wet bulb thermometer at 8 p. m., 31, on 12th.
Mean temperature of wet bulb thermometer at 8 p. m., 42.9.
Mean temperature of wet bulb thermometer for this month, 41.1.

NOTE.—The means of the daily maximum and minimum temperatures 54.6° and 39.2° respectively, give a monthly mean of 46.9° which is 1.5° above the normal for Eleventh month, and 2.3° above the corresponding month in 1898.

The total amount of precipitation for the month is about two inches less than the normal.

No "shower of meteors" was discernable, on the early morning of the 13th. Several were seen only two or three of which appeared to be Leonids.

JOHN COMLY, Observer.

Centennial Avenue, Philadelphia, Eleventh month 30.

PROHIBITION IN MAINE.

Joshua L. Bailey, of Philadelphia, in the American Friend, Phila.

In a recent visit which I made in Maine, one of my chief objects was to observe the working of the prohibitory law of that State. While I found many persons who considered the law in a large measure successful, I was somewhat surprised at the number of those who condemned it as a failure. I found the latter were of two classes—those who were opposed to the law, and would like to have it repealed, because of some interest which they had in the liquor business, or because it interfered with or restricted the indulgence of their appetite. The other class was made up chiefly of those who professed to be Prohibitionists, but who pronounced the law a failure because it did not fully suppress the traffic.

I resolved to make an investigation for myself and availed myself of every opportunity that offered for obtaining information. I spent three days in Portland. At one of the principal hotels where I dined I noticed the menu contained no wine list, and I asked the waiter the reason for it. He told me the law would not allow it. Had I dined at any prominent hotel in almost any other city—New York, Philadelphia or Boston—I would have been confronted with a wine list covering a whole page. At a prominent hotel where I dined recently in another city, there were seventy-three kinds of wine named on the wine list—seventy-three invitations to drink. All of these were wanting at the Portland Hotel. Methought the law certainly doesn't fail in this. I noticed there were no wines or other alcoholic liquors on the table. The popping of corks, so observable at other hotels, was wanting here. I asked the waiter if one could not have a bottle of wine; he looked very much surprised and told me about the Maine law, no doubt thinking I was very ignorant. Again, I thought, the law doesn't fail in this.

I took up two of the principal newspapers of Portland, the Argus and the Express. I looked through them, column after column, and nowhere found any liquors advertised for sale or any information as to where they could be had. There was beef, but no beer; bread, but no brandy; corn and oats and wheat, but no whisky; dry goods and clothing and groceries, but no liquors of any kind. In almost any paper in any other city outside of Maine I would have no difficulty in finding where any sort of liquor could be had, either in the smallest or the largest quantities.

I walked up and down the streets of Portland—not the principal streets only, but the narrow streets and out-of-the-way places, and I nowhere read on any sign the word "liquors" or "saloon," nor was there in any window on any street any bottles or decanters of wine or other liquors, nor were there any beer or whiskey barrels, full or empty, to be seen on any payment. I found out what corresponded in Portland as nearly as there could be any resemblance, to what is familiarly known as the "slum district" in other cities. From nine o'clock until midnight I walked through the streets which had been named to me as most nearly deserving that appellation. I didn't see any store or building which gave any outward indication of its being a place where liquors were sold. I didn't meet a drunken person, and only one upon whom I discovered the odor of liquor, and he was a policeman. I was surprised at the loneliness and quiet of the streets, and concluded that the Portland people either spent their evenings at home, or went to bed early. A policeman kindly gave me the information that a theatre had opened that evening on Peak's Island, a few miles out in the harbor, and that a steamboat load of people had gone out there to attend the entertainment, and he said that the boat would be due on its return trip at twenty minutes after eleven o'clock. I concluded that this rendezvous in Portland harbor was probably another Coney Island, and that the denizens of the district I had been visiting had gone out there to have a frolic; and so, taking a position in the shadow of an electric light, I stood waiting their return. As they came in and passed by me I could see every countenance distinctly. They were men, women, and children. I looked at them with surprise, as I failed to discover any evidence that a single one of them had been drinking. There was no alcoholic odor on the breath of any of them. They were a quiet, orderly, respectable company—just such as any one would expect to meet coming home from a Methodist meeting. I took the liberty of asking an explanation of a gentleman who was walking alone, and he told me that neither love nor money would buy a drop of any alcoholic liquor on Peak's Island. He kindly told me what he might have supposed I did not know, that the island was a part of the territory of the prohibition State of Maine. Surely, I thought to myself, some of those people who so flippantly told me prohibition was a dead failure were not in the habit of visiting Peak's Island.

The tramp which I made through the streets of Portland that night was made alone. I felt a sense of security which I would have felt in few other cities. I have been through what is known as the "slum districts" in my own native city of Philadelphia, and in New York, but I was always accompanied by one or more police officers. I have been in nearly all of our Atlantic cities, and in many in the West, but never in any city at the hours named, have I witnessed the same degree of order and decorum which I saw in Portland.

Notwithstanding these conditions which I have described, I do not mean to give the impression that there is no liquor selling or drunkenness in Portland—quite otherwise. The omission of wine lists at the hotels, and the absence of liquors from the hotel tables, no advertising of liquors for sale, no saloon signboards on the streets, are certainly so many outward indications of an observance of the law, an observance which in a very large degree removes temptation. To guests at the hotels, readers of newspapers, and to those who walk the streets of Portland, whether strangers or residents, the temptation is not, as in other cities, constantly presented. It is certainly a much safer place for young men to live and grow up than in other places where the temptation is ever before them. But the sale and use of intoxicants in Portland, as in many other places in Maine, is carried on clandestinely under such conditions as are very unattractive. In the very hotel where I dined, as before described, I found in an out-of-the-way place in the basement an apartment which answered the purpose of a bar-room. There was an unpainted pine counter, and a number of bottles displayed containing ginger ale, sarsaparilla, and other such drinks as are commonly called "soft," and there was a bartender, and either under the counter or in some other hiding place, or in a refrigerator, there were stronger drinks which could be had when called for. There were no stools, nor chairs, nor tables in the room, no pictures on the walls, nor any of the ordinary paraphernalia of a bar-room to induce any one to tarry longer than necessary. I was in this apartment several times, and usually found the bartender alone, and found him obligingly willing to be interviewed. He told me the public authorities knew perfectly well that liquors were being sold there; that the officers usually came there every six months and made them pay a fine of $100 and costs, and then so long as they kept certain city regulations not to sell liquors on Sunday or to minors or drunkards, or were complained of by no one, they were not molested until another six months came around. I found similar apartments under like conditions in some other hotels in Portland, and I found interior or back rooms in a number of fruit and grocery stores where liquors were for sale under very similar conditions; but these were not, however, the most reputable stores, and they were usually in out-of-the-way places, not likely to be found by strangers, and not likely to be frequented by citizens who had a care for their reputation.

(Conclusion to Follow.)

The Fear of Death.

"I HAVE seen thousands of persons die under all sorts of circumstances, and never yet have I seen one display the slightest fear of death." This remarkable statement was made the other day, according to the Philadelphia Record, by a physician who has practiced many years in Philadelphia, and who has seen a great deal of hospital service.

"It is a popular fallacy," he went on, "to imagine that a death-bed scene is ever terrible, other than as a parting between loved ones. The fear of the unknown is never present at the last. Even amid ignorance and vice I have never experienced such scenes as a novelist, who strives after realism, will sometimes picture."

"When a patient is told that he cannot recover and the end is near, he invariably seems resigned to his fate, and his only thought seems to be of those who are to be left behind. This is true alike of men and women."

"Those who become hysterical and declare they are not fit to die are the ones who are not as ill as they think they are. These always get well. A psychological reason? Oh, I don't know that there is any. It's just a human trait."

The Error of Militarism.

It is impossible to escape the force of the evidence, which comes from every side, of the way in which the rapidly developed militarism and imperialism of this country is regarded by the best minds of Europe and the world. . . . Prof. Virchow, of the University of Berlin, says:

"Nations are led astray by a deceptive idea of glory and honor. The United States have lately offered a pitiable example of that."

Francis de Pressensé, writing in a recent number of the Contemporary Review of London, expresses foreboding in words full of warning. He says:

"In the United States of America we see the intoxication of the new strong wine of warlike glory carrying a great democracy off its feet, and raising the threatening spectre of militarism, with its fatal attendant, Cæsarism, in the background. Under the pretext of 'manifest destiny,' the great republic of the western hemisphere is becoming unfaithful to the principles of her founders, to the precedents of her constitutional life, to the traditions which have made her free, glorious, and prosperous. The seductions of imperialism are drawing the United States towards the abyss wherein all the great democracies of the world have found their end."—[City and State, Philadelphia.]

Three Women Speakers.

PROF. MARGARET J. EVANS, Mrs. Ella S. Armitage, and Dr. Grace N. Kimball were the three women among the forty-five speakers at the International Congregational Council, held in Boston recently. Miss Evans is professor of English literature and modern languages at Carleton College, Northfield, Minn. Mrs. Armitage is the wife of Prof. Elkanah Armitage of Leeds, and is prominent in Congregational church work in England.

Dr. Kimball is now assistant physician at Vassar College, but is best known for her organization of the industrial relief work at Van after the Armenian massacres, a work that saved thousands from starvation by the best method—that of helping them to help themselves. She had to leave Turkey to save her life, and the Sultan has forbidden her to return.

Mrs. Armitage and Professor Evans are both of them tall women, of fine presence. Dr. Kimball, before the meeting, privately expressed the wish that she were not so small. "How can I come after you two?" she said. "Never mind," said Professor Evans, "when you get through, we shall feel small enough!" Both Professor Evans and Mrs. Armitage were cordially greeted, but when little Dr. Kimball came forward she received an ovation, the great audience rising en masse and giving her the "Chautauqua salute."—Woman's Journal.

Warmth of Living-Rooms.

THE following paragraph we copy from the Ladies' Home Journal:

"Seventy degrees Fahrenheit is a good temperature at which to keep the house. If the ventilation is so arranged that the impure air passes out, and there is a proper supply of pure air, all the healthy members of the family will feel comfortably warm. It is a mistake to make one or two rooms hot and keep the rest of the house at a much lower temperature; no better system could be devised for producing colds."

In printing it we may remark that in England school-rooms and living-rooms are not usually kept above 60 or 62 degrees.

CURRENT EVENTS.

In Congress, the Republican Caucus Committee's financial bill was made a special order for the 11th instant, and the discussion of it began on that day, several speakers on each side being heard. In the Senate on the 12th, Senator Mason, (Rep.), of Illinois, made a set speech in support of his resolution expressing sympathy with the people of the two South African republics, in their struggle for independence. The resolution was then referred. The special committee in the case of B. H. Roberts, of Utah, has been in session; it is now reported that it may go to Utah to hear testimony. Roberts insists upon his right to a seat as a regularly-elected member.

There is a strong body of opinion that he should have been sworn in, being "duly elected."

IN the German Reichstag (Parliament of the Empire) at Berlin, on the 11th, there was a debate on the estimates, and Emperor William's new naval program was introduced by the Chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe. Count von Buelow, in an earnest speech, argued the necessity for a large fleet. He declared that in her relations with other great nations Germany "must be either the hammer or the anvil." This expression causes comment in England, and many newspapers insist that an increase in Germany's fleet must cause a still further increase in that of England. It is announced that Emperor William is confident that the proposal to increase the navy is popular with the people, and believes that the new Reichstag will provide for a great war fleet for Germany.

AFTER having for about a fortnight daily telegrams from Manila that the Filipino resistance was completely crushed, etc., the dispatches about a week ago changed tone. One sent on the 7th from Manila said the "expectation of catching Aguinaldo in the north" had been "practically abandoned," and that the Filipino soldiers in Cavite province had "recently been showing increased enthusiasm and boldness." The same day a "meeting of native police" in a town of the island of Negros was reported, with the killing of an American officer. There have been, from day to day, the customary reports of the activity of the United States troops. The losses of the United States forces in the Philippines, since the war began, amount (killed, wounded, and missing), to 3,079.

THE cruelty developing in the war in South Africa is further illustrated by boastful statements published in the London newspapers that at the battle of Elands Laagte (north of Ladysmith, several weeks ago), sixty Boers were killed after they had ceased fighting. An officer, describing the action of the "Fifth Lancers," in a letter to the London Times, says that "one of our squadrons pursued them and got right in among them in the twilight, and most excellent pig-sticking ensued for about ten minutes, the bag being about sixty. One of our men stuck his lance through two, killing both at one thrust. Had it not been getting dark we should have killed many more."

Other statements, similar in purport, from soldiers engaged

Plague-Stricken.

PUNDITA RAMABAI, writing from India in Eighth month last, to friends of her work in Boston, says:

"The plague is increasing fearfully in Poona. Yesterday the death returns were 212. Bombay, at its worst, never had so high a death rate in proportion to its immensely large population. I went out this morning to buy building materials for Mukti. Nearly all the shops were closed; people were fleeing in all directions; death seems to have left its stamp all over the city, and the sound of weeping and wailing is heard in every quarter. All the Sadan girls are at Mukti, and I have proclaimed a quarantine to the people who come from Poona and other plague-stricken places."

IN Milwaukee recently nineteen aspirants for the position of keeper of a city natatorium were required to plunge into the tank in their street clothing and swim. It was a part of a civil service examination.

ABOUT 5,000 new teachers are engaged annually in Pennsylvania to fill the vacancies caused by death, marriage, change of occupation, and so forth.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Imparts that peculiar lightness, sweetness, and flavor noticed in the finest cake, short cake, biscuit, rolls, crusts, etc., which expert pastry cooks declare is unobtainable by the use of any other leavening agent.

Made from pure, grape cream of tartar.

have been published in London journals. The details are too painful to reprint.

THE military operations in South Africa continue, and there are almost daily reports of fighting. The dispatches, as heretofore stated, come through London, and have been "censored" in South Africa by the military authorities. The English columns are presumed to be pressing northward, but their rate of progress is uncertain. It is evident that the Boer resistance continues desperate. On the 10th inst. (First-day), Gen. Gatacre, who commands a body of troops intended to aid Methuen, had a "reverse" at Stormberg, and present dispatches say 672 of his force were taken prisoners. The total British losses to date are stated to be 566 killed, 2,027 wounded, and 1,977 captured and missing. This is "two-thirds of the total British loss at the battle of Waterloo."

THE Postmaster General, reporting a deficit of $6,610,000 in the operations of the Department for the last fiscal year, (ending Sixth month 30, 1899), proposes that "second-class" mail matter be restricted. This proposition has been frequently made, and it has been pointed out that the rates paid by the Government for carriage of mail matter are excessive. Finley Acker, of Philadelphia, a prominent merchant, testified before the Postal Commission that the rate paid was $40 per ton per hundred miles, and G. G. Tunell, representing the railroad companies, could not make a lower estimate than $34 per ton per hundred miles. This is a much higher price than is charged for express matter,

NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS.

THE startling fact that we had a "Billion-Dollar Congress" once served to turn the Republicans out of power. But this stupendous sum total has increased one-quarter. The Fifty-sixth will be a Billion and a Quarter Congress. The estimates of the Secretary of the Treasury for the next fiscal year are $631,081,994—and this will surely be "expanded" before Congress shall get through with it.—[N. Y. World.]

—Governor Stone, of Pennsylvania, has appointed Dr. C. S. Middleton, of Philadelphia, a member of the Homœopathic Board of State Medical Examiners, in place of Dr. I. G. Smedley, deceased.

—European dispatches, 11th, state: All eastern Germany is snowbound, and the cold is intense. Koenigsberg reports five inches of ice, and in the province of Posen several persons have been frozen to death.

—A member of the staff of the New York Sun has written for the Youth's Companion an account of what boys and young men who visit the metropolis in search of employment may have to endure, and the infrequency of success.

—The State Department denies the report that the Government of Denmark has offered the Danish West India Islands for sale.

—The Governor of New Mexico, in his annual report, estimates the population of the Territory at 260,500, and renews the plea for Statehood.

NOTICES.

 The Monthly Meeting of Friends of Philadelphia, held at Race Street, will take place on Fourth-day next, the 20th, in the evening, at 7.30 o'clock.

 The Monthly Meeting of Friends held at Green Street, Philadelphia, will take place on Fifth-day next, the 21st, in the afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

 All who are in favor of the abolishment of Capital Punishment are invited to meet for organization, Seventh-day, Twelfth month 16, 8 p. m., at 226 East 16th street, corner of Rutherford Place, New York City.

J. W. HUTCHINSON,
Chairman Committee on Philanthropic Labor,
New York Yearly Meeting,

 Friends' Visiting Committee of Salem Quarterly Meeting have made the following appointments:

TWELFTH MONTH:
17. Mullica Hill, 10 a. m.
31. Mickleton, 10 a. m.
FIRST MONTH, 1900:
21. Woodbury, 10 a. m.

 The next Conference under the care of Concord Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Philanthropic Labor will be held in the meeting-house at Chester, Pa., on First day, Twelfth month 17, 1899, at 2.30 p. m.

CHARLES PALMER, Clerk.

 Quarterly Meetings during Twelfth month occur as follows:

21. Fishing Creek H. Y. M., Millville, Pa.

 The Visiting Committee of Baltimore Yearly Meeting have arranged for meetings up to First month as follows:

TWELFTH MONTH:
17. Forest Hill.
24. Aisquith Street, Baltimore.
31. Woodlawn.

JOHN J. CORNELL, Chairman.

In a Texas case Judge Dillard decided that a mortgage on an unplanted crop is wholly illegal and void.

HIS IDEA.—Little Tommy: "Papa, did you ever see a cyclone that blowed everything up in the air,—cows and horses and houses and things,—upside down?" Papa: "Well, no, Tommy, although I've heard of it often." Little Tommy: "Well, I think it'd be rather tiresome to live so long, and never see anything!" —[Exchange.]

THE healthiest spot in the world seems to be a little hamlet in France named Aumone. There are only forty inhabitants, twenty-five of whom are 80 years of age, and one is over 100.

He Enjoys
His Wheatlet

It contains all the elements necessary for nourishment of Muscle, Bone and Brain. Most easy of digestion, most pleasant to the taste, of all Breakfast Foods. Children thrive on

WHEATLET

It does not irritate the most delicate stomach.

Tell your grocer that it is Wheatlet you want.
Send your name and address for booklet.

THE FRANKLIN MILLS CO., LOCKPORT, N. Y.

A pure, sweet, delicious luxury enjoyed by all.

ATMORE'S MINCEMEAT

Try Atmore's Genuine English Plum Pudding. Ask for it.

PRESUPPOSING THAT YOU HAVE A CAMERA, or at least some of your family are Amateurs, we wish to call your attention to the fact that we make a specialty of Developing Kodak Films and Plates, Printing from them and Mounting on cards or in albums, Enlarging them for framing or Reducing for Miniatures, Touching up and Spotting out defects, and so making a pleasing picture of what otherwise might not be so.

We employ a number of experienced Artists, both men and women, who devote their whole time and energies to this work, enabling us to give much satisfaction to our Patrons.

We also keep a full supply of the best CAMERAS, PLATES, FILMS, and ALBUMS, indeed everything used by the Amateur.

Believing that promises and promptness are important factors in business, our customers may rely on us for the prompt fulfillment of engagements, for we appreciate the annoyance occasioned by failure to fulfill such.

Orders may be sent by mail and they shall have the same prompt attention and care.

THOS. H. MCCOLLIN CO.,

123 S. 11th St., Philadelphia.

We omitted to say we have a most complete shop especially fitted up for repairing of Cameras, Snap Shutters, etc., where all such repairs can be expeditiously made.

Offices Removed.

The offices of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER have been removed to rooms on the second floor of the new Building of Young Friends' Association, at
N. W. Cor. 15th and Cherry Sts.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.
For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.
For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Friends' Central School,

FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or, Jenkintown, Pa.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit or business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.
For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.

JOSEPH L. JONES.

"GENERAL BUTLER was at one time a member of a commission to examine young applicants for admission to the bar," says an exchange; "and before him came a youth who failed miserably on every branch of the law in which he was examined. Finally, Butler turned to the young man, and asked: 'What would you like to be examined in? You have failed in everything we have suggested.' The reply came, 'Try me on the statutes: I'm up in them.' Butler shook his head, solemnly. 'My young friend,' he said, 'I'm afraid you won't do. You may be ever so familiar with the statutes; but what is to prevent a foolish legislature from repealing all you know?'"

At an examination of Sunday-school children the following was one of the questions put upon the blackboard: "Why did your godfathers and godmothers promise these things for you?" The answer of a bright girl, written neatly on the slate, was, "Why, indeed?" She got marks.—[Christian Life.]

THE experiments made in England for the production of a smokeless coal have met with entire satisfaction. The composition of the new product is 93 per cent. pit coal dust and 7 per cent. a mixture of Stockholm tar and caustic lime.

WASHINGTON.

HOLIDAY TOUR VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

Twelfth month 28 has been selected as the date for the Personally-Conducted Holiday Tour of the Pennsylvania Railroad to Washington. This tour will cover a period of three days, affording ample time to visit all the principal points of interest at the National Capital, including the Congressional Library and the new Corcoran Art Gallery. Round-trip rate, covering railroad transportation for the round trip, hotel accommodations, and guides, $14.50 from New York, $13.50 from Trenton, and $11.50 from Philadelphia. These rates cover accommodations for two days at the Arlington, Normandie, Riggs, or Ebbitt House. For accommodations at Willard's, Regent, Metropolitan, or National Hotel, $2.50 less. Side trips to Mount Vernon, Richmond, Old Point Comfort, and Norfolk at greatly reduced rates.

All tickets good for ten days, with special hotel rates after expiration of hotel coupons.

For itineraries and full information apply to Ticket Agents: Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 4 Court street, Brooklyn; or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

OLD POINT COMFORT.

SIX-DAY TOUR VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The first of the 1899-1900 series of personally-conducted tours to Old Point Comfort via the Pennsylvania Railroad will leave New York and Philadelphia on Fifth-day, Twelfth month 28.

Tickets including luncheon on going trip and one and three-fourths days' board at Old Point Comfort, and good to return direct by regular trains within six days, will be sold at rate of $15.00 from New York; $13.50 from Trenton; $12.50 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points.

For itineraries and full information apply to Ticket Agents: Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 4 Court Street, Brooklyn; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia.

Plain Millinery

MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

REMOVED.

LIZZIE J. LAMBERT, Millinery,
Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,
To 1020 GREEN STREET.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR

OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDE STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1225 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D

Stenographer

14 SOUTH BROAD STREET, PHILADA.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a SELECT STOCK of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER.

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 North 13th Street.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER

and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

THERE are certain lucky creatures which never feel the pangs of thirst, for they are so constituted that drink is unnecessary to them, and they never swallow a drop of water in their lives. Among these animals are certain gazelles of the Far East and the llamas of Patagonia.

CANADA's export of cheese to England has grown from $500,000 in 1868 to $17,500,000 in 1898, whereas the United States exported only $3,287,000 worth in the same year.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER

Established 1844.
The Journal, 1873. }

PHILADELPHIA, TWELFTH MONTH 23, 1899.

{ Volume LVI.
Number 51.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.

LI.

JUSTIFICATION is wrought within by the spirit of Christ, for man must be made just, before he can be accounted so by the righteous Judge of heaven and earth.

SAMUEL M. JANNEY.

From his Dissertation on the Doctrinal Views of George Fox, (Life of G. F., p. 429).

CHRISTMAS.

TO-DAY be joy in every heart,
For lo, the angel throng
Once more above the listening earth
Repeats the advent song!

"Peace on the earth, good-will to men!"
Before us goes the star
That leads us on to holier births
And life diviner far!

Ye men of strife, forget to-day
Your harshness and your hate;
Too long ye stay the promised years
For which the nations wait!

And ye upon the tented field,
Sheathe, sheathe to-day the sword!
By love, and not by might, shall come
The kingdom of the Lord.

O star of human faith and hope!
Thy light shall lead us on,
Until it fades in morning's glow,
And heaven on earth is won.

1877.

F. L. HOSMER.

THE MINISTRY OF THE SABBATH.¹

THE suggestion has recently been made in our presence that this Sabbath day—the one day in seven set apart as a day of rest from our busy occupations,—should be so used as to minister directly to our spiritual life. Believe me, there is wrapped up in this suggestion the vital lesson of life. You will remember how Jesus sustained himself in the wilderness with the lesson which he had learned in his youth from his regular attendance in the synagogue—"man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God." The life of the body is of necessity very exacting. Its "bread" has come to mean much more than the grain of the harvest field. All the zones of the earth are made to minister to its desires for food and raiment. It is for the body that commerce sends its ships over the seas, and covers all lands with a net-work of railroads. Six days are filled with these labors for the body, nerves and muscles yielding up their last atom of power to the claims of agriculture, manufacture, and commerce and all their resultants.

¹ Read to students of Swarthmore College, Twelfth month 10, 1899, by Dean Elizabeth Powell Bond.

And this is legitimate activity in behalf of the body, whose capabilities are made to match this interesting earth of ours with its great prairies and fruitful fields, its forest-covered mountains and the mines within its depths. If only we learn that the life of the body is not all of life!

For days are sure to come when the body loses its integrity; and from commanding the forces of nature, from being master of machine or engine or counting-room it is laid low; its nerves like "sweet bells jangling out of tune"; its muscles wasting under the touch of fever; its bones broken in some untoward accident. Nor are these days of disaster to the body sure to be postponed for long years to the season that we designate a "ripe old age." Even youth is laid low. Happy-hearted youth, every member of the body thrilling with life and physical power—ready for all the delightful activities of vacation days, or undaunted on the athletic field; in an hour laid low by a mysterious malady, and brought under the beneficent hand of the surgeon. In an hour the joyous outlook of the happy home, or the spirited activities of college are exchanged for the severe simplicity and the narrow limits of the hospital-room, and days in which breathing is almost the only motion permitted to the imprisoned body. When such days come, and they are possible to all, if the life of the body has been all the life, they can be little more than days of living death. How freshly in our minds is the lesson that in one moment, one sudden stroke, the physical life of utmost fullness of health and strength may be yielded up! If the life of the body has been all the life, how feebly must the dwarfed spirit enter upon its new conditions!

And it is not alone physical disaster that may overtake us, and test our hold upon the life of the spirit. The spirit itself at school in this wondrous world has lessons so severe that their very hardness seems proof that the human soul has the springs of its being in Infinite Strength,—is in very truth the child of the Infinite.

An admonition has come down to us from the far away past: "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them." The suggestion of our President that this day should be so used as to minister directly to our spiritual life, is another way of saying "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth!" In infancy and childhood every difficulty in our way, every hurt of our hands or heart took us to the tender mother or father, who stood to us as the center and bounds of all things. We pass beyond infancy and childhood to difficulties and hurts that the tenderest parents cannot shield us from, nor remove, nor heal. Still our hearts cry out for guidance and help and healing. Happy is it for us if we have received such an inheritance of spiritual insight that we believe these appeals of our hearts are not made to empty air,—that our very need for help and guidance and healing presupposes a Helper and Guide and Healer. I love to believe that in the economy of the universe our Heavenly Father, infinite in tenderness as in wisdom and strength, has opened to us infinite resources for help and guidance and healing, upon which we may make claim just so far as our spiritual sight becomes clear. I am saying this to you, not as one who can see all the way to the end, but as one who has had such glimpses of spiritual realities as to give courage and belief that long to share themselves with younger hearers in the school of life. In one of our hymns are the lines—

“How many messengers God hath,
If we had eyes to see!
Lo! all things are thine angels, Lord,
That bring my God to me:
O for the ear to hear their word!
O for the eye to see!”

A month ago I placed a Chinese lily bulb in a bowl of pebbles and water. These were the conditions needed for its growth; and it has been so true to the law of its being that it has been “a messenger of God” to me. Just waiting for the right conditions were the embryo leaves and buds, that in the month of growth have made their way up into the light and are now tall and strong and beautiful—a living witness to a Power not ourselves that loveth beauty as well as righteousness. A vessel of costly porcelain would give us satisfaction as man’s clever handiwork; but no syndicate with millions of dollars can command the secret of the lily’s growth. This is of God. Is there one among you who vainly feels after God? Then use an hour of this beautiful Sabbath day in planting in your window, if not a lily-bulb then a single grain of corn to be a messenger of God to you. These growing things whose mystery of creation man can never compass,—really we may make them sacred shrines for the quickening of our spiritual life!

But there are many “messengers of God,” waiting for access to our souls, to stimulate and strengthen our spiritual life, this beautiful Sabbath day. This is what Ruskin says to his own nation of the Bible:

“It is the grandest group of writings existent in the rational world, put into the grandest language of the rational world in the first strength of the Christian faith by an entirely wise and kind St. Jerome, translated afterwards with beauty and felicity into every language of the Christian world; and the guide, since so translated, of all the arts and acts of that world which have been noble, fortunate, and happy, and by consultation of it honestly, on any serious business, you may always learn—a long while before your Parliament finds out—what you should do in such business, and be directed perhaps to work more serious than you had thought of.”

Is it the messenger with modern speech, putting into the language of the present day the “accents of the Holy Ghost,” who best reaches your ear?

Then give an hour to Emerson this blessed day, and saturate your soul with his ideals of integrity and courage, and go for another hour to the great poets whom Emerson designates “the liberating gods.”

Perhaps it is the man of science whose voice you are listening for. Then let Fiske’s “Idea of God” be a messenger to you; and in these “days of youth” let these words of his be woven into the very fabric of the soul: “The infinite and eternal Power that is manifested in every pulsation of the universe is none other than the living God. . . . When from the dawn of life we see all things working together toward the evolution of the highest spiritual attributes of man, we know however the words may stumble in which we try to say it, that God is in the deepest sense a moral Being. The everlasting source of phenomena is none other than the infinite Power that makes for righteousness. Thou canst not by searching find him out; yet put thy trust in him, and against thee the gates of hell shall not prevail; for there is neither wisdom nor understanding nor counsel against the Eternal.”

Thus, there are messengers for every type of mind, and it may be that some human life lived close beside us, right before our eyes, under the roof of home or college, may be a “living epistle” to us, ministering as no written message could to the growth of our spiritual nature.

It is the high privilege of every human soul to be the revelation to others of just so much of the Divine as can be appropriated and lived. That life which is the “way” is a record that our Sabbaths cannot exhaust. If on each recurring Sabbath we would come anew under the baptism of that spirit, then the worker in the same furrow as our own on the six busy days to follow, would find some rough places less wearisome, he would feel the cheer of sunshine even when clouds come over the face of the sun. And for ourselves it would mean an increasing consciousness of God. This has to be individual experience—this consciousness of God. It cannot be bestowed upon us—it has to come as the fruit of our effort to live up to our highest light. Without it we must go through life in the dark, stumbling and faltering and falling, wounding ourselves and hurting others; with it we “walk in the light,” we renew our strength at inexhaustible fountains, we run and are not weary, we meet the “evil days” with courage, and in part disarm them of their terrors. Could any appointment of time be more beneficent than this, come down to us from the great leader of Israel,—six days in which body, mind, and heart are engaged to the utmost, then this pause in our activities—a day holy unto ourselves and to the Lord, in so far as it is made to minister to the spiritual life.

If “in the days of thy youth” there come glimpses, however dim or fleeting, of the reality of the spiritual life now and here, cherish them, and they will grow clearer and stay longer, pointing unto perfect day.

THE one thing needful is to look up, to revere something above us, to desire something better, to hunger for a higher good. He who loves the highest, truest, and best is, in his heart and soul, a lover of God.—J. Freeman Clarke.

SOUTHERN QUARTERLY MEETING AND ITS MEMBERSHIP.

Editors FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER :

SOUTHERN QUARTERLY MEETING was held at Camden, Delaware, Eleventh month 29. It continued two days, with a profitable meeting on the evening of the 29, for Divine worship. Some of the Friends composing this quarter have, for a few years, entertained a feeling of discouragement, believing that their meetings were weakening, and the attendance lessening. The writer, not having attended this meeting (when held at this place) for several years, has been much encouraged by the increasing interest on every hand, and believes there is a spiritual awakening here. The buildings and grounds about the meeting-house have been improved, and it may be that this enlargement of their hearts has so warmed and strengthened their spirits as to attract some, not now in membership, to sometimes gather with them in their silent meetings.

The largest body of members in the quarter is at Third Haven Monthly Meeting, Easton, Md. Here, too, from natural causes, as death, and removals of homes, the number generally attending meeting is reduced but, with the First-day School and Young Friends' Association the interest in their meetings and love for each other are well maintained, and it is encouraging to reflect that some of the views promulgated by George Fox, and which in his day met with general opposition, are now held by very many who are in no wise connected with the Society of Friends, thus showing that the same Divine Power is operating upon the hearts of mankind, perhaps more effectually than at any former period. May Friends everywhere come to realize that preparation of the heart and the active worship of dedicated lives are the duties of all. It is these that make up the spiritual atmosphere of a meeting. We must look for truth, and love it, and let us remember, that, "God is ever the teacher of his people himself," and that it is in the silence of the soul the spirit Divine operates.

Entertaining the prospect of a mission of love further south, on the eastern shore of Maryland, among Friends and others, in which Martin W. Meloney joined, we left Wyoming, (Del.), on Sixth-day morning, Twelfth month 1, going to Federalsburg, having obtained minutes from our respective monthly meetings giving us liberty to attend and appoint meetings as way should open.

When we reached Federalsburg we were met by Henry Poole, a scion of one of the worthy families that have held to the faith of George Fox, and lived in sympathy with the Nicholites, who became associated with the society of Friends about two generations ago. The union of the two societies and transfer of property was consummated about twenty-five miles from this place. Henry took us to his comfortable home and we mingled with his interesting family, first having published the places and time for holding Friends' meetings, viz., at Pine Grove on First-day, 3d instant, at 2.30 o'clock; another, in a hall in Federalsburg, which was offered without charge, and was appointed for the evening of 3d instant, at 7.30. This was a favored meeting; the large hall was well filled.

At Pine Grove it was an overflow meeting; the house was uncomfortably packed; many could not get in; but the spirit of Christ was felt to be there. The burden of testimony was that Jesus Christ teaches his people himself, through the influence of his spirit, which is the light and life of the regenerated soul. On First-day morning we attended the regular meeting at Preston. On Second- and Third-days, we visited many families, having a religious opportunity in all, and everywhere were received with Christian kindness and true hospitality.

OLD FRIENDS' MEETING-HOUSE, EASTON, MD.

Built in 1664. The Meeting-house now in use is partly shown on the left hand.

The Methodist denomination appears to prevail in the eastern section of this Peninsula, not ruling with a sectarian spirit, but as a religious society, and many of the birthright children of Friends have been gathered into membership with the Methodist church.

About twenty years since, mingling socially with a minister of the Presbyterian church, who had spent a year traveling in Europe, seeking health and knowledge, he said: "I have sat under the ministry of some of the most eminent divines; Spurgeon, Robertson, Canon Farrar and others," and then he emphatically said, "I have come to the conclusion that at this time the world needs a deeper religion, a religion that will go down into the hearts of the people," adding, "more like Quakerism, but possibly a little more form." Here comes in the trouble; we must and do seek for truth and love it, but when we have found God we do not remember, that "God is ever the teacher of his people himself;" we go out after some form, that has been instituted by man; then the Spirit is liable to be neglected and sometimes it is put to open shame. As Jesus prayed, that night in the garden of Gethsemane and came forth with the conqueror's cry in his heart, "Thy will be done," so following him, we learn that not by escaping trials and crosses, but by coming out of them victorious over self, shall we merit the reward that await those whose overcome.

The object to be sought for in Divine worship is forcibly stated by the Apostle Paul in his address to the Athenians: "That they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him and find him, though he be not far from every one of us, for in him we live and move and have our being." How appropriate, therefore, is a state of solemn silence, in which the mind, being withdrawn from all temporal concerns, is engaged in secret prayer or reverent waiting upon God. In this frame of mind, he open to us our own states and conditions, by the influence of his Holy Spirit, when, being brought into humility and contrition, we are enabled from a sense of our wants to ask of him light to guide us in the paths of duty, and strength to perform all that he requires of us.

When on this mission of love we realized that if the Society of Friends is to succeed in spreading the true and pure Gospel of Christ among men, we must be men and women of broad sympathy, and a deeply religious people. And when I say religious men and women, I mean men and women who have in themselves the consciousness of God in their own souls. No testimony of the experience of others, though it be drawn from our ancestors, or even from the Bible, can take the place of this personal experience of God. We cannot give to others any larger, richer, or better experience than we ourselves possess. No preacher can give what he does not possess. When a preacher has that consciousness of God in his own soul, and because he has it, realizes the revelation of God in the souls of all men and women, and sees that they are hungry for that life, and comes before them full of the life of faith and hope and love; when with a voice of divine inspiration he speaks out of a full heart to empty and hungry hearts; he will not fail to fulfill his desire, and to accomplish his object in lifting men and women from the life that is earthly and sensual, into the life of the kingdom of God.

Twelfth month 12.

JOSEPH POWELL.

WHAT IS TRUE SUCCESS?

Paper by Gilbert T. Cocks, read at the meeting of Cornwall (New York), Friends' Association, Twelfth month 3.

SHALL this question be answered according to the usual standard of the world: "Seek wealth, and amass a large fortune, and you will never be lacking for friends and enjoyments," or shall it be answered from a higher and broader standard, which has its foundation in righteousness and its end and purpose in the well-being of man and his eternal welfare?

Shall we enter and pursue life's mission for an altogether selfish purpose, which seeks to acquire all things by any means which may accomplish the end, or shall our dealings with men be tempered with justice and kindness, with some regard for what is right and fair, man with man?

The world calls the man who by some stroke of luck, or by other means, has become rich in a short time, successful, whether he accumulated his riches by following the precepts of the Golden Rule or not, and ignores him who has accumulated but little as the result of continual, patient, commonplace toil, and whose main object in life has been to serve God and benefit mankind, according to the purpose and example of the Christ.

It is always possible for one to lead an honest, noble, useful life, and that is success, and is as much within the reach of the humblest toiler as it is of the king on his throne.

Neither high office nor great wealth create virtue (though, alas, they often destroy it) and when we come to the end of life's narrow lane virtue constitutes the truest success.

"Deal justly, love mercy, and walk humbly" is the best rule to live by to attain true success. Deal justly with God, with your brother man, and yourself. Show mercy toward all humanity, and walk in humility before your Heavenly Father, and your success is assured.

In closing let me advise you to be honest, not for the sake of a material reward but for the sake of honesty, and "walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called," and your reward will be true success.

"THE SENSE OF THE MEETING."

To the Editor of The Friend, (London).

DEAR FRIEND: In describing to outsiders the practices of Friends, few points arouse more surprise than our custom of coming to a decision without voting in our meetings for business. Many Friends will have been interested with the account in the recent autobiography of William Jones, telling of his talk on this subject with Cardinal Antonelli. We, like the cardinal, were, perhaps, inclined to regard the practice as quite unique in the world; our experience on committees will have taught us the great advantage of avoiding divisions, and arriving at a compromise rather than the mere force of numbers should prevail; but few had heard of this being done systematically by any important public body till reading Justin McCarthy's "Reminiscences," where he, among other colleagues in the House of Commons, describes Sir John Mowbray:

"It has been my good fortune during many years to be brought into somewhat close relationship with Sir John Mowbray, for he is the chairman of the Committee of Selection, and I was for a long time one of its members. The Committee of Selection is a small body, consisting, I think, of only eight or nine members, and supposed to represent proportionately the different nationalities of the House, and is engaged in the work of appointing the committees before which Private Bills, as they are called, are to be brought up for consideration. The Committee meets twice a week at least, and often has to make arrangements which involve a great deal of minute, practical and personal discussion—discussion which, under injudicious management, might possibly lead to sharp controversy and even to ill-temper. Under the control of Sir John Mowbray nothing like bickering or ill-temper ever is known. The desire of everyone is simply to arrange matters in the best possible way for the interests of public business, and there has never, in my time, been a single division taken by vote in the Committee of Selection. Sir John Mowbray is master of all the business detail with which the Committee can have to deal, and when he gives his decision as chairman on any question in dispute everyone feels satisfied that there is nothing more to be said on the matter.

GEORGE W. BARROW.

PASTORATE TROUBLES.

"Alfred Brown, Layman," in Atlantic Monthly.

THE modern divinity-school is not up to date. It is out of step with the age. It is still teaching theology, Hebrew and Greek, church history, homiletics, elocution, and here and there sociology. Strangely enough it overlooks the most conspicuous and most urgent demand of our time. What is needed is a brand-new chair: call it a Chair of Tent-Making, for that is Pauline.

The need is especially apparent in the Baptist and Congregationalist bodies, but even Presbyterianism and Episcopacy would hail the new era here proposed. Unrest is everywhere; fickleness, insincerity, criticism, short pastorates. Men now living easily remember the days when a pastorate was accounted a life position, and when, in a New England Congregational church, three pastorates might span a century. In some of the leading denominations, three years is now counted as about the average term of a pastorate. . . . Thus, at the end of a century, there is an ominous combination of causes working to the weakening of the moral fibre of the ministry and to the deterioration of the highest of callings. At the same time all the standards of the church are being brought low.

What can be done? Is the chair of tent-making inevitable, or can the Christian ministry yet be made a vocation for life? . . .

The preacher is a man, say, in the forties, at his best physically, intellectually, spiritually, full of executive force and ability. He has a half-dozen children. For ten, fifteen years he held a prominent pastorate, and did strong work in it. But under the restless spirit of the age, his congregation begins to long for a new voice and novel methods. A man who appeals to the craving for sensational preaching comes into his neighborhood. His congregations diminish. His people love their pastor, but they become uneasy. He learns the fact; fears to bring dissension into the church which he loves; and, with fine disregard of all personal interest, and with the spirit which impels a man

"Just to scorn the consequence,
And just to do the thing," resigns without waiting for or looking for a call elsewhere.

For some months he is able to live and to support his family on what has been laid aside for such emergency. . . . When he resigned a theological professor said to him, "Don't you know what a risk you are running?" He knew something of "the risk." Had he known it all he would have chosen no different course. He preaches here and there, but always finds that other men have been heard before him or are to be heard after him, and that the church is not ready to reach a decision. When the calls are extended, he notices that they go to younger men, and generally to men who have reached immediate and showy results by artificial and ungentle methods. He perceives that what is wanted is, not wise and steady leadership of a church, but short cuts to large congregations. A few months of this, and the preacher suddenly awakens to find that he is no longer sought by pulpit committees. His name is no longer considered, because he has been out of a pastorate for several months.

Now to his tent-making or to the piteous humiliation of a man without a life work, with his family scattered, the plans for his children's education unrealized, his self-respect tortured, his heart broken. In the battle of life the brave man and the true has lost the day. He is accounted a failure at the very hour when he has reached the full height of his capacity and power. What pathetic anomaly! What shipwreck! men say. . . . This bit of biography is continually enacted in the ministry to-day.

AT THE TOMB OF GROTIUS.

FROM this tomb of Grotius I seem to hear a voice which says to us, as the delegates of the nations: "Go on with your mighty work. Avoid, as you would avoid the germs of pestilence, those exhalations of international hatred which take shape in monstrous fallacies and morbid fictions regarding alleged antagonistic interests. Guard well the treasures of civilization with which each of you is intrusted, but bear in mind that you hold a mandate from humanity. Go on with your work. Pseudo-philosophers will prophesy malignantly against you. Pessimists will laugh you to scorn. Cynics will sneer at you. Zealots will abuse you for what you have not done. Sublimely unpractical thinkers will revile you for what you have done. Ephemeral critics will ridicule you as dupes. Enthusiasts, blind to the difficulties in your path and to everything outside their little circumscribed fields, will denounce you as traitors to humanity. Heed them not: go on with your work. Heed not the clamor of zealots or cynics or pessimists or pseudo-philosophers or enthusiasts or fault-finders. Go on with the work of strengthening peace and humanizing war. Give greater scope and strength to provisions which will make war less cruel. Perfect those laws of war which diminish the unmerited sufferings of populations, and, above all, give to the world at least a beginning of an effective, practicable scheme of arbitration."—[Andrew D. White's Fourth of July Address, at the Tomb of Grotius, in Holland, 1899.]

Friends' Intelligencer and Journal.

EDITORS:

HOWARD M. JENKINS. LYDIA H. HALL. RACHEL W. HILLBORN.

PHILADELPHIA, TWELFTH MONTH 23, 1899.

FRIENDS, "OLDEN TIME," AND MODERN.

It was so long ago as 1838 that Whittier wrote his poem, "The Quaker of the Olden Time." That is over sixty years ago, and he, in that day, thinking of the qualities which seemed to him so admirable, described them as of a day gone by. The Friend, the real Friend, "calm, and firm, and true," possessing insight, simplicity, serenity, steadfastness, he saw walking upon heights in a distant time. To us the year 1838 has become olden time; when Whittier wrote the poem it was present time, and he was looking back to years of the eighteenth century—to Woolman, perhaps, or Benezet,—or to worthies of a still earlier period.

Let us not overlook evidence of things about us. If we honor the figures of strength who stand out in relief from the historic background, let us see if there have not been some such also walking amongst us. Two men, Friends of the definite and true type, have recently been spoken of in these columns, whose characters it seems to us illustrate the theme which we have in hand. One of these has been some time dead, but he lived within what we may easily call our own time. We refer to Joseph Carpenter of Mamaroneck. Consider his steadfastness in what he believed right, his self-discipline, his humility, his love of mercy, his fine sense of justice. Take the poem of 1838 and see if it does not apply to this very Friend, who was living in that year, and who died many years later. Surely he was one who "felt that wrong with wrong partakes," and resolutely shunned and testified against it in every form. Those who maintained the Truth under persecution in the early times were not of better stuff than this simple, resolute Quaker of the present century.

The second Friend whom we have in mind is that quiet, steady, and consistent member of our Society who has so lately passed from amongst us, Abram Vail. He was known to many, but those who may not have known him must have been impressed surely with testimony given concerning him. The language of a neighbor, quoted by our friend, R. S. H., in the INTELLIGENCER of the 9th instant, was very striking. "Abram Vail," the neighbor said, "was a man who treated everyone, whether rich or poor, alike." What a eulogy! And then: "If he told you anything, you might feel sure that it was so." And yet again: "If he said he would do anything, he always did it, and if he said he would not do a thing, he never did." He was a man of his word. He was "as a nail driven in a sure place."

These, then, are Friends of the olden time who lived in the recent time. Let us be thankful for them. Let us move the date of Whittier's verses down to the close of the Nineteenth century. There are, we see, Friends still of the qualities that endure. There are men and women who are not as reeds shaken in the wind. Let us be encouraged to believe that if we persevere, if we faint not, we may have in every period of trial those who will exemplify high character as the best of our forefathers did, and that the "olden time" will have to be continually reaching forward.

WE receive from London, monthly, two interesting publications in the interest of Peace, one of them the organ of the Peace Society, the Herald, and the other War or Brotherhood. Both of these for Twelfth month are to hand, and we have read with special interest and fullness of sympathy their saddened, even grief-stricken, pages, which must now be made up amid the gloom of the war. In the midst of other matter there are pathetic paragraphs describing scenes and incidents of the conflict, and these show, as nothing so well can, what war really is. Since these issues went to press, a month or more ago, an even more terrible chapter has unfolded.

WHAT a commentary on the war method of treatment for social, or political, or economic disease is afforded in the reports from Cuba, to which we gave space last week! Consider that a great part of the story is not told. Consider that thousands—indeed tens of thousands—have perished, and that they endured hardships, hunger, pain, anguish in their day of affliction. All that does not show, now; we see only the pitiful remnant that has survived. What could be more inconsistent with all we have been taught in the century past than the attempt to cure what is wrong in human affairs by processes which are in themselves inevitably destructive and cruel? If we have not learned better than this, what have we learned, at all?

WHAT an illustration the present war in South Africa is of the fact, so well established by human experience, that when war is once begun, no one can tell where it will extend. To "cry havoc! and let slip the dogs of war" is to let loose forces whose capacity of destruction no foresight can measure. When the plans for the war with the Boers were formed in England it was expected to be a comparatively small affair; now, no one can be certain that the flames of conflict may not spread far and wide.

It is evidently possible that the United States itself may be drawn in before the troubles end. Already that prediction is made. The "understanding" between the English Government and the American, to which the Colonial Secretary, Chamberlain, referred in his recent remarkable speech, has in it a possibility of evil not yet generally comprehended.

BIRTHS.

BRINTON.—In Christiana, Pa., Eleventh month 28, 1899, to Maurice J. and Gertrude Rakestraw Brinton, a daughter, who is named Grace.

DIXON.—Eleventh month 23, 1899, to Edward Caleb and Lula Brown Dixon, of Philadelphia, a son, who is named Edgar Austin.

MARRIAGES.

EBY—HAINES.—Under the care of Little Britain Monthly Meeting, Pa., at the residence of the bride's parents, Eleventh month 14, 1899, Christian B. Eby, son of Benjamin and the late Anna Eby, of Kinzer, Pa., and Mabell A. Haines, daughter of E. Henry and Esther K. Haines, of Pleasant Grove, Pa.

DEATHS.

BRANSON.—At his home, Short Creek, Harrison county, Ohio, Twelfth month 8, 1899, Lindley Murray Branson, aged 67 years; a member with Orthodox Friends, and son-in-law of the late Charles James Fox, of our body of Friends.

GOOD.—At her home, near Vienna, Ohio, Eleventh month 5, 1899, Betsy Good, widow of Charles Good, aged 90 years.

"Still let her mild rebuking stand Between us and the wrong;
And her dear memory serve to make
Our faith in Goodness strong."

*

HALL.—Twelfth month 16, 1899, at her parents' residence, 1604 Arch street, Philadelphia, of diphtheria, Vera, daughter of Philip Sharples and Gertrude Ervin Hall, aged six years.

NEWBOLD.—Suddenly, Twelfth month 16, 1899, at Media, Pa., of diphtheria, Rebecca H., wife of William R. Newbold, and daughter of the late Christopher and Sarah Healy, in her 67th year.

SELLERS.—In West Philadelphia, Pa., Twelfth month 11, 1899, Martha, daughter of the late John and Elizabeth Poole Sellers, of Millbourne, Delaware county, Pa.; a member of Darby Monthly Meeting.

WOODWARD.—At Moorestown, N. J., Twelfth month 16, 1899, Elizabeth Lippincott, widow of John E. Woodward, in her 88th year.

CAROLINE D. CORSE.]

With this dear friend I had the pleasure of an intimate acquaintance since childhood, and her thoughts and aspirations were of the purest and best. She will be sadly missed; she was ever faithful to the call of duty, was active and enthusiastic in temperance work, and many a poor family in her neighborhood had reason to bless her for her efforts in rescuing the husband and father from the drink habit. She was interested in Friends' Sewing Society for the Poor in Baltimore, and attended when able to leave her aged mother, to whom she cheerfully devoted many years of her life. Her death has left a void which cannot be filled. Her memory is as a sweet incense, which will last with those who knew and loved her, as long as life itself. She had an abounding faith in the love of her Heavenly Father, and I feel assured her sweet spirit is at peace.

LYDIA A. WILSON.

ISABELL M. GRAY.

Died, at the home of her daughter, near Huntington, Indiana, Eighth month 31, 1899, of paralysis, Isabell M., widow of William F. Gray, aged 88 years, 2 months, 12 days.

She was the daughter of Josiah and Elizabeth Moore, and was born in North Carolina, Sixth month 19, 1816. She came with her parents to Highland county, Ohio, when one year old, remaining there but a short time, when they removed to the vicinity of Richmond, Wayne county, Indiana, where they resided until Twelfth month, 1842, when she accomplished her marriage after the usage of Friends, with William F. Gray. To them were born three daughters and one son. The son and two daughters passed away in childhood; she then removed with her husband to Clear Creek, Huntington county, at the early date when the county was sparsely settled, and but few Friends were here. They endured many hardships incident to the settlement of a new country. They soon sold their little home, and returned to Wayne county, Indiana. Her husband having a great desire to clear up and make a farm, they again returned to Huntington county, in Maple Grove Settlement of Friends, at which place they resided at the time of her husband's death, which occurred Tenth month 4, 1889. She then broke up housekeeping and made her home with her only surviving daughter, Lydia Emley. She often expressed a desire that she might go and be with her dear companion, who had preceded her to that other shore, where parting is no more.

L.

DOUKHOBOR REPORT.

WE report further receipts below. The acknowledgments close on Third-day morning. We feel so sure that there will be a further "pinch" before next summer's crops will be reached, that we hope any of those who feel able will send something for use at the proper time.

THE "INTELLIGENCER" FUND.

R.,	$ 5.00
L. W. M., and E. W.,	2.00
	<hr/>
	$ 7.00
Balance last week,	92.25
	<hr/>
In hand,	$99.25

FROM ISAAC WILSON.—II.

EDITORS FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER:

AFTER spending two or three days with our children in Guelph (where I had the advantage of hearing the able discussions on many topics of interest in Agriculture), we left for Coldstream, where our dear friend Daniel Zavitz is seriously ill, and we did not feel at liberty to pass by without visiting him,—in all probability for the last time.

We spent the night very pleasantly in the home of his son Samuel, and went at the meeting hour on First-day morning to mingle with the goodly number gathered. The presence of so many children and young people gave strong hopes for the future of our Society, in this place at least. We could but feel that it was a favored meeting; one young, earnest Friend saying after meeting, she wished what she heard to-day might be heard in every Friends' meeting-house.

After dining and spending the afternoon very pleasantly in the home of Thomas Wilson, we went for the night to John Bycraft's and enjoyed our visit with them and their little family until after the breakfast hour on Second-day morning. We found it raining quite hard, but went a short distance to Webster Zavitz's to dine and enjoy a social visit of a few hours, when he and his wife accompanied us to spend the evening at William Cutler's, with whom we felt much sympathy in his rheumatic affliction,—being disabled in the prime of life from carrying on his agricultural affairs or going from the house. Yet he and his dear wife meet the situation with that measure of cheerfulness and resignation that evinces a Christian attainment, and words of sympathy and thankfulness found utterance before taking our leave to go again to S. P. Zavitz's for the night. On Third-day morning we made a short call upon our dear, aged friend Sarah Marsh, whose feeble health prevents her going out, but she enjoys the company of her many friends.

We then went to Daniel Zavitz's to dine and spend a short time with him in his feeble condition, but a clear mind and living interest in all good things, and at his request we all gathered in his room to feel and speak as the spirit of friendship prompted, and we were comforted and encouraged on our mission by his loving endorsement and advice to continued faithfulness.

But I must bid farewell to these dear friends (my wife included) and return 150 miles to Pickering to attend the funeral of Gilbert Brown, a young man who attended (in good health) our first meeting after leaving home, and whose aged mother, brothers, and sisters feel so keenly the sudden loss. The funeral was large and impressive. The right appreciation of the privileges of life, by a faithful performance of our daily duties, was set forth as the best preparation for death, and the only right qualification for life. After a satisfactory visit with friends until 8 p. m., I took train for London, spending the night on the way. At 11.30 Fifth-day morning my wife joined me at Komoka, and we proceeded to Chicago, where we were met at 9 p. m., by our friend Allen J. Flitcraft, and soon enjoyed the hospitalities of his home.

Chicago, Twelfth month 15.

I. W.

NEWS OF FRIENDS.

PRAIRIE GROVE QUARTERLY MEETING.

PRAIRIE GROVE Quarterly Meeting, Iowa, was held at Marietta on the 2nd of Twelfth month, and was considered to be a favored season. We had the welcome company of Isaiah Lightner and wife, from Monroe, Neb., also Theodore Russell and wife, and Jesse Russell and Eli Phillips, from Prairie Grove Meeting, in Henry county, Iowa. On Seventh-day morning, at 9.30, through a light rain, ministers and elders gathered to hold their quarterly meeting, which was attended in about the usual way with Theo. Russell as clerk and H. H. Shumway assistant. No representatives from West Liberty Meeting present. The business was transacted in much love and harmony.

The quarterly meeting gathered at 11 a. m., with a fair attendance considering the not very pleasant weather. Counsel and encouragement were given by our friend Isaiah Lightner, and the business was attended to in perfect unity. The representatives appointed by the different monthly meetings were mostly present, and for the absent ones satisfactory excuses were presented. Some written ones were received and read, which showed a feeling of tender care and concern for the success of the meeting.

On First-day morning, the 3rd, although the weather was somewhat colder, a goodly number of interested members and others gathered, until the house was well filled, and after a meditative silence the quiet was broken by a member of the Orthodox body of Friends who had come near ten miles, and felt a care and concern for his neighbors and friends. He had been an early settler among them in this neighborhood and a feeling of love and friendship remained with him. Our friend from Nebraska was led into a train of thought concerning our daily bread, which we ask our Heavenly Father to supply us, and was carried into quite a lengthy expression regarding our supply of spiritual bread and the living water of life. Words of experience and encouragement were given by some others present and the meeting closed under a covering of Divine favor.

A short intermission was had, during which dinner was served by the women Friends, and the meeting again became seated with a full attendance to listen to the program of our Quarterly First-day School Conference. In the absence of the regular clerks, Della Cory and Jesse Russell were chosen for the day, and quite an interesting conference was held. In the evening the young and the old gathered to attend a meeting of the Young Friends' Association, for which a special program was prepared. It was listened to attentively and some discussion engaged in that we hope was profitable for all attending. On Second-day morning the parting time came and the farewells were said and our dear friends from a distance all departed for their homes, we here feeling thankful that we had been favored with their company and labors.

Hartland, Iowa.

N. E.

STATISTICS FROM BALTIMORE.

Editors FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER:

I WAS much interested in the article published in your issue of the 9th, "The Growth of the Church," by our friend Charles E. Clevenger, and read at Fairfax Quarterly Meeting. He expressed the same views, very feelingly, at the late Baltimore Yearly Meeting.

I propose to illustrate to what extent his views are correct, by figures that I have collected. I will take Baltimore Monthly Meeting, the most prosperous, and largest meeting in the limits of Baltimore Yearly Meeting, in a city that has increased from about 20,000 to 500,000 during the period represented, and not a locality that has suffered from migration to the Western country, as all the Virginia and many other meetings have.

In the year 1807, when Western District Monthly Meeting was established, it contained 374 members, and Elk Ridge, a part of this meeting, had 102 members. In 1819, at which time Eastern District Monthly Meeting was laid down, and became a preparative meeting, and but one monthly meeting remained in Baltimore, it contained 421, and that is a less number than it contained in 1807, as quite a number had taken their certificates to the then new meeting-house. This is a total of 897 members.

Since this date Elk Ridge Meeting has been abandoned, the house now vacant, no Friends to occupy it.

At the date of the Separation, and previous to Fifth month 5, 1832, 108 of the membership of Baltimore Monthly Meeting had joined the Orthodox body. The latest Directory of Baltimore Monthly Meeting, published 1893, gives a total membership of 572. The latest Directory of Baltimore Monthly Meeting, Orthodox Friends, published 1895, gives a membership of 302. This is a total of 874 members of both bodies, for the locality of Baltimore, compared with 897 members in 1819.

According to statistics, the births in Baltimore Monthly Meeting for the year 1898, were 4, and in the Orthodox Monthly Meeting 1, total 5. The deaths were for same period 10 in our branch, and 10 in the Orthodox meeting, a total of 20, a loss of 15. As we have not enough births to meet the losses by death, the Society can only exist from drawing from the outside world.

The only way to survive is to enter on recruiting work from the outside world, and this is mainly to be done in our First-day schools. Bring the children into our First-day schools. Some may think it is not possible to induce the children, in this way, to come with us. Children are intelligent beings, and where they receive kindness and pleasure there they are to be found.

I have been at work on this line in our little meeting, that to-day would probably not have existed. This meeting I became a member of thirty years ago. The members were then all older than myself, some 40 in number. They have all passed from works to rewards. I have seen the time that there was no man Friend to represent the preparative meeting at the Monthly Meeting but myself. We organized a First-day school, and showed an interest in all who came to the meetings, gave them a friendly greeting, inquired who they were, and invited them to come again; and often they did come on this kind invitation. We now have a meeting of generally from 50 to 70, with the children. It is a great pleasure to meet them there, as they are of interest to all.

KIRK BROWN.

1813 North Caroline street, Baltimore, Md.

INFLUENCE OF THE UNSEEN.—We can feel more than we can see. It is the ambition of a boy who flies a kite to have it go so high that it is no longer visible. Invisibility then becomes the impressive fact. It ceases to be slangy for the boy to exclaim that his kite is "out of sight," for it is a literal fact. But the hearty interest in the invisibility ceases if the string breaks. The kite comes down, and is lost to sight in the grass or among the trees. This is a disheartening invisibility, lacking that exhilarating power over the boy which he felt when the invisible kite tugged like a live thing at the cord in his hand. It is no sign that we are not under the influence of men or institutions, or of Sunday-school conventions, just because they do not come within range of our vision. So long as we are consciously or unconsciously attached to them by the thread of a common interest, they have a pulling and lifting power on us which we may feel, albeit we are unable to see whence that power comes. Nor is it any sign that such institutions do not need our encouragement and interest in them just because we are to them as individuals invisible. The distant individual and the distant convention owe to each other a mutual obligation.—[Sunday School Times.]

SCRIPTURE LESSON.

THERE is no Scripture Lesson for publication this week. There are fifty-three First-days in the year 1899, and the usual number of lessons, fifty-two, was prepared.

It is intended in the next Quarter to take up Lessons from the Prophets, beginning with the earliest and following them in chronological order.

The Introduction to the New Testament Lessons (for intermediate classes), to be printed with the lessons for the coming quarter, is as follows:

INTRODUCTION TO LESSONS FOR 1900.

There is but one way for these lessons to become of value to the young people for whom they are intended, and that way is for those who present them to the classes in our First-day schools to make them alive with life from their own souls.

It matters not what care be given to the writing of these lessons, they will still be nothing more than "words, words, words," unless our teachers feel that a knowledge of the acts and teachings of Jesus are of inestimable value, and that all people need to learn about them and understand them in order to grow into the fullness of the measure of the stature of Christ.

This kind of growth, more to be desired than great riches, does not come to us without our coöperation; we must labor to get it, and labor diligently according to its worth.

What study can so inspire us with a love of truth, of unselfishness, of consecration, of service, as the study of that life which shows supremely in what love to God and love to the neighbor consists.

Will not all who essay to be teachers in our First-day schools, try to look upon their responsibilities as blessed opportunities for learning and helping others to learn this the most precious, the most helpful of expression of God's Truth?

Read over and over again the words of the Gospels themselves to be used at each lesson, and meditate upon them, until they become very full of meaning and beauty; then your own souls will be filled with light and love, and these will go forth from you and awaken others to a knowledge of the life of the Spirit.

WASTEFULNESS.—Wastefulness is no part of the divine management of things. Christ fed the multitude, but he ordered the gathering up of the fragments, that nothing should be lost. Some families would live on what others waste. Some spiritual spendthrifts are great on faith, but not on gathering the fragments. But he who wastes fragments may sometime come to need the utmost stretch of his improvident and presumptuous faith. No faith is well grounded that leaves the fragments of a feast scattered over the ground. If God takes care of us, he expects us to take care of what he provides for us. No kind of wastefulness ministers to any one's temporal or spiritual welfare.—[The Christian Standard.]

96

UNLESS a preacher or teacher has his heart in his theme, he is not likely to carry his hearers with him.

LITERARY NOTES.

THE latest volume from the pen of Sarah Orne Jewett is "The Queen's Twin and Other Stories." It is a collection of stories, studies, and sketches, eight in number, all of them, it is almost needless to say, filled with gracious and sympathetic insight into human nature and everyday life. Two of them are excellent Irish sketches, "Where's Nora?" and "Bold Words at the Bridge." The latter is a practical sermon, and might be profitably read in many circles. The other stories are of New England life, and one, "A Dunnet Shepherdess," continues the series of studies begun in "The Country of the Pointed Firs."

Sometimes we wonder why any other author—American at least—should be named before Miss Jewett. Her work is so full of keen insight, and delightful humor, yet withal so sincere and kindly. It is surely encouraging to the good in men and women, and discouraging to the evil. (Houghton, Mifflin & Co., $1.25.)

Julia Ward Howe's "Reminiscences," originally published in the Atlantic Monthly, have been gathered into a handsome volume of 465 pages, and some twenty-five illustrations, mostly portraits, have been added. (Houghton, Mifflin & Co., $2.50.) Few American women have had a more honorable or better deserved fame than Mrs. Howe. She has faithfully stood for what is good and true, during a long life-time, and her recollections of prominent people and important events are lively and interesting. We have found the opening chapters the most satisfactory, perhaps; they seem to be written with a firmer hand, and to be richer in interesting details.

Julia Ward's father, Samuel Ward, was a banker in New York City. Her brother Samuel married the grand-daughter of John Jacob Astor. Julia married Dr. Samuel G. Howe, of Boston, (volunteer in the Greek war of Independence, and teacher of the blind), in 1843. He was "nearly a score of years" her senior. He died in 1876. Her removal to Boston brought her into friendly intimacy with the leading people of that city, and from 1843 to the present time, practically the end of the century, she has enjoyed many opportunities from which to draw their pictures, as we have them in this book.

President William DeWitt Hyde, of Bowdoin College (Brunswick, Maine), is the author of a small volume recently issued (Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. $1.25), with the title "God's Education of Man," in which many large questions in moral and religion are considered. It attempts, he says in the preface, "to indicate in a very general way, and also within a single small section, to point out in detail, the radical and far-reaching change which is taking place in theological conceptions."

The book is very interesting as an indication of the position taken by a cultivated and broad-minded representative of the religious bodies which classify themselves as "Evangelical." Many pages in it are marked by clearness of view, and as well as liberality of judgment, and we find a full percentage of these in the Introduction, notwithstanding its doctrinal character. We can by no means agree with President Hyde at all points, but no doubt the system of theology which he proposes would be an improvement on some of those which, in his judgment, the world has outgrown.

St. Nicholas, the monthly magazine for young people, makes some announcement that seems worthy of particular note. Edward F. Bigelow, editor of Popular Science, a well-known specialist in nature-study, is to conduct a department of "Nature and Science for Young Folks," and will answer all the questions children ask him. Another new departure is the St. Nicholas League, an organization of young people wherein prizes are offered for the best compositions, drawings, photographs, etc. The magazine "will give unusual attention to educational subjects in 1900." The number for next month will contain an illustrated article describing the work done in Washington in "Out-of-Door School," where classes study plants and animals, government, geography, science and art in the parks, museums, and public buildings.

In the Friends' Quarterly Examiner for Tenth month, Richard Westlake, who has been its editor for twelve years, prints "A Parting Word," having declined further service. The Quarterly Examiner has been of much service to Friends, serving as a medium for many excellent articles, and though there was some discussion over the question of continuance, it seems to have been decided affirmatively. The contributions are all voluntary and uncompensated offerings, and in his twelve years, R. Westlake says, there have been two hundred and eighty of them.

The issue for the present (Twelfth) month of McClure's Magazine began the publication of a new Life of Jesus, by John Watson, "Ian Maclaren." Its title is "The Life of the Master." The complete text of the work, it is announced, is in the hands of the editors. It will be very elaborately illustrated, by Corwin Knapp Linson. Certainly this serial will be a contrast to the many on war that have loaded the magazines during the last two years, and welcome the change!

Under the caption, "A Quaker's Defense of the Higher Criticism," the Literary Digest, of the 16th, summarises and extracts from John William Graham's article in FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, (the paper read before the Philadelphia Young Friends' Association), on "Education and Religion."

Educational Department.

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE NOTES.

THE annual "Shakespeare Evening," given by the Senior Class on the evening of the 16th of this month, was most successful in every way, and was made the occasion of a delightful reunion of graduates and friends of the College.

The running-track in the young men's gymnasium has been completed, the apparatus is being installed, and it is hoped that regular work may soon begin.

The Young Friends' Association devoted its last meeting, on the 17th inst., to a consideration of the life and work of Aaron M. Powell. Hannah C. Hull read an appreciative paper, reviewing Aaron M. Powell's recently published "Reminiscences." Selections from the book, describing William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, and the home life of Aaron and his wife at Plainfield, were then read by William Tyson, Arthur Seaman, and Georgia C. Myers.

On the 15th of the month, Dr. William I. Hull delivered a lecture at Lehigh University on "The Social Aspect of the Saloon."

The Christmas vacation will begin on Sixth-day, the 22d, and work will be resumed on the 3rd of next month.

M. S. H.

GEORGE SCHOOL.

Professor George H. Nutt read a paper before the Young Friends' Association of Salem, N. J., Sixth-day evening, Twelfth month 8.

The Whittier Society, at its regular meeting, on the evening of the 16th, gave the following interesting and profitable program: An oration by Grace Woodman, "Is Oratory a Lost Art"; recitations, "A Roman Legend," Bessie Foulke; "The Sleeping Sentinel," Herbert Willits. The Whittier Greenleaf was read by the editor, Maurice Greist, and contained several exceptionally good articles.

The meetings on Fourth-day evening are growing in interest, as evidenced by more frequent expression from teachers and students.

A student from Cecil county, Md., has recently been appointed to a school near her home, and has left George School to enter upon her new work. This is the second one called to a position as teacher during the current year.

At a recent meeting of the Young Friends' Association it was decided to send a Christmas Greeting of $5 to the Laing School at Mt. Pleasant, and a like amount to the Schofield School at Aiken.

Students are looking forward with interest to the winter vacation which will commence on the 22d. * *

LECTURES AT GEORGE SCHOOL.—The lecture committee has completed arrangements for the following course: Talcott Williams, of Philadelphia, subject, "Gates and Straits of Europe and Africa." Julia Ward Howe, Boston, "Four Poets—Longfellow, Whittier, Howells, and Holmes." Jacob A. Riis, of New York, "Tony's Hardships." W. W. H. Davis, of Doylestown, "Some Men I've Met, and Things I've Seen." Gertrude C. Smith, "Readings."

Conferences, Associations, Etc.

NEWTOWN, PA.—Newtown Young Friends' Association was held at the home of T. S. Kenderdine on Fourth-day evening, Twelfth month 6. The president read a chapter in the Bible, after which the minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary.

As this was the first Association after the Conference which was held at Woodstown, N. J., T. S. Kenderdine gave an account of the meeting. He was enthusiastic over the papers and the discussions which were brought forth, and the cordial manner with which the delegates were received.

Elizabeth Palmer then read an article on the "Origin and History of the Discipline." A paper on the "Characteristics of the Great Prophet, Elijah," was read by Abbie K. Rice. She said: "At the time of Elijah the religion of Judah was in a very unsettled condition. The followers of Baal were overthrowing the altars of God and only a few people clung to the religion of their fathers. Foremost among these was Elijah who had the greatness of soul to stand face to face with the power of the kingdom on behalf of Jehovah, and to restore the old faith that was almost driven out. The good that he did was shown in after generations in Israel when he was ranked with Samuel and Moses. The work of Elijah with all its glory was marked by the imperfection of that time. He acted against unrighteousness with a sternness equal to a storm and he was dauntless in soul and unbending in severity." A few remarks were made by Sarah J. Reeder on the "Characteristics of Elisha." He was mild and gentle in disposition and his life was often compared to that of Jesus.

Mary T. Wales then read a poem entitled "Temples Made With Hands." The question, "Name the Quaker Writers in Prose, Poetry, and Fiction, with Remarks upon Them," was answered by Sarah F. Cary. There were numerous prose writers on religious subjects, including George Fox, William Penn, Isaac Penington, Robert Barclay, John Woolman, Lucretia Mott, and others. Bayard Taylor was a poet, a prose writer, and an interesting lecturer. As a poet he ranks first, but his descriptions of his travels are so real that you can almost see the things before you. Our Quaker poet, John G. Whittier, at one time lived near the Cuttalloa, (in Bucks county, Pa.). She closed her paper with a few remarks about George Fox.

Mary Eyre read a short article on the death and will of the late Vice-President, Garret A. Hobart. The chairman of the executive committee then gave the following program for next week: Conclusion of the Origin and History of the Discipline, Sarah F. Cary; Characteristics of the Prophet Isaiah, Lydretta Rice; Paper on Punctuality, T. S. Kenderdine; Reading, Agnes Ambler, and Current Events, Sara Worthington. After roll call and a few minutes of silence, the Association adjourned to meet at the home of H. C. Worstall, First month 3.

M. R. W.

PHILADELPHIA.—The Young Friends' Association held the first meeting in the auditorium of its new building, Twelfth month 11. The president made a short address of welcome to all present and of thanks to those who had contributed time or money for the completion of the building. The Lecture Committee announced its desire to secure Walter A. Wyckoff for a lecture to be given in January. The Building Committee made its report, and asked to be released, which request was granted with the sincere thanks of the Association, for its faithful services. The treasurer of this committee made a report. [Extracts from these reports have already appeared in the INTELLIGENCER.] The House Committee gave a report of its work, which began after the contractor had turned over the building, and consisted principally in equipping the building for the purposes for which it is designed. Two nominating committees were appointed, one to bring forward names for officers and members of the Executive Committee of the Association, and one to fill such vacancies as may occur in the House Committee. The report of the Executive Committee gave the names of four new members, and announced the program for the evening.

The first number on the program was a review of Aaron M. Powell's book, "Reminiscences," by Hannah Clothier Hull. The review gives a resumé of the contents and then invites our closer attention. It states that from memoranda left by the author it is understood that he intended to write on all the work that claimed his services, but it is a matter of great regret that his sudden death prevented his finishing even the subject of Anti-slavery. Aaron M. Powell became interested in this work at the age of eighteen, and his book contains interesting accounts of the prominent workers in this cause and episodes interwoven with his own life. The reviewer said that the chief value of the book is the opportunity afforded us of studying how our friend's own rare character developed through his appreciation of other great lives and through his devotion to service.

A paper prepared by Henry S. Kent, entitled "How far can Friends Serve the State and Preserve the Integrity of their Principles?" was the second number of the program. The writer refers to a quotation from Paul: "Let every one be persuaded in his own mind," and to the great principle of Friends, "Mind the Light," as the safest and wisest conclusion of the subject. The State, he said, must always be a reflex of the life and character of the people, and we are in need of a host of such noble Quaker politicians as Benjamin Hallowell and John G. Whittier, and refers to the service to the State as a service for humanity and in this service Friends should feel they have a special calling and a large share. Both papers were open for a short discussion, after which the meeting adjourned.

ESTHER S. STACKHOUSE, Secretary.

SOLEBURY, PA.—The Young Friends' Association of Solebury met on the 10th inst., at Solebury meeting-house. The principal question discussed was, "What justification is there for the war in the Transvaal, at this time?" It was answered by John S. Williams. Eastburn Reeder, Watson Kenderdine, Seth T. Walton, Hampton W. Rice, Frederick L. Smith, Ely J. Smith and George H. Ely participated in the discussion.

Emma L. Rice reported on History. Eastburn Reeder read that portion of the Discipline relating to Meetings. Edith Michener reported on Current Topics. Florence R. Kenderdine reported on Literature. Edith Michener also gave a report on the recent Conference at Woodstown.

The executive committee handed in the following report of appointments for next month: Paper, "The Good Samaritan of To-day," Ella B. Carter; Paper, "Peace, When to Seek and How," George H. Ely; Reading, Emma A. Fell; Recitation, Edna M. Walton.

A nominating committee was appointed to name officers for the ensuing year. A selection from "Sartor Resartus" was read by Martha Simpson. Appointments were made by the chairman to serve on the sections next month. After a brief silence the meeting adjourned until the second First-day in First month.

F. R. K., Correspondent.

LITTLE BRITAIN, PA.—Penn Hill Young Friends' Association met Twelfth month 10. The president opened the meeting by reading from Henry Drummond's "The Greatest Thing in the World." Harriet Wood read from "Who Wrote the Bible?" by Washington Gladden. A short review of "The Unknown Christ" was given by Robert K. Wood. "What became of Pontius Pilate after the Crucifixion?" was answered by Day Wood.

The subject of the evening was Patience. "Why should we be patient toward our fellows?" was the subject of Mary K. Brown's paper. We were urged to practice patience in every-day life, especially in the home circle, among the children, the aged, and the erring. To keep a generous supply on hand ready for use. How poor are we who have not patience! "The Rewards of Patience" was discussed by Robert K. Wood. In the discussion which followed these questions came up: "Is conscience always a guide?" and "Can conscience be perverted?" One of Beecher's sermons was read as a voluntary. After roll call and the customary silence we adjourned to meet in two weeks. P. L. C.

PEACE CONFERENCE AT AMBLER.—A Conference on Peace and Arbitration, in charge of Abington Quarterly Meeting's Philanthropic Committee, was held at Ambler, Pa., on the afternoon of the 10th instant, in the room used for the Friends' meeting, which was well filled.

James Q. Atkinson called the meeting to order and asked Silas C. Morris, of Horsham, to preside. A reading by Hannah C. Ambler, on "Peace and War," was followed by a recitation by Cora Knight, of Longfellow's "Arsenal at Springfield." Principal Joseph S. Walton, of Friends' Central School, Philadelphia, then delivered the principal address, which was much appreciated. He discussed, in an earnest manner, with many illustrative incidents and stories, the general question. James Q. Atkinson and Joseph T. Foulke spoke briefly. It was felt to be a good meeting. A. C.

HORSHAM, PA.—The Friends' Association met Eleventh month 26; the president, William F. Morgan, called the meeting to order. Isaac Parry read a selection from the Bible, after which Tacie J. Stackhouse read a few extracts from the life of Martin Luther. Eleanor Hallowell recited a poem entitled "His Service."

"Is Christianity as Jesus Taught it Practical in Worldly Affairs?" was the subject of two papers, one by Anna T. Jarrett, and the other by Harriet W. Atkinson. Both writers expressed their belief that it was possible for everyone, under the conditions of even this world, to follow Christ's lead if we have the Christlike spirit. We must not think we can reach perfection by one bound, but by slow, steady progress. While upon earth Jesus did the will of his Father. He loved not only those who loved him, but loved, blessed, and forgave his enemies. He set us an example, so that we should follow in his steps, and the same, loving, all-powerful Master is ever ready to afford grace and aid to all who would walk in his steps, for he has said, "I am with you alway even unto the end of the world."

A very good report of the Young Friends' conference at Woodstown was given by the delegates who were appointed to attend the meeting. At the request of our Association Susan H. Jarrett consented to read at our next meeting the paper she read at Woodstown at the Conference. After many beautiful sentiments were given we adjourned to meet Twelfth month 31. MARTHA M. PARRY, Secretary.

CAMDEN, N. J.—Camden Young Friends' Association met Twelfth month 5th. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. It being the annual meeting, attention was then given to the election of officers for the ensuing year.

The report of the General Conference of Young Friends' Associations at Woodstown was then read by Mary A. Burrough. Many Friends who were unable to be at that meeting felt grateful for the full and interesting account given.

Wilhelmina B. Ivins presented a paper on the Life of Sarah Hunt. Many of the Camden members having been personally acquainted with the dear Friend knew of her tender and reverent spirit and active life.

A short account of the "Star Centre Work" in Philadelphia was then given. The paper stated that "Thrift Clubs" are established to help the colored people in that neighborhood to save and to spend their money wisely. It described the work the kitchen and restaurant are doing, as a good nourishing meal can be had for a small sum, and it is a direct influence against the saloons of that section. It also spoke of the "Work Bureau" which the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting's Philanthropic Committee on Colored People has promoted in order to assist those in need of work. This committee feel there is a broader field of work for Friends to do in establishing Industrial Classes or a Housekeepers' Club where colored women may have some course of training to make them more capable of helping themselves as well as others. These classes have just been started.

In discussing the paper, a Friend felt that more good might be accomplished if our public charities were conducted on something of the same plan.

A recitation, Edwin Markham's "The Man with the Hoe," given by Lilly Chariere, was much enjoyed. After a few minutes' silence the meeting adjourned till next month.

LAURA COLLINGS, Secretary.

WOODSTOWN, N. J.—At a meeting of Young Friends' Association, held Twelfth month 9, the president read the eighth chapter of Hebrews. The minutes of last meeting were read and approved. The nominating committee appointed to bring forward names of officers for the coming year, submitted the following, which were approved: President, J. Omar Heritage; vice-president, Martha White; secretary and treasurer, Elizabeth L. Duell.

Mary Owen, one of our delegates to the General Conference, presented a very full and interesting report of the meeting. A portion of Janney's History was read by Martha R. Heritage.

Susan M. Smith gave an account of her recent Western trip. Even those who had heard her before were more than pleased to hear her again, as she brought in new points of interest.

An account of the life of Jane Johnson was read by Annie W. Heritage, followed by a recitation, entitled "Christmas Bells," by Mary Heritage.

Laura B. Garrett, principal of Friends' School at Woodstown, was present, and told of some of her experiences when superintendent of a city play-ground, and showed how even an uneducated street-urchin could understand the effect of tobacco upon the nervous system, as shown by his nervous condition. Her brief talk was much enjoyed.

Gideon Peaslee read an original poem, entitled "Autumn Musings," written for the Association by a Friend at Woodbury, in his 80th year.

Announcements were made for next meeting and the roll called. Meeting adjourned until First month 13, 1900.

E. L. D., Secretary

HUNTINGTON, IND.—The Young Friends' Association of Huntington met Twelfth month 3, at the home of Benjamin F. Nichols. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Aline Plummer, after which an interesting and varied program was carried out.

Ethel Moore read a selection, entitled "Day Dreaming," after which Anna Moore gave an interesting recitation. Dessie Moore asked the question, "Which has the most influence upon the formation of character, hereditary influences, environment, or education?" William Moore answered the question, after which different members discussed it.

Charles Moore asked the question, what was the principal cause which led to the Separation in the Society of Friends, and at what date did it occur? The question was answered by Michael Moore, with additional remarks and explanations from different members.

The program was concluded by a reading by Samuel Nichols.

ELLA MOORE, Secretary.

THE cost of operating the great steamship Oceanic is between $40,000 and $50,000 a month. The extreme earning capacity of the Oceanic is about $90,000 a month. When the cost of repairs, insurance, and deterioration in the value of the ship itself is taken into consideration the profit remaining represents only a fair return on the investment of $4,000,000.

THE special expert sent abroad by the Agricultural Department in search of new seeds and edible plants has brought back an "everbearing strawberry." It is said to produce fruit for months on the same plants, and a small patch will supply a family table a whole season.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

OUR friend and neighbor, F. Gutekunst, of 712 Arch street, took a photographic group of five persons on the 15th inst., which was no doubt somewhat out of the usual. The five were three brothers and two sisters, children of the late Thomas Atkinson, of Upper Dublin, Pa., the eldest sixty-two years old. They had had a similar group picture taken by a Philadelphia photographer, thirty-seven years ago, when they were all young people, and now after the lapse of that long time, they met again for a new one, which was made as nearly like the other—in arrangement, pose, etc.,—as possible.

The five are Emma E. Smith, of Lambertville, N. J., James Q. Atkinson, Wilmer Atkinson, Mary Anna Jenkins, and Albert Atkinson. Their mother Hannah Atkinson, survives at the age of ninety years, and an informal family gathering was held at her home, in Upper Dublin, on her birthday, the 16th instant,

COMMUNICATIONS.

JOSEPH CARPENTER'S PICTURE.

Editors FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER :

I WAS much interested in the article on Joseph Carpenter, from "Personal Reminiscences" by A. M. Powell, published in the issue of the 9th, but feel that it is not quite complete without the little verse that accompanied the picture of him, with the little negro boy at his side. As a child I had the pleasure of knowing this venerable and honored Friend, often meeting him at my grandmother's house, at New Rochelle, and it was there that he presented me this photograph and the following lines, written by himself :

"Thou 'rt welcome here
My darling dear,
Stand firmly by my side ;
Nor quit thy post
Till I have lost
Both prejudice and pride."

Whoever received a picture also received a copy of the little verse. I still have the photograph, but unfortunately the lines have been lost or mislaid, and they remain only in my memory.

H. T. W.

Old Westbury, L. I.

ANNUAL MEETING, PEACE SOCIETY.

THE thirty-third annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Peace Society was held at 1305 Race street, Philadelphia, on the 12th instant. While the attendance was not large, the meeting was full of life and interest. Judge William Ashman presided, and Arabella Carter acted as secretary. James H. Earle of Boston, Mass., offered prayer, and a song on Peace was then given by Lydia B. Earle of Boston.

In an opening address, Judge Ashman spoke encouragingly of the not-far-distant dawn of Peace; for science and religion are now working hand in hand and promoting a brotherhood long desired. He believed the coming century would bring an International Court of Arbitration, and the reference of disputes of nations to it would become a common, every-day occurrence.

Letters were read from a number of persons sympathetic with the cause of Peace, among them Dr. W. Evans Darby, of London, England, and Judge Morris, of Washington, D.C. A paper by President John M. Shrigley, of the Williamson School, was read, in which he earnestly condemned the spirit of war. The annual report of the Society was read, showing the work of the year. Among other things done was the encouragement of the proposed World's Conference at Jerusalem. The decease of members, including Rabbi Sabato Morais, Aaron M. Powell, and Mary W. Fell, was referred to.

A number of speakers made brief addresses, several of them being in support of the "Convictions" (resolutions) of the Society, which had been previously reported. The report of the committee on elections was adopted.—Judge W. N. Ashman for president, Prof. Daniel Bacheller, Philadelphia, recording secretary; Arabella Carter, Somerton, Pa., corresponding secretary; an executive committee of twenty-seven persons, headed by Charles P. Hastings.

Following this session, supper was served in the Peace Rooms, and during its course the donation envelopes were opened; they contained about $100. Brief speeches were made by a number of those present, including a Jewish rabbi, and four colored ministers. The daughter of Frances Watkins Harper gave a pleasing recitation.

The evening session was held in the First Unitarian Church, 21st and Chestnut streets. The pastor, Dr. Joseph May, extended a hearty welcome. Judge Ashman presided. James Earle, of Boston, made the first address. We must get hold, he said, of God's thought in order to do his work. Rabbi J. Leonard Levy, of Philadelphia, spoke. "There are," he said, "two phases to this Peace question, a moral and economic phase. Without the moral training at the back of it, the economic phase will fail. It was moral yearning after the ideal which induced Garrison and his co-workers to deny the right to lay the lash on the back of God's image in ebony as upon his image in ivory. I would rather the United States would digest the foreign element within its borders than give itself political indigestion by taking into its system the foreign element now far away."

Jerome F. Manning, of Lowell, Mass., advocated dealing practically with affairs as we find them, and be content to get what we want by steps, slow though they be. He would advocate an amendment to the Constitution that Congress shall not declare offensive war, limiting to defensive only; this would be an important step.

Joseph Mason, of Philadelphia, followed in a few well chosen remarks. He believed self-control is the first step toward Peace in our homes and in the nation. Tolstoy was one of the powers behind the throne in the affair of Russia's issue of the call for the Peace Conference.

George Gluyas Mercer, president of the Anti-Imperialist League, spoke for a few minutes earnestly and to the point. He read articles from German papers showing sentiments of women in high places on this subject. He believed that with the Czarina of Russia and Countess Nicholini, and the best women of our country in favor of Peace, hope is not dead. We are standing nearer its establishment to-day than ever before. There can be no such thing as "war for humanity;" all religion is opposed to such a thing. A. C., Sec'y.

For Friends' Intelligencer.

BE NOT SO SAD.

BE not so sad in thy heart, dear friend,
Nor brood on thy pain and loss,
Though the storms of grief beat wild and long,
And the waves of sorrow toss.

Ah, I have drunk of the cup thou hast,
To the bitterest dregs I drank,
For Faith spoke naught to my ear of Hope
And darkness upon me sank.

Till I saw no light, till I heard no voice,
Till I felt no hand to save,—
And life below seemed a path of pain,
And the end of all the grave.

But there broke at last over storm and wave,
A light on my inward eye,—
That showed me death was a thing of naught,
The grave but a yawning lie.

And I read it clear in the earth below,
And clear in the skies above,
That the only thing in the world is Life,
And the soul of Life is Love.

HOWELL S. ENGLAND.

"LET all the good thou doest to man
A gift be,—not a debt;
And he will more remember thee
The more thou doest forget."

—Selected.

THE BATTLE OF BLENHEIM.

BY ROBERT SOUHETY.

It was a summer evening—

Old Kaspar's work was done,
And he before his cottage door
Was sitting in the sun ;
And by him sported on the green
His little grandchild Wilhelmine.

She saw her brother Peterkin
Roll something large and round,
Which he beside the rivulet,
In playing there had found ;
She came to ask what he had found
That was so large and smooth and round.

Old Kaspar took it from the boy,
Who stood expectant by ;
And then the old man shook his head,
And, with a natural sigh—
" 'Tis some poor fellow's skull," said he,
" Who fell in the great victory.

" I find them in the garden,
For there's many hereabout,
And often, when I go to plough,
The ploughshare turns them out
For many thousand men," said he,
" Were slain in that great victory."

" Now tell us what 'twas all about,"
Young Peterkin he cries ;
And little Wilhelmine looks up
With wonder-waiting eyes—
" Now tell us all about the war,
And what they fought each other for."

" It was the English," Kaspar cried,
" Who put the French to rout ;
But what they fought each other for
I could not well make out ;
But everybody said," quoth he,
" That 'twas a famous victory.

" My father lived at Blenheim then,
Yon little stream hard by ;
They burnt his dwelling to the ground,
And he was forced to fly ;
So with his wife and child he fled,
Nor had he where to rest to head.

" With fire and sword the country round
Was wasted far and wide ;
And many a childing mother then,
And new-born baby died ;
But things like that, you know, must be
At every famous victory.

" They say it was a shocking sight
After the field was won—
For many thousand bodies here
Lay rotting in the sun ;
But things like that, you know, must be
After a famous victory.

" Great praise the Duke of Marlbro won,
And our good prince Eugene."
" Why, 'twas a very wicked thing !"
Said little Wilhelmine.
" Nay, nay, my little girl !" quoth he,
" It was a famous victory.

" And everybody praised the duke
Who this great fight did win."
" But what good came of it at last ?"
Quoth little Peterkin.
" Why, that I cannot tell," said he ;
" But 'twas a famous victory."

PROHIBITION IN MAINE.

Joshua L. Baily, of Philadelphia, in the American Friend.

(Concluded from last week.)

I MADE a visit to Bangor, but found affairs there so similar to what I saw in Portland that it is not necessary to describe them, and there are other cities and towns, some of which I visited, and others of which I have reliable knowledge of, where the conditions are much the same ; but in many of the smaller towns, and generally throughout the rural sections of the State, where I have not only had the opportunity for personal observation, but opportunity also for collecting reliable information, I feel warranted in asserting that prohibition is in a good measure successful. In very many places drinking and drunkenness are unknown. Young people have grown up to manhood and womanhood without having known the sight or taste or presence of intoxicating liquors, and I have been assured by men and women of mature years that they have never seen that sight to us so sadly common—a drunken person.

I have spoken of two classes of persons in Maine who denounce the prohibitory law as a failure—one class, those who do so from selfish motives, and demand the repeal of the law ; but this is not a very formidable class. The cry of repeal has been many times raised, but never made much headway. It is only a few years since one of the political parties of the State made repeal a plank of its platform and on that plank they were able to elect less than half a dozen members in a House having a membership of more than one hundred, and the repeal scheme was an ignominious failure.

That prohibition is the settled policy of Maine is very generally admitted, and it would be suicidal on the part of any party to make its repeal an issue.

The other class is made up, as I have already stated, chiefly of prohibitionists. By this, I do not mean members of the Prohibition party, but professed friends of prohibition without respect to any party affiliations. They condemn prohibition as a failure, because it does not everywhere stop the sale of liquor, close all the saloons, and make sobriety universal throughout the State. It seems to me that such are very unreasonable, as well as inconsistent and unwise. They don't condemn the law against stealing as a failure, although thieving may be committed in different parts of the State on every day in the year.

The worst foes of Prohibition—those who are really doing the most mischief—are not those who openly denounce the law, because they hate it and would have it repealed. Little do the professed prohibitionists think of the harm they are doing, unwittingly it may be, when they put themselves in the way of being quoted, as they are quoted throughout the country, by the enemies of prohibition, who say, " Why, even the prohibitionists of Maine admit that prohibition is a failure."

There is no failure on the part of the law. It is everything that could be asked for to attain the end in view—the suppression of the drink traffic, and the punishment of those who are law-defiant. Many of those who are elected or appointed to administer the law are failures, because they do not enforce it, and many of the prohibitionists themselves are failures also (I dislike to say it, but the truth must be told) because they do not give to the officers of the law the aid and support which as good citizens it is their duty to give.

A case in point let me narrate. A lady in Portland, a widow, lived in a house which she owned, having a family of several children, among whom was a grown up daughter and two young sons just coming into manhood. A party purchased the adjoining property, opened a store, and in a back room he established a bar for the sale of liquors. The apartment where this illegal business was carried on was in full view of the windows of the lady's house. The lady was indignant at the scenes which were daily enacted before the eyes of her daughter and her sons, and she resolved, if possible, to have the nuisance suppressed. She was diffident about going to the public authorities, but resolved to lay the whole matter before a friend of hers, a prohibitionist of some prominence, and get him to intercede for her. She put the whole case before him. He assured her of his sympathy, how very greatly he regretted the unpleasant circumstances under which she was placed, but that the party who had purchased the property and of whom she complained was one with whom he had business relations and whom he would not like to offend, and that any interference on his part would be a loss to him in his own business; therefore he would have to be excused from doing anything for her. This man was a coward, the meanest kind of a coward. All his professed interest in the cause of prohibition was nothing to him when his own selfish interests lay in the other scale.

I do not know how many such prohibitionists there may be in Maine; I would not like to think that there are many. But I must be candid, and the truth must be told, even if somebody is offended. I have great reason to believe, from the testimony presented, that the cause of prohibition in Maine is greatly injured and its enforcement hindered and retarded by the apathy and indifference of many of its professed friends, and their unwillingness, as in the Portland case already cited, to do the simple duty which devolves upon every good citizen to aid to the extent of his ability in the enforcement of the law.

The people of Maine have upon their statute books the best laws enacted by any State for the suppression of the drink traffic, and the encouragement and education of the people in habits of sobriety. In very few of the other States have the friends and advocates of temperance any such backing. The laws in many of the States serve the protection rather than the suppression of the traffic. Whatever advance is made along temperance lines elsewhere, is made against fearful odds, against a strongly entrenched and powerful foe. We do not mean to say that the people of Maine have no foe to encounter. The liquor traffic is everywhere a relentless, law-defiant, and unscrupulous foe to the highest and best interests of the community, and the drinking passion will always and everywhere resist restrictive legislation, and be fruitful in expedients to avoid and evade it. But in the prohibitory law, and in the public sentiment of the people which sustains it, the prohibitionists of Maine, and the whole people of Maine, have everything to encourage and stimulate them—not only on account of the advance so far made, but because of the rare opportunities which they enjoy of keeping their State not simply abreast, but in harmony with the motto of the coat-of-arms of Maine (Dirigo) in the very forefront of this great reform.

LABORS OF DOUKHOBOR WOMEN.

From an article in the Toronto, Can., Globe.

THE absence of anything like noisiness or excitability strikes one the instant one moves about among the villages. The very children are curiously quiet and gentle in their mode of play, and they are miniatures of their elders in more than their picturesque costume. The quiet dignity noticeable comes from the best possible influence, the parents having apparently little trouble in training their children other than by the example of their own quiet and industrious lives. There is something unutterably pathetic to those who live in this wrangling, noisy world of the nineteenth century, to see the women and children of the Doukhobors quietly and silently bearing with a great patience the load that is laid upon their shoulders.

The innate dignity of the women, and their uncomplaining, untiring patience, have perhaps been the reason that they have had strength given them to endure to the end trials that their magnificent physique could not alone have enabled them to withstand. They are a great people—that is undeniable; and while they are the children of the soil, they are the aristocracy of the soil, people who, to use Ruskin's words, have found that "all true work is sacred, and in all good hand labor there is something of Divineness." Their hand labor is marvelous, from the finest embroidery to the building and plastering of their houses.

The situation that the majority found themselves placed in was one which called for decisive action, and the Doukhobor women, as all great-hearted women must, rose to the occasion, and it is to them, as it ever was to the great pioneer women of our country, that we are to look for the best results in the settlement of our Dominion. The men of each community were called upon to hire themselves out as farm laborers and railway "navvies." The distances in the west are enormous, and it meant simply the exodus of the men from the villages, and an absence that was to be counted by weeks or months. Then, too, in a village of perhaps 120 souls they might have a yoke of oxen or one pair of horses, and these were to plough and carry lumber for the frames of houses, and, more than all, transport flour from a great distance to feed the community. The question was a grave one; winter comes quickly in these latitudes. But the question was answered by the women, who turned to, helped the few men left in the village to build the houses, and not only trod the mortar and used their hands as trowels, but carted the logs, drawing them for miles with the aid of two simple little wooden wheels, which were no bigger than those of a child's go-cart. The earth for the mortar was carried on their backs in baskets woven of willow or in huge platters hewn out of logs; the water being carried at times for half a mile in two buckets hewn like the platters out of trunks of trees and hung at the end of a long sapling. A deep trench was dug, and by the edge sat a score of women less strong than their Spartan sisters, chopping with a rude hatchet, hay or grass, to mix with the water in the trench or pit. Bucket after bucket of water was poured in from the primitive wooden pails, while six women trod the mortar until it was as smooth as paste. Another gang of women carried it in wooden troughs to the houses, where six or eight others plastered the logs both inside and out with the cold clay paste.

The neatness of the work was astonishing, for while in some cases logs large enough to build a log house were to be found, in others they had to be woven out of coarse willow branches, the upright posts alone being of sufficient strength to support the roofs of sods (two layers) laid on with a neatness and precision that is seldom seen in this country; and the walls of the houses themselves were only stuffed with clay, but presented, both inside and out, as smooth a surface as if the trowel of a first-rate plasterer had been at work. In many cases these people had neither tools nor nails, and the carpentering work of the interior of the houses is a marvel of ingenuity. Their great ovens moulded out of clay always presented a symmetrical appearance, which the appellation "mud oven" does not convey. They are built close to the entrance, and occupy a space about 5 feet square. There are always three or four niches which are used to keep things warm and act as tiny cupboards, while the flat top, about 4 feet from the roof, is occupied on cold days by the old granddame with her never-idle knitting-needles, and perhaps close to her swings the curious cradle covered with a curtain drawn close round it, and containing a chubby baby swaddled like most of the peasant race in real swaddling clothes, and looking for all the world like a parcel tied up with broad ribbons.

THE ART OF SEEING THINGS.

To be an observer, says John Burroughs in the course of an article on "The Art of Seeing Things," in the Century, is to see more than the particular thing you are looking for and expecting to see.

We may see coarsely and vaguely, as most people do, noting only masses and unusual appearances, or we may see finely and discriminatingly, taking in the minute and the specific. In a collection of stuffed birds, the other day, I observed that a wood-thrush was mounted as in the act of song, its open beak pointing straight to the zenith. The taxidermist had not seen truly. The thrush sings with its beak but slightly elevated. Who has not seen a red squirrel or a gray squirrel running up and down the trunk of a tree? But probably very few have noticed that the position of the hind feet is the reverse in the one case from what it is in the other. In descending they are extended to the rear, the toe-nails hooking to the bark, checking and controlling the fall. In most pictures the feet are shown well drawn up under the body in both cases.

People who discourse pleasantly and accurately about the birds and flowers and external nature generally are not therefore good observers. In their walks do they see anything they did not come out to see? Is there any spontaneous or unpremeditated seeing? Do they make discoveries? Any bird or creature may be hunted down, any nest discovered if you lay siege to it; but to find what you are not looking for, to catch the shy winks and gestures on every side, to see all the by-play going on around you, missing no significant note or movement, penetrating every screen with your eye-beams—that is to be an observer; that is to have "an eye practiced like a blind man's touch,"—a touch that can distinguish a white horse from a black,—a detective eye that reads the faintest signs. When Thoreau was at Cape Cod he noticed that the horses there had a certain muscle in their hips inordinately developed by reason of the insecure footing in the ever-yielding sand. Thoreau's vision at times fitted things closely. During some great fete in Paris, the Empress Eugénie and Queen Victoria were both present. A reporter noticed that when the royal personages came to sit down Eugénie looked behind her before doing so, to see that the chair was really there, but Victoria seated herself without the backward glance, knowing there must be a seat ready for her; there always had been and there always would be. The correspondent inferred that the incident showed the difference between born royalty and hastily-made royalty. I wonder how many persons in that vast assembly made this observation; probably very few. It denoted a gift for seeing things.

If our powers of observation were quick and sure enough, no doubt we should see through most of the tricks of the sleight-of-hand man. He fools us because his hand is more dexterous than our eye. He captures our attention, and then commands us to see only what he wishes us to see.

DECISION AND ACTION.

Christian Register.

THE choice once made, the aim once taken, there must be no further thought of consequences. There must be a complete self-surrender to the act of the moment. To doubt or regret, to reconsider or question, is to draw off strength and prevent concentration. To regret is to grow weak. To fear is to help bring about the very calamity which is feared. Even to believe is to be distracted. To assume is the only mental attitude that leaves the mind free to attend to the duty of the instant.

Were half the strength now spent in anxiety and dread transferred either to the time of choice or to the time of action, we should have fewer careworn faces and broken constitutions. The contrast which the traveler notices between the countenances of the American and the European is caused, not by action, but by imagination. It is partly a result of the greater opportunities of the New World. Few men settle down to a lifelong continuance in the work which was chosen at the beginning. The chances are that something better will open to them. Women are said to be in some pursuits less perfect workers than men because they do not take up their work as the occupation of a lifetime. They look over their desks into a future of quite another kind. Their eyes are not upon the ball, but upon some hoped-for spot where it may sooner or later land. No man can be a good workman, said a wise employer, who looks much at the clock. Even presidents of great nations are said to be less effective when they are haunted by the thought of a possible second term.

But who shall teach us the lesson of golf for our daily life? It is easy to see what tranquility would come into our souls if we could simply abandon ourselves to the act, or the course of action, on which we have deliberately fixed. "How can you be so serene?" said a minister to a prominent merchant who had made his final bid in a most important transaction, involving the interests of hundreds of people. "Why should I be anything else?" he answered simply. "I have thought it well over, and have done what, in my best judgment, is right and wise. What more can I do?"

Aid For Boer Wounded.

GEORGE W. VAN SICLEN, 141 Broadway, New York city, who is honorary treasurer in this country of the fund raising for the relief of the wounded, sick, widows, and orphans, on the Boer side, has sent out an appeal to the press, enclosing the appeal prepared and sent out by the Afriander Band members of the Cape Colony Parliament, and others. The letter is dated at Cape Town, South Africa, on the 10th of Tenth month last, and after reciting the trying situation in which those of Dutch blood who are subjects of Great Britain are placed, says:

"What may, what can, we Colonial Afrianders do in this sorrowful time? Join in the work of warfare with the weapons? The law and our duty as British subjects forbid this, even should other circumstances not oppose such a course of action.

"But what neither the law nor the duty of the subject forbids, and what, moreover, agrees in every respect with all principles of religion and humanity, is the offering of help to the wounded, to the widows, and the orphans.

"If you are in earnest in your expressions of sympathy with your brothers and sisters in those parts, you will make sacrifices in favor of those men who will be wounded or mutilated on the field of battle, and for the sake of those wives and children who will be robbed of their only support in life by sword or bullet.

"With that object in view we entreat you to subscribe to the appended list, and to do so with unstinted liberality.

"When the war is concluded there will be hundreds, perhaps thousands, of widows and orphans left quite unprovided for. It is chiefly on their behalf that our party in Parliament appeal to you. Large sums of money will be needed to provide them, even to a slight extent, with the necessities of life."

The treasurer in South Africa is C. C. DeVilliers of Cape Town.

Black as "Mourning."

WRITING in the Woman's Journal, Elizabeth Cady Stanton speaks of receiving a notice of the death of Jacob Bright, (England, brother of John Bright), printed on "pure white paper, without the traditional black border," and approves of it very much. She adds:

"I know an American lady who was so desirous of doing the right thing, on the death of her husband, that she made a journey to our metropolis to inquire of an English harness-maker the style for the equipment of her carriage, harness, coachman, footman, horses, and dog, as her husband was English, and she wished everything done according to the custom in his native land. As the dog was expected to trot demurely under the coach, his collar was wound with black ribbon, with a large bow on the back.

"The wife draped in the deepest black, wore a long, double crape veil that touched the ground, which style required should be kept over the face during the first year of widowhood—a most uncomfortable and unhealthy fashion.

"The Brights belong to a religious sect called Friends (or Quakers), who never change their dress for these habiliments of woe.

"I hope the readers of this article will do what they can to banish this oppressive, gloomy fashion."

War and Irrigation.

THE preference of so many people to waste money in destruction rather than use it for purposes of improvement and development, is illustrated daily. John D. Spreckels, of San Francisco, (California's member of the Republican National Committee), who recently came East, remarked:

"I am an anti-expansionist, and as I came through the great prairies of the West I could not but think of the great good that could have been done in our own country with the money which we are now spending to maintain the army in the Philippines. If that money had been spent on irrigation in the western countries, I believe the United States would have reaped greater benefits from it than it ever will obtain by the retention of the Philippines."

To which the Springfield Republican adds:

"This consideration is worthy of all attention. The expenses of the United States government have been increased by from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 a year because of the President's imperialist adventures. The current cost of the Philippine aggression must be something like $100,000,000, when considered in all its bearings, and it will continue to be a terribly costly burden for an indefinite period. One year's expenditure from the federal treasury on this account would suffice to irrigate from 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 acres in the arid region. The money, in other words, which we are now spending in the course of a year to kill and destroy and lay waste in the Philippines, would open lands of great fertility at home, capable of supporting nearly as many people as are to be found in the Philippine archipelago, which is more thickly populated than the United States."

Advantages of the Moccasin.

THE moccasin is the most rational and comfortable of all foot-wear. In moccasins the feet have full play; they can bend and grasp; there is nothing to chafe them or to impede circulation. In moccasins one can move like an acrobat, crossing slender and slippery logs; climbing trees, or passing with ease and security along dizzy trails on the mountain-side where a slip might mean sure destruction. The feet do not stick fast in mud. In the North, when the mercury is far below zero and no civilized boot will protect the feet from freezing, the savage suffers no inconvenience. His moccasins, stuffed with dried grass, let the blood course freely. The perspiration may freeze on the hay in a solid lump of ice, but the feet remain warm and dry. The buckskin moccasin, Indian-tanned with deers' brains and wood smoke, always dries soft after a wetting.

In autumn, when all the leaves and twigs are dry as tinder, a man wearing shoes makes a noise in the forest like a troop of cavalry; but in moccasins he can move swiftly through the woods with the stealth of a panther. The feet are not bruised, for, after enjoying for a time the freedom of natural covering, these hitherto blundering members become like hands and feel their way through the dark like those of a cat, avoiding obstacles as though gifted with a special sense. Best of all, the moccasin is light. Inexperienced sportsmen and soldiers affect high-topped laced boots with heavy soles and hobnails, imagining that these are most servicable for rough wear. But these boots weigh between four and five pounds, while a pair of thick moose-hide moccasins weigh only eleven ounces. In marching ten miles, a man wearing the clumsy boots lifts twenty tons more shoe-leather than if he wore moccasins.—[Harper's Magazine.]

College Girls as Debaters.

VASSAR College has two debating societies, Qui Vive and the T. and M. House of Commons. Membership in each of these societies is held by alternate classes for two consecutive years. As the whole class is included, the membership is large, and the interest in the societies general. T. and M. is modelled upon the British House of Commons, and the amount of parliamentary knowledge necessary to get this body through a session is appreciated only by the girls who have tried it. Regular meetings for debate are held by each society, and once a year an open debate between the two societies is given, to which the whole college is invited. This is always one of the great events of the year, the entire audience being vitally interested in one side or the other. Times have changed since the days, more than half a century ago, when Antoinette Brown and Lucy Stone secretly organized, in an old colored woman's back parlor at Oberlin, the first debating society ever formed among college girls, and had to hold the meetings without the knowledge of the faculty.

CURRENT EVENTS.

THE war in South Africa increases in horrors. Two more battles were fought last week, one north of the Modder river, at Magersfontein, by the British column under Gen. Methuen, and one on the Tugela river, in Natal, by that under Sir Redvers Buller. In both the British troops sustained a severe "reverse," being beaten back by the forces of the republics, with heavy loss of life. The news of the battle on the Tugela, coming on top of so much bad news, caused excitement and anxiety in London. The war is criticised by an increasing number, some from one point and some another. General Buller, who was in supreme command, has been superseded by Lord Roberts, who gained distinction in India. Many more troops are to be sent out, as soon as possible, and the army in South Africa will be far larger than that sent to the Crimea in 1854.

MUCH concern is felt in England as to the attitude of other European nations. In France the popular sympathy with the Boers is so intense and undisguised as to be most offensive to England, while the German nations have the same sympathies, and Belgium and Holland also. Under these conditions, it is feared that there will be intervention or interference from some quarter, and that the war will become much more extended. The United States, with whom Chamberlain declared, in his recent speech, England has an "understanding," is apparently relied upon to support her in the war.

AMONG the killed on the English side, in the battles last week, were General Wauchope, an important officer, the Marquis of Winchester, and Lieutenant Roberts, son of the General who has just been appointed to the chief command. He was an "only son." The total losses of the English since the war began, about six weeks ago, are stated to be (up to the end of last week), 7,630 in killed, wounded, missing, and prisoners. The actual losses of the Boers are unknown; they are usually reported by them as small. In the repulse of Gatacre's column, at Stormberg, reported last week, while the English loss was reported as over 600, the Boers reported four killed and nine wounded, and a London dispatch says "probably this is correct, as no genuine attack was delivered by General Gatacre's troops, who were completely surprised while in column."

THE Board of Election Commissioners in Kentucky decided to issue a certificate to W. S. Taylor, the Republican candidate for Governor, who had a small majority "on the face of the returns" over W. E. Goebel, Democrat, at the election last month. The Commissioners who decided upon this were Democrats, and there were fears that they might make a partisan decision, regardless of the returns. That they so disregarded partisanship has occasioned many expressions of praise. Governor Young was inaugurated on the 14th instant. It is announced that he will make a contest in the Legislature, which has a Democratic majority in both branches.

THERE has been a very considerable fall of prices in the stock markets of London and New York, and elsewhere, due in part to the course taken by the South African war; almost a condition of panic existed on some days. In Boston, the Broadway National Bank failed on the 16th, and was placed in the hands of a receiver. In New York, on the 18th, the Produce Exchange Trust Company failed. The demand for gold in London has been urgent, and shipments from this country began on the 16th, when \$2,200,000 went out from New York. On the 18th the English "Consols" (Government loan) sold slightly below par. at 99 $\frac{3}{4}$. The United States Treasury Department "came to the relief of Wall street," on the 18th, by making a large increase (\$30,000,000, or more) in the amount of its deposits in New York city banks.

IN Congress, little business of importance has been transacted. In the House, on the 18th, the bill establishing the single gold standard, etc., was passed 190 to 150. This was a party vote, except that eleven Democratic members, nine of them from New York State, voted for the measure. The inquiry into the Roberts case has been waiting for the arrival of witnesses from Utah. In the Senate, on the 18th, resolutions were introduced in opposition to the retention of the Philippines by Senators Tillman, of South Carolina, and Bacon, of Georgia, and notice given that they would be discussed later. A resolution of sympathy with the South African republics has been introduced in the House by Representative Sulzer, of New York city.

REPORTS from the operations in the Philippines continue to represent the extinction of the "rebellion," as it is commonly called in the daily press. Aguinaldo has not been captured. Opinions differ as to whether there will be further armed efforts at independence. There is no word of a reduction of the United States military or naval forces. The text of the agreement made with the Sultan of Sulu, by which he receives pay of $9,120 a year, and his polygamy and slavery are not to be interfered with, has been published. In a skirmish on the 18th inst., General Henry W. Lawton, one of the principal commanders of the United States forces, was shot by a Filipino sharp-shooter, and instantly killed.

A LARGE anti-imperialist meeting was held in the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, on the evening of the 14th instant, under the auspices of the Philadelphia branch of the national anti-imperialist organization. George Guyas Mercer presided, and addresses were made by Congressman Lentz of Ohio, ex-Congressman Towne, of Minnesota, and others. Letters of sympathy from ex-Senator George F. Edmunds, of Vermont, and Senator George F. Hoar, of Massachusetts, were read. A resolution expressing sympathy with the republics of South Africa in the present war was offered by one in the audience, and adopted.

THE question of the admission of M. S. Quay to the United States Senate, upon the appointment of Governor Stone of Pennsylvania, was argued before the Senate Committee on Elections on the 16th instant. Ex-Senator Edmunds of Vermont was one of the counsel in opposition. The committee is not expected to make its report until after the holiday recess. It is understood that five members will report negatively, and the minority, four members, favorably. Reports from Washington are mostly to the effect that the Senate will vote against seating Mr. Quay. He has come to Washington from Florida.

A NOTICEABLE portion of the report for 1898 of the Massachusetts Board of Health is that in relation to consumption. A steady and uniform decrease in the mortality from this disease in the State is pointed out. In 1853 the deaths from consumption were 4,272 per one million people. In 1895 the number was only 2,194, and the report for 1898 shows further decrease.

THE German delegates to the Philadelphia Trade Congress have made such a favorable report at Berlin that a Commercial Museum is to be established there, modeled after the Philadelphia plan.

NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS.

THE centennial anniversary of the death of Washington, on the 14th instant, was observed by many civic and patriotic organizations in different parts of the country. The "Farewell Address" was read in some instances, and the caution against "entangling alliances" was frequently emphasized.

—It is announced that the steamship Paris, of the American Line, New York and Southampton, wrecked in Fifth month last, in the English Channel, and subsequently pulled off the rocks, will return to the line after being overhauled and rebuilt at Belfast. She will be given a new name,—that of some American city. Her experience is a very remarkable one, and shows the strength of an iron (or steel) ship, built in compartments on the modern plan.

—The President has commuted to imprisonment for twenty years the capital sentences imposed by court-martial upon four American soldiers, members of a Washington regiment, in the Philippines, for criminal assault upon native women.

—United States Minister Bowen, in Persia, informs the State Department at Washington that great distress prevails in Persia in consequence of the high price of bread. He says the situation is growing worse every day, and that the prospects are that the poor will be face to face with starvation during the entire winter. American missionaries cannot obtain bread enough for their servants or for the schools and hospitals under their care.

—Gen. Leonard Wood, who has been in command of the Santiago province of Cuba, has been appointed Military Governor of the whole island, by President McKinley, relieving Gen. Brooke, and has sailed for Havana.

—The State Board of Health of Mississippi, in its report to the Legislature, states that small-pox is generally prevalent over the State, and recommends that a law be passed making vaccination compulsory.

—Philadelphia has been selected by the Republican National Committee as the place of meeting of the National Convention on June 19, 1900.

NOTICES.

 Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches will attend meetings as follows:

TWELFTH MONTH:

31. Spruce street, 10.30 a. m.

FIRST MONTH, 1900:

14. Frankford, 10.30 a. m.

28. West Philadelphia, 11 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

 Friends' Visiting Committee of Salem Quarterly Meeting have made the following appointments:

TWELFTH MONTH:

31. Mickleton, 10 a. m.

FIRST MONTH, 1900:

21. Woodbury, 10 a. m.

 The Visiting Committee of Baltimore Yearly Meeting have arranged for meetings up to First month as follows:

TWELFTH MONTH:

24. Aisquith Street, Baltimore.

31. Woodlawn.

JOHN J. CORNELL, Chairman.

THE death of the heroic Dr. Pestana at Lisbon, through his investigations of the bubonic plague, has attracted attention in Europe. It came through the dissection of the body of a plague victim in the effort to secure the virus for analysis. The poison entered his system, and he was struck down by the disease he was investigating, a veritable martyr to medical science. Isolated in a hospital, Dr. Pestana set himself to the study and record of his own case for the benefit of humanity. As long as his strength served he recorded his symptoms and the course of the disease to the very end.

SIX steamers of the Cunard Line, two of the White Star, one of the Dominion, and two of the Leyland, all sailing between this country and England, have been taken for transport service by the English Government, and it has become evident that there will be short accommodation for transatlantic travel the coming year. Agents for the great lines say that by February 1 they will have their boats full for sailing in May, June, July, and August.

To December 16 the losses of U. S. troops in the Philippine war, from all causes, were 3,136.

THE losses by fire in the United States, during 1899, have been heavy. They will reach, it is estimated, $125,000,000.

Quality

Never experiment with so important an article as the human food

It is the high quality of Royal Baking Powder that has established its great and world-wide reputation.

Every housewife knows she can rely upon it; that it makes the bread and biscuit more delicious and wholesome—always the finest that can be baked.

It is economy and every way better to use the Royal, whose work is always certain, never experimental.

There are many imitation baking powders, made from alum. They may cost less per pound, but their use is at the cost of health.

Fill a pie with ATMORE'S
MINCE MEAT
 if you want your guests to praise it. Delicate in flavor, rich in substance, clean, pure and fresh. Ask for it. Try ATMORE'S
 Genuine
 English
 Plum Pudding.

These trade-mark crisscross lines on every package.

GLUTEN FLOUR For DYSPEPSIA.
SPECIAL DIABETIC FLOUR.
K. C. WHOLE WHEAT FLOUR.
 Unlike all other goods. Ask Grocers.
 For book or sample write
Farwell & Rhines, Watertown, N. Y., U.S.A.

WM. D. YARNALL & CO.
 REAL ESTATE, CONVEYANCING

CITY, WEST PHILADELPHIA, AND DELAWARE CO.
 Properties of Every Description Bought,
 Sold, Rented, or Exchanged.

MORTGAGES NEGOTIATED
 We have unusually good securities to offer.
 ESTATES SETTLED.
 FIRE INSURANCE in Leading Companies.

ARCHITECTS
 Phone No. 9. 526 MAIN STREET, DARBY, PA.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,
 Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St. (4th door bel. Chestnut St.)
 PHILADELPHIA.

BRASS and ENAMELED BEDSTEADS

There is a right way and a cheap way to make Mattresses; perhaps you have found it out. We do it the right way; try us. Furniture reupholstered.
 Shades, etc.

Josiah G. Williams, 13 N. 11th St

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
 and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

FIRST Assistant Postmaster-General Heath, in a decision in the case of Mrs. Jennie J. Brown, at Modus, Conn., announces that "the department has decided it will be incompatible with the best interests of the service to retain married women as postoffice clerks. The department has therefore ruled that when a female postoffice clerk marries it will be necessary for her to resign from the service."

A NATIONAL conference of the American Woman Suffrage Association was held at Indianapolis, Ind., December 7, many prominent members being present. Susan B. Anthony presided. A call has been issued for the national convention of the association to meet in Washington City, February 8 to 14, 1900.

STRENGTHENING the lungs, especially the apexes, may be done by blowing through a small pipistem or tube that will allow the breath to pass out slowly. First fill the lungs with good air, then blow with steady force vigorously but not violently. A few times daily will be sufficient.—[Ladies' Home Journal.]

In a map of China, recently published by the China Inland Mission, it is pointed out that it is wrong to speak of the "Yangtse Kiang River," as the word Kiang means river.

Fruen's Whole Wheat Flour

10 lb. Bags, 35 cents.
 Cases of 9 Bags, $2.75.

Contains all the valuable nourishing properties of the two finest and richest wheats grown, without any of the indigestible, woody hull, which is removed.

In ordinary flour 80 per cent. of that part of the grain that nourishes and builds up nerve, bone, and muscle is bolted out, and what principally remains produces heat and fat, but not strength and force. Weak bones, flabby muscles, and defective teeth and eyesight may often be caused by want of these elements bolted out of white flour.

Fruen's Whole Wheat Flour contains all this valuable part of the grain without any of the indigestible woody fibre.

Makes a delicious, sweet, light brown bread.

A postal card will bring it.

A. R. HILL, 21 S. Front St., Phila.

PRESUPPOSING THAT YOU HAVE A CAMERA, or at least some of your family are Amateurs, we wish to call your attention to the fact that we make a specialty of Developing Kodak Films and Plates, Printing from them and Mounting on cards or in albums, Enlarging them for framing or Reducing for Miniatures, Touching up and Spotting out defects, and so making a pleasing picture of what otherwise might not be so.

We employ a number of experienced Artists, both men and women, who devote their whole time and energies to this work, enabling us to give much satisfaction to our Patrons.

We also keep a full supply of the best CAMERAS, PLATES, FILMS, and ALBUMS, indeed everything used by the Amateur.

Believing that promises and promptness are important factors in business, our customers may rely on us for the prompt fulfillment of engagements, for we appreciate the annoyance occasioned by failure to fulfill such.

Orders may be sent by mail and they shall have the same prompt attention and care.

THOS. H. MCCOLLIN CO.,

123 S. 11th St., Philadelphia.

We omitted to say we have a most complete shop especially fitted up for repairing of Cameras, Snap Shutter, etc., where all such repairs can be expeditiously made.

Wheatlet
 Satisfies

Unlike many other breakfast foods WHEATLET perfectly satisfies. It is a complete food and the only complete food. It contains practically all of the elements needed to nourish the human body and brain. It is the most delicious of all Breakfast Foods and is enjoyed by children and all other members of the family.

Sold by grocers generally. Write for Free booklet.

THE FRANKLIN MILLS CO., LOCKPORT, N. Y.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia.

Plain Millinery

MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
 The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR

OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
 Atlantic City, N. J.
 Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
 M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

395 SWEDEN STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
 { Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
 1185 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
 Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
 Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angie St., Tioga

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
 Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a SELECT STOCK of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER.

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 North 13th Street.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER

Established 1844.
The Journal, 1873. }

PHILADELPHIA, TWELFTH MONTH 30, 1899.

{ Volume LVI.
Number 52.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.

LII.

If only we are content to work on the Divine plan, we shall surely be content with God's time.

JOAN MARY FRY.

From her paper on Jacob Böhme, read at the Birmingham Summer School.

A NEW YEAR MELODY.

He hath put a new song in my mouth, even praise unto our God.—Psalms xl., 3.

THANKSGIVING and the voice of melody,
This New Year's morning, call me from my sleep :
A new song is in my heart for Thee,
Thou faithful, tender Shepherd of the sheep :
Thou knowest where to find and how to keep
The feeble feet that tremble where they stray :
O'er the dark mountains—through the whelming deep,—
Thy everlasting mercy makes its way.

With all that hath been, Lord, henceforth shall be :
A low, sweet, cheering strain is in mine ear,
Thanksgiving and the voice of melody,
Are ushering in from heaven a blest New Year.

With voice subdued my listening spirit sings,
As backward on the trodden path I gaze,
While ministering angels fold their wings
To fill with lowly thoughts my song of praise.
The shadow of the past on future days
Will make them clear to my instructed sight ;
For the heart's knowledge of thy sacred ways,
Even in its deepest, darkest shades, is light.
—Anna Letitia Waring.

CHURCH OR MEETING.

The following is the major part of a letter by Caroline E. Stephen (of Cambridge, Eng., author of "Quaker Strongholds"), to a mother, who was hesitating whether to bring up her child as a Friend, or—more or less—under the influence of the Church of England. It appears in the Friends' Quarterly Examiner, London, for Tenth month, full liberty to print "having been given by both writer and receiver." Caroline E. Stephen, as is well known, was for a large part of her life a member of the Church of England.

I CANNOT see that parents can transmit to their children any faith worth having—any real, living faith—except that by which they themselves live. To have a child to bring up must needs be a challenge to the innermost convictions of the parent. I do not see that it can in any way lessen the importance of those convictions, or justify any compromise or swerving from them, though it may well teach humility and lay bare deficiencies.

Thus to my mind the whole enquiry narrows itself to the one searching question, Are Friends right in freeing themselves or standing aloof from the whole ecclesiastical system of the Anglican and Roman churches, based as it is upon the existence of clerical orders, and the administration by the clergy of sacraments regarded as Divine ordinances? Or, to put it from the other side, Are the clergy justified in their contention that they are the duly appointed officers of a sacramental and ecclesiastical system ordained by Christ himself, and binding upon all his followers?

I am not going to attempt to argue this question. All I want to remind you of is that the "Church" system must be accepted or rejected as a whole. It all hangs together in principle, although one meets with very various and fragmentary manifestations of it. Of late years the sacerdotal and sacramentarian assumptions underlying it have emerged with much greater distinctness than was the case in my youth. I believe that this process must go on, and that the clergymen who object to the prominence of sacerdotalism are logically in a false position, just as it may be maintained that the High Church clergy who remain in the Church of England instead of submitting to Rome are so. At any rate, the claim to sacerdotal authority is spreading far and wide amongst the clergy, and does, I think, underlie almost all the teaching of the Prayer Book. So that to any one whose conscience rejects that claim it would be impossible with open eyes to subject a child to clerical teaching and influences.

Again, as each member of the Church of England reaches maturity, the question takes the urgent practical form of becoming or not becoming a "communicant." Here the dilemma defies evasion. Not to be a communicant is, for practical purposes, not to be a Churchman. To receive the "communion" at the hands of the priest is to acknowledge his authority. That authority is or is not divinely ordained. There is no middle course between accepting or rejecting its claim.

I myself have been led, upon what appear to me to be conclusive grounds, to reject this claim to authority. To my own mind, therefore, any acknowledgment of it, however indirect, however much appealing to one's sympathies, is unlawful. I believe, though I do not claim prophetic powers, that there are mighty forces arrayed against it—the forces of truth; of growing acquaintance with the Divine methods, both in the physical and in the spiritual worlds; of the growing craving for honesty and solid reality in the region of religious thought; of the need to breathe the free air of heaven, and to come into direct personal contact with the object of worship; of the thirst for the living God, manifesting Himself immediately to the spirits of men. All these forces are, as I believe, arrayed against the claim of the priesthood to be the authorized channels of a system of dogmatic teaching and the dispensers of ceremonial "means of grace." The teaching which men and women are learning to look for is something vaster, more awful and soul-subduing than that which the clergy can be trained to disseminate; the means of grace begin to be felt to be as wide, as free, as intelligible and natural, and yet as unfathomable as human experience itself, not to consist in rites officially administered and altogether unintelligible in their mode of action.

These two views of life are wholly different,—the one tending to the demand for truth at any cost; the other, to the exaltation of orthodoxy. The open-minded pursuit of truth cannot but clash at times with the desire for orthodoxy, as we have, alas, but too much opportunity of observing in our own Society. I well know how far the Society is from living up to its own ideal; how grievously its noble traditions have been lost sight of in the hardening and narrowing grooves of mere habit; how much there is in its actual state that is unlovely and unattractive. But nothing can dim the glory of its fundamental principle; nothing can deprive us of the ground already won, for witnessing to the possibility of combining the freest thought with the purest devotion. The faith of the future; the faith we are all in our various measures seeking after and struggling for; the faith which is needed to satisfy the growing hunger of the world for truth; the faith which is deep enough to meet reason at its very source—this faith may not break forth from within our borders, but when it comes it can do no more and no less than reaffirm our fundamental principle—the single and all-sufficient trust in God's perennial inspiration and immediate revelation of himself to human hearts.

There is nothing in our ideal, nothing even in our shortcomings, to hinder this faith. I cannot but think that there is much in the teaching of the Church of England to make it impossible. I do not mean to deny that the teaching of the church includes more truth than falsehood—very much most precious and beautiful truth. I only mean that the element of what I believe to be falsehood running through it must needs cause many, especially men of considerable thinking power, to reject the truth along with the falsehood—must at any rate weaken their hold on the truth which is so tightly bound up with so much that is untenable, so much that is becoming year by year, under the growing lights of science and history, more and more obviously untenable.

It is in view of this needless but most frequent shipwreck of faith in the recoil from indefensible assumptions and artificial devices for stimulating the devotional faculties, that I should myself cling so earnestly for a son—if I had one—to the freedom and simplicity (even though amounting to occasional bareness) of the manly, rational, supremely pure and profound view of the relation between God and man which has hitherto been maintained by Friends, and by Friends alone.

The form in which this view is presented by any particular meeting or individual may have in it much that is unlovely, much from which a child should be guarded; but it makes all the difference when the alloy is felt to be accidental, not inherent in the system.

Should your son grow up to be an independent thinker and follower after truth, he will have nothing to unlearn of any pure Quaker principle that you may have instilled into him. Should he develop any amount of logical or critical power, he will find nothing irrational in the pure simplicity of the Friends' pristine manner of worship. Obedience to the Light of Life, to the central source of illumination, to all light as necessarily one,—this is an aim commanding the respect of all,—a foundation as secure as it is simple for whatever further teaching life may have in store for him. To inculcate this obedience is, I believe, your infinite privilege; you will do so more effectually by your life than by any words. If the problems of his education discipline your own heart into a more unreserved exercise of the same obedience, they will indeed prove a means of grace to you both. May it be so.

With love, your friend,

CAROLINE E. STEPHEN.

THE FRIENDLY RENAISSANCE.

Paper by Robert M. Reese, of Baltimore, read at Conference of Friends' Associations, Woodstown, N. J., Eleventh month 18, 1899.

IF I rightly understand the subject assigned me, I am to discuss the re-birth of interest in the history and principles of the Society of Friends.

If it be necessary to show first that there is such a renaissance, I need only recall to your attention the various conferences and meetings which the Society of Friends is now holding; the activity in First-day school work, and the organization of Young Friends' Associations. Indeed, the sitting of this present conference of delegates from Young Friends' Associations is as good evidence as is needed that such a revival of interest is at hand. I think, therefore, we may safely assume the existence of the Friendly Renaissance, and discuss briefly its causes and meaning, and the benefits we may derive from it.

It has been asserted, probably with truth, that the Society of Friends does not increase in numerical strength, and is now no more than holding its own. It is further asserted that the Society will eventually disappear, not, it is admitted, because of any inherent weakness in its doctrines or laxity in its practice, but because there is no longer any need for insistence upon those doctrines. In other words, that the Friends are no longer a "peculiar" people, because religious thought generally is moving towards the position so long held by the Society of Friends.

I think there is reason, or at least plausibility, in this view of the matter, though, if the Friendly Renaissance which seems to me so apparent is a fact, I do not believe that the Society is destined to disappear. Certainly it is a fact, remarked by religious teachers and writers of all shades of opinion, that the present is an age preëminently of inquiry, of unrest, of dissatisfaction, perhaps, in religion. Says the Rev. David H. Greer in a recent sermon:

"What is religion? that is the question, That is the question to which this age is addressing itself. That is the question which, with a great searchingness of inquiry, searching all credentials, sifting, testing, examining all theories and all claims, no matter how vast and venerable and hoary they may be, this present age is asking—What is religion?" (Sermon by Rev. David H. Greer, Outlook, November 4, 1899.)

This spirit of inquiry, of unrest, is then admittedly widespread. We of the Society of Friends, and especially we of the younger generation, could not have escaped it if we would. If we have kept anywhere near abreast of the thought of the age in which we live, we must have been forced to inquire for ourselves into religious matters and come to some conclusion regarding them. It is unnecessary to dwell on the causes of the present spirit of inquiry; it has always existed, more or less, but it has at least received a great impetus from the modern science of geology, the establishment of the doctrine of evolution, and the results of the fuller knowledge of the Bible. Many creeds and opinions have fallen by the wayside; many a thoughtful man has had to change his attitude toward the Bible, toward this life, nay, his very conception of God. To many this has come as a grief. The loss of cherished beliefs has carried with it the sense of a heavy personal loss. The Friendly Renaissance I believe to be a result of the general spirit of inquiry and heart-searching which I have outlined above.

But out of this religious unrest and inquiry it seems to me that, for us as for others, one great doctrine is emerging, and is more and more received among thinking people. It is that of the Divine Immanence, the belief that everywhere, in all things and at all times, there lives and acts a "Power not ourselves that makes for righteousness." How far the idea of a personal God has possessed the minds of Friends in the past I have of course no means of knowing. Those who are able to hold to it, still, are perhaps the happiest of Christians, since they have a more clear and sharply defined idea of the God they worship; but for those who cannot hold this conception longer, the idea of the "allness and everywhere-ness" of God is a conception so impressive, and in truth so fundamental, that he who holds it seems to me to have reached a solid and enduring ground to stand on. He who holds it may well be excused for indifference to forms, customs, even beliefs, that were once held to be essential. Will the foundations of Quakerism, for example, be shaken because we are dispensing with the plain speech and apparel, the numerical designation of the days of the week, and the like? I cannot think it; if Quakerism be founded on the truth, it cannot be injured by any extension of the truth, or by any modification of non-essentials.

But you will at once perceive, I think, that this growing belief in the Divine Immanence of God is very closely related to, if not identical with, the fundamental Quaker doctrine of the Indwelling Spirit whose light we are to mind. Call this mere intuition if you will; what is more fundamental than the universal and ineradicable conviction of all men that there is somewhere, outside themselves, a Power that rules the world? Man in all ages and in all countries has worshipped; and we simply crystallize into a convenient formula what is a fundamental conception of the mind, when we speak of the Divine Immanence, the indwelling spirit, God.

If, as I think, the fundamental doctrine of Quakerism and the belief in the Divine Immanence are practically identical, what need, you will ask, of any revival of interest in the principles of our Society? If the religious world is simply moving up to the position so long held by the Friends, why should we not stand still, as we are? Because we cannot if we would; if the Divine spirit lives and moves in us as in all beings we must necessarily, in our own little spheres, take part in the activities that make this world tend to become better. Not so many centuries ago the good man was he who lived apart from his fellows in meditation and prayer, mortified the flesh, and did nothing. We have no such conception to-day. Meditation and prayer we still believe in, but we look with scant respect upon the religion that does not issue in a useful, clean, and helpful life. Sharing as we do in the modern spirit of religious inquiry, standing as I believe we do, upon at least one fundamental verity, the Society of Friends as the logical outcome of its principles must take its part in the philanthropic movements of the day and coöperate with any other body of Christians engaged in good work. I do not mean to imply that we are not doing this; on the contrary; but because we share in the modern renaissance of religious inquiry, we must be careful to accept the necessary consequences of our revived beliefs.

And now, let me ask, what should the Young Friends' Associations do to benefit most by the Friendly Renaissance and aid its growth? We should be peculiarly susceptible to the influences that are at work to-day in our body and other religious bodies. What practical shape can we give to our endeavors, to make us more effective in promoting the welfare of those around us? I feel inclined to leave you to make what suggestions occur to you along this line, merely suggesting the hope that whatever form our activities take, we do not neglect the study of the history and principles of our Society. For by clarifying our own conceptions of Quakerism and living or trying to live, up to its logical requirements, we may, as it seems to me, help greatly to maintain unimpaired the high position of the Society of Friends. And we may gather courage and inspiration from the early struggles and persecutions of the founders of the Society; we may find splendid patterns of manhood and womanhood in the earlier and later Friends; and new meanings, new guidance, in the pregnant message of George Fox, "Mind the Light."

A BOOK ON THE "EASTERN SHORE."¹

A VERY interesting part of the country, from many points of view, is that western side of the Delaware Peninsula which belongs to the State of Maryland, and is known as the "Eastern Shore" of that State. It has many attractions, especially to those who love the water,—for the rivers that drain into the noble bay of the Chesapeake are many of them charming streams, and they abound, besides, in wild fowl, fish, and oysters. The climate is milder than the latitude would suggest, for the great bodies of salt water on both sides of the Peninsula temper the cold.

Of all the counties on the Eastern Shore one of the most interesting is Talbot, and the physical, social, historic, and legendary features of this county have been very pleasantly treated in a volume recently issued. The author is Prentiss Ingraham, an author of repute,—son of the author of a well-known book, "The Prince of the House of David,"—and the publisher is our friend Wilson M. Tylor, of Easton, Md., the county seat of Talbot.

¹ LAND OF LEGENDARY LORE. Sketches of Romance and Reality on the Eastern Shore of the Chesapeake. By Prentiss Ingraham. Illustrated. Pp. 312. $2.00. (By mail, $2.16.) Easton, Md.: Wilson M. Tylor.

We cannot do better, in an effort to give the character of the book, then to extract from it liberally. The author refers to the interest Marylanders who are "to the manor born" show in their family descent. Upon the Eastern Shore, "and particularly in Talbot," he says, some of them—

"RATCLIFFE" ON THE AVON.

Home of former United States Senator Charles H. Gibson, near Easton, Md. A typical Eastern Shore mansion. (From "Land of Legendary Lore.")

"—dwell upon lands granted to their ancestors away back in the days of Governor William Claiborne and Lord Baltimore. This is particularly true of those who were Church of England people, Roman Catholics, and the Society of Friends. Ancestors that could be regarded with pride by their descendants were constantly spoken of to the children of those days, and they were made to realize that they, too, had perhaps been born to greatness. If there had been any 'black sheep' in the family flock, they were simply passed over in silence.

"A look at the life in the plantation homes of those days is of interest, viewed from our lives of to-day. The large and crumbling manor-houses cannot be said to have been the most comfortable, compared with modern comforts. They were too draughty, and wood fires, even on enormous hearth-stones, did not give a genial and steady warmth, while the furniture was too precise and stately for comfort. The plantation, from the mansion to the slave quarters, was a settlement in itself. There were picturesque wind-mills to be seen, a necessary appointment for the grinding of flour and cornmeal. The hominy was beaten for use, and the bacon and hams all cured on the place. If there were fifty 'hands'—slaves—on the plantation, this meant over 10,000 pounds of bacon and 4,000 pounds of meal to be stored away for the annual consumption, not to speak of other edibles that were a necessity.

"Then there had to be homes for these fifty laborers and their families, homes for themselves apart from the 'Great House,' as the planter's mansion was called. The stables, granaries, and storehouses were locked each night, but the mansion never, for it would have been regarded as inhospitable to turn the key against a friend or traveler. Large as their houses often were, they were not large enough for the hospitality of their inmates. Spacious rooms and halls and broad piazzas were the features of these homes, with arm-chairs, rocking-chairs, and settees that to-day would be stiff and devoid of all ease.

"Terrapin, oysters, and canvas-back ducks, as also venison, all luxuries and now high priced, were then so common that hired laborers of the planters had it put in their contracts that they were not to be fed on these edibles 'more than once each week.'

"Two marked features of a well-equipped planter's home were the family burying-ground and a coach-and-four, the latter often having negro postillions. These old-time carriages have all gone into the misty past; not a trace of them, with their swinging bodies on huge leather springs, being found. They were used then for formal calls, state affairs, and to go to church in, the latter often distant many miles, while to-day the coach-and-four is not known here, but is the pleasure vehicle of wealthy northern people.

"The family burying-ground of an estate was not one to be hidden away in a remote corner, for it was often within full view of the front piazza, as though to be put where the living could keep vigil over the dead. Often it was in the garden, and the well-trodden paths leading to it showed that the dead were not forgotten lying off there in the gloom of the grave and eternal night-shades. I remember one

"WYE HOUSE," HOME OF THE LLOYDS.

An old manor-house of Talbot county. With this old place Frederick Douglass's history is connected. (From "Land of Legendary Lore.") burying-ground where not one of the graves,—and there were a score or more of several generations,—was marked by slab or tomb, only upon a little mound so strangely unlike all other things on earth, grew ivy, violets, forget-me-nots, roses, jessamine, geranium, and other flowers.”

Several of the chapters have a special interest for Friends. The early settlers in Talbot included many followers of George Fox, among them some from New England, escaping from persecution. One of these, Wenlock Christison, a famous figure in the annals of our Society, came to Talbot county and settled at “Woodstock,” where the old brick house in which he lived is still standing.

“It was three years after the establishment of Talbot county that the Friends came here to settle, in 1657, the first coming from Virginia, and the meeting-houses, primitive in the extreme, . . . were erected at Wye, Little Choptank, Island Creek, and still in the memories that cluster around it, could not have been better chosen, for it is just south of Easton, in its suburbs now, and hence the site of sites, showing how well chose they who located the county town just where they did. The Friends' meeting-house at the head of the Avon was also not a long walk across for those who came by boat to Betty's Cove on Miles River, while as all roads lead to Rome, it is said, so all highways and streams in Talbot lead to Easton. This house was a frame building with massive timbers, boarded and shingled, and to-day stands as a monument of the old-time style of building.

“It is stated as an indisputable fact that George Fox, the founder of the Society of Friends, attended the meeting at Betty's Cove, that originated the building of the old meeting-house near Easton, and later also attended what Eastonians now speak of as the ‘William Penn meeting-house.’ It was in 1684 the meeting was held, and George Fox describes the greater house in his Journal as being located upon the Avon River (old style Tredhaven).

“To John Edmondson fell the honor of entertaining George Fox, his farm at the time being the one known as Cedar Point, owned by Mrs. Edward B. Hardcastle, of Easton, but leased to Charles H. L. Leonard. In his Journal Fox says that he attended the meetings each day, going by boat, and the boats were so numerous in the river the scene reminded him of the Thames of London. He also spoke of ‘seeing both rivers’—the Avon and the Miles—from the meeting-house, and this shows to what an extent the heads of the two streams have filled up in the past two hundred years.

“At that time the Friends in Talbot kept a boat—the Good Will—and horses, expressly for the use of their ministers in traveling through the country. Upon his return to England George Fox sent to the meeting-house a number of books, some of which are still held by the Society, and this was the first library known in Talbot. This greater meeting-house was built in no slipshod manner, as its fine state of preservation to-day shows, after having withstood the storms of over two hundred years.”

Space will not permit further extracts, now, and it would hardly be fair to the book itself. What we have taken is but a part of many pages of remarkable interest. Many personal and romantic details are presented, hanging on the historical thread. The publisher has been lavish of illustrations, there being over one hundred in all. Three of these, kindly lent by him, accompany this notice.

WHEN duty is severe, we must be more reverently dutiful. If love brings sorrow, we must love more and better. When thought chills us with doubt and fear, we must think again with fuller soul and deeper trust.—James Martineau.

“HAMPDEN,” HOME OF THE MARTINS.

The first brick building in Talbot county. Built of bricks brought from England in 1663. Still standing. (From “Land of Legendary Lore.”) one, which was doubtless the first, on ‘Betty's Cove,’ Miles River.

“This one on Betty's Cove was built of clapboards, and stood on the boundary line between the homes of R. B. Dixon and Dr. Cherbonnier, while it [the lot of ground] covered ten acres of land, and faced the river, from which it was distant but a few rods. The records show that here also was a graveyard, and that the little building was repaired in 1676, but in 1693 it was abandoned, left alone with its encircling dead, while a larger and more pretentious meeting-house had been erected in a more central location at the head of the Third Haven, on Avon River. This last building was so placed as to be convenient to every part of the country, even by vehicles on the highways, the bridle-paths, or water, for from the Avon vessels have cleared, and come from every part of the world.

“The locality of this greater meeting-house, great

OLD TESTAMENT LESSONS.

No. 1.—FIRST MONTH 7, 1900.

SOURCES FOR THE HISTORY OF THE EXILES.

GOLDEN TEXT.—And we have the word of prophecy, made more sure.—II. Peter, i., 19.

Scripture Reading, Obadiah, i., 1-21.

THE connected narrative of Hebrew history which we have followed in the past year to the end of the Books of Kings ceases with the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B. C. A few verses in the final chapter tell us of the fate of the city and its inhabitants, while a concluding note tells also of the release of King Jehoiakin from prison by Evil-Merodach, king of Babylon, many years later. This fact marks the middle of the sixth century B. C. as the earliest possible date for the completion of the Books of Kings. We may, therefore, consider them as coming in their final form from the exilic period, and as indicating, in a measure, the point of view of that time. The chapters in the prophecies of Jeremiah from the twenty-third to the end deal mostly with the times following the first captivity (597), and part of them are addressed to the exiles. Some of these exiles were settled (probably near Nippur) south-east of Babylon, and on the large navigable canal Chebar. (Ez., i., 1-12.) This was in the very heart of the land, some of the greatest cities of the country being situated on the canal. Among this group of Jews appeared the prophet Ezekiel, from whose words of warning, threatening and comforting, much may be inferred as to the state of mind of his people, and also as to their environment. The single, brief prophecy of Obadiah embodies a bitter denunciation of the Edomites for their cruel delight in the destruction of Jerusalem and in the distress of its inhabitants. The tone of the prophecy indicates that it was written not long after the great calamity, while the wounds of that bitter conflict were still open. It is not difficult to understand why Judah was hated by neighboring nations. Her isolation, her pride as the elect nation among nations, her contempt for all beyond her borders, all these, no doubt, saved her from so fusing with alien peoples as to lose at once her identity and her world-mission. This mission was ill-performed enough, indeed, by the great mass of the people, and was only redeemed from total failure by the faithfulness of the prophets and of the few who joined with them. This is not the only case, either, where a great mission has been regarded as a basis rather for a sense of pride than for that of responsibility. And in the case of Israel, her exclusiveness and arrogance made her a most unlovely neighbor among the sister nations. The hatred of the surrounding peoples, indicated in Obadiah, Ezekiel, and elsewhere, had important results in the condition of the Jews left in Palestine, and in the relations of the returning exiles, more than a generation later.

The composite character of the prophecies given in our Bible under the name of Isaiah has been already referred to. It would not be profitable to enter here into the minute details of textual criticism. It is enough to note that the book falls naturally into two parts. The first, including most of the first thirty-nine chapters, deals in the main with the period of the prophet Isaiah. The other section includes chapters forty to sixty-six. Even a superficial reading of them will make plain that they are addressed to conditions totally different from those of the earlier chapters; most of them are, in fact, addressed to the Jewish exiles in Babylonia. "Like a Christian pastor, the prophet enters into the difficulties and aspirations of his people, removing the one by eloquent arguments and stimulating the other by assurances which claim a Divine origin." (Canon Cheyne.) Of course, it is an easy way out of the apparent difficulty to say that Isaiah might have been Divinely inspired to address the conditions of his countrymen over two hundred years after his own time; but the question, after all, is not what "might be" but what actually was, and all the evidence points to a late authorship for these chapters. The unknown prophet of the exiles is usually known as the "Second Isaiah."

The Book of Lamentations presents "a vivid picture of the scenes attendant upon the distinction of Jerusalem and of the feelings with which the scattered exiles regarded these events." (Kent.) This book consists of four acrostic poems, the form being based on the twenty-two letters of the Hebrew alphabet; while a fifth poem is of much the same general character, though it lacks the alphabetic arrangement. The poet writes in the name of the Jewish nation. Most pathetically are set forth the miseries of the ruined city and country. A tradition that these poems were written by Jeremiah made its first appearance, so far as we know, three centuries later, at the time of the "Septuagint" translation of the Bible into Greek. There can be no doubt that both the spirit and the language of Lamentations are nearly allied to those of the known prophecies of Jeremiah. But "the balance of internal evidence may be said to preponderate against Jeremiah's authorship of the Book." (Canon Driver.) It may well be, indeed, that the five poems are the work of several hands.

So much for the "prophetic" books which assist us in understanding the Babylonian period. Certain of the third group, also of the Hebrew sacred books, were either written during this period or refer to it. Some of the Psalms may be attributed with much probability to this time. Psalms lxxiv. and lxxix. may refer either to the desolation of Jerusalem in 586 B. C., or to a much later desecration of the temple. Psalm cii. is probably exilic. Psalm cxxxvii. may be mentioned as one at least referring to the exile. While the books of Daniel and Esther were not written until hundreds of years later, they give some idea of the Jewish traditions of the captivity; their chief value, however, is in their reflection of the spirit of their own time.

Among the apocryphal writings, the book of Baruch, the Song of the Three Holy Children, the History of Bel and the Dragon, and the History of Susanna are more or less concerned with the exile.

The writings of Josephus, to which constant reference has been made in preceding lessons, continue to supplement the biblical sources in the period before us. Josephus was a Jew of the generation just following the life of Jesus, he having been born about 37 A. D. Carried captive to Rome after the final conquest of Jerusalem by the Romans, he won the friendship of the emperor, and devoted his leisure to writing the history of his people. His chief source of information was the Bible; but he had access to some other sources. Among them a Babylonian priest of the time of Alexander, Berosus by name, supplied a history of Babylonia in Greek.

This brief account of the sources of our knowledge of the exile would not be complete without reference to the large number of inscriptions which have been discovered dating from the period of Nebuchadnezzar, and his successors. From them we learn much of the social customs and of the religious life of the Babylonians, as well as of their foreign wars and conquests.

VILLAGE SCENES NEAR METZ, 1870.

From William Jones's book, "Quaker Campaigns in Peace and War."

WE commenced the relief work in the neighborhood of Briey. Metz not having yet surrendered, we were not permitted to pass beyond the bounds of the villages occupied by the Germans. We found, however, ample work at St. Privat and other villages around the plain of Gravelotte. At St. Privat we were horror-struck with the work of devastation. Almost every house was in ruins, and the regiment of German soldiers quartered in it were living mostly in the basements or cellars. The church, a melancholy ruin, was knocked to pieces by shells from the battlefield, and had been set on fire by the explosion of a bomb.

The battle of Gravelotte, resulting in the defeat of the best soldiers, including the Imperial Guard, and of the ablest generals of France—and subsequently in their surrender after the siege of Metz,—was the most stubbornly-contested of all the sanguinary conflicts of the war.

In this struggle the French opposed 180,000 men to 230,000 Germans, and the loss of the latter in killed and wounded exceeded 19,000 men. The loss of the former is not known, but was probably less, for the French occupied selected positions, especially Canrobert's Division at St. Privat, which poured a murderous fire from a superior infantry weapon—the "chassepot,"—and from batteries of mitrailleuses, upon the Germans advancing across the open to storm the position. "St. Privat is the grave of our Prussian Guards" was the mournful remark I heard somewhat later from a German officer.

Imagination strives in vain to realize the fell crop of death scattered thickly over a battlefield so wide as this. The agonies from wounds and from thirst, the terrible mutilations beyond all hope of surgery, the vast array of the slaughtered, and the yet vaster multitude of widows and orphans, form altogether a picture of human suffering that no language can adequately describe.

It was in the village of St. Privat that Allen¹ and I came first into actual contact with the sufferings of innocent victims of this disastrous war, as instanced in the persons of many of the small peasant proprietors. "No corn, no cattle, no horses, no hay, no straw, no food, absolutely nothing left but the clothes we wear," was said to us again and again. All had been destroyed, or devoured by the armed hosts of both sides, who had lived amongst them for months. Nor was this all, many of their houses had been battered into ruins by shells from the battlefield.

[¹ This was Henry John Allen, of Dublin, Ireland, a Friend whom I had the pleasure of meeting, at London and at Birmingham, last summer.—H. M. J.]

A typical instance of distress in an acute form, to which we made frequent reference afterwards in public addresses at home, arises before my memory. In one of the most shattered houses in St. Privat, my companion and I stopped to speak to a decent elderly woman, who was busy at a wash-tub. The front part of the house was much shattered by shot and shell. The windows were all gone, and in order to ward off some of the cold winds a pile of stable manure was heaped before the open spaces.

The woman's story, told with many tears, was very touching. "We, who were so happy before the war, living here upon our little property, lost everything by requisitions, first from the French army, and afterwards from the Germans. Then, to crown our misery came the great battle of Gravelotte, when our house was battered to pieces over our heads!"

Her husband had been compelled to load up his wagon with his own hay and corn, and follow in the transport service of the French army. Many weeks afterwards she heard indirectly that he had died of fever, far away in another part of France. The wretched men who are conscripted into the transport service receive scant attention in war time from the military authorities, whose first care is over the "effectives," so-called, and the second, over their sick and wounded, so that when the poor transport men are struck down by fever or other dangerous maladies, it is often the case that no doctor can be spared to look after them, and they are simply left to die, or to struggle through as best they can.

The woman told me she now earned a pittance to keep herself and sick daughter alive, by washing for the German soldiers who were quartered in the village, and who were kind to them. Whilst I was talking with her, Allen had penetrated to the back of the house, where he found the sick daughter in a wretchedly cold chamber, with insufficient clothing or bedding to protect her from the wintry weather, and the only apparent food for this poor consumptive patient was a piece of the black "ration" bread of the German soldiers.

Ah! This was indeed a typical home of misery! but, in our later experiences of the war, one that was, in some of its painful aspects, often repeated.

ONLY the plain loyalties of conscience and spirit will bring things straight, and make the life day by day square with the eternal truth of God.—Henry Wilder Foote.

WHAT is Nature? Art thou not the "Living Garment" of God? O Heavens, is it, in very deed, he then that ever speaks through thee, that lives and loves in me?"—Carlyle.

Friends' Intelligencer and Journal.

EDITORS:

HOWARD M. JENKINS. LYDIA H. HALL. RACHEL W. HILLBORN.

PHILADELPHIA, TWELFTH MONTH 30, 1899.

Please address business letters to "Friends' Intelligencer, N. W. Cor. 15th and Cherry Streets, Philadelphia, Box 924."

Communications and contributions to "Editors Friends' Intelligencer," same address. Add "Box 924"—as above.

PASTORS AND TENT-MAKING.

AN article in the Atlantic Monthly, from which we have made some extracts, vigorously portrays trials and troubles in the "pastoral" system. These are of various kinds, but chief among them is the fact that in many churches a pastor, unless he be an exceptionally able, or attractive, or ingenious man, cannot long retain his position, and that when he loses it, if in middle age, he finds it hard to get another place. There is "unrest," this writer says, "fickleness, insincerity, criticism," among the congregations, and consequently "short pastorates."

Viewing this uncertainty of the clerical profession as a means of support, the writer we refer to suggests, perhaps ironically, that in divinity schools there be a "chair of tent-making,"—in other words that the pastors be taught some trade, so that if they find their pastoral profession failing them as a livelihood, they may turn to their tent-making.

Those of us who are used to a voluntary congregational ministry, and a pastorate of the brotherhood, can hardly view such disclosures as these, without feeling that the difficulties described are what might be expected. There is nothing surprising in the fact that those who employ a pastor and pay him are liable to desire a change, or that they should incline to have an active, stirring young man who may "build up the church," rather than one whose length of years inclines or compels him to rest and quiet.

To a certain extent, it must be evident that the system of the employed and paid pastor is breaking down. In respect of preaching this is especially so. Unless a pastor preaches very ably, his sermon has become secondary to his capacity to organize, to entertain, and to "attract." In the ritualistic churches it is true that preaching has never been a vital matter, but in the non-ritualistic bodies the sermon used to be the essential feature of the "service," and the minister was engaged for that, or not engaged at all. Certainly this is not the case now. If the minister can preach it is very well, but he must in any case turn his attention to other things. He must get up clubs, and societies, and "guilds," he must plan for attractions, for something that will "draw." He becomes a sort of manager, or director, and it is no wonder that in comparing the strength of candidates, congregations demand a young and active man, with "up to date" resources. All the facts and the deductions in the Atlantic article, and in many others which have recently appeared to like effect, lead up to the conclusion that in non-ritualistic churches at least the occupation of the pastor is felt to afford only an insecure dependence for a living. It would be better therefore for the pastor to have some other trade that he can rely on. This comes very close to the Quaker ground, even if the road to the conclusions be not the Quaker one. Such testimony discourages, it is plain, the system of a professional ministry. It discourages also the idea, so pleasing to the world-occupied and "easy going,"—that a person's religious interests and relations can be cared for by his pastor, as his legal business is by a lawyer, or his health by a physician.

Still further, no doubt, this testimony tends toward conditions in which a minister need not preach unless he has a message given him. When in any congregation the minister has his trade of tent-making, or whatever it may be, as a guaranty of support for himself and his family, he becomes independent. He need not depend on his sermon as his means of livelihood, but he will be in a position to hear, before he endeavors to represent, the voice of the spirit.

The faults of the pastoral system were long ago perceived by those who had the Quaker teaching. Not only did they not concede that a priest should stand between the human soul and the divine Over Soul, but they declined as well the doctrine that religious companies seeking the comfort and support of associated religious life must place themselves in charge of an employed shepherd. Paul, when he conferred with the Ephesian Christians at Miletus, was glad to say to them that he had not shrunk from declaring to them the whole truth he saw, and he reminded them that he had not done it for pay, for "silver, or gold, or apparel." "Ye yourselves know," he said, "that these hands ministered unto my necessities, and to them that were with me." And now, it seems, the testimony of experience is that these two conditions of Paul's success are conditions as well for the success of the true ministry in these latter days.

WE should be glad to have notes and reports relating to First-day school work. But they ought to be as practical as possible,—matter relating to the actual needs, methods, experiences, or plans of the schools. We find, as a matter of fact, not much such matter is sent us. No doubt it would make a useful department of the INTELLIGENCER.

BIRTHS.

CLOUD.—In Norristown, Eleventh month 13, 1899, to Charles F. and Martha F. Cloud, a son, who is named Chester M.

ROGERS.—At Lumberton, New Jersey, Twelfth month 8, 1899, to Walter J. and Gertrude E. Rogers, a son, who is named Joseph Evans.

MARRIAGES.

HIBBS—WOOLMAN.—In Philadelphia, Twelfth month 7, 1899, by Friends' ceremony, in the presence of the Mayor, Albert S. Hibbs, of Fallsington, and Susanna Woolman, daughter of William S. and Sarah J. Woolman, of Lower Makefield, all of Bucks county, Pa.

DEATHS.

HOGUE.—Elijah Hogue, son of the late Samuel and Mary (Holmes) Hogue, was born in Loudoun county, Va., Fifth month 16, 1823, and died after a short illness of pneumonia, Eleventh month 23, 1899, in the 77th year of his age.

After having resided many years in Belmont county, Ohio, he removed with his family in 1868 to Muscatine county, Iowa, locating near West Liberty, and later removed to the town. He was a birthright member in the Society of Friends. In the latter part of his life he was much interested in maintaining its organization. He was universally beloved by all who knew him, and his loss is deeply felt, not only in his home but in the community at large. * * *

LEWIS.—Sarah Lucretia Lewis, daughter of the late Thomas and Susanna Lewis, died at her home in Chariton, Iowa, Twelfth month 18, 1899.

The funeral took place on Fourth-day, 20th, when all that was mortal of the loyal friend and dutiful daughter was laid beside her father, mother, and other loved ones who had gone before. She was born in Willistown, Chester county, Pa., and went with the family to Chariton in 1873, where she has since resided. *

ISAAC MARTIN.

Departed this life, at his home in Marlboro-ville, Chester county, Pa., on the 12th of Eleventh month, 1899, Isaac Martin, in the 96th year of his age.

When the century was very young, he entered this life, and a little before its closing days he has passed from the places that have known him to, we believe, "the rest prepared for the righteous."

When a young man he passed through many difficulties in acquiring that knowledge which would qualify him for the vocation of teacher, which he followed for many years before the Public School system was established, after which he resolved his school into the broader field which this gave. After many years of earnest labor therein, he started a boarding school for girls, in which he was much interested, and which he continued to conduct until advancing years caused him to resign the responsibilities of the teacher and seek quieter duties. Liberal in his views, sympathetic in his nature, suffering humanity was ever an object of concern and labor.

From youth to old age his love for the Religious Society in which he had a birthright membership was evinced, and though a silent worker, his faithful attendance of the meetings, his quiet bearing, and his firm belief in the leadings of the Holy Spirit were marked characteristics of the man, and won for him the confidence, respect, and love of his neighbors and friends. When physical infirmities deprived him of ability for active service, he spent much time in penning the thoughts of his mind, often running into rhyme, and ever was there the glint and glisten through these of his trust and faith in our Heavenly Father's love and care; always apparent the bond of Father and child, that had been the charm of his long and beautiful life. How truthfully he could say, "I have been young and now I am old, yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging for bread."

A large company gathered in the old meeting-house, and stood around the last resting-place of the earthly part, while a rich autumnal glory shone upon the scene as a benediction upon the loving hearts and faithful hands that had smoothed the pathway through the infirmities of age with the cheer and comfort that only love can give. M. W.

Correspondence of Friends' Intelligencer.

FRIENDS' MEETING AT OXFORD, ENG.

THE meeting of Friends at Oxford has experienced many vicissitudes, including that of laying down the old-established meeting; and the revived one, now in existence, probably differs in many ways from the ancient one. Such an institution could not hope for much favor in this stronghold of ecclesiasticism, but I confess to have been surprised on being told by the leading Friend here that he had observed certain young clergymen of the Church of England, when obliged for any cause to talk with him, to turn aside and "expectorate" between sentences, because they were talking with a heretic!

An early meeting-house here stood on property required by "the church;" the site was therefore appropriated and a house was built for the Friends in another place. A second move was made for the same cause before the old meeting was laid down.

The present meeting-house stands in the poorer part of the city, called "Jericho," not, we may hope, because of any danger from the inhabitants to those who go there. The house does not in any way suggest the traditional meeting-house. It is a brick building, standing immediately on the street, and surmounted by a small belfry, from which a small but vigorous bell invites the neighborhood to attend at the proper season. The interior is of unplastered brick, and large mottoes of white letters on a dark blue field are on the walls. A round window, high above the gallery, suggests stained glass but stops short of that. The building was originally erected for a "Scotch" church, whatever that may be, and was purchased by the Friends when that church was given up. The texts on the walls, as well as the bell, are a legacy from the previous owners.

Only a very few of the members of the meeting are of the traditional sort. Its revival and activity are almost wholly due to the efforts of one devoted and earnest Friend, who is unsparing in its service both as to time and money. The members have mostly been drawn in by the various missionary activities connected with the meeting. Of these there are several. The most effective, as is usually the case here, is the adult school for men. This meets at nine o'clock on First-day morning, and the attendance perhaps averages a little under twenty. The exercises consist of singing, prayer, reading, and expounding of Scripture, to which are added various reports of other schools in this district. The adult school is a center of many activities. During the winter season lectures, concerts, socials and other forms of entertainment, are of almost weekly occurrence. Visits are made to other schools, and more or less systematic work is done in looking after strayed members or prospective ones. Saving of money is encouraged, and arrangement is made for keeping such funds as members may wish to lay away.

The First-day morning meeting is held after the traditional manner of Friends. Though singing is not forbidden it is not encouraged, and there is no order of exercises. One feature in which it differs from most of our meetings is in the great use made of the Bible by both ministers and listeners. Often the minister reads a chapter first, and makes his sermon a commentary on the same.

The evening meeting on First-day is distinguished as a "mission meeting," and is much more largely attended than the morning session. It may be regarded as a kind of preliminary training in Quaker ways, these being mixed with the ordinary forms of "dissenting" services. There is a distinct order of exercises, which, however, is not as rigid as to exclude a "free gospel ministry." Hymns are announced and the first verse read by the leader, the singing is accompanied by organ music, then reading, prayer, and preaching come at the appointed time. There are, however, considerable intervals of silence, and it is understood that all are free to take part as they may feel called.

In addition to these services there is an evening meeting on Fifth-day, and two First-day schools—morning and afternoon—are supported.

The theology of the Oxford meeting is strongly of the "orthodox" type; by which I mean that the language of religion is more largely restricted to the technical phraseology of orthodox tradition than in many other meetings either here or with us in the United States. There is little tendency to express the old truths in new ways. The spirit of the meeting is admirable, and thoroughly Christian. The welcome extended to new-comers is hearty, the hospitality unbounded, and the relations of the members to one another all that could be desired.

The activities of the meeting are not confined to Oxford. It takes an active interest in the Quaker propaganda elsewhere, and is at present conducting a series of weekly mission meetings at a small town a few miles away. These have an attendance of from thirty to forty, and show such interest that a permanent meeting is proposed there. * * *

NEWS OF FRIENDS.

A KIND correspondent sends us a report of Prairie Grove Quarterly Meeting, held at Marietta, Iowa, on the 2nd instant. As our readers are aware, we published a report of this, last week, sent by another friend. The letter now received, speaking of the meeting for worship on First-day morning, the 3d, says:

"It was to me a memorable occasion. Testimonies were offered by some not associated with us. I. L. ministered at some length, and was much favored; the truths uttered that welled up warm and fresh from his heart were an inspiration to the meeting, and doubtless all felt that it was good to be there. What a blessing is such a ministry to the hungry seeking soul! At the close a luncheon was served, which gave opportunity for social mingling. Kindly greetings were exchanged all over the house; everybody seemed kind and genial; I believe all felt better for this annual gathering,—for the quarterly meeting is only held here once in the year. So it was an occasion of social and spiritual refreshment.

"We earnestly desire that our dear friends Isaac Wilson and wife may not forget to visit us either on their way to California or on their homeward journey."

Marietta, Iowa.

At the Central Executive Meeting of Friends of Chicago, held 17th instant, we had the pleasure of having Isaac Wilson with us, who spoke most acceptably. Our little meeting had fully double our usual number present. First-day evening of the same date an appointed meeting was held in one of the churches of Oak Park, one of our suburbs, where Isaac addressed an assemblage of about one hundred persons.

C. J. E.

FROM ISAAC WILSON.—III.

Editors FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER:

SIXTH-DAY morning, 15th, found us well but with no special engagement other than some calls in the city (Chicago) on acquaintances, and completing arrangements during our stay here. First-day morning we went at an early hour to the place of meeting, and found a number of acquaintances whom we had not met for some years. At the meeting hour the cosy and comfortable room was well filled with a patient, waiting, then attentive, listening, and we believe an appreciative audience. At the close many social greetings were exchanged and we accompanied Dr. Sanger Brown (a cousin), to his home to spend very pleasantly a few hours, returning again to our Oak Park home before an evening meeting that was arranged for in the Unity Church there. We found a cordial welcome by the minister and members, and endorsement and appreciation were expressed both before and after the close. A feeling allusion was made by the minister to the enjoyment of the silent waiting that he felt would be profitable in all their services.

Second-day, 18th, was mild and the snow nearly gone. Escorted by our host, A. J. Flitcraft, we went into the city where we were met by our friend Edward A. Jenkins, in whose pleasant home we were privileged to spend a few hours, which we enjoyed very much, and being well acquainted with his wife's parents (T. Howard Atkinson and wife), in the east, this added in no small degree to our pleasure in this newly established home. The College relationships with our children, that all Swarthmoreans prize so highly, increased the stock of our mutual interests, and we could only regret that our stay was necessarily short. Bidding the young wife and mother farewell, Edward kindly escorted us through the rain and several changes of cars to the south side of the city, to visit a nephew of ours where we found a loving welcome, and remained until Third-day morning, when we returned to Oak Park. Certainly our Chicago friends deserve our sympathy, when we realize the great distances they are from each other, no two families living conveniently near, nor yet to their place of meeting.

We spent our time very pleasantly with our friends at the Flitcraft home until near noon on Fourth-day. We could but feel under great obligation to them for their hospitality and helpfulness during our sojourn here. And now Allen kindly accompanied us to the city (the nine mile ride we have taken each day), and we must say farewell. We were soon on the train for a ride of one hundred miles through some beautiful prairie country to Hoopeston, where our friends Mary G. Smith and Charles Lukens await us, and we are soon conveyed to the home of the latter and find ourselves, although uninvited guests, on the wedding occasion of their daughter Phebe, where a very pleasant company was gathered and the evening was much enjoyed.

Fifth-day morning was bright and clear, and we met at the meeting-house with a small but interesting company of Friends and others by whom the spoken word was well received. After dining at Milton and Mary G. Smith's, we made some social calls during the afternoon, and at 7.30 o'clock we met an interesting company in the Methodist church, that was willingly granted for an appointed meeting, where all church organizations were represented, and a feeling of satisfaction was expressed.

We cannot afford to omit mention of the exceptional condition of this beautiful town of about 4,000 people, without a licensed saloon or any known traffic in intoxicants. The mayor of the town is fearless and persistent in the enforcement of the law.

I. W.

Hoopeston, Ill., Twelfth month 22.

For Friends' Intelligencer.

DISOWNMENTS, SIXTY YEARS AGO.

I WAS told, the other day, in a social gathering, of the experience of a Friend in "disownment." She has been several years deceased; many in Philadelphia would recall her name with pleasure. She was a young girl at the time of the Separation of 1827, and her family adhered to our branch of the Society. Presently she married, and her husband was of the Orthodox body. They were both promptly disowned, he by his meeting for marrying her, and she by her meeting for marrying him! This would seem pretty conclusive, but she had not yet been dealt with by Orthodox Friends. As she had been born before 1827 they had carried her on their list of minor members, waiting until she should be "of age," and some years later, their overseers in a city at a little distance (whence she had come as a child) discovered her identity with one of the names they had, and forthwith sent her a testimony of disownment for her "Hicksism." So she had then been disowned twice, once by each body—by the "Hicksites" for marrying an "Orthodox," by the "Orthodox" for having been brought up a "Hicksite." It sounds now like a droll story, does it not? but it is quite true.

Later both she and her husband became members of the Society again, and so lived and died, useful and valued.

M.

Literature.

RECENT ISSUES OF VERSE.

LLOYD MIFFLIN, whose sonnets have more than once been copied into the pages of the INTELLIGENCER, is one of our chief masters in this field of verse. His third volume, "Echoes of Greek Idyls," has just appeared, and his readers find in it the same felicity of phrase and richness of melody as in his former works. Translations, or more properly echoes, as they are, of the pastorals of Bion and Moschus, and of the stately odes of Bacchylides, they have a fresh sweetness and power of their own. What tender lines are these!—

"Fair as a babe new-fallen into sleep,"—

"a little stream

Leaf-hid and timorous—some faint-hearted rill,"—

"merles and thrushes and the gentle dove."

Of the poetic line of Spenser and Keats, this Pennsylvania singer is handing on the old traditions of high and thoughtful verse, unmoved by the wandering muses that are having their little hour of popularity.

"We who love beauty cannot let thee die," he once wrote, addressing the spirit of Keats; and this devotion is of the essence of his poetic gift.

To the Sicilian poets we owe almost the earliest elegies in literature; their tearful and tender grace, their soft woe and iterated lamentation have been the pattern for all succeeding threnodies, from Spenser and Milton to Shelley and Arnold. In twenty-two sonnets Lloyd Mifflin has turned the two long elegies of Bion and Moschus into beautiful English metres, where shines what Charles Lamb has called "the purging sunlight of clear poetry."

The grave, sonorous, unfailing music of these "Echoes" show their author to be happily endowed as a translator, and his book will be welcomed by students of Greek idyllic verse. Some day we trust he may turn the as yet imperfectly-translated odes of Horace into adequate English poetry. At present we look forward to the book of some two hundred sonnets, descriptive of American pastoral life and scenery, upon which he is engaged. (Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co.)

Professor George Edward Woodberry, of Columbia College, is another poet who has held to noble ideals in an age that is prone to common-place. His is one of the few fine, imaginative voices of our time; both in his verse and in his prose he has ever spoken from the heights. For such voices the audience may not in these days be large, but "in a still time, when there shall be no chiding," as Milton said, "not in these noises," the listeners will surely increase in number.

His last book bears the romantic title "Wild Eden." Something of Shelley's idealism pervades his verses; he is enamored of the rainbow, the star, the cloud,—

"Lone Nature's inextinguishable pyre

Of transitory loveliness and bliss."

For him a glamour lies upon the earth, enchantment dwells for him about the ways of life; and of his old home by the northern main he sings with love and sympathy :—

"Once more do I inhale this glorious light,
Breathe the soft air and feel the flowering earth,
And on me comes the everlasting sea,
Purple horizons, emerald-hanging woods,
The rose bower, and love's blissful solitudes,
Where voices of eternity
Have wandered from my birth."

(New York : The Macmillan Company.)

Another academic poet who has made a name in verse and in criticism is Richard Burton, a professor in the University of Minnesota. There is a mingled terseness and delicacy in his poems which reminds one at times of Emerson. He has a happy facility in uttering truths like these :

"Heaven is but to-day Made lovely with to-morrow's face, for aye,"—
"All through their lives men build or dream them homes,
Longing for peace and quiet and household love ;
All through their lives—though offering hecatombs
To worldly pleasures and the shows thereof."

Professor Burton's new volume, "Lyrics of Brotherhood," marks him as one of the generous band of literary men who in America are giving spiritual expression to the finer socialism. One of the best of his choice lyrics is "The Modern Saint," from which we take these stanzas :

"Not hedged about by sacerdotal rule,
He walks a fellow of the scarred and weak.
Liberal and wise his gifts ; he goes to school
To justice ; and he turns the other cheek.
"He looks not holy ; simple is his belief ;
His creed for mystic visions do not scan ;
His face shows lines cut there by others' grief,
And in his eyes is love of brother-man.
"Not self nor self-salvation is his care ;
He yearns to make the world a sunnier clime
To live in ; and his mission everywhere
Is strangely like to Christ's in olden time."

So strong and virile a note of brotherhood seems to call up memories of Lowell and Whittier in their ardent prime.

(Boston : Small, Maynard & Co.)

JOHN RUSSELL HAYES.

It has been some time known that Prof. Geo. D. Herron, of Iowa College, has resigned his chair of "Applied Christianity" in that institution, on account of the opposition to his views, and the unwillingness of persons of means to aid with funds while he continued to teach there. The subject is treated of in an article in the Review of Reviews, which says, "it is now admitted that the colleges and universities are not in their natures well suited to be centers of agitation or propaganda, but rather that their sphere is disciplinary study, and calm, scientific research. The object of the schools of higher learning should not be so much to give the student a set of views as to supply him with intellectual tools and methods, so that he may in due time find his way to conclusions of his own."

For those who desire to be well informed on all current events and discussions of real importance, without the labor of reading many publications, we know of nothing so serviceable and convenient as the Literary Digest. The adjective in its title is a trifle misleading, for its contents refer not merely to literature but to public affairs, religion, science, the arts, etc. Its digesting of the world's periodical literature is very intelligently, and at the same time very fairly, done. We commend it heartily, as we have frequently done heretofore. (New York : Funk & Wagnalls Co. $3 a year.)

We have the "Philadelphia Record Almanac," for 1900, which is furnished free to subscribers. It has considerable useful statistical and other information,—besides many pages relating to horse-racing and other "sports."

We also have the "National Temperance Almanac" for 1900, published by the National Temperance Society and Publication House, New York City. It contains a vast amount of condensed information on the temperance subject. The price is only 10 cents.

S. S. McClure, founder and editor of McClure's Magazine, announces his purpose to enter upon a general book-publishing business. He is also planning a new monthly periodical to be called McClure's Review.

Dr. Weir Mitchell's "Autobiography of a Quack" ends in the current (First month) issue of the Century, but he begins another, in the number for Third month, entitled "Dr. North and His Friends," which one who has read the manuscript calls "an epitome of the science, culture, and common sense of the nineteenth century." It is a remarkable work, if it deserves that designation.

The Century's contents for First month include an article by Governor Roosevelt, a plea for the avoidance of horizontal social cleavages in American politics, and the cultivation of vertical cleavages instead. If the republic is to endure, he argues, we must divide on political questions, not by classes, but as individuals. The great work that is being done at Tuskegee Institute for the elevation of the negro race is set forth very convincingly by President Washington, who is laboring no less effectively for the good of the whites than for that of the colored population of the South. "Black Silas," a short story by Virginia Boyle, presents a contrast to his description of the present and forecast of the future of his people. The opening of the civil war, and the battle of Marston Moor, are John Morley's special themes in the current instalment of his "Cromwell." John M. Oskison's cowboy tale, "Only the Master Shall Praise," the prize story in the magazine's college competition of 1899, is remarkable not merely as the product of a young man in whose veins flows a liberal admixture of Indian blood.

The opening chapters of the "Autobiography of W. J. Stillman," which begin in the Atlantic Monthly, form an exceptionally interesting and frank statement of his boyhood. The sincerity of his tone makes the characters and incidents which he describes peculiarly real ; and it is a tribute to his native genius that this distinguished scholar, traveler, and man of letters should have grown up from a boyhood spent in so narrow and bleak an environment.

In the same issue, John J. Chapman voices his creed of political reform in a happy combination of paradox and satire entitled "Between Elections." The root of our political ills he finds in a mood of subservency. "Everybody in America," he says, "is soft and hates conflict." And he finds the chief hope for reform in the growth of a stronger individualism and a more robust honesty.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT FROM DOUKHOBORS.

The following letter has been recently received in Philadelphia.

NORTH COLONY OF THUNDERHILL,

December 3, 1899.

FROM the Christian Community of the Universal Brotherhood: Peace and blessing of God be with you, never-to-be-forgotten in our souls. Brothers and sisters in Christ of the Christian Community of Friends, and others.

We do not know all your names, but we pray our dear brothers Joseph S. Elkinton and William Evans to transmit our love and our best greetings to all our brothers altogether. We greet you with our fraternal kiss and embrace you from all our heart in our minds.

We are very sorry that we are not with you, but for the Spirit there are no barriers. We can live separately and in the spirit we will be united, and that is said from the both sides; there will be the Christian love and where is the Christian love there is God himself. For the love towards the brothers, there is no space too large; neither large countries nor oceans can separate the spirits of the brothers which have Christian love between themselves, for such love all is near enough and all is sufficient. The people who have Christian love do not care for their own needs, they have more care for their brothers, clothing, feeding and consoling them. We see such Christian love from you towards us in this so difficult (for us) time of persecution and emigration to a new country. You have made our brothers very happy and a few days ago we received from you clothing, flour, oats, soap, wool, and milk for our children, also beans, peas, sugar, tea, etc. We have divided all with the South Colony.

The North Colony received the third part of the goods you have sent. The goods we have already distributed to our brothers. We have received before many things from you, and all our brothers and sisters our children and old people thank you from all their heart—all you brothers and sisters. God bless you in this life and in the future,—that because you do not forget your suffering brothers our Lord will not forget you in the time you will need.

Your benefactions are not to the people only, but to the Lord himself, for who love his brother loves God, and who hates his brother hates God and his law, and persecutes the people who have faith in God, and torments them and keeps them in prison. But there are kind brothers too who do all their best to make their brothers free, to let them see their suffering families, and these brothers are assisting others in every need.

Write us, dear brothers, how you are, and how keeps your life in our Lord these days. We communicate you, that we are now pretty well, thank God. We do not lose the courage after our suffering. We hope always for the grace from God. We kiss you once more, dear brothers and sisters, with our fraternal kiss and send you best greetings. The brothers and sisters, of the Christian Community of the Universal Brotherhood.

Our address Swan River, Manitoba (Canada) Doukhobor Settlement, Voznesienia.

GRIGORI KANEEN, Sec'y of Community.

For Friends' Intelligencer.

THOUGHTS FOR THE TIME.

RIGHTEOUSNESS exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people. (Prov. xiv., 34.) This is an eternal truth, which is equally applicable to individuals as to nations; nothing but righteousness can truly exalt either. Wealth, power, dominion, may be in the possession of either, but if not accompanied by righteousness and justice they degrade, not exalt. The possession of power and wealth by an unrighteous nation or individual only increases their ability to do wrong, and to add to the suffering and distress of their fellow creatures or of other nations. "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn," is a saying peculiarly applicable to us, now, as a nation, and as individuals.

There are some axioms of Truth that all peoples of every nation profess to accept though they may be far from practicing them. To do justly and to love mercy are among these; yet with what argumentative skill and partisan juggling are these fundamentals of truth set aside and proved to be unsound and unpatriotic. The ancient philosophers who have clearly proved white to be black have many disciples in our time, not only among political partisans but also among those who profess to be ministers of the Prince of Peace. The spirit of dominion, like a flood, has seemed to overwhelm our people and drown the still, small voice of Truth and Justice and Mercy.

There can be no greater perversion of true religion than that we can prepare the way for the spread of the gospel of the meek and lowly Jesus by conquest and pillage and slaughter; yet there are professed followers and ministers of Jesus Christ who betray his religion by such teaching. And we, fellow members of our Society, are we faithful to the peaceable teaching and example of our primitive friends, who suffered so patiently and unresistingly the confiscation of goods and long and cruel imprisonments for Truth's sake.

I have heard some say, "Oh, out of all this seeming evil and war and slaughter God can bring good; it will all work right for the uplifting of those heathen lands. We must not oppose our Government." I would not deny that God can make all things work together for good; but I do deny that any man, or nation, can do wrong and reap anything but evil, and disaster, and degradation, therefrom. God's laws are immutable; as we sow so shall we reap; and this nation is now reaping an awful crop of death and demoralization from the seed of cruelty, of injustice, and lust of dominion we have sown. Are we clear of this great wrong—are our hands washed in innocency? I should not feel clear unless I had used my influence, and entered my earnest protest against it.

Wilmington, Del.

DAVID FERRIS.

A MONUMENT FOR FLUSHING.

Editors FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER:

JOHN FISKE, in his recently published work, "The Dutch and Quaker Colonies in America," makes mention of the persecution of Quakers by Stuyvesant, Director-General in New Netherland, in 1657. After detailing the case of Robert Hodshone, the historian proceeds as follows:

"This outrageous treatment of Hodshone was condemned by public sentiment. We do not know what was said, but we may infer its tone from what happened a fortnight later at Flushing. One Henry Townsend, an upright and respected citizen, had some Quaker meetings in his house. He was fined eight pounds Flemish, or else was to be flogged and banished. The town officers of Flushing doggedly refused to enforce the sentence, and they set their names to a magnificent protest, in which they say:

* The law of love, peace, and liberty extending in the State to Jews, Turks, and Egyptians, forms the true glory of Holland, so love, peace, and liberty extending to all in Christ Jesus condemn hatred, strife, and bondage. But inasmuch as the Saviour hath said it is impossible that scandal shall not come, but woe unto him by whom it cometh, we desire not to offend one of these little ones, under whatever form, name, or title he appear, whether Presbyterian, Independent, Baptist, or Quaker. . . Should any of these people come in love among us, therefore, we cannot in conscience lay violent hands on them. We shall give them free ingress and egress to our houses, as God shall persuade our consciences.' In so doing they said they were convinced that they were conforming to the law of God, to the spirit of their charter, and to the wishes of the States General.

"The names of thirty-one valiant men are signed to this document. I do not know whether Flushing has ever raised a fitting monument to their memory. If I could have my way, I would have the protest carved on a stately obelisk, with the name of Edward Hart, town clerk, and the thirty other Dutch and English names appended, and would have it set up where all might read it for the glory of the town that had such men as founders." * *

New York City.

For Friends' Intelligencer.

LINES FROM LOWELL.

POETRY, it must be confessed, has never done much for a wrong cause. The muses are unwilling to be harnessed to the car of Oppression. One of the noblest things about the great American group of poets of the middle period of the Nineteenth Century is that all of them sang in behalf of freedom and justice. Bryant, the oldest of them, was not wanting in emphasis, and the voices of all were in accord—Whittier, Longfellow, Emerson, Lowell, Holmes. They gave forth no uncertain sound. Lowell says, indeed—

"A poet cannot strive for despotism ;
His harp falls shattered ; for it still must be
The instinct of great spirits to be free,
And the sworn foes of cunning barbarism."

And Lowell so many times appeals earnestly and eloquently to us not to falter in time of trial, not to narrow our sympathies, not to let self-interest obscure duty. How fine are his "Stanzas on Freedom," and how suggestive the last two :

"Is true Freedom but to break
Fetters for our own dear sake,
And, with leathern hearts, forget
That we owe mankind a debt?
No ! true freedom is to share
All the chains our brothers wear,
And with heart and hand, to be
Earnest to make others free !

"They are slaves who fear to speak
For the fallen and the weak ;
They are slaves who will not choose
Hatred, suffering, and abuse,
Rather than in silence shrink
From the truth they needs must think ;
They are slaves who dare not be
In the right with two or three." * * *

THE USE OF A GOOD WORD.

A friend and reader, who speaks of his advanced years, and asks us to excuse his rheumatism, writes to say that he enjoys the "Good Word Each Week," placed at the head of our first page, and thinks it may often have a special value and influence.

To illustrate my meaning, I must tell a short, humble story, and tell it in the form and language of old time, using a coarse word and expressions that were in more common use sixty years ago. I am thankful for the improvement.

When I was a young man I was very fond of my gun, so much so that living on an isolated farm, I often took it in hand and strolled into my own woodland on the Sabbath day, and shot a bird now and then, without disturbing my church-going neighbors or injuring myself materially, so far as I then knew or realized. Now it so chanced that Dr. Joseph Bloodgood, an eminent and highly esteemed physician of Flushing, and an intimate friend at my house, was there on a call, and the conversation fell on a sad accident that had befallen the First-day before to a man who got accidentally shot. The Doctor was the attending physician. In the course of the conversation it transpired that the man hurt was a black man. The Doctor spoke of him as a "nigger." My wife looked up and asked, "It was then a nigger, was it?"

"Of course it was a nigger," said the Doctor ; "no man would go a-gunning on a Sunday but a nigger ! And any man who goes gunning on Sunday is nothing but a nigger, whether he is white or black !"

The discussion thus ended. That was the "good word" for that week, and it has lasted me until my old age, undiminished in force. I hope you will continue your good words each week, and let a shaft at random be sent that may find mark in some inward part, making an impression that may never be effaced.

As for me I did not look up in the Doctor's face ; a bright spot in the carpet attracted all the eyes I had then, and I spoke no word, but sat like a sphinx. I do not think the Doctor knew of my bad habit, but I did, well enough, and I have never taken a gun in my hand on Sunday since that timely random shot now sixty years ago. I shall offer no further comment, but ask any one who may chance to read this to think over some of its contents and it may profit them a little if they are so disposed.

HAMPTON DODGE.

At Haskell Institute, Kansas, is a little Indian girl, Nahme, a Comanche, seven years old. She came there from Fort Sill, Ind. Ter. Her story is romantic. She was a twin, and in consequence of an Indian superstition, was "thrown away and left to die. A white man passing some bushes, heard the cry of a new born babe. He knew that twins had been born in an Indian family, and realized what this cry meant. He asked another Indian woman to care for the child, providing the milk on which it was to be fed. Thus little Nahme was cared for until the death of this Indian woman, when she was sent to Fort Sill."

New buildings in New York city, for 1899, will cost about $150,000,000. Plans filed during the three months ending September 30, were for 2,298 new buildings, to cost 32½ millions of dollars.

A Bucks county, Pa., newspaper reports the capture in that county of a raccoon weighing forty pounds.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

THE Duke of Westminster, regarded as "the richest nobleman in England," and one of the most popular, died of pneumonia on the 22d instant, aged 74 years.

We print the above, and add a few words, for reasons which will appear. In June last, the "White Slave Congress," in London, attended by the writer and four other Friends, was patronized and aided by the Duke of Westminster, who was the honorary president of the National Protective Association, under whose auspices the Congress was called. He presided at the opening session, spoke, attended the later sessions, and on the evening of the second day invited all the foreign delegates to a reception at his great mansion, Grosvenor House, considered one of the finest private residences in London. The writer had a brief conversation with him on that occasion, and was favorably impressed by his cordial and simple manners. He was friendly to many philanthropic undertakings, and gave them no small part of his time.

His great wealth was derived from the growth of London in the present century over land in the "West End," in the Westminster quarter. He owned, it is said, a square mile of city real estate. His property in other parts of England was very extensive. Eaton Hall, in Cheshire, about three miles from Chester, one of the most splendid "show places" in England, was one of his "seats." It is quite near Hawarden (Harden) Castle, W. E. Gladstone's home, and the Duke was one of the latter's strong supporters, except on the Home Rule question.

The eldest son of the Duke died in 1884, and his son, Viscount Belgrave, a young man of twenty, who is with the British army in South Africa, succeeds his grandfather in the title. He is engaged to be married to a young lady, Miss Cornwallis-West, of Ruthin Castle, Wales, who is some four years his senior, and it is said he was sent to Africa in order to postpone the marriage.

Referring to a statement by a writer in the INTELLIGENCER (H. M. J.), that he saw no Indian corn growing in England, our friend Charles Thompson, of Westmoreland (in the north of England), writes that if the visitor had visited his home at Moreland, he could have shown him some, "growing luxuriantly." Writing personally, he says: "Thou missed another interesting chance in not accosting the Bishop of Hereford, even had it cost another hour on the return journey to Leominster. He,—Bishop Percival,—is a Westmoreland man, open-minded, and always accessible."

A SALOON-KEEPER in Leavenworth, Kan., is suing an insurance company for $200, for liquor destroyed in a fire. The claim is contested by the company on the ground that it does not have to pay for loss of goods which the laws of the State say it is unlawful to sell or to hold for sale.

A DISPATCH from Cincinnati reports "considerable shipments" of beer from that city to Manila. One saloon-keeper in Manila reports that "he has a consumptive demand of eight carloads a week," and "can find a market for a much larger regular consignment."

OLIVER WAYNE STEWART, of Illinois, has been elected chairman of the national committee of the Prohibition party. He was chairman of the Prohibition national convention of 1896. The national convention of 1900 is to meet in Chicago on the 27th of June.

GEN. OTIS has received word from Col. Wilder, under date of December 15, at Vigan, that Aguinaldo's wife died in a village near Bayombong, on account of the hardships of her flight over the mountains.

THE Supreme Court of Montana, in a unanimous opinion handed down at Helena, has disbarred John B. Wellcome, of Butte, attorney of W. A. Clark, from practice in Montana on the ground that he was guilty of corruption in paying to a member of the last Legislature a large sum of money to secure votes in the interest of the candidacy of Clark for United States Senator.

THE WIRELESS TELEGRAPHER.

GUGLIELMO MARCONI, who is popularly known as the inventor of a method of telegraphy which dispenses with wires between stations, is an Italian by birth, and partly so by parentage. His mother was an English woman; but his father was a native of Italy. His birthplace was Bologna, and he is about twenty-six years of age. Since 1898, however, he has been a resident of England.

Marconi had demonstrated the possibility of signalling without wires, by means of the Hertzian waves, before he left Italy; but not until he reached England did any one show much interest in him. For ten years or more Mr. Preece, then at the head of the telegraphic department of the British Postal Service, had been working away at the problem of wireless telegraphy, but he had employed a somewhat different principle from that of the young Italian, and secured less remarkable results. But with beautiful generosity he promptly recognized the superior merit of Marconi's plan, and gave him material aid in developing the new system. Experiments were made, both out in an open plain, as at Salisbury, and inside a city district filled with great buildings. The penetrating power of the form of vibrations used by the Italian was proved beyond a doubt before the close of 1897.

Three incidents of much significance occurred in 1898. Regular service was established between Alum Bay, on the Isle of Wight, and the main land at Bournemouth, a distance of eighteen miles. Lord Kelvin, who has made many interesting investigations into electrical phenomena, and who devised the "siphon recorder," an instrument that was used in first submarine cable work, sent a message over the Bournemouth-Alum Bay route last year, and formally paid for it, to emphasize the commercial character of the transaction.

After the Prince of Wales had sufficiently recovered from the injury to his knee last summer to embark on his yacht, it remained in the vicinity of the Isle of Wight, on which Osborne House, one of the Queen's residences, is situated. Most of the time for sixteen days the yacht lay in Cowes Bay, about two miles from Osborne House. During that period frequent reports were sent to the Queen, on the condition of the Prince. Once in a while the yacht would put out to sea, but communication was maintained, nevertheless, often at a distance of seven or eight miles. During this period 150 messages were sent by the Marconi apparatus, and no hitch of any kind occurred.

Regular service between the South Foreland station on land and the East Goodwin Sands Lightship was established on Christmas Eve, 1898. The interval spanned here is only about seven miles.

Two more advances were made after the new year came in. The first messages across the English Channel were sent last March. The distance between the South Foreland and Boulogne is variously put at twenty-eight and thirty-two miles. Early in the summer a series of tests were made with warships. The French naval vessel Vienne communicated with both France and England when at a distance of forty-two miles from the former and twelve or fourteen from the latter.

In the autumn of 1899, Marconi came to the United States, and successfully experimented here. A company with a large capital has been organized to operate his system.

MISTAKEN METHODS.

Youth's Companion.

THE following incident actually occurred in one of our large cities. A half-dozen young girls belonging to influential families resolved to try to uplift some of the poor boys and girls in the city where they lived. They hired a small house and fitted up a small gymnasium. In it there were also bath-rooms, a reading-room and a parlor, in which were a piano, a few pictures, and games likely to amuse the young people and keep them in from the streets at night.

In a few weeks the "Hall of Delights" was occupied by a goodly number of boys and girls, who were at first shy, but soon became noisy and almost uncontrollable.

The founders of the club were very zealous. Their theory was that their pupils must be elevated solely by example and refining influences, and they were firm in insisting that they should not be frightened by any direct religious teaching.

Music and dancing were among the attractions, and questionable, over-grown, bad-mannered young roughs were admitted to the chorus, or quadrille, on the sole condition that they should come with clean faces and hands.

One evening a gaunt, decent-looking Scotch-woman entered the room where the founders were seated and stood scanning them keenly.

"You're young," she said. "That's what's the matter."

"Who are you, my good woman?" the attending young woman asked, civilly.

"I am Meg Lewis's mother."

"I did not know she had a mother."

"You ought to have known. God gave my child to me to train, not to you. If you wanted to interfere, you should have consulted me first. When ye think people that are poor must be vicious, ye make a mistake. Meg was a quiet, decent girlie. You brought her here, where she has learned to dance. I've no prejudice again dancin' at proper times. But you allowed her to have for her partners some of the coarse young roughs on the street. They've took her to dance halls. She came home to me last night flushed with drink. My girlie drunk! You've got bad young roughs in here. It's not pool nor newspapers that'll turn them into decent workingmen. You're too young, I tell you. You wait till ye've some experience of God's ways before you take to fumbling with human souls."

O WHAT thankfulness and praise are we bound to render Thee, who hast thus condescended to open for every faithful soul, a good and sure way to Thy eternal Kingdom!—[Thomas a Kempis.]

A POTATO DAY.

MAN'S real wants are few and easily supplied. But pride, vanity, gluttony, and luxury make slaves of men and women. A large portion of the diseases of men come from gluttonous and unhealthful eating. Men cannot control their appetites, they will eat as they please, health or no health. Their appetites are not under the control of conscience, judgment, or common sense.

"Temperance" in the Bible signifies self-control. "Every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things." I Cor. ix. 25. A man who has control of his own appetites and passions can practice economy, deny self, cut his coat according to his cloth, and make his expenses fall within his means.

"A friend of Agassiz and a fellow-member of the Harvard faculty relates a story which the famous ornithologist was fond of telling about his visit to the great German naturalist, Lorenz Oken, upon whom he once dropped in quite unexpectedly. The professor received his guest with warm enthusiasm, but apparent embarrassment. He showed his visitor to the laboratory and the students at work, also to his cabinet, and, lastly, his splendid library of books pertaining to zoölogical science, a collection worth some $7,000 and well deserving the glow of pride which the owner manifested as he expatiated on its excellence. The dinner hour came, and then the embarrassment of the great German reached its maximum point. 'Monsieur Agassiz,' he said, with perturbation, 'to gather and keep up this library extracts the utmost husbandry of my pecuniary means. To accomplish this I allow myself no luxury whatever. Thrice a week our table boasts of meat; the other days we have only potatoes and salt. I very much regret that your visit has occurred on a potato day.'"

We think a potato day is not so bad a day after all; and a man who makes his dinner of potatoes will not have to call the doctor at night to cure him of indigestion or apoplexy.—[Exchange.]

"SABBATH" AND FIRST-DAY IN JERUSALEM.

Edwin Sherman Wallace, in New York Observer.

IN places where Christianity is the dominant faith, one might, with some propriety, speak of the first day of the week as "the Sabbath." But this would not do in Jerusalem, where Sunday is far from being Sabbath. Even native Christians would not understand that Sunday was referred to if Sabbath were the word used.

The seventh day is the Sabbath here, and by two-thirds of the population is kept with a strictness that would satisfy the most rigid Sabbatarians. Indeed, it is the only day of the week on which the Holy City exhibits any outward signs of being at rest. At most there are not more than 9,000 Christians living in the city where Christ instituted his church. Let these keep "the Lord's day" in the strictest manner possible, which, unfortunately, is the very opposite from the way the vast majority of the native Christians do keep it, and the effect upon the life of the place will hardly be noticeable.

Friday, the Sabbath of the Moslems, has little about it to differentiate it from any other day. The majority of the prophet's followers treat it in much the same way as the native Christians honor their day. Work, except in government departments, goes on just the same as on any other day of the week. The more devout will cease labor an hour or two at noon and repair to the haram to say the mid-day prayer. Friday is market day, and Moslem villagers come in carrying the products which they wish to dispose of, or driving a laden donkey before them. On the arrival of the prayer hour, business is suspended for a time, and, their devotions made, they return to drive their petty bargains and to lie and profane with as great an ease as ever.

Saturday gives evidence of being a day set apart. The Jews, constituting more than two-thirds of the population, keep the Sabbath scrupulously, avoiding every appearance of labor, dressing in holiday attire, and being strict in their attendance upon synagogue services. This day shows how much the Jew has to do with the real life of the city. On Friday and Sunday it seems as if every shop were open for business just as on other days. The streets are full of men, women, and children, each in the pursuit of his or her calling or pleasure. On Friday evening before sundown the streets are deserted, stores are closed, and hardly a Jew is seen. The preparation of the Sabbath is on and the pious must be ready for the real Sabbath when it begins. On Saturday business goes on in the few Christian and Mohammedan shops, whose proprietors have survived the competition of the sons of Jacob, but the amount of business done is very small. On this day even the Fellaheen women do not risk the market with their little stock of fresh vegetables, dried fruits, chickens, and eggs. The Jaffa road, in the daytime usually thronged near the gate that gives it its name, is quiet and almost deserted.

In the city proper there is freedom of movement not enjoyed on any other day. The Jew is at home or in his accustomed place of worship. Toward evening on his Sabbath, Jacob, his wife and children, come out for a little airing. You can see him with his love locks neatly curled, his long robes flowing about his feet, his fur-lined cap marking him as peculiar, and his whole bearing that of a person well satisfied with himself. His wife is clad in a dress of striking color, her head covered with a shawl whose brilliancy is not surpassed by anything in nature. The Hebrew Sabbath never was a day of gloom and austerity. It is not now. Primarily it was a day of rest from all labor, and secondarily a day of real enjoyment of the good things which God had given. Accordingly, in the morning, the strict Jew attends to his duties at the synagogue. This done he enjoys God's blessings of providence, "eats the fat and drinks the sweet." His friends and neighbors drop in to enjoy his companionship and hospitality, or he visits them and enjoys theirs. There is nothing in the Mosaic law or in the rabbinic additions to it that forbids his walking for pleasure within certain limits. Thus the day passes for him, religiously, socially, and physically, and when the new week dawns, he is ready for its labors and cares.

The day on which the Hebrew begins his work is the one on which the Christian is supposed to take his Sabbath rest. He may do this as strictly as his Jewish fellow-townsmen, but his numbers are too few to produce anything like the same effect. On Sunday, the old street cries that have been hushed for a day break out again. All shops seem to be open, carriages are coming and going as usual along the Jaffa road. Fellaheen women are trudging in with their head-loads of anything which they may have to sell. "The stranger within the gates" would never know by anything he sees that it is the Sabbath of the Christians. His ears will tell him, however, for he is not likely to mistake the meaning of the incessant bells ringing out their messages from belfries within and without the walls. These bells are an abomination to the Moslems, who would hush their brazen tongues if they could. The followers of the Arab prophet believe in nothing of the sort. Nor can one blame them much, for the bells are not of the sweet-toned variety, and are rung in most instances as if the object of the ringer were to make as much noise as possible. The best and worst thing to be said about these ringers is, that if this is their object they are wonderfully successful in attaining it. They produce an annoying noise, and, however much one may desire a peace Sunday, he cannot have a quiet one.

"One Man Ministry."

ANOTHER rather interesting phase of the "pastoral" troubles disclosed by the discussions in the denominational journals is that congregations tire of hearing the same one preacher. The Evangelist (New York, Presbyterian), says that common-sense and the new conditions of the age are against such a system, and that a change is impending. "Restlessness," it remarks, "is the most marked characteristic of the people of to-day. They cannot be satisfied with one thing at a time." The present plan, it says, breaks down the ministers. "It imposes burdens on them that save in exceptional cases must soon wear them out in mind or body, if not in both. The number of clerical break-downs, with all the damage involved to the interests of congregations, and of suffering to the families of ministers, is continually increasing."

The change proposed by the Evangelist is to form, in cities where there are several churches of its denomination, a union or partnership of them all, so that the pastors might go about from one to another.

The Lash in the Wrong Place.

CHICAGO is now enjoying what it calls a "cyclone of crime." Robberies of all kinds are so common that the eminent authority of William Pinkerton is invoked in favor of the lash for footpads; he even suggests the death penalty for burglary.

This suggestion is indorsed by the heads of the Police Departments of Omaha, Indianapolis, Kansas City, and St. Louis, from which it would appear that Chicago is not alone in its distinction of enjoying a cyclone of crime.

While the conditions thus indicated are unpleasant, they do not necessarily call for a reversion to barbarism and physical cruelty. The government of every one of these cities is securely lodged in the hands of its citizens. They have it in their power by their votes to secure an honest and efficient administration of local affairs under which cyclones of crime would be impossible. If they neglect their duty and allow the control of their affairs to drift into the hands of incompetent and dishonest and even criminal officials, the resort to the barbarism of the lash will only make things worse, not better.—[New York World.]

Getting Liquor into Maine.

THERE is much complaint of the import of liquor into Maine, from other States, in spite of the prohibitory law, under what are known as "Federal permits." A dispatch from Portland says:

"A drummer for a Massachusetts liquor company is, at this writing, engaged in an active canvass of this city, visiting stores, offices, and private residences and soliciting orders. He agrees that all packages will be delivered by Prince's express for a price not to exceed twenty-five cents per package, or case, for transportation.

"The firm that he represents, doing business in another State, under the protection of a 'federal permit,' cannot, of course, be made amenable to Maine law; and any attempt to punish the drummer for soliciting orders would doubtless be regarded by the courts as a restriction on interstate commerce.

"According to a recent decision of one of the Maine courts, liquors cannot be legally seized until actually delivered to the consignee and as, in cases of this kind, the liquor is private property, it cannot be taken after delivery.

"Another plan of the Boston liquor dealers, with the coöperation of the transportation companies, is to bill liquors sold to illicit dealers in Maine to some point in New Hampshire. The liquors are then taken to Maine, and if the officers are likely to prove troublesome, the cars are kept sealed until night, when it is delivered by the agent, or one of his assistants."

Newspaper Publicity.

IN the Saturday Evening Post Hamilton W. Mabie protests earnestly against publicity of private people's affairs. He says:

"No form of oppression is more undemocratic and detestable than newspaper inquisition into private affairs. The persistent determination of the sensational journals to tear away all the safeguards of domestic privacy is the most vulgar tyranny to which society has yet fallen a victim. Good men are as much oppressed by it as men of evil ways; the more useful a man to his kind, if his service takes on a striking form, the keener the chase to discover and spread before the public the little details of his daily life. Nothing is sacred to those sensation-hunters; no experience is intimate enough to be private in their eyes. There must have been times in recent months which made Admiral Dewey regret that he won the battle of Manila. Reputation is of doubtful value when it involves a perpetual struggle to preserve the right to pull one's shades down. If matters are not mended we shall need a popular arising for the protection of the elemental right: the right of privacy."

Dr. Parkhurst Emphatic.

DR. CHARLES H. PARKHURST, of New York, does not propose to be classed with those "ministers of the gospel" who encourage war. In his sermon on the 24th, in Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, he said:

"I am going to say to you without any 'buts' or 'where-soevers' that to promote civilization by the use of swords and artillery is false to the word, example, and life of Jesus Christ. You may claim that the powder and shot method of extending civilization is more feasible,—works with greater promptness. A Krupp gun does quick execution; a missionary and a Bible are slow. I do not dispute that. I am not here to claim that Christianity is on the whole feasible. Thousands of ministers have practically been confessing to the world these last twelve months that Christ's way of saving the world will not work and that when Paul said that the weapons of our warfare are not carnal he stated a principle that he would have recanted if he had lived longer and known more. Perhaps they are right; at least I am not here to say they are not right.

"I have dropped all questions of gold and diamonds and commercial perquisites, of which I know little, and have stated to you the mind of Jesus Christ, of which I do know something.

"Now you can ignore that mind and promote civilization by killing—which may be the best way—or you can adopt that mind and promote civilization by making alive, which is the only Gospel way."

The Spanish Losses in Cuba.

ACCORDING to the Spanish journal El Imparcial the following are the statistics of the deaths of Spanish soldiers in Cuba:

Killed in battle,	2,355
Died afterwards from wounds,	1,391
Died of yellow fever,	20,629
Died from other causes, and especially from hunger,	30,120
Missing,	74

Total, 54,569

CURRENT EVENTS.

THERE has been no movement on either side in South Africa for a week, up to this writing (26th), so far as reports have reached this country. Gen. Gatacre, commander of the English column repulsed at Stormberg, has issued an order "concentrating" the male inhabitants of districts within twelve miles of English military camps. It is denounced in this country by some newspapers as resembling Gen. Weyler's "reconcentrado" system in Cuba. The Boer army facing Gen. Buller, south of Ladysmith, appears to have crossed the Tugela river, and to hold the south side. It was Buller's attempt to cross this northward, on the 15th instant, which occasioned the severe battle there. The Dutch inhabitants of the English colonies, the Cape Colony, Natal, etc., reports say, are growing more "disaffected." A London dispatch says horse sickness, glanders, has appeared among the army horses, and that four hundred British cavalry horses have been shot.

TROOPS continue to be sent from England to South Africa, and new organizations are forming. It appears probable that men have joined the Boers from Europe, and also from this country, by landing unarmed at the Portuguese Delagoa Bay, on the west coast of Africa, from which there is a railroad to the Transvaal. Supplies of food have also been received that way. One or more American vessels loaded with flour, intending to unload at Delagoa Bay, were prevented doing so by English war-ships, and the U. S. Government has protested against this. The London Morning News, the military organ, disapproves of any effort to make foodstuffs "contraband of war," saying this would be "madness" in view of England's dependence on other countries for food.

DWIGHT L. MOODY, the distinguished "evangelist," died at his home at East Northfield, Mass., on the 22nd instant. He had been sinking for some days, having been ill since the 17th of last month, when he broke down after preaching at Kansas City, Mo., on the previous evening, to an audience of 15,000 people. He was born at the place where he died, Second month 5, 1837, and was reared a Unitarian, but became later a Congregationalist and a minister. He had a church in Chicago, which was burned in the great fire of 1871. In 1874 he began his series of tours with Ira D. Sankey, whose remarkable singing did so much for the combination.

DISPATCHES from London persist in the assertion that Queen Victoria is greatly distressed by the South African war. One sent on the 24th says she "is more gravely affected than it is thought discreet that the public here should know." It adds that when Lord Wolseley, commander-in-chief of the army, spoke to her at Windsor Castle, of war being a necessity as discipline for a nation, the Queen rebuked him in the presence of her ladies, saying: "War is only justifiable to establish peace and for no other end."

A SAD marine disaster occurred on the 24th instant. The British steamship Ariosto went ashore six miles north of Cape Hatteras, and twenty-one of the crew were drowned. They left the ship in a small boat, which could not "live" in the furious sea. The captain and eight seamen remained on board, and were rescued by the United States Life-Saving men. A Norfolk dispatch, 24th, says "the thickest fogs in years have been prevailing along the Virginia and North Carolina coasts for several days and nights past, and several vessels have narrowly escaped destruction."

At Amalfi, on the Gulf of Salerno, Italy, on the 22nd instant, a great mass of rock slipped into the sea, carrying down a hotel, and causing great destruction of property, and serious loss of life. Twelve persons, the latest reports say, were killed. It was at first thought that many more had been.

THE dispatch of United States troops to the Philippine Islands appears to be about completed. The last additional regiment sailed from San Francisco a few days ago. Comparatively little news has recently been sent from the islands. Aguinaldo remains uncaptured, but a recent dispatch says his wife has died. It seems not to be expected that the troops can be brought away, and the extent of the disaffection remaining among the people is uncertain.

A FRIGHTFUL coal-mine explosion of gas occurred at Braznell, near Brownsville, Pa., on the 23d instant. It is said to have been caused by the men's carrying a naked lamp. Fifteen dead bodies had been taken out on the 25th, and it was uncertain whether there were more.

THE anti-trust organization formed in Chicago in September last has called a national conference to meet in that city on Abraham Lincoln's birth-day, the 12th of Second month.

CAPTAIN JOSHUA SLOCUM, in his fascinating record (now running in the Century magazine) of his voyage around the world single-handed in the little sloop Spray, makes this mention of the island of Juan Fernandez—Robinson Crusoe's island: "The people lived without the use of rum or beer of any sort. There was not a police officer or a lawyer among them. The people were all healthy, and the children were all beautiful."

NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS.

THE Duke of Marlborough proposes to equip a force of 150 men and lead them against the Dutch farmers of South Africa. The New York World remarks that the money to pay the expense comes from his wife's fortune, and through her from old Cornelius Vanderbilt (Van der Bilt) of the Dutch stock who settled Manhattan.

—At Quincy, Ill., in a Catholic parochial school-house, on the 22d inst., eleven little girls were burned to death, their clothing having caught fire while they were "rehearsing" for a Christmas entertainment. They were in fancy dress, some of them "covered with cotton-batting to represent sheep."

—At an anti-imperialist meeting in Minneapolis, on the 12th inst., Lieutenant Martin E. Tew, recently an officer of volunteers in the Philippine Islands, spoke from personal observation of the good character of the Filipino people, and of their desire for independence. He emphatically contradicted the assertions that they were incapable of self-government or divided among themselves, or that they "never thought of independence until Manila fell."

—Negotiations have begun for the installation of wireless telegraphy in connection with the steamer lines plying daily and nightly between Chicago and Milwaukee.

—The War Department has made public a statement showing the progress of relief work in Porto Rico between September 25 and November 30. The population of the island is estimated at 918,926. The average daily number of indigent was 221,087 persons; average weekly sick, 17,372; and the average weekly deaths, 632 persons.

—A severe earthquake was felt at 4.25 o'clock a. m., on the 25th inst., over a large part of Southern California. At San Jacinto and Hemet much damage was done to buildings, several large ones, including the tourist hotel at Hemet, being wrecked. The damage at Hemet is estimated at $50,000, and at San Jacinto at about the same figure. At Los Angeles little damage was done.

—It is authoritatively stated at Berlin that Germany does not contemplate the purchase of the Danish West Indies.

—A general treaty of trade, navigation, and immigration between Mexico and China was signed in Washington on the 25th instant.

NOTICES.

* * The visiting committee of Baltimore Yearly Meeting have arranged for the following meetings during First month, 1900:

- 7. West Nottingham, Pa.
- 14. Fawn Grove, Pa.
- 21. Fallston, Md.
- 28. Little Britain, Pa.

TWELFTH MONTH:

- 31. Woodlawn.

JOHN J. CORNELL, Chairman.

* * The First-day evening meeting (Philadelphia), to-morrow, will be at 35th street and Lancaster Avenue, at 7.30 o'clock. All are invited.

Next month these meetings will be at 17th street and Girard Avenue.

* * Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches will attend meetings as follows:

FIRST MONTH, 1900:

- 14. Frankford, 10.30 a. m.
- 28. West Philadelphia, 11 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

* * Friends' Visiting Committee of Salem Quarterly Meeting have made the following appointments:

TWELFTH MONTH:

- 31. Mickleton, 10 a. m.

FIRST MONTH, 1900:

- 21. Woodbury, 10 a. m.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Imparts that peculiar lightness, sweetness, and flavor noticed in the finest cake, short cake, biscuit, rolls, crusts, etc., which expert pastry cooks declare is unobtainable by the use of any other leavening agent.

Made from pure, grape cream of tartar.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

ATMORE'S

MINCE MEAT

Juicy,
Delicious, Appetizing.
Good, pure and wholesome. Always

the same. Ask for it. Try

ATMORE'S
Genuine English
Plum Pudding.

The British Friend.

The MONTHLY JOURNAL of the Society of Friends in the United Kingdom. Edited by WILLIAM EDWARD TURNER and EDWARD GRUBB, M. A.

The principal organ of liberal Quakerism in Great Britain.

Subscriptions due First month, 1900: Price, 6 shillings, 6 pence, post free, to all parts of the world.

Address WM. EDWARD TURNER, Colwyn Bay, North Wales, with remittance.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,
Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St. (4th door bel. Chestnut St.)
PHILADELPHIA.

BRASS and ENAMELED BEDSTEADS

There is a right way and a cheap way to make Mattresses; perhaps you have found it out. We do it the right way; try us. Furniture reupholstered. Shades, etc.

Josiah G. Williams, 13 N. 11th St

Friends' Book Association, OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,
Kindergarten, School Supplies.
Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

THE new earthquake-resisting, steel-framed palace for the crown prince of Japan is now being designed, says the Scientific American, and the foundations are being laid, with the view of obtaining the structural steel in February. The palace itself will be built of granite and marble around the steel skeleton. It will be 270 by 400 feet and the height will be 60 feet, and will be built in the French Renaissance style. A Chicago engineer has been called upon to design an elaborate heating and ventilating plant. An American ice manufacturing and electric light system will also be added. It is thought that steel construction will revolutionize the building industry in Japan. The new palace will rest on 400 deeply-anchored steel columns embedded in concrete piers. The Carnegie company will furnish the steel.

DR. FREDERICK D'EVELYN, of San Francisco, has for months past been making experiments with a view of learning the effect of alcohol upon vegetable life. He finds that it causes a change in the cell structure. Alcohol has a wonderful affinity for water, as everybody knows, and it is the power of alcohol to dehydrate, or take the water out of the plant or animal cells, that makes it so destructive. Its continued use by a human being, he claims, dehydrates the blood to such an extent that the corpuscles do not furnish sufficient nourishment to the nerve system, and it is the craving of the nerves for food which creates the appetite for stimulants.

In an address before the railroad branch of the Y. M. C. A., of New York city, Chauncey M. Depew said: "Twenty years ago, when there were about 15,000 men in the New York Central service, the average proportion of men discharged for drunkenness within a certain period was at least 20 per cent. Now, with 30,000 men employed by the company, not one per cent. is dropped from the service for that cause."

THE following temperance pledge is exacted by President Raymond, of Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., from every student beneficiary:

"On consideration of receiving aid from the college in the form of a scholarship, covering all or part of the charge for tuition, I hereby promise that while I hold such a scholarship I will not visit a saloon nor indulge in the use of intoxicating liquors."

Cameras! Cameras! Camaras!

Special Bargains in Kodaks.
Call and see them.

THOS. H. McCOLLIN CO.,

DEVELOPING, } 123 S. 11th St., Philad'a.
PRINTING, } At Short Notice.
MOUNTING, }

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDR STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

YOU REMEMBER ME.

I Was Hungry
for my Wheatlet

But it was so good when I got it

That I guess you know that it satisfied me when you look at this picture.

This is what all children say and all men and women too who use

WHEATLET

It is most satisfactory of all Breakfast Foods because most nourishing, and most palatable because it has all of the rich, nutty flavor of the wheat.

Oats is the natural food for horses; Wheat is the natural food for man.

Wheat contains everything needed for the nourishment of Babies, of Children and of Men and Women.

Wheatlet contains all of the nourishing portions of the wheat.

Sold by Grocers. Write for Free Booklet.
THE FRANKLIN MILLS CO., LOCKPORT, N. Y.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

Educational.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,

FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

OAK GROVE SEMINARY AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.

A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends.
Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.

For Catalogue address,
PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, Maine

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.

Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMASTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE

CHEAPEST AND BEST.

One small box will make one pint Best Liquid Bluing.
Depot 233 N. Second St., Philad'a.

Hanscom's. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?

No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to. 1311 Market St., Phila.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,
Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St., (4th door bel. Chestnut St.),
PHILADELPHIA.

YEO & LUKENS,
STATIONERY • BLANK BOOKS • PRINTING

23 North 13th Street (above Market)
613 Walnut Street.

Law and Conveyancing
BLANKS.

PHILADELPHIA.

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE FELLOWSHIPS AND SCHOLARSHIPS.

FELLOWSHIPS

THE JOSHUA LIPPINCOTT FELLOWSHIP, founded by Howard W. Lippincott, A. B., of the Class of 1875, in memory of his father, consists of a fund yielding an income of $450 per year, which is granted annually by the Faculty, with the concurrence of the Instruction Committee, to a graduate of the College to enable him to pursue advanced study under the direction or with the approval of the Faculty.

THE LUCRETIA MOTT FELLOWSHIP, founded by the Somerville Literary Society and sustained by the contributions of its members, yields an annual income of $525, and is awarded each year by a Committee of the Faculty selected by the Society, to a young woman graduate of that year, for the purpose of pursuing advanced study at some other institution approved by this Committee.

SCHOLARSHIPS

1. THE WESTBURY QUARTERLY MEETING,
N. Y., SCHOLARSHIP pays all charges for board and tuition. It is awarded annually by a Committee of the Quarterly Meeting.

2. THE REBECCA M. ATKINSON SCHOLAR-SHIP AND THE BARCLAY G. ATKINSON SCHOLAR-SHIP each pay all charges for board and tuition. They are awarded annually by the Board of Managers of the College.

3. There are nine other similar Scholarships owned by individuals, each entitling the holder to board and tuition at the College. These are awarded by the owners.

4. I. V. WILLIAMSON SCHOLARSHIPS FOR PREPARATORY SCHOOLS:

For the year 1899-1900 fifteen honor scholarships of the value of $150 each for students resident within the College, and $75 each for non-resident students (i. e. attending the College, but not boarding thereat), will be offered to members of the graduating classes of 1899 of the following-named schools upon the conditions mentioned below:

- 2 to Friends' Central School, . . . Philadelphia, Pa.
- 1 to Friends' Seminary, New York, N. Y.
- 1 to Friends' High School, Baltimore, Md.
- 1 to Friends' School, Wilmington, Del.
- 1 to Friends' High School, Moorestown, N. J.
- 1 to Friends' Academy, Locust Valley, N. Y.
- 1 to Friends' Select School, Washington, D. C.
- 1 to Abington Friends' School, Jenkintown, Pa.
- 2 to George School, George School, Pa.
- 1 to Chappaqua Mountain Institute, Chappaqua, N. Y.
- 1 to Swarthmore Preparatory Sch'l, Swarthmore, Pa.
- 1 to Swarthmore Public High Sch'l, Swarthmore, Pa.
- 1 to Martin Academy, Kennett Sq'r., Pa.

These scholarships will be awarded upon competitive examination under the direction of the College Faculty. None will be awarded to applicants who fail to be admitted without condition to the Freshman Class, and every holder of such scholarship must pursue in College the studies of one of the regular courses.

5. For the year 1899-1900 three honor scholarships are offered for work in the College as follows:

THE DEBORAH FISHER WHARTON SCHOLAR-SHIP: To that member of the Junior Class of 1898-99 who, on promotion without condition to the Senior Class, shall have passed the best examinations on the regular work of the year.
$200, if resident; $100, if non-resident.

THE SAMUEL J. UNDERHILL SCHOLARSHIP:
To that member of the Sophomore Class of 1898-99 who, on promotion without condition to the Junior Class, shall have passed the best examinations on the regular work of the year.
$200, if resident; $100, if non-resident.

THE ANSON LAPHAM SCHOLARSHIP: To that member of the Freshman Class of 1898-99 who, on promotion without condition to the Sophomore Class, shall have passed the best examinations on the regular work of the year.
$200, if resident; $100, if non-resident.

If, in any year, any of the Scholarships under 4 and 5 are not awarded, the funds thus released will be applied to increase the number of Scholarships available under the following:

6. For the benefit of students needing pecuniary aid, whose previous work has demonstrated their earnestness and their ability, the following are offered. They will be awarded at the discretion of the Committee on Trusts, Endowments, and Scholarships. About one-fourth of them will be available for new students for the year 1899-1900. Application for these should be made to the President.

THE SAMUEL WILLETS SCHOLARSHIPS:
Sixteen scholarships of $150 and ten scholarships of $100 per year.

THE ISAAC STEPHENS SCHOLARSHIPS: Four scholarships of $50 per year.

THE MARY WOOD SCHOLARSHIPS: Two scholarships of $50 per year.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,
(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

LOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,
Jenkintown, Pa.
Or
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES are NON-FORFEITABLE and INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST,

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD TRUST CO.

LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND CAPITAL, $1,000,000
SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS,
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWBOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, JR.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN B. GARRETT,
Pemberton S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

CLUB RATES: OTHER PERIODICALS, 1899.

We announce our Club Rates for other Periodicals for 1899. Read the figures given, and also read the notes below.

We will send FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER one year, with any of the periodicals named below, for the amount stated "for both."

WEEKLIES.

Periodicals.	Price for both.
Harper's Weekly, ($4),	$5.30
Union Signal, ($1),	2.90
Scientific American, ($3),	4.60
Harper's Bazar, ($4),	5.30
Journal of Education, ($2.50),	4.10
The Living Age, ($6),	7.60
Literary Digest, ($3), New names only ,	4.60
Springfield Republican, ($1),	2.90

MONTHLIES.

British Friend, (6s. 6d. and postage),	$3.75
Young Friends' Review, ($0.75),	2.50
Scribner's Magazine, ($3),	4.60

MONTHLIES (Continued).

Periodicals.	Price for both.
The Century Magazine, ($4),	$5.60
Harper's Magazine, ($4),	5.10
Atlantic Monthly, ($4),	5.30
Popular Science Monthly, ($5),	6.60
The Forum, ($3),	4.60
North American Review, ($5),	6.10
New York Public Library,	4.60
40 Lafayette Place, ($3),	4.20
Trained Motherhood, ($1),	2.70
Scattered Seeds, ($0.50),	2.35
McClure's Magazine, ($1),	2.90
The Farm Journal, ($0.50),	2.20

Persons wishing other periodicals than those named above should write to us, and we will give prices.

Where several periodicals in the list are wanted, find the net price of each, (if ordered through us), by subtracting $2.00 from the rate given under the heading "price for both."

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 6 per ct. Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILA'DA.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Merchants' Trust Company,

611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed),	$500,000.00
CAPITAL (paid in),	250,000.00
SURPLUS,	50,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS,	30,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveyancing done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.

JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.

ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.
WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS

NICHOLAS BRICE,	EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY,	I. HOLTON WINPENNY,
S. DAVIS PAGE,	ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHOADS,	EDWIN S. DIXON,
JOHN F. LEWIS,	WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
THOMAS R. GILL,	SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN,	EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
	ALFRED I. PHILLIPS.

PLEASANT TO TAKE

a remedy free from nauseating drugs
—a remedy that has made cures open to investigation, leaving no room to question the marvelous action in restoring the diseased to health. Desperate diseases and abandoned cases have come to us as a last resort and been permanently cured by it.

Compound Oxygen

There's not a known ill that can't be helped by this life-giving principle. Write for book giving almost miraculous cures, testimonials, home treatment, advice to the sick, etc., etc., free.

DRS. STARKEY & PALEN,

1112 Girard St.,

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, FIRST MONTH 14, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—II., . . .	21
POEM: A PRAYER,	21
HE THAT OVERCOMETH: PAPER BY DEAN BOND,	21
THE GROWTH OF MILITARISM, by William C. Allen,	22
A VIEW, THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO, . . .	23
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS: Old Testament Lessons,	23
New Testament, "International" Text, .	24
THE WOODS IN WINTER,	25
EDITORIAL:
The Southern "Race Problem,"	26
Notes,	26
MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	27, 28
LETTERS FROM ISAAC WILSON.—III., . .	28
AUTHORSHIP OF A POEM,	28
THE DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE, . . .	29
APPOINTMENTS IN THE INDIAN SERVICE, .	29
THE DOUKHOBORS,	30
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . .	30, 31
LITERARY NOTES,	32
EDUCATIONAL,	32
POETRY: Our Country; The Cinnamon Bun, .	32
THE SOUTHERN "RACE" TROUBLES, . .	33
SANITARY VALUE OF HIGH FORESTS, . .	34
LONDON LITERARY NOTES,	35
THE GREAT PHILADELPHIA CLOCK, . . .	35
DRAWING ON THE BANK,	36
LIQUOR AND CIGARS IN NEW YORK, . .	37
MISCELLANY: Training Children; "Below Deck;" Pennsylvania Public Schools; Peter the Great in Friends' Meeting; Value of Vaccination; Holidays in New York; Recipe for Ground-Nut Cakes; "Remember the 'Maine'"; A Message to the Czar; Vermont's Abandoned Farms,	37, 38, 39
METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY, 1898, . . .	39
CURRENT EVENTS,	39
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	40
NOTICES,	iii

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

WANTED.—TRAINED NURSING. CAN GIVE reference. Apply to C. E. W., Box 33, Unionville, Chester Co., Pa.

WANTED.—AN HONEST, SOBER, INTELLIGENT young man, accustomed to farm work, to train as superintendent of one of the largest and best appointed cranberry plantations in New Jersey. Applicants should state age and qualifications, also experience in directing help, if any, and compensation wanted the first year. Address J. J., office FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER.

WANTED.—BOARD IN FRIENDS' FAMILY. Moderate. State terms. Address No. 67, this Office.

TWO PLEASANT ROOMS WITH GOOD board. Private family, near trolley, and three minutes' walk from 52d Street Station, 1484 N. 55th street, West Philadelphia.

46 Days for $400.

Through the Grand Canyon of Colorado, Arizona, and 28 days in California, returning via Salt Lake and Royal Gorge. Leave Fourth-day, February 22, from 24th and Chestnut Sts. For further information address REBECCA B. NICHOLSON, Camden, N. J.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St. ANNA JENKINS FERRIS, Corresponding Secretary.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

A POSTAL CARD RECEIVES PROMPT ATTENTION.
JOHN S. CONRAD,
LAUNDRY,
2103, 2105 COLUMBIA AVENUE, PHILA.

THE PENINGTON,
Permanent and Transient Boarding
for Friends.
215 E. 15th Street, New York City.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,
1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.
Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

Brass and Enameled BEDSTEADS.

Spring, Hair, and Husk Mattresses.
Feathers and Down—all qualities.
MATTRESSES CLEANED AND REMADE.
Josiah G. Williams 13 N. Eleventh St
FORMERLY 1027 MARKET ST.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,
325 SWEDE STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.
LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE
14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

CHARLES BURTON,
Practical House and Sign Painter,
Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street,
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

S. W. BLACK'S SON, EDWARD T. BLACK
REAL ESTATE AGENT
AND BROKER
125 South Seventh Street, Philad'a.

FOR SALE.

A desirable farm of 30 acres in Woodstown, N. J. Buildings on main street. Railroad, schools, and meeting within easy access. Very productive soil. Apply to JOEL BORTON, Woodstown, N. J.

Swarthmore.

For rent or sale, Queen Anne Cottage, 12 rooms, steam heat, and open fire grates. The location is very delightful, directly overlooking the athletic grounds of the College, and very close to the meeting-house; one acre of ground, and plenty of fruit. Apply to
DAVID SCANNELL, 814 Arch Street.

S. F. Balderston's Son, WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.
902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,
33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.OAK GROVE SEMINARY
AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends.
Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.

For Catalogue address

PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, MaineFriends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.

Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

LOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,

Or, Jenkintown, Pa.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

A good Turkish bath can not be had everywhere, but a bath with Ivory Soap can, and the same feeling of invigoration and perfect cleanliness results.

Ivory Soap, because of its purity, its profuse lather and the smooth, pleasant sensation it imparts, is the favorite soap for the bath.

A WORD OF WARNING.—There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Copyright 1892, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

THE MORRIS FAMILY

OF PHILADELPHIA.

By ROBERT C. MOON, M.D.

THIS work presents a complete Genealogy of the Anthony Morris family up to the year 1898, including extensive genealogical and biographical references to members of the allied families in America and in countries across the sea.
Many historical facts of a national and local character are incorporated with the genealogical data.

Three volumes. Cloth. $20 for the complete work, which contains 1260 pages of letter-press
and 300 illustrations.

"Filial piety has inspired the preparation of these handsome and attractive volumes, in which text and illustration go hand in hand, to perpetuate the history of a family that for more than two centuries has held a well deserved place in the respect and affection of successive generations of Philadelphia."

"A complete encyclopedia of all that the Morris have been and have done for the city and the State and the country in which they have made their homes since the first of their stock came here in 1682."—Public Ledger, Philadelphia.

Copies can be had of

ROBERT C. MOON, M. D., 1319 Walnut St.,
(Witherspoon Building), PHILAD'A, PA.CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker

and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 66-99-A.

"The Christiana Riot"

is a book suitable for holiday presentation. It illustrates the stern and unflinching character of Friends during the anti-slavery struggles. It is a standard work, endorsed by such able men as Joseph
S. Walton, George L. Maris, and William
W. Birdsall. Its popularity is increasing every day. Illustrated. Cloth edition.
Gilt title.

PRICE, $1.00, POSTPAID.

Address all orders to

MARVIN E. BUSHONG,

May P. O., Lancaster Co., Pa.

John C. Hancock & Co.,

N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.

(P. & R. R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF

LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING

Telephone Connection.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

NOTICES.

 The Monthly Meeting of Friends of Philadelphia, held at Race street, will take place on Fourth-day next, the 18th, in the evening, at 7.30 o'clock.

 A Conference under the care of the Western Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Temperance and Philanthropic Work, will be held in the meeting-house at Kennett Square, on First-day, First month 15, at 2 o'clock, p. m. Alfred H. Love is expected to address the Conference on War and Impurity. All interested are cordially invited to be present.
HORACE L. DILWORTH, Clerk.

 The Home Influence Association will hold its regular monthly meeting in the meeting-house, Race street above 15th, on Third-day, First month 17, at 3 p. m. The meeting will be addressed by Rachel Foster Avery on the subject, "Telling Stories to Children." A full meeting is desired. Visitors are welcome.
FLORENCE M. LUKENS, President.

 Friends from Washington, wishing to attend Fairfax Quarterly Meeting, at Fairfax, Va., First month 16, will take cars at 6th Street Station. Ask for Friends' tickets to Paeonian Springs, where carriages will be waiting. Tickets issued 13th and 14th good until 21st. Trains leave 9 o'clock a. m. and 4.30 p. m., daily. Round trip tickets sold.

 The next Conference under the care of Concord Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Philanthropic Labor will be held in the meeting-house at Wilmington, Del., on First-day, First month 15, 1899, at 2.30 p. m.
CHARLES PALMER, Clerk.

 The First-day evening meetings during First month will be at 4th and Green streets, excepting First month 29, at 35th St. and Lancaster Avenue, West Philadelphia. All at 7.30 o'clock.

These meetings being held unitedly under the charge of the two monthly meetings, have claims on all within convenient access.

It is hoped that with the advent of the new year there will be a more lively interest shown in the maintenance of Friends' meetings, particularly on the evening of First-day.

 New York Yearly Meeting's Visiting Committee expects some of its members to visit the following meetings in First month, 1899:
15. Cornwall.
22. Jericho.
29. Manhasset.
J. T. McDOWELL, Clerk.

 The Visiting Committee of Baltimore Yearly Meeting has arranged for the following meetings:
FIRST MONTH:
15. Fairfax.
22. Little Falls and West Nottingham.
29. York.
On behalf of the Committee.
MARTHA S. TOWNSEND.

 Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches, as way may open, will attend meetings as follows:
FIRST MONTH, 1899:
24. 17th street and Girard Avenue.
29. Reading. AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

FRIENDS' ALMANAC FOR 1899.
JUST PUBLISHED
Is now ready in new and attractive form
In addition to the Astronomical Calculations, the Almanac contains a full list of meetings, and the location, and in many cases the mode of reaching them; information in regard to Day and First-day Schools; special articles about Fair Hill Burial Ground, the new Young Friends' Building, etc.
Price, 10 cents; by mail, 13 cents.
Every Friends' family should possess one or more copies. Order now from
FRIENDS' BOOK ASSOCIATION,
15th and Race Streets, Philadelphia

The Right Shoe for You is the Best Shoe
YOU CAN GET.
We have the Best $3, $4, and $5 Fall and Winter Shoes.
Samuel Dutcher, 45 N. 13th St.

Gloves and Mittens.

An excellent opportunity is here provided for the purchase of these needful things at a good saving from real values.

For Men we offer Wool Knit Gloves of good quality—the 50 cent kinds at 35 cents. Mottormen's double Wool Mittens—the 75 cent kinds at 50 cents.

Men's Beaver Gauntlet Gloves, with warm linings—the $3.00 kinds at $2.25, and real Otter Gloves—the $8.00 value at $6.00.

For Women—Wool Mittens at 12½ cents a pair, and Cashmerette Gloves, at 18 cents a pair.

Children's Wool Mittens, 10 cents a pair, and Boys' double ones in wool, at 18 cents. The sturdy Scotch Wool Gloves for Boys, with wearing quality of a high order, 25 cents a pair.

Mail Orders receive prompt and accurate attention.

Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
SPEED.

A LARGE turtle affords eight pounds of tortoise-shell.

CLUB RATES: OTHER PERIODICALS, 1899.

We announce our Club Rates for other Periodicals for 1899. Read the figures given, and also read the notes below.

We will send FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER one year, with any of the periodicals named below, for the amount stated "for both."

WEEKLIES.		MONTHLIES (Continued).
Periodicals.	Price for both.	Periodicals.	Price for both.
Harper's Weekly, ($4),	$5.30	The Century Magazine, ($4),	$5 60
Union Signal, ($1),	2.90	Harper's Magazine, ($4),	5.10
Scientific American, ($3),	4.60	Atlantic Monthly, ($4),	5.30
Harper's Bazar, ($4),	5.30	Popular Science Monthly, ($5),	6.60
Journal of Education, ($2.50),	4.10	The Forum, ($3),	4 60
The Living Age, ($6),	7.60	North American Review, ($5),	6.10
Literary Digest, ($3), New names only ,	4.50	St. Nicholas, ($3),	4.60
Springfield Republican, ($1),	2.90	Lippincott's Magazine, ($3),	4.20
		Trained Motherhood, ($1),	2.70
		Scattered Seeds, ($0.50),	2.35
		McClure's Magazine, ($1),	2.90
		The Farm Journal, ($0.50),	2.20
MONTHLIES.
British Friend, (6s. 6d. and postage), $3.75
Young Friends' Review, ($0.75),	2 50
Scribner's Magazine, ($3),	4.60

Persons wishing other periodicals than those named above should write to us, and we will give prices.

Where several periodicals in the list are wanted, find the net price of each, (if ordered through us), by subtracting $2.00 from the rate given under the heading "price for both."

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
 President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA B. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE and INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD TRUST CO.

CAPITAL, $1,000,000

SURPLUS, $2,000,000

LIFE INSURANCE,
ANNUITY, AND

EXECUTES TRUSTS,
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWBOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, Jr.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN B. GARRETT,
PERMBERTON S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

PLEASANT TO TAKE

a remedy free from nauseating drugs
—a remedy that has made cures open to investigation, leaving no room to question the marvelous action in restoring the diseased to health. Desperate diseases and abandoned cases have come to us as a last resort and been permanently cured by inhaling

Compound Oxygen

There's not a known ill that can't be helped by this life-giving principle. Write for book giving almost miraculous cures, testimonials, home treatment, advice to the sick, etc., etc., free.

DRS. STARKEY & PALEN,
1112 Girard St.,
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 6 per cent. Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

YEO & LUKENS, STATIONERY • BLANK BOOKS • PRINTING

23 N. Second St. New York Public Library
40 Lafayette Place
Law and Commission PHILADELPHIA.
BLANKS.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE

CHEAPEST AND BEST.

One small box will make one pint Best Liquid Bluing.
Depot 233 N. Second St., Philad'a.

WALL PAPER of Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St.

Philadelphia, Pa.

AN invitation to the States of the Louisiana purchase to participate in a conference in St. Louis on January 10 next, to determine the place and character of a commemorative observance of the centennial anniversary of the purchase of the Louisiana territory from France, has been issued by Governor Stephens, of Missouri.

CHEMISTS have extracted from coal tar sixteen shades of blue, sixteen of yellow, twelve of orange, nine of violet, besides shades of other colors too numerous to mention.

FRUIT trees are being exported from Georgia to South Africa.

Are You Going To California?

The California Limited, Santa Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation car with spacious parlor, especially for use of ladies and children. 2½ days Chicago to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,

The Alchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
CHICAGO.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

THE NEW YORK
PUBLIC LIBRARY

ASTOR, LENOX AND
TILDEN FOUNDATION

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, FIRST MONTH 21, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—III., . . .	41
POETRY: REJECTED,	41
GOSPEL MINISTRY: BY MARY G. SMITH, . . .	41
A GARLAND OF CHILDHOOD LYRICS: REVIEWED BY PROF. J. RUSSELL HAYES, . . .	42
THE "WARDER SCHOOL," AMSTERDAM, . . .	43
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS: Old Testament Lessons,	44
New Testament, "International" Text, . . .	45
ALCOHOL IN MEDICINE,	46
JOHN WESLEY'S PLAIN LIVING,	47
GEN. GRANT'S RELIGIOUS VIEWS,	47
EDITORIAL: The Young Friends' Associations, . . .	48
Notes,	48, 49
BIRTHS, DEATHS,	49
LETTERS FROM ISAAC WILSON.—IV.,	49
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	50
THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE,	50
SONG IN WORSHIP,	50
THE MALAYS,	51
A WHITTIER POEM,	51
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . . .	51, 52, 53
LITERARY NOTES,	53
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	53
ADDRESS BY DR. ABBOTT,	53
POETRY: At Florence; To Nicholas II., . . .	54
THE PRESENT PROBLEM: EXTRACTS FROM CARL SCHURZ'S ADDRESS,	54
THE AGRICULTURAL SITUATION,	56
THE REAL INDIAN,	56
SUPPORT OF THE TSAR'S MANIFESTO, . . .	57
SLAVERY,	58
MISCELLANY: Why He Quit the Business; One Cigar a Day; English University Feeling; Comes from Maryland; End of the Town of Pullman; Ideals of Life; John Morley's Views,	58, 59
CURRENT EVENTS,	59
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	60
NOTICES,	iii

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

A FRIEND WOULD LIKE A POSITION AS managing housekeeper, or companion. Has best of references. Address, after Second-day, 23d, R., 1547 N. 9th St.

WANTED.—A YOUNG WOMAN OF REFINEMENT to assist with household duties and care of children. In replying, kindly state age, experience, and capabilities. Address No. 66, this Office.

WANTED.—A FRIEND TO ASSIST IN CARING for two young children in Friends' family. Address MOORE, 2 E. 14th St., New York City.

TWO PLEASANT ROOMS WITH GOOD board. Private family, near trolley, and three minutes' walk from 35d Street Station, 1484 N. 55th street, West Philadelphia.

46 Days for $400.

Through the Grand Canyon of Colorado, Arizona, and 28 days in California, returning via Salt Lake and Royal Gorge. Leave Fourth-day, February 22, from 24th and Chestnut Sts. For further information address REBECCA B. NICHOLSON, Camden, N. J.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING The Young Friends' Association Office has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St. ANNA JENKINS FERRIS, Corresponding Secretary.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1666 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Address by Dr. Lyman Abbott.

Dr. Lyman Abbott will address the Alumni Association of Friends' Central School, Philadelphia, on Fourth-day evening, Second month 8, 1899, at the New Century Drawing Room, 124 South Twelfth St., at 8 p. m. Subject: "The Duty and Destiny of America."

Tickets for sale by Friends' Book Association, 15th and Race Sts. Admission, 50 cents.

Agents Wanted

in every county to sell "The True Story of the Christiana Riot," a book of exciting events that finally led to the Civil War. Cloth edition, gilt title. For particulars and territory, address MARVIN E. BUSHONG, May, Lancaster county, Pa.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up-to-date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.

Established 1810 at 844 North Second Street.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Dairies. Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna. JOSEPH L. JONES.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,
325 SWEDE STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.
LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE
14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

CHARLES BURTON,
Practical House and Sign Painter,
Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2222 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

S. W. BLACK'S SON, EDWARD T. BLACK
REAL ESTATE AGENT
AND BROKER
125 South Seventh Street, Philad'a.

FOR SALE.

A desirable farm of 30 acres in Woodstown, N. J. Buildings on main street. Railroad, schools, and meeting within easy access. Very productive soil. Apply to JOEL BORTON, Woodstown, N. J.

Swarthmore.

For rent or sale, Queen Anne Cottage, 12 rooms, steam heat, and open fire grates. The location is very delightful, directly overlooking the athletic grounds of the College, and very close to the meeting-house; one acre of ground, and plenty of fruit. Apply to
DAVID SCANNELL, 814 Arch Street.

THE PENINGTON,
Permanent and Transient Boarding
for Friends.
215 E. 18th Street, New York City.

S. F. Balderston's Son, WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.
902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Brass and Enameled BEDSTEADS.

Spring, Hair, and Husk Mattresses.
Feathers and Down—all qualities.
MATTRESSES CLEANED AND REMADE.
Josiah G. Williams, 13 N. Eleventh St
FORMERLY 1027 MARKET ST.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School, FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS., PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia:
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing
students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

OAK GROVE SEMINARY AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.

A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends.
Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.

For Catalogue address,

PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, Maine

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.

Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter
college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL, (Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

LOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,

Or, Jenkintown, Pa.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

WHERE THE HEAT GOES

There are hundreds of sleeping rooms about the country now cold and cheerless, that might be made otherwise by the use of the

ROCHESTER RADIATOR

with its 120 cross tubes. One stove or furnace does the work of two, and you thus

SAVE ½ YOUR FUEL

if you don't understand it, send for free booklet.
Where we have no active agent we will sell at wholesale price to introduce.

Rochester Radiator Co. 45 Furnace St. Rochester, N. Y.

WHERE IT SHOULD GO

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,

Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St., (4th door bel. Chestnut St.),
PHILADELPHIA.

John C. Hancock & Co.,

N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.
(P. & R. R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF

LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING
Telephone Connection.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE

CHEAPEST AND BEST.

One small box will make one pint Best Liquid Blueing.
Depot 233 N. Second St., Philad'a.

FRIENDS' ALMANAC FOR 1899.

JUST PUBLISHED

Is now ready in new and attractive form

In addition to the Astronomical Calculations,
the Almanac contains a full list of meetings,
and the location, and in many cases the mode of reaching them; information in regard to Day and
First-day Schools; special articles about Fair Hill
Burial Ground, the new Young Friends' Building, etc.

Price, 10 cents; by mail, 13 cents.

Every Friends' family should possess one or more copies. Order now from

FRIENDS' BOOK ASSOCIATION,

15th and Race Streets, Philadelphia

THE MORRIS FAMILY

OF PHILADELPHIA.

By ROBERT C. MOON, M.D.

THIS work presents a complete Genealogy of the Anthony Morris family up to the year 1898, including extensive genealogical and biographical references to members of the allied families in America and in countries across the sea.
Many historical facts of a national and local character are incorporated with the genealogical data.

Three volumes. Cloth. $20 for the complete work, which contains 1260 pages of letter-press
and 300 illustrations.

"Filial piety has inspired the preparation of these handsome and attractive volumes, in which text and illustration go hand in hand, to perpetuate the history of a family that for more than two centuries has held a well deserved place in the respect and affection of successive generations of Philadelphia."

"A complete encyclopedia of all that the Morris have been and have done for the city and the State and the country in which they have made their homes since the first of their stock came here in 1682."—Public Ledger, Philadelphia.

Copies can be had of

ROBERT C. MOON, M. D., 1319 Walnut St.,
(Witherspoon Building), PHILAD'A, PA.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker

and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

FLOSSIE is six years old. "Mamma," she asked one day, "if I get married will I have a husband like pa?" "Yes," replied the mother, with an amused smile.
"And if I don't get married will I have to be an old maid, like auntie?" "Yes, Flossie." "Mamma," she said, after a short pause, "it's a tough world for us women, ain't it?"—Exchange.

The electric light in the public house, takes the candle out of the drunkard's home.

It takes a long time to age whisky, but it won't take long for whisky to age
you.

If some women did not drink wine,
some men would not drink whisky.

STILL FIGHTING BATTLES.—Judging by their recent numbers, the magazines will not be ready to sign the peace treaty for several months yet.—Baltimore News.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTEL-LIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

NOTICES.

. Westbury Quarterly Meeting's Philanthropic Committee has arranged for a Conference, to be held in the meeting-house, East 15th street and Rutherford Place, New York, on Seventh-day, First month 28, at 2.30 p. m.

Mary H. Whitson, of Philadelphia, will read a paper on, "Child Development," and Rachel W. Underhill, of Brooklyn, N. Y., will open the discussion.

HARRY A. HAWKINS, } Clerks.
MARY W. ALBERTSON, }

. The Executive Committee of the New York Yearly Meeting's First-day School Association has arranged for a Conference of First day School Workers, to be held in the Library Room, 226 East 16th street, New York, on Sixth-day, First month 27, at 8 p. m.

A paper will be presented by John Satterthwaite, of Trenton, N. J. Subject, "How to make the First-day School Successful."

HARRY A. HAWKINS, } Clerks.
LEAH H. MILLER, }

. The meeting of the Friends' Temperance Workers at 17th street and Girard Avenue, on Seventh-day evening, First month 21, will be a "Longfellow night."

All are invited.

Jos. C. EMLEY, President.

. The First-day evening meetings during First month will be at 4th and Green streets, excepting First month 29, at 35th St. and Lancaster Avenue, West Philadelphia. All at 7.30 o'clock.

These meetings being held unitedly under the charge of the two monthly meetings, have claims on all within convenient access.

It is hoped that with the advent of the new year there will be a more lively interest shown in the maintenance of Friends' meetings, particularly on the evening of First-day.

. New York Yearly Meeting's Visiting Committee expects some of its members to visit the following meetings in First month, 1899:

- 22. Jericho.
- 29. Manhasset.

J. T. McDOWELL, Clerk.

. The Visiting Committee of Baltimore Yearly Meeting has arranged for the following meetings:

FIRST MONTH:

- 22. Little Falls and West Nottingham.
- 29. York.

On behalf of the Committee.

MARTHA S. TOWNSEND.

. Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches, as way may open, will attend meetings as follows:

FIRST MONTH, 1899:

- 24. 17th street and Girard Avenue.
- 29. Reading. AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

No sense in doing without Macbeth lamp-chimneys; but get the right chimney. The Index tells.

There's money in it.

Write Macbeth Pittsburgh Pa

The Right Shoe for You is the Best Shoe
YOU CAN GET.

We have the Best $3, $4, and $5 Fall and Winter Shoes.

Samuel Dutcher, 45 N. 13th St.

No nicer dessert than pie made of ATMORE'S
Mince Meat

Delicious, wholesome and cleanly made as home-made mince meat. Ask for it and for ATMORE'S PLUM PUDDING at the grocers.

Useful and Ornamental LAMPS

in Old Brass Filigree and Lace Work.

Guaranteed not to tarnish.

We cater to all tastes in finish and ornamentation. Friends want plain colors as a rule. We have a most excellent lamp for the library in Dark Bronze. We also have for the dining-room and hall, Black,—very rich and durable.

Prices range from $2.00 up.
The light is all you could wish.

A. J. WEIDENER,
36 South Second Street, Philadelphia.

WALL PAPER of

Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL, the world-renowned inventor of the telephone, has returned from Japan with two new projects—the establishment of a Japanese garden at Washington as a model, and the instruction of oarsmen in the Japanese way of rowing a boat. Dr. Bell says that "in landscape gardening there is no question that the Japanese lead the world," and that "their method of rowing is far superior to anything we have in this country."

THE production of soap in England is about 45,000 tons per week, of which between 3,000 and 4,000 tons are made in London.

DRINK buries sorrow that rises again to-morrow.

AN hour spent in bad company may give the devil a grip on you all the rest of your life.

WHEN Flynn heard that Mr. Smith was afflicted with softening of the brain, he thought it a great disgrace; and when he was told he might have the same trouble himself some day, he brought down his hand with emphasis on the marble counter, and said, "I want you to understand that my head is just as solid as that slab!"—Floating Item.

THE liquor traffic will never commit suicide.

MISS Josephine Kipling, the eldest child of Rudyard Kipling, was whipped for telling a fib, and went to bed, sobbing rebelliously: "I think it's real mean, so there! My pa writes great big whoppers, and everybody thinks they're lovely; while I just told a tiny little story, and gets whipped and sent to bed!"—Methodist Churchman.

THE worst time of day, says Dr. Wolff, of Strasburg, Germany, for accidents, is after breakfast, after dinner, and after the "afternoon rest." He explains this by the lassitude of digestion and to the use made by men of intoxicants during meal times.

CLUB RATES: OTHER PERIODICALS, 1899.

We announce our Club Rates for other Periodicals for 1899. Read the figures given, and also read the notes below.

We will send FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER one year, with any of the periodicals named below, for the amount stated "for both."

WEEKLIES.			MONTHLIES (Continued).
Periodicals.		Price for both.	Periodicals.		Price for both.
Harper's Weekly, ($4),		$5.30	The Century Magazine, ($4),		$5.60
Union Signal, ($1),		2.90	Harper's Magazine, ($4),		5.10
Scientific American, ($3),		4.60	Atlantic Monthly, ($4),		5.30
Harper's Bazar, ($4),		5.30	Popular Science Monthly, ($5),		6.60
Journal of Education, ($2.50),		4.10	The Forum, ($3),		4.60
The Living Age, ($6),		7.60	North American Review, ($5),		6.10
Literary Digest, ($3), New names only ,		4.50	St. Nicholas, ($3),		4.60
Springfield Republican, ($1),		2.90	Lippincott's Magazine, ($3),		4.20
			Trained Motherhood, ($1),		2.70
			Scattered Seeds, ($0.50),		2.35
			McClure's Magazine, ($1),		2.90
			The Farm Journal, ($0.50),		2.20
MONTHLIES.
British Friend, (6s. 6d. and postage), $3.75
Young Friends' Review, ($0.75),		2.50
Scribner's Magazine, ($3),		4.60

Persons wishing other periodicals than those named above should write to us, and we will give prices.

Where several periodicals in the list are wanted, find the net price of each, (if ordered through us), by subtracting $2.00 from the rate given under the heading "price for both."

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
 President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3 1/4 MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY G. BROWN.

THE GIRARD LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND TRUST CO.

CAPITAL, $1,000,000
SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS,
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWBOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Asst. Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Asst. Treas.

HENRY TATNALL, Vice-President.
N. B. CRENSHAW, Real Estate Officer.
A. A. JACKSON, Asst. to Pres. and Vice-Pres.
WM. E. AUMONT, Manager Trust Dept.
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, Jr.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN B. GARRETT,
Pemberton S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. McFADDEN,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

Gloves and Mittens.

An excellent opportunity is here provided for the purchase of these needful things at a good saving from real values.

For Men we offer Wool Knit Gloves of good quality—the 50 cent kinds at 35 cents. Motormen's double Wool Mittens—the 75 cent kinds at 50 cents.

Men's Beaver Gauntlet Gloves, with warm linings—the $3.00 kinds at $2.25, and real Otter Gloves—the $8.00 value at $6.00.

For Women—Wool Mittens at 12 1/2 cents a pair, and Cashmerette Gloves, at 18 cents a pair.

Children's Wool Mittens, 10 cents a pair, and Boys' double ones in wool, at 18 cents. The sturdy Scotch Wool Gloves for Boys, with wearing quality of a high order, 25 cents a pair.

Mail Orders receive prompt and accurate attention.

Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

Hanscoms'—Our prices are the lowest, variety the most complete, quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
 No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
 1311 Market St., Phila.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.
SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to
READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to
ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
SPEED.

A POSTAL CARD RECEIVES PROMPT ATTENTION.
JOHN S. CONRAD,
LAUNDRY,
2103, 2105 COLUMBIA AVENUE, PHILA

YEO & LUKENS,

New York Public Library
40 Lafayette Place

23 North 13th Street (above Market)
613 Walnut Street.

Law and Conveyancing
BLANKS.

PHILADELPHIA.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 6 per ct. Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President.
WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILA'DA.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.
FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Merchants' Trust Company,

611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
CAPITAL (paid in), 250,000.00
SURPLUS, 50,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 30,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveyancing done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.
JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.
ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.
WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY, I. HOLTON WINFREY,
S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHOADS, EDWIN S. DIXON,
JOHN F. LEWIS, WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
THOMAS R. GILL, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
ALFRED I. PHILLIPS.

Read

These Books

TO CALIFORNIA AND BACK,
176 pp., 176 illustrations.
5 cts.

THE MOKI SNAKE DANCE,
60 pp., 64 illustrations.
3 cts.

GRAND CANON OF ARIZONA,
32 pp., 15 illustrations.
2 cts.

NEW MEXICO HEALTH RESORTS,
80 pp., 31 illustrations.
2 cts.

ARIZONA HEALTH RESORTS,
72 pp., 18 illustrations.
2 cts.

LAS VEGAS HOT SPRINGS
48 pp., 39 illustrations.
2 cts.

Mailed free
for postage named

They tell the story.

of wonderful sights and scenes, and special resorts for tourists and homeseekers in the Great West. They are published by the

Santa Fe Route,

are literary and artistic, and will make you better acquainted with the attractions of your own land.

C. A. HIGGINS,
A.G.P.A., A.T. & S.F.R'y, CHICAGO.
Great Northern Bldg.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, FIRST MONTH 28, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—IV., . . .	61
POEM: A NEW YEAR'S PRAYER, . . .	61
THE SCOPE OF WHITTIER'S BIBLE REFERENCES: by Alice N. Townsend, . . .	61
THE REMNANT OF FRIENDS IN GERMANY, . . .	63
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS:
Old Testament Lessons, . . .	64
New Testament, "International" Text, . . .	65
THE NEED CONTINUED, . . .	66
THE VOICE OF AMERICA: EDW. EVERETT HALE, . . .	66
THE UNIVERSITY OF COMMON SENSE, . . .	67
EDITORIAL:
"Civilization," . . .	68
Notes, . . .	68, 69
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS, . . .	69, 70
LETTERS FROM ISAAC WILSON.—V., . . .	70
NEWS OF FRIENDS, . . .	70
THE DOUKHOBOR IMMIGRANTS, . . .	71
LITERARY NOTES, . . .	72
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT:
Henry R. Russell, (with Portrait), . . .	73
Notes, . . .	73
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . . .	74
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES, . . .	75
CORRECTIONS IN "FRIENDS' ALMANAC," . . .	75
POETRY: "Not Into Temptation"; Temples Made with Hands; Father; Golden Wedding Poem, . . .	75, 76
LIFE INSURANCE IN 1898, . . .	76
CONSIDER WHERE YOU'RE NOT HIT, . . .	77
RESOLUTIONS ON IMPERIALISM, . . .	78
THE CONSTITUTION IN CONTEMPT, . . .	78
MISCELLANY: Shall History Repeat Itself? "Generals" in Congress; Peace in Norway and Sweden; The Czar and Tolstoy, . . .	78, 79
CURRENT EVENTS, . . .	79, 80
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS, . . .	80
NOTICES, . . .	iii

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

THE TWELFTH ANNUAL OYSTER SUPPER

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE
Friends' Home for Children, 4011 Aspen Street,
(Non-Sectarian)

AT THE ODD FELLOWS' TEMPLE,
Broad and Cherry Streets,
Third-day, Second Month 14, 1899, from 5 to 8 p.m.

This Home provides shelter temporarily, until it can secure good private homes for orphan, neglected and destitute children, and we ask your aid.

ENTERTAINMENT
Will consist of an opening address by J. A. M. Passmore, on "The Benefits of This and Kindred Homes." Lecture by Joseph S. Walton, Principal of Friends' Central School, "Early Influences of the Society of Friends in Pennsylvania."

Elocutionary Exercises by Miss Jessie Dalrymple, Teacher of Elocution in the Philadelphia High School for Girls.

The Supper will consist of Raw, Fried (H. Mosebach & Son) and Panned Oysters, Cranberries, Cold Meats, Pickles, Ice Cream, Cake. Come and enjoy a good supper, and help a worthy cause.

Price of tickets for Supper and Entertainment $1.00.
Tickets can be had from the following persons:

J. A. M. Passmore, 318 S. 42d St.
Anna C. Miller, 313 N. 33d St.
Robert Ambler, 1525 Centennial Ave.
S. T. R. Eavenson, M. D., 2013 Vine St.
Mary E. Dunham, 2759 N. 12th St.
Annie E. Bacon, 3212 Baring St.
Martha D. Hough, 1340 Spruce St.
Elizabeth Hallowell, 1515 Arch St.
Mary C. E. Davis, 2134 Callowhill St.
Caroline D. Hancock, 3201 Arch St.
Hannah B. Lloyd, 3602 Spring Garden St.
Sarah P. Morgan, 1024 Green St.
Elizabeth L. Coates, 1910 N. 24th St.
Jos. F. Scull, 1428 N. 17th St.
Anna J. Bean, 1729 N. 19th St.
Mary H. Kerby, 1327 N. 15th St.
R. Frances Ellis, 204 S. 41st St.
David Masters, 3308 Baring St.
Margaret L. Bardin, 331 N. 40th St.
Edward Caleb Dixon, 1420 Chestnut St.
Jesse H. Michener, 4512 Regent St.
Sarah D. Eavenson, 1904 Arch St.
Alvanetta Shepherd, 2159 N. 12th St.
Matilda K. Lobb, 1709 N. 18th St.
Thos. J. Scott, 128 Market St.
Barclay B. Heacock, 216 N. 4th St.
Mary E. Meredith, 123 S. 39th St.
Susan D. Hall, 5300 Lancaster Ave.
Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race St.
Anna A. Emley, 1525 Girard Ave.
Milton W. Buzby, 2001 Summer St.
Hannah L. Thomas, 4023 Spring Garden St.
Emma Thomas, 1618 Green St.
Anna B. Bunting, 315 N. 35th St.
John Collins, 702 N. 43d St.
Wm. S. Emley, 1525 Girard Ave.
Edwin W. Scarlett, 52d and Lancaster Ave.
Wm. J. Eavenson, 1504 Mt. Vernon St.
Elizabeth M. Middleton, 856 N. 8th St.
Adelaide F. D. Emley, 1525 Girard Ave.

Agents Wanted

in every county to sell "The True Story of the Christiana Riot," a book of exciting events that finally led to the Civil War. Cloth edition, gilt title. For particulars and territory, address MARVIN E. BUSHONG, May, Lancaster county, Pa.

THE LAST OPPORTUNITY To buy DUTCHER'S SHOES.

We vacate this store February 1st.
ALL shoes at cost or less, for Quick Sales.
Bargains in High Grade Shoes.

SAMUEL DUTCHER,
45 North 13th Street, (below Arch).

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

A LADY (FRIEND) OF SUITABLE AGE, AND possessing necessary qualifications, desires a permanent position of trust. One where promptness, executive ability, tact, and close attention to business will be appreciated and fairly rewarded. Address No. 68, this Office.

AN HONEST AND CAPABLE MARRIED MAN, 38, wants position. Experienced in commission, grocery, salesman, or manager. Address No. 69, INTELLIGENCER Office.

WANTED.—A WORKING HOUSEKEEPER, small family. Address M., this Office.

WANTED.—A FRIEND TO ASSIST IN CARING for two young children in Friends' family. Address MOORE, 2 E. 14th St., New York City.

TWO PLEASANT ROOMS WITH GOOD board. Private family, near trolley, and three minutes' walk from 52d Street Station, 1484 N. 55th street, West Philadelphia.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St. ANNA JENKINS FERRIS,
Corresponding Secretary.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

Swarthmore.

For rent or sale, Queen Anne Cottage, 12 rooms, steam heat, and open fire grates. The location is very delightful, directly overlooking the athletic grounds of the College, and very close to the meeting-house; one acre of ground, and plenty of fruit. Apply to DAVID SCANNELL, 814 Arch Street.

33 Days for $283.

To Old Point Comfort, Charleston, Savannah, tour through Florida, Key West, and Havana, Cuba, or Nassau, in the best manner. Leave B. and O. Rwy station, 24th and Chestnut sts., on Feb. 28, at 1.37 p. m. Have withdrawn my California trip until June. REBECCA B. NICHOLSON, Camden, N. J.

THE PENINGTON,

Permanent and Transient Boarding
for Friends.

215 E. 15th Street, New York City.

S. W. BLACK'S SON, EDWARD T. BLACK
REAL ESTATE AGENT
AND BROKER

125 South Seventh Street, Philad'a.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
*furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.*JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.OAK GROVE SEMINARY
AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends.
Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.

For Catalogue address,

PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, MaineFriends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars toLOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,Or CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.ANNIE HEACOCK, LIDA R. LEMASTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Nothing is left to chance in the manufacture of Ivory Soap. It is the highest result of scientific soap making.

Ivory Soap has been analyzed by many of the most noted chemists, who pronounce it of superior quality. The tests of chemists give confidence that it is pure, and the tests of thousands of housekeepers who have used Ivory Soap for years is even more convincing. They say that Ivory Soap will do some work for which no other soap can be trusted. They know from experience.

A WORD OF WARNING.—There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Copyright, 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,

Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St., (4th door bel. Chestnut St.), PHILADELPHIA.WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE

CHEAPEST AND BEST.

One small box will make one pint Best Liquid Bluing.
Depot 233 N. Second St., Philad'a.THE MORRIS FAMILY

OF PHILADELPHIA.

By ROBERT C. MOON, M.D.

THIS work presents a complete Genealogy of the Anthony Morris family up to the year 1898, including extensive genealogical and biographical references to members of the allied families in America and in countries across the sea. Many historical facts of a national and local character are incorporated with the genealogical data.

Three volumes. Cloth. $20 for the complete work, which contains 1260 pages of letter-press and 300 illustrations.

"Filial piety has inspired the preparation of these handsome and attractive volumes, in which text and illustration go hand in hand, to perpetuate the history of a family that for more than two centuries has held a well deserved place in the respect and affection of successive generations of Philadelphia."

"A complete encyclopedia of all that the Morris have been and have done for the city and the State and the country in which they have made their homes since the first of their stock came here in 1682."—Public Ledger, Philadelphia.

Copies can be had of

ROBERT C. MOON, M. D., 1319 Walnut St.,
(Witherspoon Building), PHILAD'A, PA.

NOTICES.

 The First-day evening meeting, to-morrow, will be at 35th and Lancaster Avenue, West Philadelphia, at 7.30 o'clock.

 To-morrow being the fifth First-day is Friends' day at the Home for Aged Colored Persons, the religious meeting being at 3 o'clock.

 Dr. Joseph S. Walton, Principal of Friends' Central School, will deliver a lecture entitled, "The Story of Oregon," in the Lecture Room, 15th and Race streets, Sixth-day, Second month 3, 1899, at 8 p. m.

The company of all Friends is desired. Visitors to the city will be cordially welcomed.

EMMA WALN, Clerk,
Best Interests Committee.

 A Circular Meeting, under the care of a committee of Concord Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Concord, on First-day, the 5th of Second month. To convene at 3 o'clock.

MARY P. HARVEY, Clerk.

 Westbury Quarterly Meeting's Philanthropic Committee has arranged for a Conference, to be held in the meeting-house, East 15th street and Rutherford Place, New York, on Seventh-day, First month 28, at 2.30 p. m.

Mary H. Whitson, of Philadelphia, will read a paper on, "Child Development," and Rachel W. Underhill, of Brooklyn, N. Y., will open the discussion.

HARRY A. HAWKINS, } Clerks.
MARY W. ALBERTSON, }

 The Executive Committee of the New York Yearly Meeting's First-day School Association has arranged for a Conference of First-day School Workers, to be held in the Library Room, 226 East 16th street, New York, on Sixth-day, First month 27, at 8 p. m.

A paper will be presented by John Satterthwaite, of Trenton, N. J. Subject, "How to make the First-day school Successful."

HARRY A. HAWKINS, } Clerks.
LEAH H. MILLER, }

 The First-day evening meetings during First month will be at 4th and Green streets, excepting First month 29, at 35th St. and Lancaster Avenue, West Philadelphia. All at 7.30 o'clock.

These meetings being held unitedly under the charge of the two monthly meetings, have claims on all within convenient access.

It is hoped that with the advent of the new year there will be a more lively interest shown in the maintenance of Friends meetings, particularly on the evening of First-day.

 New York Yearly Meeting's Visiting Committee expects some of its members to visit the following meetings in First month, 1899: 29. Manhasset.

J. T. McDOWELL, Clerk.

 The Visiting Committee of Baltimore Yearly Meeting has arranged for the following meetings:

FIRST MONTH:

29. York.

On behalf of the Committee.

MARTHA S. TOWNSEND.

 Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches, as way may open, will attend meetings as follows:

FIRST MONTH, 1899:

29. Reading. AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.
LAW }
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE }

14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

Macbeth lamp-chimneys save nine-tenths of the chimney money and all the trouble. But get the right chimney. Go by the Index.

Write Macbeth Pittsburgh Pa

Useful and Ornamental LAMPS

in Old Brass Filigree and Lace Work.

Guaranteed not to tarnish.

We cater to all tastes in finish and ornamentation. Friends want plain colors as a rule. We have a most excellent lamp for the library in Dark Bronze. We also have for the dining-room and hall, Black,—very rich and durable.

Prices range from $2.00 up.
The light is all you could wish.

A. J. WEIDENER,
36 South Second Street, Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS
IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
SPEED.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDR STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to. 1311 Market St., Phila.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

John C. Hancock & Co.,

N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.

(P. & R. R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF

LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING

Telephone Connection.

Newly Priced Books.

Marion Harland's "Some Colonial Homesteads and their Stories," cloth. Publisher's price, $3.00; now $1.25; postage, 22 cents extra.

Susan Ferrier's Novels, "Marriage," 2 volumes; "Inheritance," 2 volumes; "Destiny," 2 volumes. Publisher's price, $6.00; now $1.50; postage, 36 cents extra.

Townsend's "Near a Whole City Full." Publisher's price, $1.50; now 50 cents; postage, 13 cents each.

Du Maurier's "The Martian." Publisher's price, $1.75; now 50 cents; postage, 14 cents extra.

Will Carleton's Poems, assorted, cloth, full gilt. Publisher's price, $2.50; now $1.00; postage, 15 cents extra.

Wilson's "Wonderful Story of Old." 2 volumes, illustrated, 1/2 morocco. Publisher's price, $7.50; now $2.00.

F. M. Kingsley's "Prisoners of the Sea." Publisher's price, $1.25; now 50 cents; postage, 10 cents extra.

Zola's "His Excellency." Publisher's price, $1.50; now 50 cents; postage, 14 cents extra.

Mail Orders receive prompt and accurate attention.

Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angie St., Tioga.

FRIENDS' ALMANAC FOR 1899.

JUST PUBLISHED

Is now ready in new and attractive form

In addition to the Astronomical Calculations, the Almanac contains a full list of meetings, and the location, and in many cases the mode of reaching them; information in regard to Day and First-day Schools; special articles about Fair Hill Burial Ground, the new Young Friends' Building, etc.

Price, 10 cents; by mail, 13 cents.

Every Friends' family should possess one or more copies. Order now from

FRIENDS' BOOK ASSOCIATION,

15th and Race Streets, Philadelphia

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA B. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3 1/4 MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD TRUST CO.

LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND CAPITAL, $1,000,000
SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS,
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWBOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

HENRY TATNALL, Vice-President.
N. B. CRENSHAW, Real Estate Officer.
A. A. JACKSON, Ass't to Pres. and Vice-Pres.
WM. E. AUMONT, Manager Trust Dept.
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, Jr.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN B. GARRETT,
PEMBERTON S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

S. F. Balderston's Son, WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.
902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WALL PAPER of Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,
1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,
33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

Brass and Enameled BEDSTEADS.

Spring, Hair, and Husk Mattresses.
Feathers and Down—all qualities.
MATTRESSES CLEANED AND REMADE.
Josiah G. Williams, 13 N. Eleventh St
FORMERLY 1027 MARKET ST.

YEO & LUKENS, STATIONERY • BLANK BOOKS • PRINTING

23 North 13th Street (above Market)
613 Walnut Street.

Law and Conveyancing
BLANKS. PHILADELPHIA.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUT

New York Public Library
40 Lafayette Place

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

6% GILT EDGE GOLD MORTGAGES

in large and small amounts,
upon properties in thriving
and rapidly growing city in
New York State. Principal and interest guaranteed by strong institution.

For full information apply to

AMOS M. GOVER,
22 E. 42d St., New York City.

J. T. JACKSON & CO.,
Real Estate Brokers,
No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5 1/2 per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

A POSTAL CARD RECEIVES PROMPT ATTENTION.

JOHN S. CONRAD,

LAUNDRY.

2103, 2105 COLUMBIA AVENUE, PHILA

Are You Going To California?

The California Limited, Santa Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation car with spacious parlor, especially for use of ladies and children. 2 1/4 days Chicago to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
CHICAGO.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, SECOND MONTH 4, 1899.

THE NEW YORK
PUBLIC LIBRARY

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—V., . . .	81
POEM: THE ONE REFUGE,	81
THE BIBLE AS LITERATURE. By Alice M. Atkinson,	81
CULLED THOUGHTS OF TO-DAY,	83
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS:
Old Testament Lessons,	84
New Testament, "International" Text,	85
THINGS TO LEARN,	86
CO-OPERATION,	87
EDITORIAL:
The Passing of the Faithful,	88
Notes,	88
BIRTHS, DEATHS,	89
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	89
LETTERS FROM ISAAC WILSON.—VI., . . .	89
THE CZAR AND THE DOUKHOBORS,	90
WAR INFLUENCE,	91
THE DOUKHOBOR IMMIGRANTS,	91
CURRENT LITERATURE,	91
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	92
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . . .	92, 93
EDUCATIONAL,	94
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	94
COMMUNICATIONS:
A Contrast of Policies,	94
The Idaho Colony,	94
DONATION DAY,	95
POETRY: A Plea to Peace; The Ballad of Berry Brown,	95
AMERICAN PURITY ALLIANCE MEETING, . .	95
PRINCE HILKOFF,	96
THE IMMIGRANTS AT ST. JOHN,	97
THE ARAUCANIANS,	97
IRRIGATION ON A GREAT SCALE,	97
MISCELLANY: The Military Display; "Commercial Culture" in Butter; The 100,000 Regulars; Study of Indian Languages,	98, 99
CURRENT EVENTS,	99
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	100
NOTICES,	iii

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

A LADY, REFINED (FRIEND) WANTS SITUATION in a gentleman's family, as housekeeper, city or country. Competent in every particular. Reference exchanged. MRS. BELL, Box 169, Woodstown, N. J.

A LADY (FRIEND) OF SUITABLE AGE, AND possessing necessary qualifications, desires a permanent position of trust. One where promptness, executive ability, tact, and close attention to business will be appreciated and fairly rewarded. Address No. 68, this Office.

BOOKKEEPER, EXPERIENCED, ACCURATE, wants position where strict integrity and thorough interest in duties would be valued. Has knowledge of typewriting. Address No. 70, this Office.

BOY WANTED.—ABOUT 16 YEARS OF AGE, in office of Harrison Safety Boiler Works, 17th St. below Allegheny Ave., Phila. Must have good education, and give reference. Apply, by letter only, in hand writing of applicant.

WANTED.—A WORKING HOUSEKEEPER, small family. Address M., this Office.

WANTED.—A FRIEND TO ASSIST IN CARING for two young children in Friends' family. Address MOORE, 2 E. 14th St., New York City.

TWO PLEASANT ROOMS WITH GOOD board. Private family, near trolley, and three minutes' walk from 53d Street Station, 1484 N. 55th street, West Philadelphia.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING
The Young Friends' Association Office
has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1:30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St. ANNA JENKINS FERRIS, Corresponding Secretary.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

THE TWELFTH ANNUAL OYSTER SUPPER
FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE
Friends' Home for Children, 4011 Aspen Street,
(Non-Sectarian)
AT THE ODD FELLOWS' TEMPLE,
Broad and Cherry Streets,
Third-day, Second Month 14, 1899, from 5 to 8 p.m.

This Home provides shelter temporarily, until it can secure good private homes for orphan, neglected and destitute children, and we ask your aid.

ENTERTAINMENT
Will consist of an opening address by J. A. M. Passmore, on "The Benefits of This and Kindred Homes." Lecture by Joseph S. Walton, Principal of Friends' Central School, "Early Influences of the Society of Friends in Pennsylvania."

Elocutionary Exercises by Miss Jessie Dalrymple, Teacher of Elocution in the Philadelphia High School for Girls.

The Supper will consist of Raw, Fried (H. Mosebach & Son) and Panned Oysters, Cranberries, Cold Meats, Pickles, Ice Cream, Cake. Come and enjoy a good supper, and help a worthy cause.

Price of tickets for Supper and Entertainment $1.00.

Tickets can be had at

FRIENDS' BOOK ASSOCIATION, 1500 Race St.

Young Friends' Association.

The annual meeting of the Young Friends' Association will be held in the Lecture Room, Fifteenth and Race Streets, on Second-day evening, Second month 13, at 8 p. m.
All are invited

PROGRAM:

I. Early Friends as they appeared to the World. ("The Quakers." Frederick Storrs Turner, chapters vii. to x.)

Howard M. Cooper.

II. Review of Tolstoy's "What is Art?"

Howard M. Jenkins.

ISABEL CHAMBERS, Secretary.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls, and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

33 Days for $253.

To Old Point Comfort, Charleston, Savannah, tour through Florida, Key West, and Havana, Cuba, or Nassau, in the best manner. Leave B. and O. Rwy station, 24th and Chestnut sts., on Feb. 28, at 1:37 p. m. Have withdrawn my California trip until June. REBECCA B. NICHOLSON, Camden, N. J.

Wanted—Homes for Children.

The Board of Children's Guardians of the District of Columbia desires to communicate with persons who will take homeless children into their families on indenture or by adoption. Children both white and colored, from birth to thirteen years of age, are available. Full legal control given. Write for information and application blank to S. S. PARKMAN, 472 Louisiana Avenue, Washington, D. C.

Agents Wanted

in every county to sell "The True Story of the Christiana Riot," a book of exciting events that finally led to the Civil War. Cloth edition, gilt title. For particulars and territory, address MARVIN E. BUSHONG, May, Lancaster county, Pa.

THE WORK BUREAU

AT THE

Star Centre, 700 Lombard Street, Phila.

is prepared to supply persons wishing Colored Help for domestic service, or to do plain sewing or office cleaning. A number of boys between the age of 15 and 21 want situations in city or country. Address as above.

Address by Dr. Lyman Abbott.

Dr. Lyman Abbott will address the Alumni Association of Friends' Central School, Philadelphia, on Fourth-day evening, Second month 8, 1899, at the New Century Drawing Room, 124 South Twelfth St., at 8 p. m. Subject: "The Duty and Destiny of America." Tickets for sale by Friends' Book Association, 15th and Race Sts. Admission, 50 cents.

F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,
FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.OAK GROVE SEMINARY
AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends.
Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.

For Catalogue address,

PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, MaineFriends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars toLOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,
Jenkintown, Pa.Or
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK.

LIDA R. LEMASTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.$15,000*First Mortgage—Thirty Year
5 per ct. Gold Bonds

OF THE

NARBERTH SEWERAGE COMPANY,

NARBERTH, PENNA.

FREE FROM STATE TAXCapital Stock—full paid in cash, $30,000.00*First Mortgage Bonds, total issue, 15,000.00*Net Revenue over all expensesfor 1898, $ 1,360.00
Interest on $15,000 of Bonds, 750.00Surplus, $610.00

W. G. DABBS, President.

CONRAD S. CLOTHIER, JR., Vice President.

JOHN B. CLOTHIER, Sec. and Treas.

Denomination of Bonds, $250 each.
Interest payable June 1st and December
1st at office of The Commonwealth Title and Trust Co., of Philad'a, the Trustee.This Company has practically an exclusive franchise in the Borough of Nar-berth, only three miles from the Philadelphia City line, and can connect at any time with the City sewer without charge.
It also has a right to construct a Sewerage system anywhere in Lower Merion Township, an exceedingly valuable franchise.
This Company has now between six and seven miles laid through the Borough of Narberth, at a cost of between $30,000 and $35,000.This Sewerage system is very popular, and the revenue steadily increasing, as the terms are very reasonable—$15 per annum for a dwelling, and $10 for a stable.

Price of Bonds, par and accrued interest.

WM. P. HUSTON,
103 Girard Building, Philad'a.CHARLES BURTON,Practical House and Sign Painter,*Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.

1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.

Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.

Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE }

14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.

Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

S. W. BLACK'S SON, EDWARD T. BLACKREAL ESTATE AGENT
AND BROKER*125 South Seventh Street, Philad'a.*AQUILA J. LINVILL,*Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal*1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.*John C. Hancock & Co.,*N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.

(P. & R. R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF

LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING

Telephone Connection.

Criss-Cross
CEREALSAsk dealers for them—see that packages have these criss-cross lines. Pamphlet and our sample offer mailed free.

"ONE OF THE MOST EXCITING AND INTERESTING BOOKS WHICH HAS EVER BEEN WRITTEN ON THE SLAVE PERIOD, IT IS, MOREOVER, AN IMPORTANT BOOK, AND BESIDES IT IS ACCURATE HISTORY."

*The Times, Philadelphia.The Underground Railroad*FROM SLAVERY TO FREEDOM

BY

Wilbur H. Siebert,*Assoc. Prof. European History, Ohio State Univ.CLOTH, EXTRA CROWN 8VO. $4.00.An able introduction by PROF. A. B. HART, of Harvard University, and many Views, Portraits, Facsimiles, and Maps add to the interest of this absorbing work, which especially appeals to Friends because of the prominence of members of the Society among the directors of the underground system. It may be had from the FRIENDS' BOOK ASSOCIATION, 1500 Race
St., Philadelphia, or from the publishers,THE MACMILLAN COMPANY,
66 Fifth Avenue, New York.THE MORRIS FAMILY
OF PHILADELPHIA.By ROBERT C. MOON, M.D.THIS work presents a complete Genealogy of the Anthony Morris family up to the year 1898, including extensive genealogical and biographical references to members of the allied families in America and in countries across the sea.
Many historical facts of a national and local character are incorporated with the genealogical data.Three volumes. Cloth. $20 for the complete work, which contains 1260 pages of letter-press and 300 illustrations."Filial piety has inspired the preparation of these handsome and attractive volumes, in which text and illustration go hand in hand, to perpetuate the history of a family that for more than two centuries has held a well deserved place
in the respect and affection of successive generations of Philadelphia.""A complete encyclopedia of all that the Morris have been and have done for the city and the State and the country in which they have made their homes since the first of their stock came here in 1682."—Public Ledger, Philadelphia.

Copies can be had of

ROBERT C. MOON, M. D., 1319 Walnut St.,
(Witherspoon Building), PHILAD'A, PA.FRIENDS' ALMANAC FOR 1899.

JUST PUBLISHED

Is now ready in new and attractive form

In addition to the Astronomical Calculations,
the Almanac contains a full list of meetings,
and the location, and in many cases the mode of reaching them; information in regard to Day and
First-day Schools; special articles about Fair Hill
Burial Ground, the new Young Friends' Building, etc.

Price, 10 cents; by mail, 13 cents.

Every Friends' family should possess one or more copies. Order now fromFRIENDS' BOOK ASSOCIATION,

15th and Race Streets, Philadelphia

THE PENINGTON,Permanent and Transient Boarding for Friends.215 E. 15th Street, New York City.*Special Diabetic Food, for Diabetes.
Gluten Flour, for Dyspepsia and Constipation.
Barley Crystals, for Kidney Troubles.FARWELL & MILES, Watertown, N. Y., U.S.A.

NOTICES.

. Quarterly Meetings will be held at Race Street, Philadelphia, next Third-day, 7th, and at Abington on Fifth-day, 9th.

. The united First-day evening meetings, in Philadelphia, during Second month, will be at 17th street and Girard Avenue, at 7.30 o'clock. Friends generally should feel it their duty to be in attendance.

. Dr. Joseph S. Walton, Principal of Friends' Central School, will deliver a lecture entitled, "The Story of Oregon," in the Lecture Room, 15th and Race streets, Sixth-day, Second month 3, 1899, at 8 p. m.

A reception will follow.

The company of all Friends is desired. Visitors to the city will be cordially welcomed.

EMMA WALN, Clerk,

Best Interests Committee.

. A Circular Meeting, under the care of a committee of Concord Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Concord, on First-day, the 5th of Second month. To convene at 3 o'clock.

MARY P. HARVEY, Clerk.

FLORIDA.

PERSONALLY-CONDUCTED TOUR VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The next Pennsylvania Railroad tour to Jacksonville, allowing two weeks in Florida, will leave New York and Philadelphia by special train of Pullman Palace cars on Third-day next, Second month 7. Excursion tickets, including railway transportation, Pullman accommodations (one berth), and meals en route in both directions while traveling on the special train, will be sold at the following rates: New York, $50.00; Philadelphia, $48.00; Canandaigua, $52.85; Erie, $54.85; Wilkesbarre, $50.35; Pittsburg, $53.00; and at proportionate rates from other points.

For tickets, itineraries, and full information apply to ticket agents; Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 789 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.; or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON.

NEXT THREE-DAY PERSONALLY-CONDUCTED TOUR VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The next Pennsylvania Railroad three-day personally-conducted tour to Washington, D. C., leaves on Fifth-day, Second month 16. The rate, $14.50 from New York, $11.50 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rate from other points, include all necessary expenses during the entire trip—transportation, hotel accommodations, and Capitol guide fees. An experienced Chaperon will also accompany the party.

For itineraries, tickets, and full information apply to ticket agents; Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 789 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.; or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE

CHEAPEST AND BEST.

One small box will make one pint Best Liquid Bluing.
Depot 233 N. Second St., Philad'a.

ONIONS are stated to be almost the best nerve known. No medicine, it is claimed, is so useful in cases of nervous prostration, and there is nothing else that will so quickly relieve and tone up a worn-out system. Onions are useful in all cases of coughs, cold, and influenza. Eaten every day they will soon have a clearing and whitening effect on the complexion. But many people have a strong prejudice against onions.

THE Scotchman was leading in an argument against duelling. "But," said his opponent, "if a man called you a liar, what would you do then? You would be compelled to fight him."

"If any one called me a liar," replied the stolid and sensible Scot, "I should say, 'Pruv' it, sir, pruv' it,' and if he could not pruv' it, he would be the leear and not I."—S. J. Capper, in Concord.

Swarthmore.

For rent or sale, Queen Anne Cottage, 12 rooms, steam heat, and open fire grates. The location is very delightful, directly overlooking the athletic grounds of the College, and very close to the meeting-house; one acre of ground, and plenty of fruit. Apply to

DAVID SCANNELL, 814 Arch Street.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOHOCKEN DAIRIES. Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.

JOSEPH L. JONES.

Read
These Books

TO CALIFORNIA AND BACK,
176 pp., 176 illustrations.
5 cts.

THE MOKI SNAKE DANCE,
60 pp., 64 illustrations.
3 cts.

GRAND CANON OF ARIZONA,
32 pp., 15 illustrations.
2 cts.

NEW MEXICO HEALTH RESORTS,
80 pp., 31 illustrations.
2 cts.

ARIZONA HEALTH RESORTS,
72 pp., 18 illustrations.
2 cts.

LAS VEGAS HOT SPRINGS,
48 pp., 39 illustrations.
2 cts.

Mailed free
for postage named

They tell the story

of wonderful sights and scenes, and special resorts for tourists and homeseekers in the Great West. They are published by the

Santa Fe Route,

are literary and artistic, and will make you better acquainted with the attractions of your own land.

C. A. HIGGINS,
A.G.P.A., A.T. & S.F. R'y. CHICAGO.
Great Northern Bldg.

Most of Eve's Fair Daughters

love flowers, and look to us each year to supply their garden wants. Our 1899 Catalogue of

Everything FOR THE Garden
is a 190-page book, 9x11 inches, containing over 700 engravings and 6 superb colored plates of Seeds and Plants. And as all are drawn from nature, we show, as in a looking-glass, the best of the old and the latest of the new.

To trace advertising, and give our Catalogue the largest possible distribution, we make the following unusually liberal offer:

Every Empty Envelope Counts as Cash.

To every one who will state where this advertisement was seen, and who encloses us 10 cents (in stamps), we will mail the Catalogue, and also send, free of charge, our famous 50-cent "Empire State" Collection of Seeds, containing one packet each of New Large-flowering Sweet Peas, New Butterfly Pansy, New Jubilee Asters, New Golden Rose Celery, New York Lettuce, and Ponderosa Tomato, in a red envelope, which, when emptied and returned, will be accepted as a 25-cent cash payment on any order of goods selected from Catalogue to the amount of $1.00 and upward.

PETER HENDERSON & CO.
85 & 87 CORTLANDT ST., NEW YORK.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS
IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
SPEED.

It is estimated that there are 199,900,000 old style copper pennies somewhere. Nobody knows what has become of them, except that once in a while a single specimen turns up in change. A few years ago 4,500,000 bronze two-cent pieces were set afloat. Three millions of them are still outstanding, but are never seen. A million of three-cent silver pieces are scattered over the United States, but it is very seldom that one comes across any of them. Of the 800,000 one-half-cent pieces, not one has been returned to the government for coinage, or is held by the treasury.

Dreer's Garden Calendar For 1899

An up-to-date Catalogue of the best new and rare, as well as the cream of the standard varieties of

Seeds, Plants, Bulbs, Etc.

A handsome book of 168 pages, profusely illustrated, mailed FREE to those who state where they saw this advertisement.
HENRY A. DREER, 714 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia
409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA B. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD TRUST CO.

LIFE INSURANCE,
ANNUITY, AND

CAPITAL, $1,000,000
SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS,
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWBOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

HENRY TATNALL, Vice-President.
N. B. CRENSHAW, Real Estate Officer.
A. A. JACKSON, Ass't to Pres. and Vice-Pres.
WM. E. AUMONT, Manager Trust Dept.
GEORGE TUCKER BISHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, Jr.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN E. GARRETT,
PEMBERTON S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

S. F. Balderston's Son, WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.
902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WALL PAPER of Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,
1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum, Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,
33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

Brass and Enameled BEDSTEADS.

Spring, Hair, and Husk Mattresses.
Feathers and Down—all qualities.
MATTRESSES CLEANED AND REMADE.
Josiah G. Williams, 13 N. Eleventh St
FORMERLY 1027 MARKET ST.

YEO & LUKENS, STATIONERY • BLANK BOOKS • PRINTING

23 North 13th Street (above Market)
613 Walnut Street.

Law and Conveyancing
BLANKS. PHILADELPHIA.

CLEMENT A. H.
and Embalmer,
1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.
Telephone 2-28-25-A.

6% GILT EDGE GOLD MORTGAGES

in large and small amounts,
upon properties in thriving
and rapidly growing city in
New York State. *Principal
and interest guaranteed by strong institution.*

For full information apply to

AMOS M. GOVER,
22 E. 42d St., New York City.

J. T. JACKSON & CO.,
Real Estate Brokers,
No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.
FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities
a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Merchants' Trust Company,

611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
CAPITAL (paid in), 250,000.00
SURPLUS, 50,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 30,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveyancing done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit
Boxes to rent from 25 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.
JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.
ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.
WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY, J. HOLTON WILKINSON,
S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHOADS, EDWIN S. DIXON,
JOHN F. LEWIS, WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
THOMAS R. GILL, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
ALFRED I. PHILLIPS.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, SECOND MONTH 11, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—VI., . . .	101
POEM: PRAYER,	101
THE RELATION OF "THE LAW" TO "THE GOSPEL": Paper by Anna C. Janney,	101
"THE LLOYDS" AND CHARLES LAMB, . . .	103
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS: Old Testament Lessons,	104
New Testament, "International" Text, . .	105
DR. PLINY EARLE,	106
EDITORIAL: Self-Government,	108
Notes,	108
MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	108, 109
NEWS OF FRIENDS: Concord Quarterly Meeting,	109
Purchase Quarterly Meeting,	110
Notes,	110
LETTERS FROM ISAAC WILSON.—VII., . . .	111
INTERNATIONAL DISARMAMENT AND AR- BITRATION,	111
CHARLES THOMPSON ON MILITARISM, . . .	112
FRIENDS AT VICTORIA, B. C.,	112
HENRY R. RUSSELL AT SPRINGDALE, . . .	112
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . . .	113
EDUCATIONAL,	114
LITERARY NOTES,	115
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	115
DOUKHOBOR NOTES,	115
POETRY: To Charles and Sarah Robinson; The Mother Heart,	115
THE DOUKHOBORS AT ST. JOHN,	116
"DIALECT,"	117
MISCELLANY: Conquered by Spain; What Kind? Manual Training for Indians; Women and Municipal Taxes; A "War Course" at Harvard; Candor in English History; Imperialism at Home; Bud Variations, or "Sports," . .	118
CURRENT EVENTS,	119
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	119
NOTICES,	120

AN HONEST AND CAPABLE MARRIED MAN, 38, wants position. Experienced in commission, grocery, salesman, or manager. Address No. 69, INTELLIGENCER Office.

A LADY (FRIEND) DESIRES A POSITION AS companion to refined lady. No objection to country or traveling. Address No. 71, this Office.

A LADY (FRIEND) DESIRES ENGAGEMENT for office work, or linen room in boarding-house. Experienced in duties of room-clerk in first-class seashore hotel. Address No. 72, this Office.

BOOKKEEPER, EXPERIENCED, ACCURATE, wants position where strict integrity and thorough interest in duties would be valued. Has knowledge of typewriting. Address No. 70, this Office.

WANTED.—A FRIEND TO ASSIST IN CAR- ing for two young children in Friends' family. Address MOORE, 2 E. 14th St., New York City.

TWO PLEASANT ROOMS WITH GOOD board. Private family, near trolley, and three minutes' walk from 52d Street Station, 1484 N. 55th street, West Philadelphia.

Gardener or Nurseryman wishes a position. Unmarried; 35; over ten years' experience in the care of all kinds of trees, shrubbery, and plants. Good propagator; character unquestionable; capable of managing men. Private place preferred. Best of reference. WM. H. BRINTON, Atglen, Pa.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING
The Young Friends' Association Office
has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1:30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St. ANNA JENKINS FERRIS, Corresponding Secretary.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

FOR SALE.
A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 12 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

Agents Wanted
in every county to sell "The True Story of the Christiana Riot," a book of exciting events that finally led to the Civil War. Cloth edition, gilt title. For particulars and territory, address MARVIN E. BUSHONG, May, Lancaster county, Pa.

THE WORK BUREAU
AT THE
Star Centre, 700 Lombard Street, Phila.
is prepared to supply persons wishing Colored Help for domestic service, or to do plain sewing or office cleaning. A number of boys between the age of 15 and 21 want situations in city or country. Address as above.

Wanted—Homes for Children.
The Board of Children's Guardians of the District of Columbia desires to communicate with persons who will take homeless children into their families on indenture or by adoption. Children both white and colored, from birth to thirteen years of age, are available. Full legal control given. Write for information and application blank to S. S. PARKMAN, 472 Louisiana Avenue, Washington, D. C.

Young Friends' Association.

The annual meeting of the Young Friends' Association will be held in the Lecture Room, Fifteenth and Race Streets, on Second-day evening, Second month 13, at 8 p. m. All are invited.

PROGRAM:

- I. Early Friends as they appeared to the World. ("The Quakers.") Frederick Storrs Turner, chapters vii. to x.)
Howard M. Cooper.
- II. Review of Tolstoy's "What is Art?"
Howard M. Jenkins.

ISABEL CHAMBERS, Secretary.

THE TWELFTH ANNUAL OYSTER SUPPER

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE
Friends' Home for Children, 4011 Aspen Street,
(Non-Sectarian)

AT THE ODD FELLOWS' TEMPLE,
Broad and Cherry Streets,

Third-day, Second Month 14, 1899, from 5 to 8 p. m.

This Home provides shelter temporarily, until it can secure good private homes for orphan, neglected and destitute children, and we ask your aid.

ENTERTAINMENT

Will consist of an opening address by J. A. M. Passmore, on "The Benefits of This and Kindred Homes." Lecture by Joseph S. Walton, Principal of Friends' Central School, "Early Influences of the Society of Friends in Pennsylvania." Elocutionary Exercises by Miss Jessie Dalrymple, Teacher of Elocution in the Philadelphia High School for Girls.

The Supper will consist of Raw, Fried (H. Mosebach & Son) and Panned Oysters, Cranberries, Cold Meats, Pickles, Ice Cream, Cake. Come and enjoy a good supper, and help a worthy cause.

Price of tickets for Supper and Entertainment $1.00.

Tickets can be had at

FRIENDS' BOOK ASSOCIATION, 1500 Race St.

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION CENTRE

OF THE

AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR THE EXTENSION
OF UNIVERSITY TEACHING.

Reception for W. Hudson Shaw, M. A.

AT THE CLOSE

OF THE FIRST LECTURE OF

A COURSE OF SIX LECTURES

ON

England in the XVIII Century,

to be given in the Assembly Room of Friends' Central School, 15th and Race Sts., at 8 p. m., as follows:

- SIXTH-DAY, Second Mo. 17th,
"Modern England."
FOURTH-DAY, 2nd Mo. 22d,
"The Political Awakening."
FOURTH-DAY, 3rd Mo. 1st,
"King George III., 1760-1783."
FOURTH-DAY, 3rd Mo. 8th,
"The American Revolution."
FOURTH-DAY, Third Mo. 15th,
"The Religious Revolution of the XVIII Century."
FOURTH-DAY, Third Mo. 29th,
"Dr. Johnson."

Tickets for the Course, including reserved seats, $2.00. Single admission, 50 cents. Syllabus, 15 cents. On sale at Friends' Book Association, 15th and Race Sts.

A POSTAL CARD RECEIVES PROMPT ATTENTION.

JOHN S. CONRAD,

LAUNDRY,

2103, 2105 COLUMBIA AVENUE, PHILA.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.

Established 1820 at 824 North Second Street.

GEO. C. NEWMAN,
INCORPORATED.

Fine Art Store,

Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, Engravings, etc.
Parlor Mirrors and Fine Gold Frames.

Framing of Studies a Specialty.

806 MARKET STREET,
PHILADELPHIA.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

$15,000

First Mortgage—Thirty Year
5 per ct. Gold Bonds

OF THE

NARBERTH SEWERAGE COMPANY,

NARBERTH, PENNA.

FREE FROM STATE TAX

Capital Stock—full paid in cash, $30,000.00

First Mortgage Bonds, total issue, 15,000.00

Net Revenue over all expenses

for 1898, $ 1,360.00

Interest on $15,000 of Bonds, 750.00

Surplus, $610.00

W. G. DABBS, President.

CONRAD S. CLOTHIER, JR., Vice President.

JOHN B. CLOTHIER, Sec. and Treas.

Denomination of Bonds, $250 each.
Interest payable June 1st and December
1st at office of The Commonwealth Title and Trust Co., of Philad'a, the Trustee.

This Company has practically an exclusive franchise in the Borough of Narberth, only three miles from the Philadelphia City line, and can connect at any time with the City sewer without charge. It also has a right to construct a Sewerage system anywhere in Lower Merion Township, an exceedingly valuable franchise. This Company has now between six and seven miles laid through the Borough of Narberth, at a cost of between $30,000 and $35,000.

This Sewerage system is very popular, and the revenue steadily increasing, as the terms are very reasonable—$15 per annum for a dwelling, and $10 for a stable.

Price of Bonds, par and accrued interest.

WM. P. HUSTON,
103 Girard Building, Philad'a.

A boy may arrive safely at school with his "shining morning face," but, by recess, to quote Charles Lamb, "If dirt were trumps, what hands he would hold." Think of those hands with ink stains, cuts and slivers, and the discomfort that would result from washing them with harsh soaps. Ivory Soap for years has stood the test of use in the lavatories of many of our best public schools, and is recommended by no less a personage than the boy himself.

IT FLOATS.

Copyright, 1893, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,
Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St., (4th door bel. Chestnut St.),
PHILADELPHIA.

Swarthmore.

For rent or sale, Queen Anne Cottage, 12 rooms, steam heat, and open fire grates. The location is very delightful, directly overlooking the athletic grounds of the College, and very close to the meeting-house; one acre of ground, and plenty of fruit. Apply to
DAVID SCANNELL, 814 Arch Street.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

John C. Hancock & Co.,
N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.
(P. & R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF
LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING
Telephone Connection.

Publisher's Department.

. The Delaware Fire Insurance Company, Philadelphia, sends out a card, 9 inches by 11, with a cord attached for hanging up in an office, containing an extract from the address of President McKinley at Tuskegee, Alabama, (Booker T. Washington's Colored School), on the 19th of Twelfth month. The President's theme was "Integrity and Industry," and what he said in the extract was very good; we print it below.

. Extract from President McKinley's address:

"Integrity and industry are the best possessions which any man can have, and every man can have them. Nobody can give them to him or take them from him. He cannot acquire them by inheritance; he cannot buy them or borrow them. They belong to the individual, and are his unquestionable property. He alone can part with them. They are a good thing to have and to keep. They make happy homes; they achieve success in every walk of life; they have won the greatest triumphs for mankind. They will bring you a comfortable living, and make you respect yourself, and command the respect of your fellows. They are indispensable to success. They are invincible. The merchant requires the clerk whom he employs to have them. The railroad corporation inquires whether the man seeking employment possesses them. They are the only keys to open with certainty the door of opportunity to struggling manhood. Employment waits on them; capital requires them; citizenship is not good without them. If you don't already have them—get them."

. The Conard and Jones Company, West Grove, Pa., send us their Floral Catalogue for 1899, an elaborate and striking issue. It is stated to be the largest and most complete ever issued by this firm, consisting of 124 pages. The cover, highly embellished, shows late roses and cannas. Within, the pages are nearly all illustrated. "Many new features have been added in the way of plants, fruits, and flowers, and the entire book teems with descriptions interesting to lovers and growers of flowers."

. "Important Announcement" is the heading of an advertisement appearing in our columns of the old-established seedsmen and florists, Peter Henderson & Co., 35 and 37 Cortlandt St., New York. This announcement is to the effect that this firm no longer supply their seeds to dealers to sell again, so that to procure the Henderson seeds it is necessary to purchase from them direct.

Their advertisement also offers their annual Catalogue entitled "Everything for the Garden," which is a book of 190 pages, containing over seven hundred engravings and six colored plates. This Catalogue is sent to all who send ten cents in stamps to cover the cost of postage and mailing. In addition to the Catalogue, this firm, wishing to trace the result of their advertising in different papers, will send to all who state where they saw the advertisement a trial collection of six packets of choice vegetable and flower seeds, contained in a red envelope, which when empty and returned with an order from Catalogue will be accepted as twenty-five cents in part payment.

S. W. BLACK'S SON, EDWARD T. BLACK
REAL ESTATE AGENT
AND BROKER
128 South Seventh Street, Philad'a.

Announcement.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a Select Stock of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER,
(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 N. 13th Street.

CHARLES BURTON,
Practical House and Sign Painter,
Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.
LAW }
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

THE PENINGTON,
Permanent and Transient Boarding
for Friends.
215 E. 15th Street, New York City.

THE PENNHURST,
MICHIGAN AVENUE, NEAR THE BEACH,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.
OPEN ALL THE YEAR.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc.
Send for illustrated booklet.
JAMES HOOD.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,
325 SWIDE STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

Friends' Book Association,
OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,
Kindergarten, School Supplies.
All Books furnished at as low prices as they can be purchased elsewhere. Friends' Books and Literature a specialty. Also everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.
Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40 pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins. Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 2 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION,
Limited,
921 Arch Street, Phila.

WE NO LONGER SUPPLY SEEDS TO DEALERS.
PURCHASE FROM US DIRECT.

Everything FOR THE Garden

"Everything for the Garden" is the title of our Catalogue for 1899, and it really is a 190-page book, 9 x 11 inches, containing over 700 engravings and 6 superb colored plates of Seeds and Plants. And as all are drawn from nature, we show, as in a looking-glass, the best of the old and the latest of the new.

To trace advertising, and give our Catalogue the largest possible distribution, we make the following unusually liberal offer:

Every Empty Envelope Counts as Cash.

To every one who will state where this advertisement was seen, and who encloses us 10 cents (in stamps), we will mail the Catalogue, and also send, free of charge, our famous 50-cent "Empire State" Collection of Seeds, containing one packet each of New Large-flowering Sweet Peas, New Butterfly Pansy, New Jubilee Asters, New Golden Rose Celery, New York Lettuce, and Ponderosa Tomato, in a red envelope, which, when emptied and returned, will be accepted as a 25-cent cash payment on any order of goods selected from Catalogue to the amount of $1.00 and upward.

PETER HENDERSON & Co.
35 & 37 CORTLANDT ST. NEW YORK

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
SPEED.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
Makes the food more delicious and wholesome
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia
 409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
 President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD TRUST CO.
 LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND CAPITAL, $1,000,000
 SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS,
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
 WM. NEWBOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
 EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
 CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
 JOHN A. BROWN, Jr.,
 BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
 JOHN B. GARRETT,
 PEMBERTON S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
 GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
 WILLIAM H. GAW,
 FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
 HENRY TATNALL,
 ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
 JOHN C. SIMS,
 JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
 Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WALL PAPER of
Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
 Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

Brass and Enameled
BEDSTEADS.

Spring, Hair, and Husk Mattresses.
 Feathers and Down—all qualities.
 MATTRESSES CLEANED AND REMADE.

Josiah G. Williams, 13 N. Eleventh St
 FORMERLY 1027 MARKET ST.

YEO & LUKENS,
STATIONERY • BLANK BOOKS • PRINTING

23 North 13th Street (above Market)
 613 Walnut Street.

Law and Conveyancing
 BLANKS. PHILADELPHIA.

New York Public Library
 40 Lafayette Place
 Undertaker
 and Embalmer,
 1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.
 Telephone 2-28-25-A.

6% GILT EDGE GOLD MORTGAGES

in large and small amounts,
 upon properties in thriving
 and rapidly growing city in
 New York State. Principal
and interest guaranteed by strong institution.

For full information apply to

AMOS M. GOVER,
 22 E. 42d St., New York City.

J. T. JACKSON & CO.,
Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ prct Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
 JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS
 305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.
 FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities
 a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Are You Going
To California?

The California Limited, Santa
 Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation
 car with spacious parlor,
 especially for use of ladies and children. 2¾ days Chicago
 to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,

The Nicholson, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
 CHICAGO.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE
 CHEAPEST AND BEST.

One small box will make one pint Best Liquid Dyeing.
 Depot 233 N. Second St., Philad'a.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

THE NEW YORK
PUBLIC LIBRARY
ASTOR, LENOX AND
TILDEN FOUNDATIONS

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, SECOND MONTH 18, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY Friends' Intelligencer Association, (LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—VII., . . .	121
POEM: FIDELITY, (by J. G. Whittier), . . .	121
THE STORY OF PETER YARNALL, . . .	121
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS:
Old Testament Lessons, . . .	122
New Testament, "International" Text, . . .	123
COLORED FARMERS IN THE SOUTH, . . .	124
THE POWER OF CHEERFULNESS, . . .	126
INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY, . . .	127
PERSEVERANCE NECESSARY, . . .	127
EDITORIAL:
The Prophesying of Smooth Things, . . .	128
An Announcement, . . .	128
Notes, . . .	128, 129
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS, . . .	129
NEWS OF FRIENDS, . . .	130
LETTERS FROM ISAAC WILSON.—VIII., . . .	130
A FAVORABLE VIEW, . . .	131
FROM A NEW MEMBER, . . .	131
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . . .	132, 133
CURRENT LITERATURE, . . .	133, 134
POETRY: Growing Old; The Washington Monument, . . .	134
THE GREAT SALT LAKE, . . .	134
OLD AND NEW FURNITURE, . . .	135
PRIDE AND PRIDE, . . .	136
A STORY OF PHILLIPS BROOKS, . . .	136
FABLES OF THE HOUR, . . .	136
MISCELLANY: Women and Conservatism; Original Science by the Children; New York's Need of Shade Trees; America and Europe: A Military Comparison; Trusts in "Natural Gas Belt"; "Zero Weather," . . .	137, 138
WAR AND PEACE NOTES, . . .	138
METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY FOR FIRST MONTH, 1899, . . .	138
CURRENT EVENTS, . . .	139
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS, . . .	140
NOTICES, . . .	140

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE

CHEAPEST AND BEST.

One small box will make one pint Best Liquid Bluing.
Depot 233 N. Second St., Philad'a.

POSTPONEMENT.

Young Friends' Association.

The annual meeting of the Young Friends' Association will be held in the Lecture Room, Fifteenth and Race Streets, on Second-day evening, Second month 20, at 8 p. m.

All are invited.

PROGRAM:

- I. Early Friends as they appeared to the World. ("The Quakers." Frederick Storrs Turner, chapters vii. to x.)

Howard M. Cooper.

- II. Review of Tolstoy's "What is Art?"

Howard M. Jenkins.

ISABEL CHAMBERS, Secretary.

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION CENTRE

OF THE

AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR THE EXTENSION
OF UNIVERSITY TEACHING.

Reception for W. Hudson Shaw, M.A.

AT THE CLOSE

OF THE FIRST LECTURE OF

A COURSE OF SIX LECTURES

ON

England in the XVIII Century,

to be given in the Assembly Room of Friends' Central School, 15th and Race Sts., at 8 p.m., as follows:

SIXTH-DAY, Second Mo. 17th,

"Modern England."

FOURTH-DAY, 2nd Mo. 22d,

"The Political Awakening."

FOURTH-DAY, 3rd Mo. 1st,

"King George III., 1760-1783."

FOURTH-DAY, 3rd Mo. 8th,

"The American Revolution."

FOURTH-DAY, Third Mo. 15th,

"The Religious Revolution of the XVIII Century."

FOURTH-DAY, Third Mo. 29th,

"Dr. Johnson."

Tickets for the Course, including reserved seats, $2.00.

Single admission, 50 cents. Syllabus, 25 cents. On sale at Friends' Book Association, 15th and Race Sts.

Swarthmore.

For rent or sale, Queen Anne Cottage, 12 rooms, steam heat, and open fire grates. The location is very delightful, directly overlooking the athletic grounds of the College, and very close to the meeting-house; one acre of ground, and plenty of fruit. Apply to

DAVID SCANNELL, 814 Arch Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

Wanted—Homes for Children.

The Board of Children's Guardians of the District of Columbia desires to communicate with persons who will take homeless children into their families on indenture or by adoption. Children both white and colored, from birth to thirteen years of age, are available. Full legal control given. Write for information and application blank to S. S. PARKMAN, 478 Louisiana Avenue, Washington, D.C.

Gardener or Nurseryman wishes a position. Unmarried; 35; over ten years' experience in the care of all kinds of trees, shrubbery, and plants. Good propagator; character unquestionable; capable of managing men. Private place preferred. Best of reference. WM. H. BRINTON, Arglen, Pa.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING

The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St.

ANNA JENKINS FERRIS,

Corresponding Secretary.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON

can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

Agents Wanted

in every county to sell "The True Story of the Christiana Riot," a book of exciting events that finally led to the Civil War. Cloth edition, gilt title. For particulars and territory, address: MARVIN E. BUSHONG, May, Lancaster county, Pa.

THE WORK BUREAU

AT THE

Star Centre, 700 Lombard Street, Phila.

is prepared to supply persons wishing Colored Help for domestic service, or to do plain sewing or office cleaning. A number of boys between the age of 15 and 21 want situations in city or country.

Address as above.

THE PENINGTON,

Permanent and Transient Boarding
for Friends.

215 E. 15th Street, New York City.

THE PENNHURST,

MICHIGAN AVENUE, NEAR THE BEACH,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.

OPEN ALL THE YEAR.

The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet.

JAMES HOOD.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
 { Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDR STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving DAIRIES. ing families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.

JOSEPH L. JONES.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,
FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.JOSEPH S. WALTON,
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, } Principals.

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.*OAK GROVE SEMINARY
AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends.
Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.*

For Catalogue address,

PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, Maine*Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.*SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,
(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.*

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.*Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars toLOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,Or CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.*

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.*Cheltenham Hills School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,
will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.The Favorite Food.

Pillsbury's VITOS, the ideal wheat food for breakfast, is the favorite in the kitchen as well as in the dining room. One package not only will furnish many different meals, but also will serve as the basis of many different dishes. Unlike other breakfast foods, Pillsbury's VITOS makes appropriate dishes for dinner, tea and supper. Mistress and maid agree that Pillsbury's VITOS is the ideal wheat food for all occasions.

Made by THE PILLSBURY-WASHBURN FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE.

Announcement.*We will continue the manufacture of Custom
Shoes and carry a Select Stock of our own reliable work.SAMUEL DUTCHER,

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 N. 13th Street.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

John C. Hancock & Co.,N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.
(P. & R. R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF

LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING

Telephone Connection.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,
Manufacturing Optician.118 South Fifteenth St., (4th door bel. Chestnut St.), PHILADELPHIA.F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY
712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, SECOND MONTH 25, 1899.

NEW YORK
PUBLIC LIBRARY

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—VIII.,	141
POEM: THE LARGER FAITH,	141
THE UNDERGROUND RAILROAD,	141
THE STORY OF PETER YARNALL, (Continued),	142
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS:
Old Testament Lessons,	144
New Testament, "International" Text,	145
LETTERS FROM ISAAC WILSON.—IX.,	146
ENGLAND'S REPLY TO THE CZAR,	147
APPEAL FOR MT. PLEASANT SCHOOL,	147
EDITORIAL:
The President's Attitude: The People's Duty,	148
Notes,	148, 149
BIRTHS, DEATHS,	149, 150
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	150
THE WAR ON THE FILIPINOS,	150
FRIENDS MOVING IN COMPANY,	151
THE DOUKHOBORS AT HALIFAX, (with Illustration),	151
LITERARY NOTES,	152
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	153, 154
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	154
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	155
COMMUNICATIONS:
Burlington Quarterly Meeting Home,	155
Caution Given,	155
AGAINST LIQUOR LICENSES,	155
THE DOUKHOBORS,	155
FROM A VIRGINIA FRIEND,	155
POETRY: The Frolic of the Winds; The Pathways of the Holy Land,	156
SOCIAL CONDITIONS IN ENGLAND,	156
MISCELLANY: The "Brown Man's Burden"; Life in Siberia; The Earliest Writing in France; Arab Carriers on Vegetable Food; Light on the Philip-pines,	157, 158
CURRENT EVENTS,	158, 159
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	159
NOTICES,	160

A HONEST AND CAPABLE MARRIED MAN, 38, wants position. Experienced in commission, grocery, salesman, or manager. Address No. 69, INTELLIGENCER Office.

A RESPECTABLE COLORED WOMAN, wishes work by the day. Good washer and ironer. Address C., Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race St.

WANTED.—A WORKING HOUSEKEEPER in a family of three. Address F., this Office.

Swarthmore.

For rent or sale, Queen Anne Cottage, 12 rooms, steam heat, and open fire grates. The location is very delightful, directly overlooking the athletic grounds of the College, and very close to the meeting-house; one acre of ground, and plenty of fruit. Apply to DAVID SCANNELL, 814 Arch Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING
The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St.
ANNA JENKINS FERRIS,
Corresponding Secretary.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION CENTRE

OF THE

AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR THE EXTENSION
OF UNIVERSITY TEACHING.

A COURSE OF SIX LECTURES

ON

England in the XVIII Century,

By W. Hudson Shaw, M. A.

in the Assembly Room of Friends' Central School, 15th and Race Sts., at 8 p. m. The remaining lectures of the course are:

FOURTH-DAY, 3rd Mo. 1st,

"King George III., 1760-1783."

FOURTH-DAY, 3rd Mo. 8th,

"The American Revolution."

FOURTH-DAY, 3rd Mo. 15th,

"The Religious Revolution of the XVIII Century."

FOURTH-DAY, 3rd Mo. 29th,

"Dr. Johnson."

Tickets for the Course, including reserved seats, $2.00. Single admission, 50 cents. Syllabus, 25 cents. On sale at Friends' Book Association, 15th and Race Sts.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new.

Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.

Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,

135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

Publisher's Department.

*•• The Index and Title-page for the INTELLIGENCER is ready, and will be immediately sent out to all those whose names are on the Index List,—i. e., those who have heretofore or lately notified us that they desire it. If any others wish it, they will please send us word.

*•• We cannot insert reading matter sent us later than Third-day, and advertisements not later than 9 a. m., Fourth-day. Friends often send copy, saying "please get this in this week, if possible," when the paper is on the press. We try to mail all papers on Fifth-day afternoon, so as to reach at least as far as Chicago by Seventh-day evening.

*•• We have now a supply of "Boston Binders" for the INTELLIGENCER. They are like those previously used, and for a cheap, handy binder, serve the purpose very well. They are considered large enough to hold a whole year, though it requires close packing. The price is 25 cents, and this includes postage.

*•• A friend interested in the "Work Bureau" of the Star Centre, (Philadelphia), writes to one of the editors of the INTELLIGENCER: "Thee will be pleased to know that we have already had response for the advertisement of the Work Bureau, in the INTELLIGENCER. We hope for many more."

We call attention to the advertisement.

*•• Dr. Cutter of Harvard University said in the American Weekly: "The gluten of cereal foods is their nitrogenized element, which is their life-sustaining value, and this in the white and foolishly fashionable flour, is almost entirely removed, while the starch, the inferior element, is left behind and constitutes the entire bulk and inferior nutriment of such flours. To use flour from which the gluten has been removed is almost criminal."

The Franklin Mills, Lockport, N. Y., are making a fine flour from the entire wheat which contains all the element of nutrition needed to build up and sustain every part of the human system.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to
JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

THE WORK BUREAU

AT THE

Star Centre, 700 Lombard Street, Phila.

is prepared to supply persons wishing Colored Help for domestic service, or to do plain sewing or office cleaning. A number of boys between the age of 15 and 21 want situations in city or country.
Address as above.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
*furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.*JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.OAK GROVE SEMINARY
AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends.
Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.

For Catalogue address

PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, MaineFriends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars toLOUIS B. AMBLER, *Principal,*Or CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.ANNIE HEACOCK.
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

Keep a cake of Ivory Soap at the barn, it is most excellent for washing galled spots and scratches on horses, for it will cleanse without irritating.

A WORD OF WARNING.—There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Copyright, 1882, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

The Underground Railroad

FROM SLAVERY TO FREEDOM

By Prof. Wilbur H. Siebert,

CLOTH. CROWN 8VO. $4.00.

It was as a "station-keeper" on this secret thoroughfare for fugitive slaves that Harriet Beecher Stowe gleaned some of the most striking incidents to be found in her Uncle Tom's Cabin.

The APPENDIX contains a list of notable fugitive slave cases, a directory of more than 3,000 names of underground operators arranged alphabetically by States and Counties, and a bibliography.

Send to any bookseller or the publishers;

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY,
NEW YORK.A POSTAL CARD RECEIVES PROMPT ATTENTION.
JOHN S. CONRAD,
LAUNDRY,

2103, 2105 COLUMBIA AVENUE, PHILA.

THE PENINGTON,Permanent and Transient Boarding
for Friends.

215 E. 15th Street, New York City.

THE PENNHURST,MICHIGAN AVENUE, NEAR THE BEACH,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.

OPEN ALL THE YEAR.

The house has every convenience, including electric
elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc.
Send for illustrated booklet.

JAMES HOOD.

Brass and Enameled BEDSTEADS.

Spring, Hair, and Husk Mattresses.

Feathers and Down—all qualities.

MATTRESSES CLEANED AND REMADE.

Josiah G. Williams, 13 N. Eleventh St

FORMERLY 1027 MARKET ST.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,

Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St., (4th door bel. Chestnut St.),
PHILADELPHIA.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, THIRD MONTH 4, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—IX., . . .	161
POEM: WHEAT SHEAVES,	161
THE STORY OF PETER YARNALL, (Continued),	161
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS:
Old Testament Lesson,	163
New Testament, "International" Text,	164
THE VAMPIRE OF WAR,	165
EDITORIAL:
The Common Human Tie,	166
Notes,	166, 167
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	167, 168
LETTERS FROM ISAAC WILSON.—X.,	168
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
Centre Quarterly Meeting,	169
Notes,	170
THE DOUKHOBOR MOVEMENTS, (With Illustrations),	170, 171
FRIENDS' TRACTS IN IRELAND,	172
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	172
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	173
LITERARY NOTES,	174
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	174
COMMUNICATIONS:
Friends' Home for Children,	175
POETRY: Keeping Lent; The Starlings, . . .	175
WILLIAM TALLACK'S VIEWS,	176
TRAITS OF THE CITY POOR,	176
CANADIAN VIEW OF THE DOUKHOBORS, . . .	177
WORKING WOMEN AND THE BALLOT,	177
MISCELLANY: Anti-License Campaign in Kentucky; Good Humor in Cold Weather; Reports on Alaska,	178
CURRENT EVENTS,	179
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	180
NOTICES,	iii

AN HONEST AND CAPABLE MARRIED MAN, 38, wants position. Experienced in commission, grocery, salesman, or manager. Address No. 69, INTELLIGENCER Office.

MATRON WANTED FOR THE FRIENDS' Boarding Home of Burlington Quarterly Meeting, at Trenton, N. J. A member of the Society preferred. Address EDMUND R. WILLETS, Secretary, 219 Greenwood Ave., Trenton, N. J.

WANTED.—A WORKING HOUSEKEEPER in a family of three. Address F., this Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

JENNIE S. MARSHALL,
INSTRUCTOR IN PIANOFORTE,
1624 Tioga St., Phila.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a Select Stock of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER,
(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 N. 13th Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,
1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.
Established 1810 at 364 North Second Street.

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION CENTRE

OF THE
AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR THE EXTENSION
OF UNIVERSITY TEACHING.

A COURSE OF SIX LECTURES

ON

England in the XVIII Century,

By W. Hudson Shaw, M. A.

in the Assembly Room of Friends' Central School, 15th and Race Sts., at 8 p. m. The remaining lectures of the course are:

FOURTH-DAY, 3rd Mo. 8th,
"The American Revolution."
FOURTH-DAY, Third Mo. 15th,
"The Religious Revolution of the XVIII Century."
FOURTH-DAY, Third Mo. 29th,
"Dr. Johnson."

Tickets for the Course, including reserved seats, $2.00. Single admission, 50 cents. Syllabus, 25 cents. On sale at Friends' Book Association, 15th and Race Sts.

F GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

LECTURE

FOR THE

BENEFIT OF SWARTHMORE COLLEGE
By Harriet Stanton Blatch

ON

"War and the Economic Position of Women."

at 226 E. Sixteenth St., New York,

Fifth-day eve., Third month 9th, at 8 o'clock.

Tickets, fifty cents each, may be obtained from Harriet Cox McDowell, 116 West 13th St.
Albert A. Merritt, 37 Columbus Ave.

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION.

A regular meeting of the Young Friends' Association will be held in the Lecture Room, Fifteenth and Race Streets, on Second-day evening, Third month 13th, at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

PROGRAM.

I. Fox, Penn, and Barclay. ("The Quakers," Frederick Storrs Turner. Chapters XI. and XII.)

ANNIE COOPER LIPPINCOTT.

II. Seventeenth Century Quakerism in New York.

JOHN COX, JR.

ESTHER M. STACKHOUSE, Secretary.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR.

OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.

Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year.

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.

The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE PENINGTON,

Permanent and Transient Boarding
for Friends.

215 E. 15th Street, New York City.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING

The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St.

ANNA JENKINS FERRIS,

Corresponding Secretary.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to

JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

THE WORK BUREAU

AT THE

Star Centre, 700 Lombard Street, Phila.

is prepared to supply persons wishing Colored Help for domestic service, or to do plain sewing or office cleaning. A number of boys between the age of 15 and 21 want situations in city or country.
Address as above.

Swarthmore.

For rent or sale, Queen Anne Cottage, 12 rooms, steam heat, and open fire grates. The location is very delightful, directly overlooking the athletic grounds of the College, and very close to the meeting-house; one acre of ground, and plenty of fruit. Apply to

DAVID SCANNELL, 814 Arch Street.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,
FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.OAK GROVE SEMINARY
AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends.
Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.

For Catalogue address,

PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, MaineFriends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,
(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.

Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal

course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especiallyattractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

LOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,

Or JENKINTOWN, PA.

CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK.

LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.LAW } STENOGRAPHER.
CONVENTION }
SCIENCE }

14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.

Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new.

Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange, 135 S. 5th Street, Philada.S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.*Benjamin Green,
33 N. Second St., Philad'a.*WALL PAPER of Attractive StylesPopular Prices
Samples Free to any AddressA. L. Diamant & Co.,
1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.YEO & LUKENS,
STATIONERY • BLANK BOOKS • PRINTING23 North 13th Street (above Market)
613 Walnut Street.Law and Conveyancing
BLANKS. PHILADELPHIA.Ellwood Heacock,UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

Publisher's Department.

*.*The heart of barley, entirely free from bran or hull, makes a palatable cereal food, which not only nourishes those who enjoy health, but is an efficient diuretic, emollient, nutritive, and tonic agent in cases of digestive disorders or intestinal irritation. This new and valuable food is prepared by Farwell & Rhines, Watertown, N. Y. It is recommended by physicians as invaluable in Bright's disease and other diseases of the kidneys and liver, and it is a palatable, attractive breakfast dish for those in good health. Analysis of Barley Crystals shows that it contains 99.1 per cent. of the purest flesh, blood, brain, nerve, bone and muscle-building food. Farwell & Rhines are also makers of the noted "Gluten Flour," "Special Diabetic Flour," and "K. C. Whole Wheat Flour." Their goods have come to be known as the "Criss-Cross Cereals," the criss-cross lines on the face of each package being a part of their trade mark.

Ian Maclaren's Books

"Afterwards and Other Stories," the scenes and characteristics are mostly English, and there is no Scotch dialect in most of them. "It will be read for a generation of years."—Elizabeth Stuart Phelps. Publisher's price, $1.50; here at $1.10; postage, 12 cents extra.

"Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush." Publisher's price, $1.25; here at 78 cents; postage, 11 cents extra. Phoenix edition, publisher's price, 40 cents; here at 28 cents; postage, 6 cents.

"The Days of Auld Lang Syne." Publisher's price, $1.25; here at 78 cents; postage, 11 cents extra.

"Kate Carnegie." Publisher's price, $1.50; here at $1.10; postage, 13 cents.

"The Upper Room." Publisher's price, 50 cents; here at 45 cents, postage, 4 cents extra.

"The Mind of the Master." Publisher's price, $1.50; here at $1.10; postage, 12 cents extra.

"The Cure of Souls." Publisher's price, $1.50; here at $1.10; postage, 12 cents.

"The Ian Maclaren Year Book." Publisher's price, $1.25; here at 90 cents; postage, 7 cents.

"The Potter's Wheel." Publisher's price, $1.25; here at 90 cents; postage; 7 cents extra.

"The Companions of the Sorrowful Way." Publisher's price, 75 cents; here at 57 cents; postage, 6 cents.

"A Doctor of the Old School," illustrated. Publisher's price, $2.00; here at $1.50; postage, 13 cents extra.

Same in Phoenix edition. Publisher's price, 40 cents; here at 28 cents; postage, 7 cents extra.

Mail Orders receive prompt and accurate attention.

Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

A POSTAL CARD RECEIVES PROMPT ATTENTION.
JOHN S. CONRAD,
LAUNDRY,
8103, 8105 COLUMBIA AVENUE, PHILA

NOTICES.

* * The meeting of the Friends' Temperance Workers will be held at 17th street and Girard Avenue, Third month 8, 1899. A literary enigma is on the program. All are invited. Dr. Walton's address deferred until 18th.

WALKER E. LINVILL, President.

* * The Visiting Committee of Baltimore Yearly Meeting have made the following appointments for Third month:

5. Oxford, Pa.
19. York, Pa.
26. Forest Hill, Md.

MARTHA S. TOWNSEND.

* * The united evening meetings (Phila.), during Third month are held at Race above 15th street, at 7.30 o'clock. The company of our members is very desirable, and all others are welcome.

* * The Circular Meeting at Unity and Wain streets, Frankford, will be held on First-day, Third month 12, at 3.30 o'clock. Visiting Friends will be welcome, and the company of Friends generally is invited.

* * The Burlington First-day School Union will meet at Trenton, N. J., Seventh-day, Third month 11, at 10 o'clock a. m. All interested are invited.

DANIEL WILLETS, } Clerks
ANNIE R. WALN, }

* * A Circular Meeting under the care of a committee of the Western Quarterly Meeting will be held at New Garden, on First-day, the 12th of Third month, 1899, to convene at 3 o'clock p. m.

SAMUEL H. BROOMELL, Clerk.

* * Quarterly Meetings in Third month will occur as follows:

9. Salem, Woodstown, N. J.
13. Baltimore, Baltimore, Md.
16. Haddonfield, Moorestown, N. J.

All at 10 a. m.

* * A Circular Meeting, under the care of a Committee of Concord Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Chester, Pa., on First-day, Third month 5, 1899. To convene at 3 o'clock.

MARY P. HARVEY, Clerk.

* * The Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches will attend meetings as follows:

THIRD MONTH:

19. Green Street, 10.30 a. m.

FOURTH MONTH:

2. Frankford, 10.30 a. m.
16. West Philadelphia, 11 a. m.
30. Fairhill, 3.30 p. m.

FIFTH MONTH:

21. Merion, 10.30 p. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?

No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to. 1311 Market St., Phila.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDD STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

S. W. BLACK'S SON, EDWARD T. BLACK
REAL ESTATE AGENT
AND BROKER

125 South Seventh Street, Philad'a.

OLD POINT COMFORT, RICHMOND, AND WASHINGTON

SIX-DAY TOUR VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The third of the present series of personally conducted tours to Old Point Comfort, Richmond, and Washington via the Pennsylvania Railroad, will leave New York and Philadelphia on Seventh-day, Third month 18.

Tickets, including transportation, meals en route in both directions, transfers of passengers and baggage, hotel accommodations at Old Point Comfort, Richmond, and Washington, and carriage ride about Richmond—in fact, every necessary expense for a period of six days—will be sold at rate of $34.00 from New York, Brooklyn, and Newark; $32.50 from Trenton; $31.00 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other stations.

OLD POINT COMFORT ONLY.

Tickets to Old Point Comfort only, including luncheon on going trip, one and three-fourths days' board at that place, and good to return direct by regular trains within six days, will be sold in connection with this tour at rate of $15.00 from New York; $13.50 from Trenton; $12.50 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points.

For itineraries and full information apply to ticket agents; Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 789 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.; or Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia

WASHINGTON.

THREE-DAY PERSONALLY-CONDUCTED TOUR VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

The third of the present series of Pennsylvania Railroad three-day personally conducted tours to Washington, D. C., will leave on Fifth-day next, Third month 9. The rate, $14.50 from New York, $11.50 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points, include all necessary expenses during the entire trip—transportation, hotel accommodations, and Capitol guide fees. An experienced Chaperon will also accompany the party.

For itineraries, tickets, and full information apply to ticket agents; Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 789 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.; or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

FLORIDA.

LAST TOUR OF THE SEASON VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The last of the present series of popular Pennsylvania Railroad personally-conducted tours to Jacksonville will leave New York and Philadelphia by special train of Pullman Palace cars on Third-day next, Third month 7.

Round-trip tickets, valid to return on regular trains until May 31, 1899, and including railway transportation in each direction, and Pullman accommodations (one berth), and meals on special train going, will be sold at the following rates: New York, $50.00; Philadelphia, $48.00; Canandaigua, $52.85; Erie, $54.85; Wilkesbarre, $50.35; Pittsburg, $53.00; and at proportionate rates from other points.

For tickets, itineraries, and full information apply to ticket agents; Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; Thomas Purdy, Passenger Agent Long Branch District, 789 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.; Thos. E. Watt, Passenger Agent Western District, Pittsburg, Pa.; or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

Get it Now.

After a while it will be too late to secure a copy of "The Christiana Riot." It is well worth the money to any Friend. Illustrations of the Riot House, and portraits of Castner Hanway, Joseph Scarlett, and Elijah Lewis are some of its many features.

Cloth Edition, Gilt-edge, Price $1.00 Postpaid.

Address all orders to
MARVIN E. BUSHONG, General Agent,
May, Lancaster county, Pa.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.

Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40 pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins. Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 2 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION,
Limited,
921 Arch Street, Phila.

Read These Books

TO CALIFORNIA AND BACK,
176 pp., 176 illustrations.
5 cts.

THE MOKI SNAKE DANCE,
60 pp., 64 illustrations.
3 cts.

GRAND CANON OF ARIZONA,
32 pp., 15 illustrations.
2 cts.

NEW MEXICO HEALTH RESORTS,
80 pp., 31 illustrations.
2 cts.

ARIZONA HEALTH RESORTS,
72 pp., 18 illustrations.
2 cts.

LAS VEGAS HOT SPRINGS
48 pp., 39 illustrations.
2 cts.

Mailed free
for postage named

They tell the story

of wonderful sights and scenes, and special resorts for tourists and homeseekers in the Great West. They are published by the

Santa Fe Route,

are literary and artistic, and will make you better acquainted with the attractions of your own land.

C. A. HIGGINS,
A.G.P.A., A.T. & S.F. R'y, CHICAGO.
Great Northern Bldg.

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Dreer's Garden Calendar For 1899

An up-to-date Catalogue of the best new and rare, as well as the cream of the standard varieties of

Seeds, Plants, Bulbs, Etc.

A handsome book of 168 pages, profusely illustrated, mailed FREE to those who state where they saw this advertisement.

HENRY A. DREER, 714 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia
409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA B. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3 1/4 MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD TRUST CO.

LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND

CAPITAL, $1,000,000
SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS,
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWBOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

HENRY TATNALL, Vice-President.
N. B. CRENSHAW, Real Estate Officer.
A. A. JACKSON, Ass't to Pres. and Vice-Pres.
WM. E. AUMONT, Manager Trust Dept.
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, Jr.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN B. GARRETT,
PETERBORTON S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

Merchants' Trust Company,
611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
CAPITAL (paid in), 250,000.00
SURPLUS, 50,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 30,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveying done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.
JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.
ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.
WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS

NICHOLAS BRICK,
SPENCER M. JANNEY,
S. DAVIS PAGE,
JOSEPH R. RHOADS,
JOHN F. LEWIS,
THOMAS R. GILL,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN,
ALFRED I. PHILLIPS,
EDWARD S. SAYRES,
I. BOLTON WINPENNY,
ELLWOOD BECKER,
EDWIN S. DIXON,
WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE
CHEAPEST AND BEST.

One small box will make one pint Best Liquid Bluing.
Depot 233 N. Second St., Philad'a.

Friends' Book Association, OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,
Kindergarten, School Supplies.

All BOOKS furnished at as low prices as they can be purchased elsewhere. Friends' Books and Literature a specialty. Also everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

CLEMENT A.

Under
and Embalmer,
1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

6% GILT EDGE GOLD MORTGAGES

in large and small amounts, upon properties in thriving and rapidly growing city in New York State. Principal and interest guaranteed by strong institution.

For full information apply to

AMOS M. GOVER,
22 E. 42d St., New York City.

J. T. JACKSON & CO.,
Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5 1/2 per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. W. M. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILA'DA.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.
FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

A CHEAP, NEAT, CONVENIENT
BINDER FOR
FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER.

Will hold a full year, by packing close Better, if used for half year.
Price, 25 cents, including postage, if sent by mail.

By putting your papers together, you have at the year a valuable volume, of interest and of reading matter.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, THIRD MONTH 11, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—X.	181
POETRY: GOLDEN AGE, (Whittier).	181
MANKIND ONE BODY: REVIEW OF BOOKS BY DR. BOARDMAN AND DR. TRUE-BLOOD.	181
THE STORY OF PETER YARNALL, (Continued).	182
"THE AMERICAN COLONY" IN JERUSALEM.	183
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS: Old Testament Lesson.	185
New Testament, "International" Text.	186
TWO VOICES FROM THE PAST.	187
CHEERFULNESS.	187
EDITORIAL:
The Rights of Man.	188
Notes.	188
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS.	188, 189, 190
THE PRESIDENT AND THE CONFERENCE.	190
VISITS TO FRIENDS IN NEW JERSEY: J. J. CORNELL.	190
LETTERS FROM ISAAC WILSON.—XI.	191
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
Blue River Quarterly Meeting.	192
Notes.	193
DEVELOPMENT AMONG INDIANS.	193
A WORD OF ENCOURAGEMENT.	193
LITERARY NOTES.	194
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.	194, 195
COMMUNICATIONS:
Record of the Weather.	195
Water and Imperialism.	195
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.	195, 196
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.	197
DOUKHOBOR REPORT.	197
AGUINALDO AND THE FILIPINOS.	198
MISCELLANY: Whittier's Perfect Lines; Alcohol for Severe Effort.	198
CURRENT EVENTS.	199
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS.	200
NOTICES.	iii

AN HONEST AND CAPABLE MARRIED MAN, 38, wants position. Experienced in commission, grocery, salesman, or manager. Address No. 69, INTELLIGENCER Office.

MATRON WANTED FOR THE FRIENDS' Boarding Home of Burlington Quarterly Meeting, at Trenton, N. J. A member of the Society preferred. Address EDMUND R. WILLETS, Secretary, 219 Greenwood Ave., Trenton, N. J.

WANTED—A PRINCIPAL FOR ABINGTON Friends' Boarding and Day School. Address CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec., Ogontz, Pa.

WANTED.—A POSITION AS COMPANION and assistant housekeeper, (or separate), at sea-shore or elsewhere. Address S. C., 803 W. 9th St., Wilmington, Del.

WANTED.—A WORKING HOUSEKEEPER in a family of three. Address F., this Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1266 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

JENNIE S. MARSHALL,
INSTRUCTOR IN PIANOFORTE,
1614 Tioga St., Phila.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a Select Stock of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER,
(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 N. 13th Street.

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION CENTRE

OF THE
AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR THE EXTENSION
OF UNIVERSITY TEACHING.

A COURSE OF SIX LECTURES

ON

England in the XVIII Century,

By W. Hudson Shaw, M. A.

in the Assembly Room of Friends' Central School, 15th and Race Sts., at 8 p. m. The remaining lectures of the course are:

FOURTH-DAY, Third Mo. 15th,
"The Religious Revolution of the XVIII Century."
FOURTH-DAY, Third Mo. 29th,
"Dr. Johnson."

Tickets for the Course, including reserved seats, $2.00. Single admission, 50 cents. Syllabus, 25 cents. On sale at Friends' Book Association, 15th and Race Sts.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,
325 SWEDS STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

S. W. BLACK'S SON, EDWARD T. BLACK
REAL ESTATE AGENT
AND BROKER
125 South Seventh Street, Philad'a.

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION.

A regular meeting of the Young Friends' Association will be held in the Lecture Room, Fifteenth and Race Streets, on Second-day evening, Third month 13th, at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

PROGRAM.

I. Fox, Penn, and Barclay. ("The Quakers," Frederick Storrs Turner. Chapters XI. and XII.)

ANNIE COOPER LIPPINCOTT.

II. Seventeenth Century Quakerism in New York.

JOHN COX, JR.

ESTHER M. STACKHOUSE, Secretary.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR.
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year.
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE PENINGTON,
Permanent and Transient Boarding
for Friends.
215 E. 15th Street, New York City.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St. ANNA JENKINS FERRIS, Corresponding Secretary.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

THE WORK BUREAU

AT THE

Star Centre, 700 Lombard Street, Phila.
is prepared to supply persons wishing Colored Help for domestic service, or to do plain sewing or office cleaning. A number of boys between the age of 15 and 21 want situations in city or country.
Address as above.

Swarthmore.

For rent or sale, Queen Anne Cottage, 12 rooms, steam heat, and open fire grates. The location is very delightful, directly overlooking the athletic grounds of the College, and very close to the meeting-house; one acre of ground, and plenty of fruit. Apply to DAVID SCANNELL, 814 Arch Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,
1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.
Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.OAK GROVE SEMINARY
AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends.
Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.

For Catalogue address

PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, MaineFriends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,
(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

LOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,

Or, Jenkintown, Pa.

CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Cheltenham Hills School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,
will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-48-85 D.LAW } STENOGRAPHER.
CONVENTION }
SCIENCE }

14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.

Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

If you are an experienced camper, you select your outfit for its compactness, discarding everything bulky and superfluous; but, cut the list as you may, there's soap—that you can't do without.

Ivory Soap will answer for all purposes and be the best for each, for the dishes, pots and pans, for the clothes, but above all—for the bath at sundown, when, after a hard day's tramp, you have a healthy tired feeling, not enervation, but that which makes the muscles harder, the lungs stronger and the brain quicker. Ivory Soap will help, and—it floats.

Copyright, 1891, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William
Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40
pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins.
Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 2 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION,
Limited,
921 Arch Street, Phila.WILLIAM S. YARNALL,
Manufacturing Optician.118 South Fifteenth St., (4th door bel. Chestnut St.), PHILADELPHIA.YEO & LUKENS,
STATIONERY • BLANK BOOKS • PRINTING23 North 13th Street (above Market)
613 Walnut Street.Law and Conveyancing
BLANKS.

PHILADELPHIA.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new.

Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.

Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange.

135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

NOTICES.

 It is proposed holding an Educational Conference at Race Street meeting-house, Philadelphia, on Seventh day, 25th inst, probably in the afternoon. For particulars see next week's INTELLIGENCER.

LEWIS V. SMEDLEY, Clerk.

 The Visiting Committee of Baltimore Yearly Meeting have made the following appointments for Third month:

- 19. York, Pa.
- 26. Forest Hill, Md.

MARTHA S. TOWNSEND.

 The united evening meetings (Phila.), during Third month are held at Race above 15th street, at 7.30 o'clock. The company of our members is very desirable, and all others are welcome.

 The Circular Meeting at Unity and Waln streets, Frankford, will be held on First-day, Third month 12, at 3.30 o'clock. Visiting Friends will be welcome, and the company of Friends generally is invited.

 The Burlington First-day School Union will meet at Trenton, N. J., Seventh-day, Third month 11, at 10 o'clock a. m. All interested are invited.

DANIEL WILLETS, } Clerks
ANNIE R. WALN, }

 A Circular Meeting under the care of a committee of the Western Quarterly Meeting will be held at New Garden, on First-day, the 12th of Third month, 1899, to convene at 3 o'clock p. m.

SAMUEL H. BROOMELL, Clerk.

 Quarterly Meetings in Third month will occur as follows:

- 13. Baltimore, Baltimore, Md.
 - 16. Haddonfield, Moorestown, N. J.
- All at 10 a. m.

 The Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches will attend meetings as follows:

THIRD MONTH:

- 19. Green Street, 10.30 a. m.

FOURTH MONTH:

- 2. Frankford, 10.30 a. m.
- 16. West Philadelphia, 11 a. m.
- 30. Fairhill, 3.30 p. m.

FIFTH MONTH:

- 21. Merion, 10.30 p. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,
33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

WALL PAPER of Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,
1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

DENTISTS in Germany are using false teeth made of paper, instead of porcelain or mineral composition. These paper teeth are said to be very satisfactory, as they do not break or chip, are not sensitive to heat or cold or to the action of the moisture of the mouth, and are very cheap.

THE Arab sailors believe that the high seas off the coast of Abyssinia are enchanted, and whenever they find themselves among them they recite verses which they suppose have a tendency to subdue them.

ACCUSE NOT NATURE

She will do her part if you plant

C. & J.

42 Most Popular FLOWERS Sent Postpaid 30c
20 Pkts. Choice Seeds, 22 Bulbs

Finest 30c. collection ever offered.
1 pkt. Mary Semple Asters, 3 colors.
1 " Alyssum, Little Gem. Imixed.
1 " Beautiful Hybrid Begonias.
1 " Boquet Chrysanthemum.
1 " Umbrella Plant.
1 " Carnation Marguerite.
1 " Double Chinese Pink.
1 " Heliotrope, mixed.
1 " Forget-me-not Victoria.
1 " Diamond Flower.
1 " Petunia Hybrid Mixed.
1 " Phlox Drummondii.
1 " Poppy Double Carnation.
1 " Sunshine Pansy.
1 " California Sweet Peas.
1 " Lovely Butterfly Flower.
1 " Giant Verbena, mixed.
1 " Imposee, Northern Light.
1 " Washington Weeping Palm.
1 " Japan Morning Glory, on which we offer $25 in Cash Premiums for Largest Flowers.
22 BULBS—1 new CANNA LILY, "Crimson Queen"; 1 double Tuberose; 1 Silver Leaf do.; 2 Hybrid Gladiolus; 2 Butterfly do.; 3 Spanish Iris; 2 Climbing Wisteria; 10 lovely mixed Oxalis.
"NEW GUIDE TO ROSE CULTURE"
120 Pages, FREE with every order.

The Conard & Jones Co., Box 6 West Grove, Pa.

Are You Going
To California?

The California Limited, Santa Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation car with spacious parlor, especially for use of ladies and children. 2 3/4 days Chicago to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,
The Nicholson, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
CHICAGO.

WARRANTED SEED

As the original introducers of the Cory Corn, Hubbard Squash, Eclipse Beet, Miller Melon, Burbank Potato, All Seasons Cabbage, Danvers Carrot, and over thirty other well-known vegetables, we solicit a share of the patronage of the public.

Prices low. Tested Novelties—some found in no other catalogue. $100.00 to seed purchasers for a name for our new squash. All our seed are warranted, as per page 1 of our free catalogue.

J. J. H. GREGORY & SON,
Marblehead, Mass.

Ian Maclaren's Books

"Afterwards and Other Stories," the scenes and characteristics are mostly English, and there is no Scotch dialect in most of them. "It will be read for a generation of years."—Elizabeth Stuart Phelps. Publisher's price, $1.50; here at $1.10; postage, 12 cents extra.

"Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush." Publisher's price, $1.25; here at 78 cents; postage, 11 cents extra. Phoenix edition, publisher's price, 40 cents; here at 28 cents; postage, 6 cents.

"The Days of Auld Lang Syne." Publisher's price, $1.25; here at 78 cents; postage, 11 cents extra.

"Kate Carnegie." Publisher's price, $1.50; here at $1.10; postage, 13 cents.

"The Upper Room." Publisher's price, 50 cents; here at 45 cents, postage, 4 cents extra.

"The Mind of the Master." Publisher's price, $1.50; here at $1.10; postage, 12 cents extra.

"The Cure of Souls." Publisher's price, $1.50; here at $1.10; postage, 12 cents.

"The Ian Maclaren Year Book." Publisher's price, $1.25; here at 90 cents; postage, 7 cents.

"The Potter's Wheel." Publisher's price, $1.25; here at 90 cents; postage, 7 cents extra.

"The Companions of the Sorrowful Way." Publisher's price, 75 cents; here at 57 cents; postage, 6 cents.

"A Doctor of the Old School," illustrated. Publisher's price, $2.00; here at $1.50; postage, 13 cents extra.

Same in Phoenix edition. Publisher's price, 40 cents; here at 28 cents; postage, 7 cents extra.

Mail Orders receive prompt and accurate attention.

Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE

CHEAPEST AND BEST.
One small box will make one pint Best Liquid Blue.
Depot 233 N. Second St., Philad'a.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA B. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALBOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3 1/2 MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD TRUST CO.

LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND CAPITAL, $1,000,000
SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS.
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWHOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

HENRY TATNALL, Vice-President.
N. B. CRENSHAW, Real Estate Officer.
A. A. JACKSON, Ass't to Pres. and Vice-Pres.
WM. E. AUMONT, Manager Trust Dept.
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, Jr.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN B. GARRETT,
PEMBERTON S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

John C. Hancock & Co.,
N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.
(P. & R. R. R.)
DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF
LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING
Telephone Connection.

Friends' Book Association,
OF PHILADELPHIA
Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,
Kindergarten, School Supplies.
All Books furnished at as low prices as they can be purchased elsewhere. Friends' Books and Literature a specialty. Also everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,
Undertaker
and Embalmer,
1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.
Telephone 2-28-25-A.

6% GILT EDGE GOLD MORTGAGES

in large and small amounts, upon properties in thriving and rapidly growing city in New York State. Principal and interest guaranteed by strong institution.

For full information apply to

AMOS M. GOVER,
22 E. 42d St., New York City.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5 1/2 per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILA'DA.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.
FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

A CHEAP, NEAT, CONVENIENT BINDER FOR FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER.

Will hold a full year, by packing closer. Better, if used for half year.
Price, 25 cents, including postage, if sent by mail.

By having your papers together, you have at the end of the year a valuable volume, of over 1000 pages of reading matter.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, or vary the most complete, in quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or matter received.
1811 Market St., Phila.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, THIRD MONTH 18, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XI., . . .	201
POETRY: CONTENT,	201
THE STORY OF PETER YARNALL, (Conclusion),	201
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS:
Old Testament Lesson,	202
New Testament, "International" Text,	203
THE PLAIN LANGUAGE,	204
PETER THE GREAT AND THE FRIENDS,	204
A PARAGRAPH FROM JOHN COMLY,	205
A WORD FROM BISHOP PARET,	205
EDITORIAL:
The Choice Last Year,	206
Notes,	206
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	207
VISITS TO NEW JERSEY FRIENDS.—II.,	208
LETTERS FROM ISAAC WILSON.—XII.,	209
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	209
THE PHILIPPINE CRISIS,	209
AN ADDRESS TO THE CZAR,	210
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	211
LITERARY NOTES,	212
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	112
DOUKHOBOR REPORT,	212
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	213
SAN FRANCISCO NOTES,	214
THE DOUKHOBOR COLONISTS,	214
W. HUDSON SHAW'S LECTURES,	214
COMMUNICATIONS:
Liberty of Opinion,	215
Poem by Herrick,	215
POETRY: The Approach of Spring,	215
THE CHURCHES OF BERLIN,	215
A PRACTICAL PACIFICATION,	216
ALASKAN FISHERMEN,	217
MISCELLANY: An Indiana Model City; Studies at Three Universities; Surviving Industries of Old Times; Some Irish Flowers of Speech,	218
CURRENT EVENTS,	219
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	220
NOTICES,	iii

TEACHER AND BOOKKEEPER (A LADY), experienced, accurate, desires Teaching, Book-keeping, or Secretaryship. Reference. Address No. 74, this Office.

WANTED.—POSITION BY LADY FRIEND of ability, as housekeeper in private home, or as assistant at Sea-side Hotel, or care of linen room. Address No. 73, this Office.

AN HONEST AND CAPABLE MARRIED MAN, 38, wants position. Experienced in commission, grocery, salesman, or manager. Address No. 69, INTELLIGENCER Office.

WANTED.—A WORKING HOUSEKEEPER in a family of three. Address F., this Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

JENNIE S. MARSHALL,
INSTRUCTOR IN PIANOFORTE,
1614 Tioga St., Phila.

WE desire to announce that the printing and publishing business formerly conducted by Austin C. Leeds, at 817 Filbert Street, will hereafter be carried on by AUSTIN C. LEEDS and EDWARD T. BIDDLE under the firm name of
THE LEEDS AND BIDDLE CO.
817 FILBERT STREET,
Philadelphia.

Printing and Publishing.

A good booklet is a good salesman.

S. Edward Paschall, writer of advertisements, books and catalogues, 709 Drexel Building, Philadelphia.

OUR Pasteur Thermometers
FOR STERILIZING BABY'S FOOD
Mailed to any address for 60 Cents.
H. C. BODEN & CO., Manufacturing Opticians,
S. E. Cor. 13th and Walnut Sts.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.
Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40 pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins. Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 2 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION,
Limited,
921 Arch Street, Phila.

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION CENTRE

OF THE

AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR THE EXTENSION
OF UNIVERSITY TEACHING.

LAST LECTURE OF THE COURSE ON
England in the XVIII Century,

By W. Hudson Shaw, M. A.,

to be given in the Assembly Room of Friends
Central School, 15th and Race Sts., at 8 p. m.
FOURTH-DAY, Third mo. 29th,
"Dr. Johnson."

Single Admission, 50 cents.

Swarthmore.

For rent or sale, Queen Anne Cottage, 12 rooms, steam heat, and open fire grates. The location is very delightful, directly overlooking the athletic grounds of the College, and very close to the meeting-house; one acre of ground, and plenty of fruit. Apply to DAVID SCANNELL, 814 Arch Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,
1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.
Established 1820 at 824 North Second Street.

THE WORK BUREAU

AT THE

Star Centre, 700 Lombard Street, Phila.

is prepared to supply persons wishing Colored Help for domestic service, or to do plain sewing or office cleaning. A number of boys between the age of 15 and 21 want situations in city or country.
Address as above.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1:30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St.
ANNA JENKINS FERRIS,
Corresponding Secretary.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to
JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a Select Stock of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER,

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 N. 13th Street.

S. W. BLACK'S SON, EDWARD T. BLACK
REAL ESTATE AGENT
AND BROKER

125 South Seventh Street, Philad'a.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,
FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.OAK GROVE SEMINARY
AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends.
Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.

For Catalogue address,

PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, MaineFriends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.

Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

LOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,

Jenkintown, Pa.

Or CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.LAW } STENOGRAPHER.
CONVENTION }14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.It is Sterilized.

Pillsbury's VITOS, the ideal wheat food, is sterilized. Unlike other cereal foods it does not have to be critically examined before using, and none need ever be thrown away. Owing to its granular nature Pillsbury's VITOS never becomes starchy, and hence can be used as a substitute for bread crumbs and cracker meal, for covering croquettes, fish and oysters. This is the season for fish. Have you a package of Pillsbury's VITOS?

Made by THE PILLSBURY-WASHBURN FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE.

YEO & LUKENS,
STATIONERY • BLANK BOOKS • PRINTING23 North 13th Street (above Market)
613 Walnut Street.Law and Conveyancing
BLANKS.

PHILADELPHIA.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year.
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric
elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc.
Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE PENINGTON,
Permanent and Transient Boarding
for Friends.
215 E. 15th Street, New York City.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR.
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new

Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.

Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,
135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

NOTICES.

* * A Conference of parents, teachers, school committees, and others interested in the cause of Education, will be held at Race Street meeting-house, Philadelphia, on Seventh-day, 25th inst., at 2 p. m.

Subject, Reading: Methods of Instruction, Subject Matter, Relation to Other Studies.

LEWIS V. SMEDLEY,
Clerk of Educational Com.

* * The Monthly Meeting of Friends of Philadelphia, held at Race Street, will take place on Fourth-day next, the 22d, in the evening, at 7 30 o'clock.

* * The next Conference under the care of Concord Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Philanthropic Labor will be held in the meeting house at West Chester, on First-day, Third month 19, at 2.30 p. m. Subject, "Purity." Mary Heald Way will address the meeting.

CHARLES PALMER, Clerk.

* * A Conference under the care of the Western Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Temperance and Philanthropic Work will be held in the meeting-house at Unionville, Pa., on First-day, Third month 19, at 2 o'clock p. m.

Dr. Joseph D. Janney is expected to address the Conference on "Narcotics." All interested are cordially invited to be present.

HORACE L. DILWORTH, Clerk.

* * The Temperance Workers of 17th Street and Girard Avenue, Philadelphia, will be addressed on Seventh-day evening, Third month 18, by Dr. Joseph S. Walton. Also a paraphrase of parts of the story "In His Steps, or What Will Jesus Do?" will be given by Mary H. Whitson. All are invited.

MARY H. WHITSON.

* * Arrangement can be made with Rebecca B. Nicholson, Camden, N. J., for magic lantern exhibits in schools or Young Friends' Associations. The slides represent different trips across the Continent, over different routes, and Alaska as far as the Muir Glacier.

All letters are answered when accompanied with a stamp.

REBECCA B. NICHOLSON.

[We insert the above for R. B. N., as of interest to Associations and Schools. Her charges are only for expenses of travel, etc.]

* * Haddonfield First-day School Union will be held in Friends' meeting-house, Moorestown, N. J., Seventh-day, Third month 25, 1899, at 10 a. m.

The subject: "Is not the meeting-house a suitable place for holding meetings in which the young are interested?" will be opened by Westfield School.

GEO. L. GILLINGHAM, } Clerks.
ANNA B. SHEPPARD, }

* * The Home Influence Association will meet on Third-day, Third month 21, at 3 p. m., in the Race Street meeting-house.

There will be a report of the Mothers Congress by our President and delegate Florence M. Lukens. Mrs. Mary E. Mumford, one of the honorary vice-presidents of the Congress, will speak of the educational value of the Congress.

ANNA P. SUPLEE, Sec.

* * The united evening meetings (Phila.), during Third month are held at Race above 15th street, at 7.30 o'clock. The company of our members is very desirable, and all others are welcome.

* * Quarterly Meetings in Third month will occur as follows:

16. Haddonfield, Moorestown, N. J.
All at 10 a. m.

ARMSTRONG & McKELVY
Pittsburgh.
BEYMER-BAUMAN
Pittsburgh.
DAVIS-CHAMBERS
Pittsburgh.
FAHNESTOCK
Pittsburgh.

ANCHOR } Cincinnati.
EOKSTEIN }

ATLANTIC }
BRADLEY } New York.
BROOKLYN }
JEWETT }

ULSTER }
UNION }

SOUTHERN } Chicago.
SHIPMAN }

COLLIER }
MISSOURI }

RED SEAL } St. Louis.
SOUTHERN }

JOHN T. LEWIS & BROS CO
Philadelphia.

MORLEY } Cleveland.
SALEM }

Salem, Mass.
OORWELL } Buffalo.
KENTUCKY }

National Lead Co., 100 William St., New York.

He gains wisdom in a happy way who gains it by the experience of others. In painting why not avail yourself of the advice of those who have had the greatest experience — the painters.

Competent, practical painters everywhere use Pure White Lead and Pure Linseed Oil. They know they cannot afford to use anything else.

FREE By using National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, any desired shade is readily obtained. Pamphlet giving valuable information and card showing samples of colors free; also folder showing picture of house painted in different designs or various styles or combinations of shades forwarded upon application to those intending to paint.

* * The Visiting Committee of Baltimore Yearly Meeting have made the following appointments for Third month:

19. York, Pa.
26. Forest Hill, Md.

MARTHA S. TOWNSEND.

* * The Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches will attend meetings as follows:

THIRD MONTH:

19. Green Street, 10.30 a. m.

FOURTH MONTH:

2. Frankford, 10.30 a. m.

16. West Philadelphia, 11 a. m.

30. Fairhill, 3.30 p. m.

FIFTH MONTH:

21. Merion, 10.30 p. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

WALL PAPER of Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

John C. Hancock & Co.,
N. W. Cor. 9th and Market Sts.
(P. & R. R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF
LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING
Telephone Connection.

Read
These Books

Mailed free
for postage named

They tell the story

of wonderful sights and scenes, and special resorts for tourists and home-seekers in the Great West. They are published by the

Santa Fe Route,

are literary and artistic, and will make you better acquainted with the attractions of your own land.

C. A. HIGGINS,
A.G.P.A., A.T. & S.F.R'y, CHICAGO.
Great Northern Bldg.

TO CALIFORNIA AND BACK,
176 pp., 176 illustrations.
5 cts.
THE MOKI SNAKE DANCE,
60 pp., 64 illustrations.
3 cts.
GRAND CANON OF ARIZONA,
32 pp., 15 illustrations.
2 cts.
NEW MEXICO HEALTH RESORTS,
80 pp., 31 illustrations.
2 cts.
ARIZONA HEALTH RESORTS,
72 pp., 18 illustrations.
2 cts.
LAS VEGAS HOT SPRINGS
48 pp., 39 illustrations.
2 cts.

Seven food products—prevent and relieve diabetes, dyspepsia, debility, etc. Ask dealers. Unlike all others. Look for criss-cross lines. Pamphlet and sample offer mailed free.

K. C. WHOLE WHEAT FLOUR.
Prevents constipation and liver troubles.
GLUTEN CRITS,
New health breakfast food.
PANSY Pastry Flour, Finest made.
FAIRWELL & RHINES, Watertown, N. Y., U. S. A.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND TRUST CO.

CAPITAL, $1,000,000
SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS,
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWBOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

HENRY TATNALL, Vice-President.
N. B. CRENSHAW, Real Estate Officer.
A. A. JACKSON, Ass't to Pres. and Vice-Pres.
WM. E. AUMONT, Manager Trust Dept.
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, Jr.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN B. GARRETT,
PEMBERTON S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

Merchants' Trust Company,

611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
CAPITAL (paid in), 250,000.00
SURPLUS, 50,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 39,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveyancing done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.
JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.
ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.
WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY, I. BOLTON WINFENNY,
S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHOADS, EDWIN S. DIXON,
JOHN F. LEWIS, WARREN S. GRIFFITH,
THOMAS R. GILL, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
ALFRED I. PHILLIPS.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE

CHEAPEST AND BEST.

One small box will make one pint Best Liquid Bluing.
Depot 233 N. Second St., Philad'a.

Friends' Book Association,

OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers.

Artists' Materials.

Kindergarten Public Library

All Books 40 Lafayette Place

prices as they can be purchased elsewhere. Friends' Books and Literature a specialty. Also everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker
and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

6% GILT EDGE GOLD MORTGAGES

in large and small amounts, upon properties in thriving and rapidly growing city in New York State. Principal and interest guaranteed by strong institution.

For full information apply to

AMOS M. GOVER,

22 E. 42d St., New York City.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

A CHEAP, NEAT, CONVENIENT BINDER FOR FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER.

Will hold a full year, by packing close. Better, if used for half year.

Price, 25 cents, including postage, if sent by mail.

By having your papers together, you have at the end of the year a valuable volume, of over 1000 pages of reading matter.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, THIRD MONTH 25, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending.  Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XII., . . .	221
POEM: SPRING,	221
THE "EXAMPLE": PAPER BY ELIZABETH POWELL BOND,	221
FRIENDS' FIRST-DAY SCHOOL LESSONS: Old Testament Lesson,	222
New Testament, "International" Text,	223
LESSONS FROM INDIA: BY AARON M. POWELL,	224
FAITHFUL FRIENDS IN DENMARK,	226
THE HAGUE CONFERENCE,	227
FRANKLIN'S RELIGIOUS VIEWS,	227
ADDRESS BY CONCORD QUARTERLY MEETING,	227
EDITORIAL: A Case of City Administration,	228
Notes,	229
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	229, 230
NEWS OF FRIENDS: Nebraska Half-Year Meeting,	230
Notes,	230
VISITS TO FRIENDS IN NEW JERSEY.—III.,	231
FROM ISAAC WILSON,	231
WHERE DO WE STAND?	232
THE PRESIDENT'S DUTY,	232
A VIRGINIA SCHOOL,	233
MISCELLANY: The Doukhobors; Some Irish Flowers of Speech,	234
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	235
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	235-237
LITERARY NOTES,	237
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	237
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	237
COMMUNICATIONS: Friends and Others in Athens,	238
The Address to the Czar,	238
Signing Full Names,	238
METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY FOR SECOND MONTH,	238
CURRENT EVENTS,	239
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	240
NOTICES,	iii

TEACHER AND BOOKKEEPER (A LADY), experienced, accurate, desires Teaching, Book-keeping, or Secretaryship. Reference. Address No. 74, this Office.

WANTED.—SMALL ADULT FAMILY FOR furnished house, to rooms, in exchange for board of two adults. Address A. B., this Office.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

WILLIAM BELT STRAWBERRY PLANTS, $1.50 per 1,000. Glen Mary $2.00 per 1,000. California Privet for hedge, $1.50 to $3.00 per 100. Maples, Carolina Poplars, asparagus roots, etc. SAMUEL C. DE COU, Moorestown, Burlington Co., New Jersey.

WANTED.—POSITION BY LADY FRIEND of ability, as housekeeper in private home, or as assistant at Sea-side Hotel, or care of linen room. Address No. 73, this Office.

AN HONEST AND CAPABLE MARRIED MAN, 38, wants position. Experienced in commission, grocery, salesman, or manager. Address No. 69, INTELLIGENCER Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1666 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St. ANNA JENKINS FERRIS, Corresponding Secretary.

JENNIE S. MARSHALL,
INSTRUCTOR IN PIANOFORTE,
1614 Tioga St., Phila.

A good booklet is a good salesman.

|| S. Edward Paschall, writer of advertisements, books and catalogues, 709 Drexel Building, Philadelphia. ||

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year.
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE PENINGTON,
Permanent and Transient Boarding
for Friends.
215 E. 15th Street, New York City.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

S. W. BLACK'S SON, EDWARD T. BLACK
REAL ESTATE AGENT
AND BROKER
125 South Seventh Street, Philad'a.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,
325 SWEDD STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION CENTRE

OF THE

AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR THE EXTENSION
OF UNIVERSITY TEACHING.

LAST LECTURE OF THE COURSE ON
England in the XVIII Century,

By W. Hudson Shaw, M. A.,

to be given in the Assembly Room of Friends
Central School, 15th and Race Sts., at 8 p. m.
FOURTH-DAY, Third mo. 29th,
"Dr. Johnson."

Single Admission, 50 cents.

Second Edition Now Ready.

THE BRANDYWINE

By JOHN RUSSELL HAYES.

Illustrated by Robert Shaw.

Paper covers, 50 cents. Stiff covers, 75 cents.
For sale at Friends' Book Association, Strawbridge & Clothier's, Wanamaker's; or sent postpaid on receipt of price mailed to Box 51, West Chester, Pa.

A few remaining copies of "The Old-Fashioned Garden," by same author, for sale at above addresses.
Price, 80 cents.

Swarthmore.

For rent or sale, Queen Anne Cottage, 12 rooms, steam heat, and open fire grates. The location is very delightful, directly overlooking the athletic grounds of the College, and very close to the meeting-house; one acre of ground, and plenty of fruit. Apply to DAVID SCANNELL, 814 Arch Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to
JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom
Shoes and carry a Select Stock of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER,

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 N. 13th Street.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serv-
DAIRIES. ing families. Office 603 North
Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. • Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
*furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.*JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.
For catalogue, apply toGEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.OAK GROVE SEMINARY
AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends.
Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.
For Catalogue addressPRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, MaineFriends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $750 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars toLOUIS B. AMBLER, *Principal,*Or, JENKINTOWN, PA.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.
For Circulars, addressCHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Cheltenham Hills School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,
will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.
ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE

CHEAPEST AND BEST.

One small box will make one pint Best Liquid Bluing.
Depot 233 N. Second St., Philad'a.

Most people appreciate a good thing at a fair price, but some few will only have the things that cost the most money.

The Ivory is the favorite soap of most people. Some few want the high-priced toilet soaps and think they must be better because they cost more. No soap is more carefully made, or is made of better materials, than Ivory Soap.

A WORD OF WARNING.—There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT; but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it

Copyright, 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.

Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.*Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

WALL PAPER of Attractive StylesPopular Prices
Samples Free to any AddressA. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

A POSTAL CARD RECEIVES PROMPT ATTENTION.
JOHN S. CONRAD,
LAUNDRY,

2103, 2105 COLUMBIA AVENUE, PHILA

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

John C. Hancock & Co.,
N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.
(P. & R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF
LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING
Telephone Connection.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William
Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40 pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins.
Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 3 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 3 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION,
Limited,
921 Arch Street, Phila.

NOTICES.

* * A Circular Meeting, under the care of a Committee of the Western Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Kennett Square on First-day, Fourth month 9, 1899, to convene at 3 o'clock p. m.
SAMUEL H. BROOMELL, Clerk.

* * A Circular Meeting, under the care of a Committee of Concord Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Providence, Delaware county, on First-day, Fourth month 2, at 3 o'clock p. m.
MARY P. HARVEY, Clerk.

* * A meeting of the Salem First-day School Union will be held at Friends' meeting-house, Woodstown, N. J., Fourth month 7, 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m.

The subject for discussion is, "How can Friends best inculcate Peace principles?"

A cordial invitation extended to all interested.
JOHN G. BORTON, } Clerks.
LOUISA POWELL, }

* * A Conference of parents, teachers, school committees, and others interested in the cause of Education, will be held at Race Street meeting-house, Philadelphia, on Seventh-day, 25th inst., at 2 p. m.

Subject, Reading: Methods of Instruction, Subject Matter, Relation to Other Studies.

LEWIS V. SMEDLEY,
Clerk of Educational Com.

* * Haddonfield First-day School Union will be held in Friends' meeting-house, Moorestown, N. J., Seventh-day, Third month 25, 1899, at 10 a. m.

The subject: "Is not the meeting-house a suitable place for holding meetings in which the young are interested?" will be opened by Westfield School.

GEO. L. GILLINGHAM, } Clerks.
ANNA B. SHEPPARD, }

* * The united evening meetings (Phila.), during Third month are held at Race above 15th street, at 7.30 o'clock. The company of our members is very desirable, and all others are welcome.

* * The Visiting Committee of Baltimore Yearly Meeting have made the following appointments for Third month:

26. Forest Hill, Md.

MARTHA S. TOWNSEND.

* * The Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches will attend meetings as follows:

FOURTH MONTH:

2. Frankford, 10.30 a. m.

16. West Philadelphia, 11 a. m.

30. Fairhill, 3.30 p. m.

FIFTH MONTH:

21. Merion, 10.30 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,
Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St., (4th door bel. Chestnut St.),
PHILADELPHIA.

F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

ARMSTRONG & McKELVY } Pittsburgh.
BEYMER-BAUMAN } Pittsburgh.
DAVIS-CHAMBERS } Pittsburgh.
FAHNESTOCK } Pittsburgh.
ANCHOR } Cincinnati.
ROKSTEIN }
ATLANTIC }
BRADLEY }
BROOKLYN } New York.
JEWETT }
ULSTER }
UNION }
SOUTHERN } Chicago.
SHIPMAN }
COLLIER }
MISSOURI } St. Louis.
RED SEAL }
SOUTHERN }
JOHN T. LEWIS & BROS 00 } Philadelphia.
MORLEY } Cleveland.
SALEM } Salem, Mass.
CORNELL } Buffalo.
KENTUCKY } Louisville.

UGAR is not improved by the addition of sand; neither is White Lead improved by the addition of Zinc and Barytes, yet there are hundreds of such mixtures branded and sold as "White Lead," "Pure White Lead," etc.

You can avoid these by making sure that the brand is right. Those named in the margin are genuine.

FREE By using National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, any desired shade is readily obtained. Pamphlet giving valuable information and card showing samples of colors free; also folder showing picture of house painted in different designs or various styles or combinations of shades forwarded upon application to those intending to paint.

National Lead Co., 100 William St., New York.

ON TO WASHINGTON UNDER PERSONAL ESCORT.

The fourth of the present series of Pennsylvania Railroad three-day personally-conducted tours to Washington, D. C., will leave Third-day, Third month 28. The rate, $14.50 from New York, $11.50 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points, include all necessary expenses during the entire trip—transportation, hotel accommodations, and Capitol guide fees. An experienced Chaperon will also accompany the party.

For itineraries, tickets, and full information apply to ticket agents; Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or address George W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

SIX-DAY TOUR

TO OLD POINT COMFORT, RICHMOND, AND WASHINGTON VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The fourth of the present series of personally-conducted tours to Old Point Comfort, Richmond, and Washington via the Pennsylvania Railroad will leave New York and Philadelphia on Seventh-day next, the 1st proximo, affording a delightful and seasonable outing.

Tickets, including transportation, meals en route in both directions, transfers of passengers and baggage, hotel accommodations at Old Point Comfort, Richmond, and Washington, and carriage ride about Richmond—in fact, every necessary expense for a period of six days—will be sold at rate of $34.00 from New York, Brooklyn, and Newark; $32.50 from Trenton; $31.00 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other stations.

OLD POINT COMFORT ONLY.

Tickets to Old Point Comfort only, including luncheon on going trip, one and three-fourths day's board at that place, and good to return direct by regular trains within six days, will be sold in connection with this tour at rate of $15.00 from New York; $13.50 from Trenton; $12.50 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points.

For itineraries and full information apply to ticket agents; Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 789 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.; or Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

OUR
Pasteur Thermometers

FOR STERILIZING BABY'S FOOD

Mailed to any address for 60 Cents.

H. C. BODEN & CO., Manufacturing Opticians,
S. E. Cor. 13th and Walnut Sts.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.
LAW CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE }
14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.
SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND SPEED.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker

and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA B. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3¼ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD TRUST CO.

LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND CAPITAL, $1,000,000
SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS.
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWHOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

HENRY TATNALL, Vice-President.
N. B. CRENSHAW, Real Estate Officer.
A. A. JACKSON, Ass't to Pres. and Vice-Pres.
WM. F. AUMONT, Manager Trust Dept.
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, Jr.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN B. GARRETT,
Pemberton S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

It is estimated by the American Agriculturist that there are 75,000,000 horses in the world, Europe being credited with 38,000,000, North America with 17,000,000, and Asia with 9,000,000. The mules and asses in the world are said to number 9,000,000.

THE death rate in Michigan in 1898 was 12.5 in each 1,000 of population.

HONEY should never be heated to the boiling point. It destroys the flavor.

YEO & LUKENS, STATIONERY • BLANK BOOKS • PRINTING

23 North 13th Street (above Market)
613 Walnut Street.

Law and Conveyancing
BLANKS.

PHILADELPHIA.

6% GILT EDGE GOLD MORTGAGES

in large and small amounts, upon properties in thriving and rapidly growing city in New York State. Principal and interest guaranteed by strong institution.

For full information apply to

AMOS M. GOVER,

22 E. 42d St., New York City.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILA'DA.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.
FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

A CHEAP, NEAT, CONVENIENT BINDER FOR FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER.

Will hold a full year, by packing the Better, if used for half year.

Price, 25 cents, including postage, if sent by mail.

By having your papers together, you have at the end of the year a valuable volume, of over 1000 pages of reading matter.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, so variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison? No liquors or other offensive goods or medicines resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, FOURTH MONTH 1, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Draw~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XIII.,	241
POETRY: A PSALM,	241
HIGHLANDS CREEK MEETING, INDIANA: By E. H. Trueblood, (with two Illustrations),	241
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS: Old Testament Lesson,	242
New Testament, "International" Text,	244
NEWSPAPER READING AS A DISSIPATION,	245
PETER YARNALL'S ACKNOWLEDGMENT,	246
PEOPLE IN THEIR OWN HOMES,	246
EDITORIAL: White Men's Burdens,	247
Notes,	248
DEATHS,	248
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	249
VISITS TO FRIENDS IN NEW JERSEY.—IV.,	249
A LETTER FROM FRANKLIN,	250
SCHOOLS "ON PAPER" ONLY,	251
A CLEAR TESTIMONY NEEDED,	251
THE PHILIPPINE CRISIS,	252
ANOTHER VIEW,	252
MILITARY LAWS POSSIBLE,	253
LITERARY NOTES,	253
EDUCATIONAL,	253
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	254
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	255
COMMUNICATIONS: Thankful Feelings,	255
A Record of Arctic Weather,	255
Correspondence Invited,	255
Registry of Convictions,	256
POETRY: The Little Yellow Dog; The Barnyard's Southerly Corner,	256
A CORN FARM IN IOWA,	256
SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA TREES,	257
MISCELLANY: Diseases in Porto Rico; Count Tolstoy's Daughter; Speaker Reed's Opinion; Around the World in Thirty Days; Interesting Suit for Damages,	258
CURRENT EVENTS,	259
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	260
NOTICES,	iii

ELOCUTION—Experienced lady teacher desires position in school. Best references. Address No. 76, this Office.

FOR LOW RENT, MAIN PART OF MODERN house; all conveniences; furnished or unfurnished; permanent. Rebecca J. Allen, 328 West Front St., Media, Pa.

STAMMERING AND DEFECTIVE SPEECH. Experienced lady teacher desires pupils. Best references. Address No. 75, this Office.

WANTED—A PRINCIPAL FOR ABINGTON Friends' Boarding and Day School. Address CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec., Ogontz, Pa.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

WILLIAM BELT STRAWBERRY PLANTS, $1.50 per 1,000. Glen Mary $2.00 per 1,000. California Privet for hedge, $1.50 to $3.00 per 100. Maples, Carolina Poplars, asparagus roots, etc. SAMUEL C. DE COU, Moorestown, Burlington Co., New Jersey.

AN HONEST AND CAPABLE MARRIED MAN, 38, wants position. Experienced in commission, grocery, salesman, or manager. Address No. 69, INTELLIGENCER Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING
The Young Friends' Association Office
has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1:30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St. ANNA JENKINS FERRIS,
Corresponding Secretary.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia.
Plain Millinery
MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.
JENNIE S. MARSHALL,
INSTRUCTOR IN PIANOFORTE,
1614 Tioga St., Phila.

CHARLES BURTON,
Practical House and Sign Painter,
Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 2714 Woodstock Street, }
Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

FOR SALE.
A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

ANNOUNCEMENT.
We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a Select Stock of our own reliable work.
SAMUEL DUTCHER,
(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 N. 13th Street.

Second Edition Now Ready.

THE BRANDYWINE

By JOHN RUSSELL HAYES.

Illustrated by Robert Shaw.

Paper covers, 50 cents. Stiff covers, 75 cents. For sale at Friends' Book Association, Strawbridge & Clothier's, Wanamaker's; or sent post-paid on receipt of price mailed to Box 51, West Chester, Pa.

A few remaining copies of "The Old-Fashioned Garden," by same author, for sale at above addresses. Price, 80 cents.

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION.

A regular meeting of the Young Friends' Association will be held in the Lecture Room, Fifteenth and Race Streets, on Second-day evening, Fourth month 10th, at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

PROGRAM.

- I. Ebb Tide (Review of "The Quakers," by Frederick Storrs Turner, Chapters XIII. to XVII.) ALICE N. TOWNSEND.
 - II. Proselyting. MARGARET P. HOWARD.
- ESTHER S. STACKHOUSE, Secretary.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,
325 SWIDE STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE PENINGTON,
Permanent and Transient Boarding
for Friends.
215 E. 15th Street, New York City.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

Swarthmore.

For rent or sale, Queen Anne Cottage, 12 rooms, steam heat, and open fire grates. The location is very delightful, directly overlooking the athletic grounds of the College, and very close to the meeting-house; one acre of ground, and plenty of fruit. Apply to DAVID SCANNELL, 814 Arch Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,
1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.
Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,
FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.OAK GROVE SEMINARY !
AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends.
Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.

For Catalogue address

PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, MaineFriends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $50 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

LOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,

Jenkintown, Pa.
Or
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Cheltenham Hills School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,
will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.ANNIE HEACOCK.
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

A POSTAL CARD RECEIVES PROMPT ATTENTION.
JOHN S. CONRAD,
LAUNDRY,
2103, 2105 COLUMBIA AVENUE, PHILAWILLIAM S. YARNALL,

Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St., (4th door bel. Chestnut St.),
PHILADELPHIA.F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

The Dinner Pailis a little 8-page monthly, published by "Silent Workers," an incorporated company of Friends, in the interest of helpful educational work they are doing for the world. Character-building is their aim; "Others" is their motto. Annual subscription 25 cents; stamps will do. Can you spare this much for "others," or send postal for sample copy. Address "Silent Workers," 934-936 Harrison street, San Francisco, Cal., U. S. A."The Dinner Pail" will be whatever its friends make it," writes an interested Friend.THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.

Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William
Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40
pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins.
Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 2 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION,
Limited,
921 Arch Street, Phila.S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.*Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

WALL PAPER of Attractive StylesPopular Prices
Samples Free to any AddressA. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.John C. Hancock & Co.,N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.
(P. & R. R. R.)

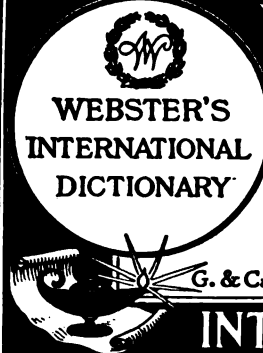

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF

LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING
Telephone Connection.CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,Undertaker
and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

Friends' Book Association,
OF PHILADELPHIAPublishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,Artists' Materials, Kindergarten, School Supplies.All Books furnished at as low prices as they can be purchased elsewhere. Friends' Books and Literature a specialty. Also everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

WEBSTER'S

INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

Hon. D. J. Brewer, Justice of U. S. Supreme Court, says: "I commend it to all as the one great standard authority."

It excels in the ease with which the eye finds the word sought; in accuracy of definition; in effective methods of indicating pronunciation; in terse and comprehensive statements of facts and in practical use as a working dictionary.

Specimen pages, etc., sent on application.

G. & C. Merriam Co., Publishers, Springfield, Mass., U. S. A.

INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

NOTICES.

 Rudyard Kipling's works are the subject of the exercises to be delivered before the Friends' Temperance Workers, Fourth month I, 1899.

WALTER E. LINVILL, President.

 The regular meeting of Concord First-day School Union will be held at Swarthmore meeting-house, on Seventh day, Fourth month 15, 1899, convening at 10 a. m. All interested are invited to attend.

HERBERT P. WORTH, } Clerks.
ANNA P. SMEDLEY, }

 The united First-day evening meetings (Philadelphia), during Fourth month, will be at Fourth and Green streets at 7.30 o'clock. All are invited.

 A Circular Meeting, under the care of a Committee of the Western Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Kennett Square on First-day, Fourth month 9, 1899, to convene at 3 o'clock p. m.

SAMUEL H. BROOMELL, Clerk

 A Circular Meeting, under the care of a Committee of Concord Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Providence, Delaware county, on First-day, Fourth month 2, at 3 o'clock p. m.

MARY P. HARVEY, Clerk.

 A meeting of the Salem First-day School Union will be held at Friends' meeting-house, Woodstown, N. J., Fourth month 8, 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m.

The subject for discussion is, "How can Friends best inculcate Peace principles?"

A cordial invitation extended to all interested.

JOHN G. BORTON, } Clerks.
LOUISA POWELL, }

 The Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches will attend meetings as follows:

FOURTH MONTH:

- 2. Frankford, 10.30 a. m.
- 16. West Philadelphia, 11 a. m.
- 30. Fairhill, 3.30 p. m.

FIFTH MONTH:

- 21. Merion, 10.30 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

"THE Government wants the pipestone quarries held by the Yankton band of Sioux, ostensibly as a site for additions to a Government Indian school. These quarries, made famous in Longfellow's 'Hiawatha,' and from which Indian pipes and ornaments are made, are situated on the 'mile square' near Pipestone, Minn., specially reserved by the Yankton Sioux in the treaty of thirty years ago. The Indians have more of a sentimental than a business view of the matter. They believe that many seasons ago, before the arrival of the white man, the Great Spirit set aside this quarry of red stone for their special use, and in recognition of this sentiment Congress four years ago passed an act declaring these lands vested absolutely in the Yankton band.

"I WANT to ask one more question," said little Frank, as he was being put to bed. "Well," acquiesced the tired mamma. "When holes come in stockings, what becomes of the piece of stocking that was there before the hole came?"

—[Exchange].

It is said that the Audubon Society's membership has now reached 16,000, with branches in fifteen States.

ARMSTRONG & McKELVY } Pittsburgh.
BEYMER-BAUMANN } Pittsburgh.
DAVIS-CHAMBERS } Pittsburgh.
FAHNESTOCK } Pittsburgh.
ANCHOR } Cincinnati.
KOKSTEIN }
ATLANTIC }
BRADLEY } New York.
BROOKLYN }
JEWETT }
VLSTER }
UNION }
SOUTHERN } Chicago.
SHIPMAN }
COLLIER }
MISSOURI } St. Louis.
RED SEAL }
SOUTHERN }
JOHN T. LEWIS & BROS CO } Philadelphia.
MORLEY } Cleveland.
SALEM } Salem, Mass.
COOKWELL } Buffalo.
KENTUCKY } Louisville.

IN your experience with White Lead have you ever been troubled with cracked, pulled or alligatored surfaces, or have you ever heard of such trouble in the use of White Lead?

Never; and these conditions were never known until the introduction of zinc white, "combination lead," and ready-mixed paints, the two last composed largely of zinc, barytes, whiting, etc., very little lead, if any.

—Mr. E. P. Edwards, in "Painters' Magazine."
Mr. Edwards is the senior member of the firm of Messrs. Edwards & King, Painters and Decorators, Elizabeth, N. J.

FREE By using National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, any desired shade is readily obtained. Pamphlet giving valuable information and card showing samples of colors free; also folder showing picture of house painted in different designs or various styles or combinations of colors forwarded upon application to those intending to paint.

National Lead Co., 100 William St., New York.

SIX-DAY TOUR

TO OLD POINT COMFORT, RICHMOND, AND WASHINGTON VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The fourth of the present series of personally-conducted tours to Old Point Comfort, Richmond, and Washington via the Pennsylvania Railroad will leave New York and Philadelphia on Seventh-day next, the 1st proximo, affording a delightful and seasonable outing.

Tickets, including transportation, meals en route in both directions, transfers of passengers and baggage, hotel accommodations at Old Point Comfort, Richmond, and Washington, and carriage ride about Richmond—in fact, every necessary expense for a period of six days—will be sold at rate of $34.00 from New York, Brooklyn, and Newark; $32.50 from Trenton; $31.00 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other stations.

OLD POINT COMFORT ONLY.

Tickets to Old Point Comfort only, including luncheon on going trip, one and three-fourths day's board at that place, and good to return direct by regular trains within six days, will be sold in connection with this tour at rate of $15.00 from New York; $13.50 from Trenton; $12.50 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points.

For itineraries and full information apply to ticket agents; Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 789 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.; or Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new

Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.

Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,
135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.

JOSEPH L. JONES.

Read
These Books

TO CALIFORNIA AND BACK,
176 pp., 176 illustrations.
5 cts.
THE MOKI SNAKE DANCE,
60 pp., 64 illustrations.
3 cts.
GRAND CANON OF ARIZONA,
32 pp., 15 illustrations.
2 cts.
NEW MEXICO HEALTH RESORTS,
80 pp., 31 illustrations.
2 cts.
ARIZONA HEALTH RESORTS,
72 pp., 18 illustrations.
2 cts.
LAS VEGAS HOT SPRINGS
48 pp., 39 illustrations.
2 cts.

Mailed free
for postage named

They tell the story

of wonderful sights and scenes, and special resorts for tourists and homeseekers in the Great West. They are published by the

Santa Fe Route,

are literary and artistic, and will make you better acquainted with the attractions of your own land.

C. A. HIGGINS,
A.G.P.A., A.T. & S.F. R'y, CHICAGO.
Great Northern Bldg.

Trade-mark
Cross-Cross
CEREALS

Ask dealers for them—see that packages have these cross-cross lines. Pamphlet and our sample offer mailed free.

Special Diabetic Food, for Diabetes.
Gluten Flour, for Dyspepsia and Constipation.
Barley Crystals, for Kidney Troubles.

FARWELL & MANN, Watertown, N. Y., U. S. A.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
 President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALBOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND TRUST CO.

CAPITAL, $1,000,000
SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS,
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWBOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

HENRY TATNALL, Vice-President.
N. B. CRENSHAW, Real Estate Officer.
A. A. JACKSON, Ass't to Pres. and Vice-Pres.
WM. E. AUMONT, Manager Trust Dept.
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, JR.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN B. GARRETT,
FERNBETON S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

Merchants' Trust Company,

611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
 CAPITAL (paid in), 250,000.00
 SURPLUS, 50,000.00
 UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 30,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveying done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.
JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.
ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.
WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS.

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY, J. BOLTON WINPENNY,
S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHOADS, EDWIN S. DIXON,
JOHN F. LEWIS, WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
THOMAS R. GILL, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
ALFRED I. PHILLIPS.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.
 LAW CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
 SCIENCE }
 14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
 Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
 NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
 HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
 BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
 IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS
 IN THE INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
 AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
 SPEED.

6% GILT EDGE GOLD MORTGAGES

in large and small amounts, upon properties in thriving and rapidly growing city in New York State. Principal and interest guaranteed by strong institution.

For full information apply to

AMOS M. GOVER,
 22 E. 42d St., New York City.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ prct Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
 JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.
 FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

A CHEAP, NEAT, CONVENIENT BINDER FOR FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER.

Will hold a full year, by packing close. Better, if used for half year.

Price, 25 cents, including postage, if sent by mail.

By having your papers together, you have at the end of the year a valuable volume, of over 1000 pages of reading matter.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
 No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
 1311 Market St., Phila.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, FOURTH MONTH 8, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Do not~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XIV., . . .	261
POETRY: THE HUMAN BROTHERHOOD, . . .	261
MEXICO, TO-DAY,	261
CHILD DEVELOPMENT. By Mary H. Whitson,	262
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS:
Old Testament Lesson,	263
New Testament, "International" Text,	265
THE DOUKHOBOR EXILES IN SIBERIA,	265
NO YIELDING TO FATALISM!	266
THE MENACE OF MILITARISM,	267
PLEASANT MEMORIES,	267
THE POWER OF BELIEF,	267
EDITORIAL:
VALUING SOCIETY MEMBERSHIP,	268
Notes,	268, 269
MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	269
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
Notes from Sparta, Ontario,	270
A PLEA FOR THE OPPRESSED,	271
FRIENDS AT PASADENA, CAL.,	271
THE DOUKHOBORS AT WINNIPEG,	272
FARMERS AT SANLY SPRING, MD.,	273
THE MODERN PAGANISM,	273
PRESIDENT LOUBET'S MOTHER,	274
LITERATURE,	274
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	275
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	276
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	276
COMMUNICATIONS:
Caretaker at Fair Hill,	277
Conference Programs,	277
A Tribute,	277
POETRY: The First Spring Bird,	277
THE SUPREME ISSUR,	278
MISCELLANY: Scenes in the Philippine War,	278
CURRENT EVENTS,	279
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	280
NOTICES,	iii

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

AN HONEST AND CAPABLE MARRIED MAN, 38, wants position. Experienced in commission, grocery, salesman, or manager. Address No. 69, INTELLIGENCER Office.

BOOK-KEEPER.—EXPERIENCED BUSINESS man desires employment. J. C. HANCOCK, 1932 Girard Avenue.

ELOCUTION—Experienced lady teacher desires position in school. Best references. Address No. 76, this Office.

STAMMERING AND DEFECTIVE SPEECH. Experienced lady teacher desires pupils. Best references. Address No. 75, this Office.

WANTED.—A POSITION AS MOTHER'S help, or to assist in the care of a house, by a woman of experience. Address No. 78, this Office.

WANTED.—BOARD FOR YOUNG WOMAN in family where there are no other boarders. Address No. 77, this Office.

WANTED.—A PRINCIPAL FOR ABINGTON Friends' Boarding and Day School. Address CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec., Ogontz, Pa.

FOR LOW RENT, MAIN PART OF MODERN house; all conveniences; furnished or unfurnished; permanent. Rebecca J. Allen, 328 West Front St., Media, Pa.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

WILLIAM BELT STRAWBERRY PLANTS, $1.50 per 1,000. Glen Mary $2.00 per 1,000. California Privet for hedge, $1.50 to $3.00 per 100. Maples, Carolina Poplars, asparagus roots, etc. SAMUEL C. DE COU, Moorestown, Burlington Co., New Jersey.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING
The Young Friends' Association Office
has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1:30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St. ANNA JENKINS FERRIS,
Corresponding Secretary.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia.

Plain Millinery
MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

JENNIE S. MARSHALL,
INSTRUCTOR IN PIANOFORTE,
1614 Tioga St., Phila.

CHARLES BURTON,
Practical House and Sign Painter,
Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION.

A regular meeting of the Young Friends' Association will be held in the Lecture Room, Fifteenth and Race Streets, on Second-day evening, Fourth month 10th, at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

PROGRAM.

- I. Ebb Tide (Review of "The Quakers," by Frederick Storrs Turner, Chapters XIII. to XVII.) ALICE N. TOWNSEND.
 - II. Proselyting. MARGARET P. HOWARD.
- ESTHER S. STACKHOUSE, Secretary.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
 { Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,
325 SWRDE STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE PENINGTON,
Permanent and Transient Boarding
for Friends.
215 E. 15th Street, New York City.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

FOR SALE.
A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

Swarthmore.
For rent or sale, Queen Anne Cottage, 12 rooms, steam heat, and open fire grates. The location is very delightful, directly overlooking the athletic grounds of the College, and very close to the meeting-house; one acre of ground, and plenty of fruit. Apply to DAVID SCANNELL, 814 Arch Street.

WATCHES.
As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.
GEO. C. CHILD,
1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.
Established 1820 at 824 North Second Street.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,
FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.OAK GROVE SEMINARY !
AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends.
Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.

For Catalogue address,

PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, MaineFriends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,
(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.

Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars toLOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,
Jenkintown, Pa.Or
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.ANNIE HEACOCK.
LIDA R. LEMASTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

A POSTAL CARD RECEIVES PROMPT ATTENTION.

JOHN S. CONRAD,
LAUNDRY,

2103, 2105 COLUMBIA AVENUE, PHILA

Ask your doctor about soaps, soaps containing alkali and soaps made of pure vegetable oils. Physicians and trained nurses recommend Ivory Soap because it contains nothing but pure soap. There's no alkali in Ivory Soap, it is a thorough cleanser, and is the standard of soap excellence, 99⁴/₁₀₀ per cent pure.

IT FLOATS.

Copyright, 1900, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

Second Edition Now Ready.

THE BRANDYWINE

By JOHN RUSSELL HAYES.

Illustrated by Robert Shaw.

Paper covers, 50 cents. Stiff covers, 75 cents.
For sale at Friends' Book Association, Strawbridge & Clothier's, Wanamaker's; or sent postpaid on receipt of price mailed to Box 51, West Chester, Pa.A few remaining copies of "The Old-Fashioned Garden," by same author, for sale at above addresses.
Price, 80 cents.ANNOUNCEMENT.We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a Select Stock of our own reliable work.SAMUEL DUTCHER,

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 N. 13th Street.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new

Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,

135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.

Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William
Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 4
pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins.
Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 5 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 1 cent; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION
Limited,
921 Arch Street, Phila.

NOTICES.

. Abington First-day School Union will be held in Friends' meeting-house, Abington, Pa., Seventh-day, Fourth month 15, at 10 a. m. All interested Friends are cordially invited.

Conveyances can be obtained at Jenkintown Station for both North and South bound trains.

MARY H. FORMAN, } Clerks.
JOSEPH S. EVANS, }

. The Visiting Committee of Baltimore Yearly Meeting has arranged for the following meetings during Fourth month:

- 9. Washington.
- 16. Aisquith St., Baltimore.
- 23. Fawn Grove, Md.
- 30. Sandy Spring, Md.

MARTHA S. TOWNSEND.

. The Philanthropic Committee of Burlington Quarterly Meeting will hold a meeting at Old Springfield meeting-house, N. J., on First-day, Fourth month 16, 1899, at 2.30 p. m.

Amanda Deyo of Philadelphia expects to be present and address the meeting. Subject, "The New Peace Crusade: Solid facts for Church and State."

All are cordially invited.

FRANKLIN S. ZELLEY, Clerk.

. A Conference under the care of Western Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Temperance and Philanthropic Work, will be held in the meeting-house at Hockessin, Delaware, on First-day, Fourth month 16, at 2 o'clock p. m.

Mary Heald Way is expected to address the Conference on Temperance. All interested are cordially invited to be present.

HORACE L. DILWORTH, Clerk.

. The regular meeting of Concord First-day School Union will be held at Swarthmore meeting-house, on Seventh day, Fourth month 15, 1899, convening at 10 a. m. All interested are invited to attend.

HERBERT P. WORTH, } Clerks.
ANNA P. SMEDLEY, }

. The united First-day evening meetings (Philadelphia), during Fourth month, will be at Fourth and Green streets at 7.30 o'clock. All are invited.

. A Circular Meeting, under the care of a Committee of the Western Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Kennett Square on First-day, Fourth month 9, 1899, to convene at 3 o'clock p. m.

SAMUEL H. BROOMELL, Clerk.

. A meeting of the Salem First-day School Union will be held at Friends' meeting-house, Woodstown, N. J., Fourth month 8, 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m.

The subject for discussion is, "How can Friends best inculcate Peace principles?"

A cordial invitation extended to all interested.

JOHN G. BORTON, } Clerks.
LOUISA POWELL, }

. The Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches will attend meetings as follows:

FOURTH MONTH:

- 16. West Philadelphia, 11 a. m.
- 30. Fairhill, 3.30 p. m.

FIFTH MONTH:

- 21. Merion, 10.30 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

A CORK newspaper published a report of an open-air political meeting, in which this paragraph appeared: "Mr. M. A. Brennan next spoke at much length in his usual happy style, but from the distance we were wholly unable to catch the purport of his remarks."

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,
Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St., (4th door bel. Chestnut St.),
PHILADELPHIA.

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,
33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

WALL PAPER of
Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,
1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

John C. Hancock & Co.,
N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.
(P. & R. R. R.)
DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF
LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING
Telephone Connection.

OUR
Pasteur Thermometers
FOR STERILIZING BABY'S FOOD
Ma led to any address for 60 Cents
H. C. BODEN & CO., Manufacturing Opticians,
S. E. Cor. 13th and Walnut Sts.

F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY
712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.
Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.
SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to
READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYS-
BURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMO-
KIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS
IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to
ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND SPEED.

Are You Going
To California?

The California Limited, Santa Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation car with spacious parlor, especially for use of ladies and children. 2½ days Chicago to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,
The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
CHICAGO.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
Makes the food more delicious and wholesome
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia
 409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
 President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY
 OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS of THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE and INCONTESTABLE.

President,
 HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
 GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
 HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD TRUST CO.
 LIFE INSURANCE,
 ANNUITY, AND

CAPITAL, $1,000,000
 SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS,
 ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
 CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
 WM. NEWHOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
 EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
 CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

HENRY TATNALL, Vice-President.
 N. B. CRENSHAW, Real Estate Officer.
 A. A. JACKSON, Ass't to Pres. and Vice-Pres.
 WM. E. AUMONT, Manager Trust Dept.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
 JOHN A. BROWN, JR.,
 BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
 JOHN B. GARRETT,

PEMBERTON S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
 GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
 WILLIAM H. GAW,
 FRANCIS I. COWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
 HENRY TATNALL,
 ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
 JOHN C. SIMS,
 JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
 CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
 JOSEPH L. JONES.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.
 LAW CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
 SCIENCE }
 14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
 Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

Our New Canna Lilies
 The most gorgeous flowers for garden and lawn. Plant in pots for immediate bloom, set out when ground is warm. Bears splendid clusters of lily-like flowers and elegant foliage.
4 for 25 Cents
 Including DUKE OF MAREBOROUGH — The darkest and richest crimson Canna, and 1 Lovely Pink,
 1 Gold Edged,
 1 Rich Variegated.
 Live roots, sure to bloom.
New Floral Guide
 124 pages, tells about 400 other Choice Flowers, FREE.
 Conard & Jones Co., West Grove, Pa.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,
 Undertaker
 and Embalmer,
 1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.
 Telephone 2-28-25-A.

Friends' Book Association,
 OF New York Public Library
 Publishers, 40 Lafayette Place
 Blank Book Manufacturers,
 Engravers, and Printers,
 Artists' Materials,
 Kindergarten, School Supplies.
 All Books furnished at as low prices as they can be purchased elsewhere. Friends' Books and Literature a specialty. Also everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

6% GILT EDGE GOLD MORTGAGES

in large and small amounts, upon properties in thriving and rapidly growing city in New York State. Principal and interest guaranteed by strong institution.

For full information apply to

AMOS M. GOVER,
 22 E. 42d St., New York City.

J. T. JACKSON & CO.,
Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
 JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.
 FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

A CHEAP, NEAT, CONVENIENT
 BINDER FOR
 FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER.

Will hold a full year, by packing the Better, if used for half year.
 Price, 25 cents, including postage, if sent by mail.

By having your papers together, you have the end of the year a valuable volume, of 1000 pages of reading matter.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, FOURTH MONTH 15, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XV., . . .	281
POEM: BEYOND THE SUNSET,	281
MOTHERS—AND FATHERS. By Elizabeth H. Coale,	281
EDWIN M. STANTON: Review of his Biography,	282
CHILD DEVELOPMENT. By Mary H. Whitson, (Concluded),	283
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS: Old Testament Lesson,	284
New Testament, "International" Text,	285
FRIENDS IN SOUTHERN FRANCE,	286
EDITORIAL:
The Great Conference,	288
Notes,	289
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	289
BIRMINGHAM SUMMER SCHOOL,	290
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
Farmington Quarterly Meeting,	290
Plainfield Monthly Meeting,	290
Notes,	291
A TIME TO SPEAK,	291
THE DOUKHOBOR SITUATION,	291
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	292
LITERARY NOTES,	293
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	293
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	295
COMMUNICATIONS:
Taxes on Charitable Bequests,	295
"Mammon of Righteousness,"	295
METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY, THIRD MONTH,	295
POETRY: Priceless Wealth,	295
BUSINESS IN THE PHILIPPINES,	296
THE STING OF IT,	296
MISCELLANY: Hospital Work Among the Indians; Peace Work in Boston; A Congressional Funeral; Home and Club; "Imperialism" Abroad; Enough Land at Home: Two Ex-Presidents' Voices,	297, 298
CURRENT EVENTS,	298
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	300
NOTICES,	300, iii

F GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY
712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.
Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

AN HONEST AND CAPABLE MARRIED MAN, 38, wants position. Experienced in commission, grocery, salesman, or manager. Address No. 69, INTELLIGENCER Office.

BOOK-KEEPER.—EXPERIENCED BUSINESS man desires employment. J. C. HANCOCK, 1932 Girard Avenue.

ELOCUTION.—Experienced lady teacher desires position in school. Best references. Address No. 76, this Office.

STAMMERING AND DEFECTIVE SPEECH. Experienced lady teacher desires pupils. Best references. Address No. 75, this Office.

WANTED.—A QUALIFIED AND EXPERIENCED teacher for Buckingham Friends' Grammar School. Address ANNA C. ATKINSON, Secretary, Holicon, Pa.

WANTED.—A YOUNG COLORED WOMAN, with little girl four years old, wants a place in the country, for cooking and general housework. Wages moderate. Has best reference both for work and character. Address, for particulars, MRS. M. BALDERSTON, 211 Berkley St., Germantown, Philadelphia.

WANTED.—A POSITION AS MOTHER'S help, or to assist in the care of a house, by a woman of experience. Address No. 78, this Office.

WANTED.—A PRINCIPAL FOR ABINGTON Friends' Boarding and Day School. Address CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec., Ogontz, Pa.

WANTED.—A SMALL FAMILY TO OCCUPY a well-furnished, ten-room house in exchange for board of two. Address 1830 Willington St., Philad'a.

FOR LOW RENT, MAIN PART OF MODERN house; all conveniences; furnished or unfurnished; permanent. Rebecca J. Allen, 328 West Front St., Media, Pa.

FOR SALE.—AT LESS THAN HALF-PRICE, an unused set of The Century Dictionary—ten volumes, bound in half morocco, in perfect condition. Address, Box 231, Lansdowne, Pa.

TO RENT.—FOR SUMMER, FURNISHED house, 11 rooms, West Philadelphia, close to cars. Address G., Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race St.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St. ANNA JENKINS FERRIS, Corresponding Secretary.

Non-Alcoholic Flavoring Powders. The Boston Perfection Pie Rim, and other Household Novelties for sale by M. P. GIFFORD, 1936 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.
Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains a specialty.
210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.
Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

FOR SALE.

Old-fashioned house, open fireplaces. Ten acres of land attached, convenient to steam and trolley cars. Address, P. O. Box 1003, West Chester, Penna.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

Swarthmore.

For rent or sale, Queen Anne Cottage, 12 rooms, steam heat, and open fire grates. The location is very delightful, directly overlooking the athletic grounds of the College, and very close to the meeting-house; one acre of ground, and plenty of fruit. Apply to DAVID SCANNELL, 814 Arch Street.

LIZZIE J. LAMBERT,

Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,

Millinery. 533 NORTH ELEVENTH STREET, Philadelphia.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia.

Plain Millinery

MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

JENNIE S. MARSHALL,

INSTRUCTOR IN PIANOFORTE,
1614 Tioga St., Phila.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDR STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE PENINGTON,

Permanent and Transient Boarding
for Friends.

215 E. 15th Street, New York City.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.JOSEPH S. WALTON,
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, } Principals.

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.OAK GROVE SEMINARY
AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends.
Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.

For Catalogue address,

PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, MaineFriends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.

Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars toLOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,Or, JENKINTOWN, PA.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

A POSTAL CARD RECEIVES PROMPT ATTENTION.

JOHN S. CONRAD,
LAUNDRY,

2103, 2105 COLUMBIA AVENUE, PHILA

Nothing Better than the Best.

Pillsbury's Best Flour is the standard. The claim often is made for other flours that they are as good as Pillsbury's Best, but never that they are better. You are told that it is dearer. That is not so. It may cost at times a little more per barrel, but a barrel of Pillsbury's Best will make more loaves of bread than will a barrel of other flour. Pillsbury's not only is the Best but also the Cheapest.

Made by THE PILLSBURY-WASHBURN FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

MAKERS ALSO OF PILLSBURY'S VITOS.

ANNOUNCEMENT.We will continue the manufacture of Custom
Shoes and carry a Select Stock of our own reliable work.SAMUEL DUTCHER,

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 N. 13th Street.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new

Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,

135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.WATCHES.As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade - established three generations ago - and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.GEO. C. CHILD,

1020 Chestnut St. - 2d Floor.

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

* * The Philanthropic Committee of Burlington Quarterly Meeting will hold a meeting at Old Springfield meeting-house, N. J., on First-day, Fourth month 16, 1899, at 2.30 p. m.

Amanda Deyo of Philadelphia expects to be present and address the meeting Subject, "The New Peace Crusade: Solid facts for Church and State."

All are cordially invited.

FRANKLIN S. ZELLEY, Clerk.

* * A Conference under the care of Western Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Temperance and Philanthropic Work, will be held in the meeting-house at Hockessin, Delaware, on First-day, Fourth month 16, at 2 o'clock p. m.

Mary Heald Way is expected to address the Conference on Temperance. All interested are cordially invited to be present.

HORACE L. DILWORTH, Clerk.

* * The regular meeting of Concord First-day School Union will be held at Swarthmore meeting-house, on Seventh day, Fourth month 15, 1899, convening at 10 a. m. All interested are invited to attend.

HERBERT P. WORTH, } Clerks.
ANNA P. SMEDI EV, }

* * The Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches will attend meetings as follows:

FOURTH MONTH:

16. West Philadelphia, 11 a. m.

30. Fairhill, 3.30 p. m.

FIFTH MONTH:

21. Merion, 10.30 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

The Family of William Penn Founder of Pennsylvania Ancestry and Descendants

By Howard M. Jenkins.

AUTHOR OF VOLUME ONE, MEMORIAL HISTORY OF PHILADELPHIA, HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS RELATING TO GWYNEDD, ETC.

THIS work presents the results of a careful collation of known authorities, consultation of the Friends' records in Great Britain and Ireland, and an examination of the now-unequalled Collections of Penn Papers in the Library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia.

Some of the information gathered is to be found in fragmentary form in some scores of printed works, many of them rare, but a large part has been drawn from the family letters. These letters, unprinted until used by the Author in the preparation of this work, are necessarily unique.

Apart from any literary merit or demerit, the work is a systematic and practically complete statement of the Ancestry and Posterity of WILLIAM PENN, the Founder, and as such must have a definite and permanent value in the lists of Biography and Genealogy.

* * The book is nearly ready.

* * Pp. 270, octavo. 10 full-page illustrations. Handsomely bound. $3.50 net. By mail, 20 cents additional.

* * The print is from type, and copies are likely to be scarce.

HOWARD M. JENKINS
PUBLISHER

981 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Headley Brothers, 14 Bishopsgate St., Without, London.

The Dinner Pail

is a little 8-page monthly, published by "Silent Workers," an incorporated company of Friends, in the interest of helpful educational work they are doing for the world. Character-building is their aim; "Others" is their motto. Annual subscription 25 cents; stamps will do. Can you spare this much for "others," or send postal for sample copy. Address "Silent Workers," 934-936 Harrison street, San Francisco, Cal., U. S. A.

"The Dinner Pail" will be whatever its friends make it," writes an interested Friend.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

BREAD... and Rolls made from the Fine Flour of the Entire Wheat as ground by the Franklin Mills are nourishing and strengthening; contain all the required elements for making.....

Brain, Bone, Nerve and Muscle.

Made of all that is nutritive of the entire wheat berry. Join the wide-awake, thinking folks—ask your grocer for it.

If your grocer does not keep it, send us his name and your order—we will see that you are supplied.

The genuine made only by the
FRANKLIN MILLS CO.,
Lockport, N. Y.

Booklet free for the asking.
Avoid substitutes.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,

Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St., (4th door bel. Chestnut St.),
PHILADELPHIA.

S. F. Balderston's Son, WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum, Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

WALL PAPER of

Attractive Styles

Popular Prices

Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St.

Philadelphia, Pa.

John C. Hancock & Co.,

N. W. Cor. 9th and Market Sts.

(P. & R. R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF

LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING

Telephone Connection.

Cross-Cross
CEREALS

Ask dealers for Special Diabetic Food, for Diabetes. them—see that packages have these cross-cross lines. Pamphlet and our sample offer mailed free. Special Diabetic Food, for Diabetes.
Gluten Flour, for Dyspepsia and Constipation.
Barley Crystals, for Kidney Trouble.
FARWELL & MINKS, Waterbury, N. Y., U. S. A.

OUR Pasteur Thermometers

FOR STERILIZING BABY'S FOOD
Mailed to any address for 60 Cents.

H. C. BODEN & CO., Manufacturing Opticians,

S. E. Cor. 13th and Walnut Sts.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
SPEED

Read These Books

TO CALIFORNIA AND BACK,
176 pp., 176 illustrations.
5 cts.

THE MOKI SNAKE DANCE,
60 pp., 64 illustrations.
3 cts.

GRAND CANON OF ARIZONA,
32 pp., 15 illustrations.
2 cts.

NEW MEXICO HEALTH RESORTS,
80 pp., 31 illustrations.
2 cts.

ARIZONA HEALTH RESORTS,
72 pp., 18 illustrations.
2 cts.

LAS VEGAS HOT SPRINGS
48 pp., 39 illustrations.
2 cts.

Mailed free
for postage named

They tell the story

of wonderful sights and scenes, and special resorts for tourists and homeseekers in the Great West. They are published by the

Santa Fe Route,

are literary and artistic, and will make you better acquainted with the attractions of your own land.

C. A. HIGGINS,
A.G.P.A., A.T. & S.F. R'y, CHICAGO.
Great Northern Bldg.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3 1/4 MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE and INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND TRUST CO.

CAPITAL, $1,000,000
SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS,
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWBOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

HENRY TATNALL, Vice-President.
N. B. CRENSHAW, Real Estate Officer.
A. A. JACKSON, Ass't to Pres. and Vice-Pres.
WM. E. AUMONT, Manager Trust Dept.

GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, Jr.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN B. GARRETT,
PERMBERTON S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

Geo. H. McFadden,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

Merchants' Trust Company,

611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
CAPITAL (paid in), 250,000.00
SURPLUS, 50,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 30,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveying done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.
JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.
ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.
WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS.

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY, J. BOLTON WINPENNY,
S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHOADS, EDWIN S. DIXON,
JOHN F. LEWIS, WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
THOMAS R. GILL, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
ALFRED I. PHILLIPS.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker
and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

Friends' Book Association,

OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers

Engravers
Artists' Materials
Kindergarten Supplies
New York Public Library
40 Lafayette Place

All Books furnished at as low prices as they can be purchased elsewhere. Friends' Books and Literature a specialty. Also everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

6% GILT EDGE GOLD MORTGAGES

in large and small amounts, upon properties in thriving and rapidly growing city in New York State. Principal and interest guaranteed by strong institution.

For full information apply to

AMOS M. GOVER,
22 E. 42d St., New York City.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5 1/2 per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILA'DA.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.
FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.
The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.
Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Black Dress Textures

Our showing of Black Dress Textures is conceded as fine as any ever made in Philadelphia. Judge the prices of all by these few.

All-wool French finish Serge, surah twill, double-width.

Special price, 25 cents a yard.

All-wool Plain Black Challis, usually 40 cents.

Special price, 31 cents a yard.

English Mohair Brilliantine, brilliant lustre, 45 inches wide.

Special price, 50 cents a yard.

All-wool Grenadine Voile, a very desirable light weight fabric, 45 inches wide, excellent value.

Special price, 75 cents a yard.

English Mohair Brilliantine, a rich quality with a brilliant, high lustre, 45 inches wide, the regular $1.00 quality.

Special price, 75 cents a yard.

All-wool Black Cheviot Suiting, the proper weight for Spring dresses, sponged shrunk, 48 inches wide.

Special price, $1.00 a yard.

Samples sent upon request.

Mail Orders receive prompt and accurate attention.

Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, FOURTH MONTH 22, 1899.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School, FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS., PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College. For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL, (Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES. Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

LOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,
Jenkintown, Pa.

Or CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

OAK GROVE SEMINARY AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.

A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends. Primary Department for children. Commercial Department. Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.

For Catalogue address

PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, Maine

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.

Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City. For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

COUNTRY BOARDING.—HIGH GROUND, old shade, always cool, modern conveniences, five minutes' walk to Philadelphia trolley, fifteen to Reading or Pennsylvania R. R., and Friends' meeting. MARY S. LANDES, Oak and High Sts., Norristown, Pa.

NOTICE.—THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE Friends' Boarding House Association will be held at Friends' Meeting-house (Room No. 1), on Fourth-day, Fourth month 26, at 3 o'clock. An election for officers and fourteen directors will take place, together with such other business as may be presented. GEO. W. HANCOCK, Clerk.

FOR SALE OR RENT.—ELEVEN-ROOMED, new cottage, near GEORGE SCHOOL, with all the modern conveniences. Trolley running by the door. Apply to G. B. GIRTON, Newtown, Pa.

FOR RENT FOR THE SEASON.—A COSILY furnished, ten-room cottage, within three minutes' walk of Orville Station, on the Bethlehem Branch of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, a ten feet wide porch around the entire house. Apply to HENRY C. HAWKINS, 1328 Arch Street.

FOR LOW RENT, MAIN PART OF MODERN house; all conveniences; furnished or unfurnished; permanent. Rebecca J. Allen, 328 West Front St., Media, Pa.

FOR SALE.—AT LESS THAN HALF-PRICE, an unused set of The Century Dictionary, ten volumes, bound in half morocco, in perfect condition. Address, Box 231, Lansdowne, Pa.

TO RENT.—FOR SUMMER, FURNISHED house, 11 rooms, West Philadelphia, close to cars. Address G., Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race St.

WANTED.—A SMALL FAMILY TO OCCUPY a well-furnished, ten-room house in exchange for board of two. Address 1830 Willington St., Philad'a.

WANTED.—A YOUNG COLORED WOMAN, with little girl four years old, wants a place in the country, for cooking and general housework. Wages moderate. Has best reference both for work and character. Address, for particulars, MRS. M. BALDERSTON, 211 Berkley St., Germantown, Philadelphia.

WANTED.—A POSITION AS MOTHER'S help, or to assist in the care of a house, by a woman of experience. Address No. 78, this Office.

BOOK-KEEPER.—EXPERIENCED BUSINESS man desires employment. J. C. HANCOCK, 1932 Girard Avenue.

ELUCUTION.—Experienced lady teacher desires position in school. Best references. Address No. 76, this Office.

STAMMERING AND DEFECTIVE SPEECH. Experienced lady teacher desires pupils. Best references. Address No. 75, this Office.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St. ANNA JENKINS FERRIS,

Corresponding Secretary.

Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Worthy Friends of the 19th Century.

I

SAMUEL M. JANNEY.

Under the above title, FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER will begin, Fifth month 6, the publication of a biographical sketch of SAMUEL M. JANNEY, of Loudoun county, Virginia.

It has been prepared with care by his daughter-in-law, Eliza F. Rawson (at the request of the INTELLIGENCER), and will be accompanied by recollections furnished by Jacob M. Troth and Howard White. Much new and interesting material will be presented.

It will have a number of suitable illustrations, all of them specially prepared to accompany the article.

The paper will be completed in about eight to ten numbers of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER.

The Family of William Penn Founder of Pennsylvania Ancestry and Descendants

By Howard M. Jenkins.

AUTHOR OF VOLUME ONE, MEMORIAL HISTORY OF PHILADELPHIA, HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS RELATING TO GWYNEDD, ETC.

THIS work presents the results of a careful collation of known authorities, consultation of the Friends' records in Great Britain and Ireland, and an examination of the now unequalled Collections of Penn Papers in the Library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia.

Some of the information gathered is to be found in fragmentary form in some scores of printed works, many of them rare, but a large part has been drawn from the family letters. These letters, unprinted until used by the Author in the preparation of this work, are necessarily unique.

Apart from any literary merit or demerit, the work is a systematic and practically complete statement of the Ancestry and Posterity of WILLIAM PENN, the Founder, and as such must have a definite and permanent value in the lists of Biography and Genealogy.

*The book is nearly ready.

*Pp. 270, octavo. 19 full-page illustrations. Handsomely bound. $3.50 net. By mail, 50 cents additional.

*The print is from type, and copies are likely to be scarce.

HOWARD M. JENKINS
PUBLISHER

921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Headley Brothers, 14 Bishopsgate St., Without, London.

A Trip of 50 Days for $420.

Through California, "including Yosemite Valley," Oregon, Washington, and a tour of ten days through Alaska to Muir Glacier. This trip is first-class in all its appointments. Leaves June 22, via B. & O. R. R. For further information inquire of REBECCA B. NICHOLSON, 523 Cooper St., Camden, N. J.

Non-Alcoholic Flavoring Powders. The Boston Perfection Pie Rim,

and other Household Novelties for sale by
M. P. GIFFORD, 1936 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
 (LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Draw~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XVI., . . .	301
POEM: PRAYER,	301
CO-OPERATION OF PARENTS,	301
THE COMING DAY OF PEACE. By Charles G. Ames,	301
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS:
Old Testament Lesson,	303
New Testament, "International" Text,	304
THE DOUKHOBORS AS CHRISTIANS,	305
EDITORIAL:
"Race" Manners,	306
Notes,	306
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	306, 307
DOUKHOBOR NOTES,	307
THE PHILIPPINE POLICY,	307
ANOTHER "PLEA FOR THE OPPRESSED,"	308
SANDY SPRING SETTLERS,	310
THE CYPRUS DOUKHOBOR COLONY,	310
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	311
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	311
LITERARY NOTES,	314
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	314
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	314
COMMUNICATIONS:
Directions for Shipping,	314
ATTITUDE DURING PUBLIC PRAYER,	315
ANTI-IMPERIALIST LIBERALS,	315
FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN,	316
HINTS ON THE CARE OF ROSES,	316
PROGRESS OF EQUAL SUFFRAGE,	317
SECRETARY GRESHAM'S FORECAST,	317
MISCELLANY: Notes on Mexico; The Ocean Currents; A Bartram Bi-Centennial; Over-Capitalized Trusts,	317, 318
CURRENT EVENTS,	318
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	319
NOTICES,	320

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
 Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
 The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
 OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
 Atlantic City, N. J.
 Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
 M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

There's nothing in Ivory Soap but soap, good, pure vegetable oil soap. There's nothing to make the linens streaky, no alkali to injure the finest textures. The lather forms quickly and copiously, and wash-day is a pleasure instead of a drudgery. Try it in the next wash. The price places it within reach of every one. Look out for imitations.

Copyright, 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a Select Stock of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER,

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 N. 13th Street.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new
 Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.

Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,
 135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

F. GUTEKUNST, FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.
 Established 1820 at 824 North Second Street.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.
 LAW } STENOGRAPHER.
 CONVENTION }
 SCIENCE }
 14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
 Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

WHEATLET

IS AN Economical
Food.

When served as a Breakfast Mush it costs less than one cent for each person. It is not steam-cooked, therefore it retains the rich,

Nut-like Flavor of Wheat in its natural condition. It has none of the coarse, gritty taste of cracked or rolled wheat.

If your grocer does not keep it, send us his name and your order—we will see that you are supplied.

There is but one Wheatlet; avoid the "just as good." Booklet mailed free.

Made only by the

Franklin Mills Co., Lockport, N.Y.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,
Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St., (4th door bel. Chestnut St.),
PHILADELPHIA.

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,
33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

WALL PAPER of
Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,
1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

The Dinner Pail

is a little 8-page monthly, published by "Silent Workers," an incorporated company of Friends, in the interest of helpful educational work they are doing for the world. Character-building is their aim; "Others" is their motto. Annual subscription 25 cents; stamps will do. Can you spare this much for "others," or send postal for sample copy. Address "Silent Workers," 934-936 Harrison street, San Francisco, Cal., U. S. A.

"The Dinner Pail will be whatever its friends make it," writes an interested Friend.

HONEY should never be heated to the boiling point. It destroys the flavor.

It is estimated by the American Agriculturist that there are 75,000,000 horses in the world, Europe being credited with 38,000,000, North America with 17,000,000, and Asia with 9,000,000. The mules and asses in the world are said to number 9,000,000.

THE decline in the Irish linen trade is serious, and is giving much anxiety in the North of Ireland, particularly in Belfast, its principal seat. The trade is passing away to Germany and Austria, and is making considerable progress in Mexico.

"How do you manage to find your way across the ocean?" said a lady to the sea captain. "Why, by the compass. The needle always points to the north." "Yes, I know. But what if you wish to go south?"—[Tit-Bits.]

CHARLES KINGSLEY's recipe for being miserable is as follows: "Think about yourself, about what you want, what respect people ought to pay to you. In other words, center all your thoughts on self, and you will have abundance of misery."

A SHARK's egg is one of the oddest looking things imaginable. It is unprovided with shell, but the contents are protected by a thick, leathery covering almost as elastic as india rubber. The average size is 2 inches by 2¾ inches, and the color is almost pure black.

LIZZIE J. LAMBERT,

Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,

Millinery. 533 NORTH ELEVENTH STREET,
Philadelphia.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St.,
Philadelphia.

Plain Millinery
MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

JENNIE S. MARSHALL,
INSTRUCTOR IN PIANOFORTE,
1614 Tioga St., Phila.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,
325 SWEDEN STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.
Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.
210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.
Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

John C. Hancock & Co.,

N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.
(P. & R. R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF

LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING
Telephone Connection.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to. 1311 Market St., Phila.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.
SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYS-
BURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMO-
KIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS
IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
SPEED.

Are You Going To California?

The California Limited, Santa Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation car with spacious parlor, especially for use of ladies and children. 2¾ days Chicago to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
CHICAGO.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA B. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3 1/2 MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE and INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD TRUST CO.

LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND

CAPITAL, $1,000,000
SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS.
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWBOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

HENRY TATNALL, Vice-President.
N. B. CRENSHAW, Real Estate Officer.
A. A. JACKSON, Ass't to Pres. and Vice-Pres.
WM. E. AUMONT, Manager Trust Dept.
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, JR.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN B. GARRETT,
PETERBERTON S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

OUR Pasteur Thermometers

FOR STERILIZING BABY'S FOOD

Mailed to any address for 60 Cents.

H. C. BODEN & CO., Manufacturing Opticians,
S. E. Cor. 13th and Walnut Sts.

Our New Canna Lilies
The most gorgeous flowers for garden and lawn. Plant in pots for immediate bloom, set out when ground is warm. Bears splendid clusters of lily-like flowers and elegant foliage.

4 for 25 Cents
Including DUKE OF MARLBOROUGH—The darkest and richest crimson Canna, and 1 Lovely Pink,
1 Gold Edged,
1 Rich Variegated.
Live roots, sure to bloom.
New Floral Guide
124 pages, tells about 400 other Choice Flowers, FREE.
CONARD & JONES CO., West Grove, Pa.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker
and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-28-A.

Friends' Book Association, OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,

Kindergarten, School Supplies.

All Books furnished at as low prices as they can be purchased elsewhere. Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

6% GILT EDGE GOLD MORTGAGES

in large and small amounts, upon properties in thriving and rapidly growing city in New York State. Principal and interest guaranteed by strong institution.

For full information apply to

AMOS M. GOVER,

22 E. 42d St., New York City.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5 1/2 % per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Washable Dress Goods

Fine French Batiste: in the latest styles and colorings; some very handsome and exclusive designs,

at 12 1/2 cents a yard

Printed dimities: over a hundred patterns of the finest cloth and the choicest printing of this very popular fabric; new and exclusive designs, in light and dark effects,

at 15 cents a yard

French Percalé: considered very handsome for women's shirt waists and men's shirts, in plaids, stripes, and neat figures, in pink, blue, lavender, and all the new effects. Regular price 25 cents,

at 18 cents a yard

French Organdies: a complete range of styles and colorings in the finest grades of this desirable summer fabric; many exclusive designs in richly colored blossoms, sprays, vines, and stripes—a rare exhibition of artistic printing—

at 25 cents a yard

Royal Broche, a fine satin finished, imported cloth, with brocade figures in new blue, pink, lavender, and gray, well adapted for women's shirt waists. Imported to sell for 50 cents, but now 30 cents a yard

Samples sent upon request.

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, FOURTH MONTH 29, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association.
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.
To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.
To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers.
Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XVII., . . .	321
POEM: WHERE IS GOD?	321
THE CARLYLE FAMILY LETTERS: REVIEW,	321
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS:
Old Testament Lesson,	322
New Testament, "International" Text,	324
THE INFLUENCE OF PLAIN LANGUAGE,	324
DRIVING THROUGH NARROW PLACES,	325
EDITORIAL:
The Plain People Pay,	326
Notes,	326
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	327
DOUKHOBOR NOTES,	327
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	327
FROM AIKEN, S. C.,	328
THE CYPRUS DOUKHOBORS,	328
SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA SCENES,	329
TRUE MISSION TEACHING,	329
CHILD CULTURE,	329
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	330
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	331
LITERARY NOTES,	332
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	333
COMMUNICATIONS:
Diversity of Opinion,	333
An International Court,	333
Endowment of Laing School,	334
POETRY: ADDRESS TO THE STARS,	334
"BENEVOLENT ASSIMILATION,"	334
A PLEA FOR THE FEET,	335
WHEN THE SUN DIES OUT,	335
THE CONSCRIPTION IN EUROPE,	336
MISCELLANY: Czar's Response to American Addresses; Married Five Times; Covered Buttons; The Armenian Want; Canvassing for Marriages; Only We Gentle; Cost of Living in England,	336, 337
CURRENT EVENTS,	337
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	338
NOTICES,	339

CANADIAN THOUSAND ISLANDS.—TO RENT for season, 9 roomed cottage, furnished, verandas, fire place, ice house. Apply to REV. JAMES ALLEN, 165 Carleton St., Toronto, Canada.

TO RENT FOR THREE MONTHS, A TWELVE room, furnished house in Media, with sufficient ground to use for tennis or croquet. Filtered water, piano, all modern conveniences. Apply at 18 BANK ST., Philadelphia, Pa.

TO RENT FOR SUMMER.—FURNISHED house, large, airy rooms, secluded garden. Address H. J. C., 476 HURON ST., Toronto, Canada.

FOR SALE OR RENT.—ELEVEN-ROOMED, new cottage, near GEORGE SCHOOL, with all the modern conveniences. Formerly occupied by Dr. Holmes. Trolley running by the door. Apply to G. B. GIRTON, Newtown, Pa.

FOR RENT FOR THE SEASON.—A COSILY furnished, ten-room cottage, within three minutes' walk of Orville Station, on the Bethlehem Branch of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, a ten feet wide porch around the entire house. Apply to HENRY C. HAWKINS, 1328 Arch Street.

WANTED.—SMALL FAMILY TO TAKE FURNISHED house and board two. Tioga. Address "B.," Friends' Book Store, 1500 Race St., Philad'a.

BOOK-KEEPER.—EXPERIENCED BUSINESS man desires employment. J. C. HANCOCK, 1932 Girard Avenue.

ELOCUTION.—Experienced lady teacher desires position in school. Best references. Address No. 76, this Office.

STAMMERING AND DEFECTIVE SPEECH. Experienced lady teacher desires pupils. Best references. Address No. 75, this Office.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING
The Young Friends' Association Office
has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St. ANNA JENKINS FERRIS,
Corresponding Secretary.

A Trip of 50 Days for $420.
Through California, "including Yosemite Valley," Oregon, Washington, and a tour of ten days through Alaska to Muir Glacier. This trip is first-class in all its appointments. Leaves June 27, via B. & O. R. R. For further information inquire of REBECCA B. NICHOLSON, 523 Cooper St., Camden, N. J.

Non-Alcoholic Flavoring Powders. The Boston Perfection Pie Rim, and other Household Novelties for sale by
M. P. GIFFORD, 1936 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

FOR SALE.
Old-fashioned house, with open fire-places. Ten acres of land attached. Convenient to both steam and trolley cars. Address, P. O. Box 2603, West Chester, Penna.

JUST PUBLISHED

FOURTH EDITION

Disarmament of Nations; or, Mankind One Body.

By George Dana Boardman, D.D., LL.D.
OF PHILADELPHIA

An Address, expanded and revised, delivered at Washington, D. C., in the presence of distinguished public officials.

Of great interest and value in the present crisis. A strong presentation of fact and argument.
Pp 27. Price, Five Cents. $1 for 25 copies.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,
921 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Worthy Friends of the 19th Century.

I SAMUEL M. JANNEY.

Under the above title, FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER will begin, Fifth month 6, the publication of a biographical sketch of SAMUEL M. JANNEY, of Loudoun county, Virginia.

It has been prepared with care by his daughter-in-law, Eliza F. Rawson (at the request of the INTELLIGENCER, and will be accompanied by recollections furnished by Jacob M. Troth and Howard White. Much new and interesting material will be presented.

It will have a number of suitable illustrations, all of them specially prepared to accompany the article.

The paper will be completed in about eight to ten numbers of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER.

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION.

The regular meeting of the Young Friends' Association will be held in the Lecture Room, Fifteenth and Race streets, on Second-day evening, Fifth month 8, at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

PROGRAM.

I Self-Evident Religious Truth. (Concluding chapters of "The Quaker," by Frederick Storrs Turner.)

ELIZABETH H. COLLINS.

II. "Southern Heroes: Friends in War Time." Reviewed by

SARAH PENNYPACKER.

ESTHER S. STACKHOUSE, Secretary.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

Swarthmore College.

To the Members of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting and Others :

The concern recently manifested by New York Friends for a better financial support of SWARTHMORE COLLEGE has naturally excited attention and interest here, a result of which has been the appointment of the undersigned as a Committee to suggest to Friends the propriety of coöperating in giving such substantial aid to the College as will put its beneficent activities upon a more secure basis.

It is generally felt that SWARTHMORE COLLEGE has accomplished and surpassed all that its most hopeful supporters at first anticipated. It has afforded a guarded liberal education to some thousands of young men and young women who are now creditably filling their various stations in life. It has decidedly promoted among our own people both attachment and respect for the Society of Friends. None of the troubles have occurred which some feared might spring from the system of coöducation. At this time not only are its buildings and equipments much superior to those with which it began, but its standard of education has been advanced, new departments have been added, its professors and teachers, largely recruited from its own graduates, are more numerous, and in many branches better qualified than heretofore, so that Swarthmore now takes high rank among the colleges of our country.

Manifestly our young people are not likely to remain permanently with us unless we can offer them an adequate education in all the chief branches of learning; and various causes have operated to make necessary for this purpose an outlay much greater than was required a quarter of a century ago. Among these causes are (1) the demand for a greater variety of elective courses of study, calling for an increased number of skilled instructors; (2) the great progress of the physical and biological sciences, demanding museums and laboratories, fitted not only for demonstration, but for individual work by the student; and (3) the more general recognition of the dignity of the profession of teaching, which not only requires more serious preparation of those who assume its responsibilities, but also a more liberal scale of payment than formerly obtained.

It is obvious that such educational advantages presuppose a degree of stability that no ill-nourished institution can attain. No college exists upon the fees paid by its students; all depend largely upon gifts or bequests, the thank-offerings of persons who, conscious of having been blessed in basket and in store, desire to express their gratitude by aiding their fellow-men. Not many, perhaps, can give largely, but there are those, we hope, who will desire to do so, while smaller gifts may not only be the expression of the same generosity, but in the aggregate may be of material assistance. Some may desire to bestow by bequest some part of their worldly goods upon so worthy an object as SWARTHMORE COLLEGE. We would, however, remind such that a gift made during life is sure to reach its aim undiminished by tax, and free from the chance of failure by reason of a faulty will or by decease within the (Pennsylvania) legal limit of thirty days from date of will.

In furtherance of the views above expressed it, has been proposed that the friends of the College now endeavor to secure a Fund of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) for its additional endowment and equipment. This amount, while small as compared with the endowments of some similar institutions, will place SWARTHMORE COLLEGE in a condition which will insure its continued progress.

We appeal to those who are able and willing to assist, for generous contributions; and in so doing we point backward to the plain, useful, unostentatious career of SWARTHMORE COLLEGE, hallowed as it is by the pious diligence of many Friends now departed, and forward to the great work that lies before our one College, if the members and descendants of members of the Society will give it to the material support it deserves and requires.

Subscriptions will be received by any member of the Committee, either without condition, or conditioned upon the completion of the Fund.

JOSEPH WHARTON, Chairman,

P. O. Box 1332, Philadelphia, Pa.

ROBERT M. JANNEY,
112 Drexel Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

EDWARD H. OGDEN,
314 Vine Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

SUSAN W. LIPPINCOTT,
Cinnaminson, N. J.

ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
8th and Market Streets,

Philadelphia, Pa.
HOWARD M. JENKINS,
921 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
(Gwynedd, Pa.)

ANNIE SHOEMAKER, Secretary,
Swarthmore, Pa.

WILLIAM W. BIRDSALL,
Swarthmore, Pa.

SUSAN J. CUNNINGHAM,
Swarthmore, Pa.

WILLIAM J. HALL,
Swarthmore, Pa.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, FIFTH MONTH 6, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XVIII.,	341
POETRY: REGRET,	341
WORTHY FRIENDS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY: SAMUEL M. JANNEY. BY ELIZA F. RAWSON, (with Illustration),	341
THE OLD TESTAMENT PROPHETS: BY DR. LYMAN ABBOTT,	343
BLOCH'S GREAT BOOK ON MODERN WAR: BY PROF. MIEILLE, (Translated by Dr. Magill),	345
EDITORIAL:
Counselling Together,	348
Notes,	348
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	348, 349
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS:
Old Testament Lesson,	349
New Testament, "International" Text,	350
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	351
VISITS TO FRIENDS IN INDIANA,	352
THE ADDRESSES TO THE CZAR,	353
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	353
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	355
LITERARY NOTES,	355
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	356
CONFERENCE OF FRIENDS' ASSOCIATIONS,	356
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	356
THE DOUKHOBORS,	356
NEW YORK NOTES,	356
ADDRESS BY DR. JOSEPH MAY,	356
STORIES FROM MT. PLEASANT "SHEPHERD,"	358
CURRENT EVENTS,	359
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	359
NOTICES,	iii

LIZZIE J. LAMBERT,

Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,

Millinery. 533 NORTH ELEVENTH STREET, Philadelphia.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia.

Plain Millinery

MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

JENNIE S. MARSHALL,
INSTRUCTOR IN PIANOFORTE,
1614 Tioga St., Phila.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

CANADIAN THOUSAND ISLANDS.—TO RENT for season, 9 roomed cottage, furnished, verandas, fire place, ice house. Apply to REV. JAMES ALLEN, 165 Carleton St., Toronto, Canada.

TO RENT, FURNISHED.—SWARTHMORE. Media Railroad, 21 minutes from Broad Street. On hill, eight minutes' walk from station. Same distance from trolleys. Sixteen-room, modern stone dwelling. 1½ acres lawn, porch, shade, tennis, etc. From two to four months. Apply Box 34, Swarthmore, Pa.

TO RENT FOR SUMMER.—FURNISHED house, large, airy rooms, secluded garden. Address H. J. C., 476 HURON ST., Toronto, Canada.

CHESTER COUNTY BOY OF NINETEEN, now and for three years past at Westtown School, wants employment during July and August: clerk, bookkeeper or general assistant in hotel or boarding-house, drive wagon, serve customers, etc.; active, intelligent, willing, no bad habits; Philadelphia references. Address now G. H. P., Westtown, Pa.

WANTED.—A POSITION AS TEACHER OF Mathematics and higher branches. Friend. Address, ANNA L. GARRETT, 9 Stratford Avenue, Lansdowne, Pa.

WANTED.—SMALL FAMILY TO TAKE FURNISHED house and board two. Tioga. Address "B.," Friends' Book Store, 1500 Race St., Philad'a.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING
The Young Friends' Association Office
has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St. ANNA JENKINS FERRIS,
Corresponding Secretary.

A Trip of 50 Days for $420.
Through California, "including Yosemite Valley," Oregon, Washington, and a tour of ten days through Alaska to Muir Glacier. This trip is first-class in all its appointments. Leaves June 27, via B. & O. R. R. For further information inquire of REBECCA B. NICHOLSON, 523 Cooper St., Camden, N. J.

Non-Alcoholic Flavoring Powders. The Boston Perfection Pie Rim,
and other Household Novelties for sale by
M. P. GIFFORD, 1936 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

FOR SALE.
Old-fashioned house, with open fire-places. Ten acres of land attached. Convenient to both steam and trolley cars. Address, P. O. Box 2603, West Chester, Penna.

FOR SALE.
A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

No. 43.

Successors to David Pettit & Co.

A POSTAL CARD RECEIVES PROMPT ATTENTION.
JOHN S. CONRAD,
LAUNDRY,
3103, 3105 COLUMBIA AVENUE, PHILA

REMOVAL.

OUR customers and friends will find us at 46 N. 11th St., Philad'a,
where we will be pleased to show them our samples of Iron Fencing, Chairs and Settees, and Ornamental Iron Work.

The Pettit Ornamental Iron and Fence Co.

THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY
JUST PUBLISHED
FOURTH EDITION
Disarmament of Nations;

Mankind One Body.
By George Dana Boardman, D.D., LL.D.
OF PHILADELPHIA

An Address, expanded and revised, delivered at Washington, D. C., in the presence of distinguished public officials.
Of great interest and value in the present crisis.
A strong presentation of fact and argument.
Pp 27. Price, Five Cents. $1 for 25 copies.
HOWARD M. JENKINS,
921 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Worthy Friends of the 19th Century.

I.
SAMUEL M. JANNEY.
Under the above title, FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER begins, in this issue, the publication of a biographical sketch of SAMUEL M. JANNEY, of Loudoun county, Virginia.
It has been prepared with care by his daughter-in-law, Eliza F. Rawson (at the request of the INTELLIGENCER), and will be accompanied by recollections furnished by Jacob M. Troth and Howard White. Much new and interesting material will be presented.

It will have a number of suitable illustrations, all of them specially prepared to accompany the article.
The paper will be completed in about eight numbers of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER.

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION.
The regular meeting of the Young Friends' Association will be held in the Lecture Room, Fifteenth and Race streets, on Second-day evening, Fifth month 8, at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

PROGRAM.
I Self-Evident Religious Truth. (Concluding chapters of "The Quaker," by Frederick Storrs Turner.)

ELIZABETH H. COLLINS.
II. "Southern Heroes: Friends in War Time."
Reviewed by

SARAH PENNYPACKER.
ESTHER S. STACKHOUSE, Secretary.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,
FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia:
*furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.*JOSEPH S. WALTON,
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, } Principals.

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars toLOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,
Jenkintown, Pa.Or
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.OAK GROVE SEMINARY
AND BAILEY INSTITUTE.A Boarding and Day School for both sexes, under the charge of New England Yearly Meeting of Friends. Primary Department for children. Commercial Department.
Exceptional facilities in Music, Painting, and
Drawing. Prepares for college. Winter term begins
December 6th. Spring term begins March 7th.

For Catalogue address,

PRINCIPAL OAK GROVE SEMINARY,
Vassalboro, MaineFriends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $350 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Cheltenham Hills School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,
will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.ANNE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

A baby's skin is the most delicate of all delicate things, and is much more sensitive to external influence than a grown person's. It is frequently affected by the harmful ingredients of common soaps; these do not rinse readily, and will cause painful chapping, rash and disease by remaining in the clothing and coming in contact with the skin of the little one.

Do not permit the child's garments to be washed with anything but Ivory Soap. It is pure and is made of vegetable oils.

IVORY SOAP IS 99 ⁴⁴/₁₀₀ PER CENT. PURE.

Copyright 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,

Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St., (4th door bel. Chestnut St.), PHILADELPHIA.TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new

Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange, 135 S. 5th Street, Philada.F. GUTEKUNST,

FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom
Shoes and carry a Select Stock of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER,

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 N. 13th Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable
watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.

Established 1820 at 824 North Second Street.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker

and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

NOTICES.

* * Friends desiring accommodation at the meeting-house, or elsewhere, during New York Yearly Meeting, please communicate with

ELLA B. McDOWELL,
226 East 16th street, New York City.
or ELIZABETH B. CAPRON,
White Plains, N. Y.

* * The annual meeting of stockholders of Friends' Book Association of Philadelphia, will be held in Room No. 4, 15th and Race streets, on Second-day, Fifth month 15, 1899, at 7.15 p. m., when an election will be held for Directors to serve for the ensuing year.

SAMUEL B. CHAPMAN, Secretary.

* * Quarterly and Yearly Meetings will occur as follows :

9. Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting, Race street, 10 a. m.
8. Nine Partners Half-Yearly Meeting.
11. Shrewsbury and Plainfield Half-Yearly Meeting.
15. Philadelphia Yearly Meeting.
25. Bucks Quarter, Buckingham, Pa.
29. New York Yearly Meeting.
30. Burlington Quarter, Crosswicks, N. J.
31. Southern Quarter, Easton, Md.

* * A religious meeting will be held at Friends Home for Children, 4011 Aspen street, West Philadelphia, Fifth month 7, at 3 o'clock. Ministering Friends and all who are interested in the Home will be welcome, and are desired to attend.

S. T. R. EAVENSON, M. D.

* * An adjourned meeting of the Association for the promotion of First-day Schools within the limits of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting, will be held in Race Street meeting house, Fourth-day evening, Fifth month 17, at 8 o'clock.

It is desired to make the occasion one of especial value to First day school teachers. All interested are invited.

JOHN L. CARVER, } Clerks.
MARY H. FORMAN, }

* * A Circular Meeting, under the care of a Committee of Concord Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Chichester, Delaware county, Pa., on First-day, Fifth month 7, 1899, at 3 o'clock.

MARY P. HARVEY, Clerk.

* * Communications intended for Women's Branch of New York Yearly Meeting may be addressed to me at Chappaqua, New York, care of Robert S. Haviland EMILY P. YEO.

* * The following compose the Committee to assist in securing homes for strangers in attendance at Philadelphia Yearly Meeting :

Charles E. Thomas, 868 N. 26th street.
Tamar Hartley, 1511 Swain street.
Martha D. Hough, 1340 Spruce street.
Matilda K. Lobb, 1702 N. 18th street.
Sarah L. Haines, 1513 Marshall street.
Joseph M. Truman, Jr., 1500 Race street.
Rebecca B. Comly, 1529 Centennial avenue.

* * The Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches will attend meetings as follows :

FIFTH MONTH :
21. Merion, 10.30 a. m.
AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

* * First-day evening meeting to-morrow will be at 35th street and Lancaster Avenue, at 7.30 o'clock. The company of Friends generally is invited, and that they extend an invitation to others.

* * The Visiting Committee of Baltimore Yearly Meeting has made the following appointments for Fifth month :

7. Woodlawn, Virginia.
14. Huntingdon and Eastland, Pa.
21. Pipe Creek, Md.
26. Deer Creek, Md.
28. Broad Creek, Md.

On behalf of the Committee.

MARTHA S. TOWNSEND.

THERE are 439 bridges in Greater New York. One of these crosses the East river, eleven cross the Harlem, and five Newtown creek. Of the others, fifty-three are in Brooklyn, seventy-nine in Bronx, forty-six in Queens, and 244 in Richmond.

THE war with Spain covered practically a year. President McKinley's message to Congress, which began it, was dated April 11, 1898. The American and Spanish ratifications of the treaty of Paris were exchanged at Washington on April 11, 1899.

ARMSTRONG & McKELVY } Pittsburgh.
BEYMER-BAUMAN } Pittsburgh.
DAVIS-CHAMBERS } Pittsburgh.
FAHNESTOCK } Pittsburgh.
ANONOR } Cincinnati.
ROCKSTEIN }
ATLANTIC }
BRADLEY } New York.
BROOKLYN }
JEWETT }
ULSTER }
UNION }
SOUTHERN } Chicago.
SHIPMAN }
COLLIER }
MISSOURI } St. Louis.
RED SEAL }
SOUTHERN }
JOHN F. LEWIS & BROS CO } Philadelphia.
MORLEY } Cleveland.
SALEM } Salem, Mass.
CORWELL } Buffalo.
KENTUCKY } Louisville.

THE truth of the matter is, there are so many mixtures of Zinc, Barytes, Whiting, etc., sold under misleading brands of "White Lead" and "Pure White Lead," that in order to obtain Pure White Lead it is absolutely necessary to make sure that the brand is right.

Those named in the margin are genuine.

FREE By using National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, any desired shade is readily obtained. Pamphlet giving valuable information and card showing samples of colors free; also folder showing picture of house painted in different designs or various styles or combinations of shades forwarded upon application to those intending to paint.

National Lead Co., 100 William St., New York.

For Breakfast,
WHEATLET

is preferable to oatmeal because Wheatlet is rich in gluten. Oatmeal is starchy. Many people cannot eat Oatmeal. Anyone can eat Wheatlet.

TRY IT.

If your grocer does not keep it, send us his name and your order—we will see that you are supplied.

There is but one Wheatlet; avoid the "just as good." Booklet mailed free.

Made only by the
FRANKLIN MILLS CO.,
Lockport, N. Y.

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,
33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

WALL PAPER of
Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,
1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.
Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.

210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
 President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President, HARRY F. WEST, Vice-President, GEORGE K. JOHNSON, Secretary and Treasurer, HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND TRUST CO.

CAPITAL, $1,000,000
 SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS.
 ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
 CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
 WM. NEWHOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
 EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
 CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.
 GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, WILLIAM H. JENKS, GEO. H. MCFADDEN, JOHN A. BROWN, JR., GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, HENRY TATNALL, BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS, WILLIAM H. GAW, ISAAC H. CLOTHIER, JOHN B. GARRETT, FRANCIS I. GOWEN, JOHN C. SIMS, PEMBERTON S. HUTCHINSON, JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
 NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
 HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
 BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.
 SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
 IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to
 READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYS-
 BURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMO-
 KIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS
 IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to
 ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
 AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
 SPEED.

OUR Pasteur Thermometers

FOR STERILIZING BABY'S FOOD

Mailed to any address for 60 Cents.

H. C. BODEN & CO., Manufacturing
 Opticians,

S. E. Cor. 13th and Walnut Sts.

Our New Canna Lilies
 The most gorgeous flowers for garden and lawn. Plant in pots for immediate bloom, set out when ground is warm.
 Bears splendid clusters of lily-like flowers and elegant foliage.

4 for 25 Cents
 Including DUKE OF MARLBOROUGH
 —The darkest and richest crimson—

New York Public Library
 40 Lafayette Place

New Floral Guide
 124 pages, tells about 400 other Choice Flowers, FREE.
 CONARD & JONES CO., West Grove, Pa.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ pr ct Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
 JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.
 FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities
 a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

John C. Hancock & Co.,

N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.
 (P. & R. R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF

LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING
 Telephone Connection.

GEO. C. NEWMAN
 806 MARKET ST.
Fine Arts
 Mirrors, Pictures,
 ... Frames, Etc.

Are You Going To California?

The California Limited, Santa
 Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation
 car with spacious parlor,
 especially for use of ladies and children. 2¾ days Chicago
 to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,

The Alchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
 CHICAGO.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, FIFTH MONTH 13, 1899.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School, FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS., PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing
students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL, (Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

LOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,

Jenkintown, Pa.
Or
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.

Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter
college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

CANADIAN THOUSAND ISLANDS.—TO RENT
for season, 9 roomed cottage, furnished, verandas, fire place, ice house. Apply to REV. JAMES ALLEN,
165 Carleton St., Toronto, Canada.

FOR RENT.—AN ELEVEN-ROOMED HOUSE,
furnished throughout. Owner desires to live in part.
Broad and Somerset Sts. Address No. 82, this Office.

FOR SALE.—THIRTY SHARES OF STOCK,
par value, $50, paying a dividend of 8 per cent.
Address No. 83, this Office.

FURNISHED HOUSES FOR SUMMER FOR rent at near all suburban points. Over 100 now offered. Photos. of 40 at office. Six at Swarthmore $50 to $150 a month for season. Apply for list. C. P.
PETERS, 441 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

TO RENT FOR SUMMER.—FURNISHED
house, large, airy rooms, secluded garden. Address
H. J. C., 476 HURON ST., Toronto, Canada.

WANTED.—ADULT BOARDERS, ON FARM near Lahaska, New Hope division Reading railroad. G. W. LAHASKA, Bucks county, Pa.

WANTED.—A PREPARATIVE MEETING,
twenty miles from Philadelphia, will have a vacancy, soon, for a Caretaker, with comfortable house (renting for about $6 a month). A small family, Friends, preferred. Address No. 80, this Office.

WANTED.—A DEPENDABLE GIRL OR woman as child's nurse, chamber work, mending, and generally helpful assistant. References and full particulars to No. 81, this Office.

WANTED.—HOUSEKEEPER AND COMPANion in family of two. Small house with every convenience. No washing and ironing. Address E., this Office.

CHESTER COUNTY BOY OF NINETEEN,
now and for three years past at Westtown School,
wants employment during July and August; clerk,
bookkeeper or general assistant in hotel or boarding-house, drive wagon, serve customers, etc.; active, intelligent, willing, no bad habits; Philadelphia references.
Address now G. H. P., Westtown, Pa.

WANTED.—A POSITION AS TEACHER OF
Mathematics and higher branches. Friend. Address, ANNA L. GARRETT, 9 Stratford Avenue,
Lansdowne, Pa.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY.
Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's
Mills, Pa.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING
The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St.,
where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9
a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St.
ANNA JENKINS FERRIS,
Corresponding Secretary.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.

Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William
Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40 pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins.
Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 2 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION,
Limited,
921 Arch Street, Phila.

A Trip of 50 Days for $420.

Through California, "including Yosemite Valley," Oregon, Washington, and a tour of ten days through Alaska to Muir Glacier. This trip is first-class in all its appointments. Leaves June 27, via B. & O. R. R. For further information inquire of REBECCA B. NICHOL-SON, 523 Cooper St., Camden, N. J.

NOW READY

The Family of William Penn Founder of Pennsylvania Ancestry and Descendants

By Howard M. Jenkins.

AUTHOR OF VOLUME ONE, MEMORIAL HISTORY OF PHILADELPHIA, HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS
RELATING TO GWYNEDD, ETC.

THIS work presents the results of a careful collation of known authorities, consultation of the Friends' records in Great Britain and Ireland, and an examination of the now unequalled Collections of Penn Papers in the Library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia.

Some of the information gathered is to be found in fragmentary form in some scores of printed works, many of them rare, but a large part has been drawn from the family letters. These letters, unprinted until used by the Author in the preparation of this work, are necessarily unique.

Apart from any literary merit or demerit, the work is a systematic and practically complete statement of the Ancestry and Posterity of WILLIAM PENN, the Founder, and as such must have a definite and permanent value in the lists of Biography and Genealogy.

* Pp. 470, octavo. 10 full-page illustrations. Handsomely bound. $3.50 net. By mail, 50 cents additional.
* The print is from type, and copies are likely to be scarce.

HOWARD M. JENKINS
PUBLISHER

921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Headley Brothers, 14 Bishopsgate St., Without, London.

JUST PUBLISHED

Disarmament of Nations; or, Mankind One Body.

By George Dana Boardman, D.D., LL.D.
OF PHILADELPHIA.

An Address, expanded and revised, delivered at Washington, D.C., in the presence of distinguished public officials.

Of great interest and value in the present crisis.
A strong presentation of fact and argument.

Pp. 27. Price, Five Cents. $1 for 25 copies.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,

921 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths;
one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.

The house has every convenience, including electric
elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc.
Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR

OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.

Atlantic City, N. J.

Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.

M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam,
and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls
and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to
JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
 • (LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
 WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Draw~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XIX., . . .	361
SONNET: LIFE,	361
WORTHY FRIENDS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY: SAMUEL M. JANNEY. BY ELIZA F. RAWSON, (with Illustration), (Continued),	361
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS: Old Testament Lesson,	363
New Testament, "International" Text,	364
SIGNIFICANCE OF PLAIN SPEECH,	365
BOOKS,	365
EDITORIAL:
"Canteens" and War,	366
Notes,	366
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	366, 367
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	367
SOME RECENT BOOKS,	368
ENCOURAGE THE CONFERENCE,	369
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	370
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	371
LITERARY NOTES,	372
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	372
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	372
COMMUNICATIONS:
Taxes and Honest Use of Them,	373
Expression Urged,	373
THE ANTI-SLAVERY REPOSITORY,	373
METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY, FOURTH MO. 373
POETRY: Something Unusual,	373
BIRD NOTES IN GERMANY,	374
ADDRESS BY DR. JOSEPH MAY (Concluded),	374
PROHIBITION IN KANSAS,	375
THE SOBER SECOND THOUGHT,	376
MISCELLANY: Searching the Mails; The Samoan Shame; Colonies Unprofitable; The "Sample" Business; A False and Unjust Theory; President Lincoln on War; An Essay on Water, "Alcoholism" and Degeneracy, Peaceful People in Borneo; Too Many Teachers,	377, 378
CURRENT EVENTS,	379
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	379
NOTICES,	380

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
 1311 Market St., Phila.

Bread Is One Thing Only.

Pillsbury's VITOS, the ideal wheat food, needs to be boiled only and is then ready to serve as a breakfast food. It can be served in thirty other ways—bread, cakes, puddings, desserts, etc. For covering fish and croquettes it is unexcelled. The VITOS Cook Book tells how. This cook book was prepared by ladies for ladies. The recipes are simple and suited to the resources of an ordinary household. Shall we send you a copy?

THE PILLSBURY-WASHBURN FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
 GROCERS EVERYWHERE SELL VITOS.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,
 1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.
 Established 1820 at 824 North Second Street.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.
 LAW }
 CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
 SCIENCE }
 14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
 Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new
 Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.

Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,
 135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

F. GUTÉKUNST,
 FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, FIFTH MONTH 20, 1899.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School, FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS., PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing
students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL, (Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

LOUIS B. AMBLE, Principal,

Or
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.

Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter
college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMASTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent,"
"For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion.
Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

CANADIAN THOUSAND ISLANDS.—TO RENT
for season, 9 roomed cottage, furnished, verandas,
fire place, ice house. Apply to REV. JAMES ALLEN,
165 Carleton St., Toronto, Canada.

FOR RENT, FOR THE SEASON, NEAR KENnett Station, B. C. R. R., a thirteen-room house, fully furnished; lawn, shade, stable, good water. Address 1506 N. Fifty-second St., Phila.

FOR RENT.—AN ELEVEN-ROOMED HOUSE,
furnished throughout. Owner desires to live in part.
Broad and Somerset Sts. Address No. 82, this Office.

FOR SALE.—THIRTY SHARES OF STOCK,
par value, $50, paying a dividend of 8 per cent.
Address No. 83, this Office.

FURNISHED HOUSES FOR SUMMER FOR
rent at near all suburban points. Over 100 now offered. Photos. of 40 at office. Six at Swarthmore $50
to $150 a month for season. Apply for list. C. P.
PETERS, 441 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

TO RENT FOR SUMMER.—FURNISHED
house, large, airy rooms, secluded garden. Address
H. J. C., 476 HURON ST., Toronto, Canada.

HOSPITAL SUPERINTENDENT WANTED.—
A man as superintendent in a hospital in Philadelphia; one who has had experience and single preferred.
State age, experience, and salary expected. Address
HOSPITAL, care of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER.

WANTED.—BY A YOUNG WOMAN, A POSItion as companion, or care of an invalid. Good reference. Address No. 86, this Office.

WANTED.—A POSITION AS COMPANION, or nurse for invalid lady. Willing to assist in light housework. Address Box 51, Kennett Square, Chester County, Pa.

WANTED.—ADULT BOARDERS, ON FARM near Lahaska, New Hope division Reading railroad. G. W. LAHASKA, Bucks county, Pa.

WANTED.—A PREPARATIVE MEETING,
twenty miles from Philadelphia, will have a vacancy, soon, for a Caretaker, with comfortable house (renting for about $6 a month). A small family, Friends, preferred. Address No. 80, this Office.

CHESTER COUNTY BOY OF NINETEEN,
now and for three years past at Westtown School,
wants employment during July and August; clerk,
bookkeeper or general assistant in hotel or boarding-house, drive wagon, serve customers, etc.; active, intelligent, willing, no bad habits; Philadelphia references.
Address now G. H. P., Westtown, Pa.

WANTED.—A POSITION AS TEACHER OF
Mathematics and higher branches. Friend. Address, ANNA L. GARRETT, 9 Stratford Avenue,
Lansdowne, Pa.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY.
Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's
Mills, Pa.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING
The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St.,
where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9
a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St.
ANNA JENKINS FERRIS,
Corresponding Secretary.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam,
and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls
and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to
JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

HISTORY AND BIOGRAPHY

BY

HOWARD M. JENKINS.

JUST PUBLISHED.

THE FAMILY OF WILLIAM PENN, FOUNDER OF PENNSYLVANIA: HIS ANCESTORS AND DE-SCENDANTS. 8vo. Pp. 270. With 19 illustrations. $3.50 net. If sent by mail, postage 20 cents.

From Dr. Charles J. Stille, President of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania:

"By your labor, bringing together a vast amount of material, you have given us an account of the Family, (genealogically) which one will seek in vain for elsewhere. . . I regard these articles [now collected] as exhibiting in a most desirable and attractive form all that is known of the illustrious man's family."

RECENTLY PUBLISHED.

HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS RELATING TO
GWYNEDD. Second Edition. 8vo. Pp. 494.
Cloth. Beveled edges. With 8 illustrations.
$4.00 net. If sent by mail, postage 23 cents.

American Historical Review:

"Within the limits which the author proposes to himself he provides a model of accurate local investigation."

IN PRESS.

GENEALOGICAL SKETCH OF THE DESCENDANTS OF SAMUEL SPENCER, OF UPPER DUBLIN, PENNSYLVANIA. 8vo. About 300 pages. Illustrated. $3.00 net.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,

Publisher,

921 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

JUST PUBLISHED

Disinchantment of Nations; or, Monkind One Body.

By George Dana Boardman, D.D., LL.D.
OF PHILADELPHIA.

An Address, expanded and revised, delivered at Washington, D. C., in the presence of distinguished public officials.

Of great interest and value in the present crisis.
A strong presentation of fact and argument.

Pp. 27. Price, Five Cents. $1 for 25 copies.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,

921 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

LIZZIE J. LAMBERT,

Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,

Millinery. 533 NORTH ELEVENTH STREET,
Philadelphia.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St.,
Philadelphia.

Plain Millinery

MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

JENNIE S. MARSHALL,

INSTRUCTOR IN PIANOFORTE,
1614 Tioga St., Phila.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serv-
DAIRIES. ing families. Office 603 North
Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.

JOSEPH L. JONES.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
 (LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Do not~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XX., . . .	381
VERSE: "FATE,"	381
PHILADELPHIA YEARLY MEETING, . . .	381
WORTHY FRIENDS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY: SAMUEL M. JANNEY. BY ELIZA F. RAWSON, (with Illustration), (Continued),	382
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS: Old Testament Lesson,	384
New Testament, "International" Text,	385
ISOLATED MEMBERS,	386
A WORD FROM IOWA,	387
EDITORIAL: Aaron M. Powell,	388
Notes,	388
BIRTHS, DEATHS,	388, 389
FRIENDS IN THE WEST: Nebraska Half-Year Meeting,	389
NEWS OF FRIENDS: Shrewsbury and Plainfield H. Y. M.,	390
Notes,	391
A BETTER WAY,	391
LETTER FROM PORTO RICO,	391
CURRENT LITERATURE,	392
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	392
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	393
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	394
POETRY: The New Crusade; Gaining Wings,	394
ENTRANCE TO A CARRIAGE DRIVEWAY,	395
DISLIKE OF MENTAL EFFORT,	395
THINGS TO REMEMBER,	395
A MOTHER-MADE MAN,	396
WOMEN'S SCHOOL VOTE,	396
JOHN AND THE STAMP,	397
MISCELLANY: Peace Crusade Work in Boston; State Conference of Religion; Prohibition in Kansas; A Word from Lincoln; The Scottish Dialect; The Carpenter's Work; The Exhibition of 1899; Conclusions at Hull House,	397, 398
CURRENT EVENTS,	399
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	399
NOTICES,	400

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.
 LAW
 CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
 SCIENCE
 14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
 Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

Ivory Soap, because of its purity, is especially valuable for bathing the skin of infants and very young children.

Particular care should be taken to wash the children's clothing in Ivory Soap. The garments will be whiter, cleaner and sweeter. The lather of "Ivory" is clean. There is no oil or grease in it.

IVORY SOAP IS 99 ⁴/₁₀₀ PER CENT. PURE.

Copyright, 1890, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.

The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR

OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.

Atlantic City, N. J.

Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.

M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?

No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to. 1311 Market St., Phila.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new

Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.

Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,

135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

F. GUTEKUNST,

FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, FIFTH MONTH 27, 1899.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School, FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS., PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College. For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL, (Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm. For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.

Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia. Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

LOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,
Or
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.

Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences. For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City. For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month 18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms, $100 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.

RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph. D.,
West Chester, Pa.

BOARDING IN A FRIENDS' FAMILY, TERMS moderate. Apply at 2012 N. Twelfth Street, Phila.

CHEERFUL SYLVAN COTTAGE IN WHITE Oak Grove is a cosy home Friends can love. For Rent. It is furnished with, (or not) owner to board, at such a fair price as he can afford. Address O. S. Fell, Swarthmore, Pa.

CANADIAN THOUSAND ISLANDS.—TO RENT for season, 9 roomed cottage, furnished, verandas, fire place, ice house. Apply to REV. JAMES ALLEN, 165 Carleton St., Toronto, Canada.

TO RENT FOR SUMMER.—FURNISHED house, large, airy rooms, secluded garden. Address H. J. C., 476 HURON ST., Toronto, Canada.

FOR RENT, FOR THE SEASON, NEAR KEN- nett Station, B. C. R. R., a thirteen-room house, fully furnished; lawn, shade, stable, good water. Ad- dress 1506 N. Fifty-second St., Phila.

FOR RENT.—AN ELEVEN-ROOMED HOUSE, furnished throughout. Owner desires to live in part. Broad and Somerset Sts. Address No. 82, this Office.

FOR SALE.—THIRTY SHARES OF STOCK, par value, $50, paying a dividend of 8 per cent. Address No. 83, this Office.

WANTED.—AT A QUIET, RESTFUL FARM house, a few boarders at the family table. Charges moderate. Address K., this Office.

WANTED.—BY A YOUNG WOMAN, A POSI- tion as companion, or care of an invalid. Good reference. Address No. 86, this Office.

WANTED.—A PREPARATIVE MEETING, twenty miles from Philadelphia, will have a va- cancy, soon, for a Caretaker, with comfortable house (renting for about $6 a month). A small family, Friends, preferred. Address No. 80, this Office.

CHESTER COUNTY BOY OF NINETEEN, now and for three years past at Westtown School, wants employment during July and August; clerk, bookkeeper or general assistant in hotel or boarding- house, drive wagon, serve customers, etc.; active, in- telligent, willing, no bad habits; Philadelphia references. Address now G. H. P., Westtown, Pa.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St.

ANNA JENKINS FERRIS,

Corresponding Secretary.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWRDE STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

PROGRAM.

New York Yearly Meeting Week.

FIFTH MONTH 27, Seventh-day.

10 a. m., Meeting of Ministers and Elders.
8 p. m., First-day School Association.

FIFTH MONTH 28, First-day.

9.30 a. m., Conference Class First-day school lesson.
11 a. m., Meeting for worship, 15th street, New York, and same time, Brooklyn.

2.45 p. m., First-day School Association, New York, and same time, Brooklyn.

4 p. m., Meeting for Worship, and same time, Brooklyn.

8 p. m., Young Friends' Association, New York, and same time, Brooklyn.

FIFTH MONTH 29, Second-day.

10 a. m., Business Meeting.
3 p. m., Business Meeting.

8 p. m., Educational Meeting, New York, and same time, Brooklyn.

FIFTH MONTH 30, Third-day.

10 a. m., Business Meeting.
3 p. m., Business Meeting.

8 p. m., Philanthropic Meeting, "The Life and Work of Aaron M. Powell."

FIFTH MONTH 31, Fourth-day.

10.30 a. m., Meeting for Worship, also a Meeting in Brooklyn.

3 p. m., First-day School Association. "Success in First-day School Work," by Jane P. Rushmore.

8 p. m., Philanthropic Meeting. "Temperance," by Henry W. Wilbur.

SIXTH MONTH 1, Fifth-day.

10 a. m., Business Meeting.
3 p. m., Business Meeting.

8 p. m., Social Meeting of Young Friends' Association.

SIXTH MONTH 2, Seventh-day.

Annual excursion and picnic of the First-day Schools of New York and Brooklyn to Grand View Park, L. I.

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION.

The Young Friends' Association will meet in the Lecture Room, Fifteenth and Race streets, on Second-day evening, Sixth month 5th, at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

PROGRAM.

Meeting-Houses and Some Friends of Philadelphia. Illustrated Talk, by

JOSEPH M. TRUMAN, JR.

The meeting will close early in order to allow time for social intercourse.

ESTHER S. STACKHOUSE, Secretary.

A SPECIAL TRAIN

for a summer excursion to California and other Western points, will start early in Seventh month. Tickets good until Ninth month 4. The car-fare for round trip from Philadelphia will be about $81.50; if return is made via Portland, $12.50 additional. Those who wish to have itineraries or secure berths should apply at once to MARY WARD, Westtown Boarding School, Westtown, Pa.

A Trip of 50 Days for $420.

Through California, "including Yosemite Valley," Oregon, Washington, and a tour of ten days through Alaska to Muir Glacier. This trip is first-class in all its appointments. Leaves June 27, via B. & O. R. R. For further information inquire of REBECCA B. NICHOLSON, 523 Cooper St., Camden, N. J.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
 (LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
 WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Do not~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XXI., . . .	401
POETRY: AARON M. POWELL,	401
PHILADELPHIA YEARLY MEETING, (Conclusion),	401
WORTHY FRIENDS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY: SAMUEL M. JANNEY. BY ELIZA F. RAWSON, (with Illustration), (Continued),	403
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS: Old Testament Lesson,	405
New Testament, "International" Text,	406
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	407
EDITORIAL PARAGRAPHS,	408
DEATHS,	408, 409
YEARLY MEETING COMMITTEE REPORTS: First-day Schools,	409
Education and Samuel Jeanes Fund,	410
Isolated Members,	411
Philanthropic Labor,	411
EVENING MEETINGS, Y. M. WEEK: Friends' Associations Conference,	413
FRIENDS' BOOK ASSOCIATION REPORT,	414
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	414, 415
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	416
LITERARY NOTES,	416
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	416
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	416
COMMUNICATIONS: Citizens: Not Fit for Citizens,	417
Bond Sold for Colored Schools,	417
From A. D. Munro,	417
ENDOWMENT FOR THE LAING SCHOOL,	417
POETRY: Our Example; Outlook,	417
A CHAPTER OF INDIAN HISTORY,	417
PLUTOCRACY IN ENGLAND,	418
CURRENT EVENTS,	419
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	419
NOTICES,	420

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
 Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
 1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a, Pa.
 Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
 Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

HISTORY AND BIOGRAPHY

BY

HOWARD M. JENKINS.

JUST PUBLISHED.

THE FAMILY OF WILLIAM PENN. FOUNDER OF PENNSYLVANIA: HIS ANCESTORS AND DESCENDANTS. 8vo. Pp. 270. With 19 illustrations. $3.50 net. If sent by mail, postage 20 cents.

From Dr. Charles J. Stille, President of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania:

"By your labor, bringing together a vast amount of material, you have given us an account of the Family, (genealogically) which one will seek in vain for elsewhere. I regard these articles (now collected) as exhibiting in a most desirable and attractive form all that is known of the illustrious man's family."

RECENTLY PUBLISHED.

HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS RELATING TO GWYNEDD. Second Edition. 8vo. Pp. 494. Cloth. Beveled edges. With 8 illustrations. $4.00 net. If sent by mail, postage 23 cents.

American Historical Review:

"Within the limits which the author proposes to himself he provides a model of accurate local investigation."

IN PRESS.

GENEALOGICAL SKETCH OF THE DESCENDANTS OF SAMUEL SPENCER, OF UPPER DUBLIN, PENNSYLVANIA. 8vo. About 300 pages. Illustrated. $3.00 net.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,

Publisher,

921 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

NOW READY

The Family of William Penn
 Founder of Pennsylvania
 Ancestry and Descendants

By Howard M. Jenkins.

AUTHOR OF VOLUME ONE, MEMORIAL HISTORY OF PHILADELPHIA, HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS RELATING TO GWYNEDD, ETC.

THIS work presents the results of a careful collation of known authorities, consultation of the Friends' records in Great Britain and Ireland, and an examination of the now unequalled Collections of Penn Papers in the Library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia.

Some of the information gathered is to be found in fragmentary form in some scores of printed works, many of them rare, but a large part has been drawn from the family letters. These letters, unprinted until used by the Author in the preparation of this work, are necessarily unique.

Apart from any literary merit or demerit, the work is a systematic and practically complete statement of the Ancestry and Posterity of WILLIAM PENN, the Founder, and as such must have a definite and permanent value in the lists of Biography and Genealogy.

*Pp. 270, octavo. 19 full-page illustrations. Handsomely bound. $3.50 net. By mail, 20 cents additional.
 *The print is from type, and copies are likely to be scarce.

HOWARD M. JENKINS

PUBLISHER

921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Headley Brothers, 14 Bishopsgate St., Without, London.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.

Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40 pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins. Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 2 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION,
 Limited,
 921 Arch Street, Phila

The Kathlu,

ELEVENTH AND CENTRAL AVENUES,
 OCEAN CITY, N. J.

New house, fine ocean view, large piazzas, and pleasant rooms.

K. E. Lewis and L. C. Conard.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths: one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
 The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR

OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
 Atlantic City, N. J.
 Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
 M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.

Established 1850 at 824 North Second Street.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new

Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.

Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,
 135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

John C. Hancock & Co.,

N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.

(P. & R. R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF

LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING

Telephone Connection.

F. GUTEKUNST, FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
 and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Call or write of city answered promptly.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, SIXTH MONTH 3, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Draw~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XXII.,	421
POETRY: DON'T WORRY,	421
NEW YORK YEARLY MEETING,	421
WORTHY FRIENDS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY: SAMUEL M. JANNEY. BY ELIZA F. RAWSON (With Illustrations) (Continued),	423
HOME LIFE IN COLONIAL DAYS,	425
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS:
Old Testament Lesson,	426
New Testament, "International" Text,	427
THE WESTTOWN CENTENNIAL,	427
EDITORIALS:
Nations as "Neighbors,"	428
Financial Support of Our Meetings,	428
Note,	428
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	429
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
Granville Half-Year Meeting,	429
PEACE AND IMPERIALISM,	430
LETTER FROM HANNAH A. PLUMMER,	431
MINUTE: AARON M. POWELL,	432
EVENING MEETINGS, YEARLY MEETING WEEK:
Good Literature and Temperance,	433
First-day Schools,	433
Peace and Arbitration, and Colored People,	434
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	434
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	435
POETRY: Night, Day, Eternity; Victoria's Eightieth Birthday,	436
LITERARY NOTES,	436
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	436
APPEAL FROM THE SCHOFIELD SCHOOL,	437
WORD FROM THE DOUKHOORS,	437
GOVERNMENT IN THE FILIPINOS,	438
CURRENT EVENTS,	439
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	439
NOTICES,	440

BOARDERS WANTED.—WITHIN ELEVEN minutes of Broad and Market, ten of Twelfth and Market. Room for two couples, or four men. Broad and Somerset streets. Address No. 82, this Office.

BOARDING IN A FRIENDS' FAMILY, TERMS moderate. Apply at 2012 N. Twelfth Street, Phila.

FOUR OR FIVE ADULTS CAN SECURE NICE rooms with good board and conveniences in a Friend's family near the station in Hatboro, Pa. Address Box 5, Hatboro, Pa.

WANTED.—A RELIABLE GIRL OR WOMAN (white or colored), for general housework. DR. I. N. WOODMAN, Morrisville, Pa.

CHEERFUL SYLVAN COTTAGE IN WHITE Oak Grove is a cosy home Friends can love. For Rent. It is furnished with, (or not) owner to board, at such a fair price as he can afford. Address O. S. Fell, Swarthmore, Pa.

FOR SALE.—THIRTY SHARES OF STOCK, par value, $50, paying a dividend of 8 per cent. Address No. 83, this Office.

FOR RENT.—SMALL FURNISHED HOUSE near Chappaqua, N. Y. Address No. 88, this Office.

WANTED.—AT A QUIET, RESTFUL FARM house, a few boarders at the family table. Charges moderate. Address K., this Office.

WANTED.—BY A YOUNG WOMAN, A POSITION as companion, or care of an invalid. Good reference. Address No. 86, this Office.

WANTED.—A PREPARATIVE MEETING, twenty miles from Philadelphia, will have a vacancy, soon, for a Caretaker, with comfortable house (renting for about $6 a month). A small family, Friends, preferred. Address No. 80, this Office.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING
The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St., where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St. ANNA JENKINS FERRIS, Corresponding Secretary.

The Thirty-Fifth Annual Meeting of Home for Aged and Infirm Colored Persons will be held Sixth month 15, 1899, at 3 p. m., at the Home, Belmont and Girard avenues, Philadelphia. Professor J. B. Rendall, President of Lincoln University, Judge William N. Ashman, Judge Edw. M. Paxson, and others have been invited to be present. All those interested are cordially invited by the Board of Managers to attend. ISAAC FORSYTHE.

A Trip of 50 Days for $420.

Through California, "including Yosemite Valley," Oregon, Washington, and a tour of ten days through Alaska to Muir Glacier. This trip is first-class in all its appointments. Leaves June 27, via B. & O. R. R. For further information inquire of REBECCA B. NICHOLSON, 523 Cooper St., Camden, N. J.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET. OCEAN CITY, N. J. Now open for the reception of guests. SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

AN APPEAL

To Members of the Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting, and Others Interested.

The Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting, with a view to providing a suitable Home for such of its members as may need some assistance thereto, has purchased the premises No. 5800 Greene Street, above Cheltenham Avenue, Germantown, where they have opened such a Home, and named it "The Philadelphia Quarterly Meetings Boarding Home for Friends."

Although but a short time has elapsed since it was opened in Tenth month last, it has been plainly demonstrated—first, that its present capacity is insufficient to provide for those who have applied for admission, and second, that the present income, added to that received for Board, is insufficient to meet expenses.

There is also among our membership those who have not the comforts of a home, and for whom suitable provision should be made for life. Under existing conditions, the Committee in charge cannot entertain such applications, although they feel it is an important part of the service to which they have been appointed.

These facts have led the Committee to believe that it is absolutely necessary to create an Endowment Fund of not less than Fifty Thousand Dollars, the income from which, with the funds now at their command, would enable them to satisfactorily fulfill the objects and purposes for which the Home has been established.

The successful and efficient administration of a Home of this character should be a matter of personal interest to every member of the Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting.

The Committee have therefore deemed it wise to present these facts and earnestly appeal for a contribution towards the establishment of such a fund, in order that the future of the Home may be assured, and its objects and purposes carried out upon a sound financial basis.

Contributions can be made in such amounts as the means and liberality of the giver may suggest, it being particularly desired that no one shall be discouraged by the smallness of the amount they may feel able to give. It would be exceedingly gratifying if Friends would remember the Home when making bequests by will or otherwise.

Subscriptions will be received and promptly acknowledged by any member of the following Committee.

DAVID MASTERS,	ANNIE C. MILLER,
Chairman,	313 N. 33d street.
3308 Baring street.	CAROLINE S. JACKSON,
THOMAS P. BACON,	3117 N. 16th street.
720 Filbert street.	ROBERT M. EARLY, Treas.
HANNAH WOODNUTT,	611-613 Chestnut street.
1816 Arch street.

Form of Bequest of Personal Property.

I give and bequeath to the Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting of Friends, held at Fifteenth and Race streets, Philadelphia, the sum of _____ Dollars, for the use and maintenance of the Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Boarding Home for Friends, located at 5800 Greene street, Germantown, in the City of Philadelphia.

Form of Devise of Real Estate.

I give and devise to the Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting of the Society of Friends held at Fifteenth and Race streets, Philadelphia, for the use and maintenance of the Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Boarding Home for Friends, located at 5800 Greene street, Germantown, in the City of Philadelphia, all that certain etc., (here describe the Real Estate or other property to be devised).

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION.

The Young Friends' Association will meet in the Lecture Room, Fifteenth and Race streets, on Second-day evening, Sixth month 5th, at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

PROGRAM.

Meeting-Houses and Some Friends of Philadelphia. Illustrated Talk, by

JOSEPH M. TRUMAN, JR.

The meeting will close early in order to allow time for social intercourse.

ESTHER S. STACKHOUSE, Secretary.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D. LAW CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER. SCIENCE } 14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia. Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month 18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms, $100 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.
RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph. D.,
West Chester, Pa.

Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to
GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.

Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

LOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,

Or Jenkintown, Pa.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.

Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK.

LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

The full economy of using Ivory Soap may not be apparent after one wash, but in time it will be noticed that the clothes last longer.

The cleansing action of Ivory Soap is very different from that of soap powders and soaps containing alkali. Ivory Soap has no weakening effect on the fibre of the material; but alkali, gradually, and often rapidly, destroys it.

Copyright, 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

The Kathlu,ELEVENTH AND CENTRAL AVENUES,
OCEAN CITY, N. J.

New house, fine ocean view, large piazzas, and pleasant rooms.

K. E. Lewis and L. C. Conard.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.

The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR

OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.

Atlantic City, N. J.

Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.

M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

THE very act of receiving, if done graciously, and with thankful kindness, is in itself a gift to the donor.

NOW READY

The Family of William Penn
Founder of Pennsylvania
Ancestry and Descendants

By Howard M. Jenkins.

AUTHOR OF VOLUME ONE, MEMORIAL HISTORY OF PHILADELPHIA, HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS
RELATING TO GWYNEDD, ETC.

THIS work presents the results of a careful collation of known authorities, consultation of the Friends' records in Great Britain and Ireland, and an examination of the now unequalled Collections of Penn Papers in the Library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia.

Some of the information gathered is to be found in fragmentary form in some scores of printed works, many of them rare, but a large part has been drawn from the family letters. These letters, unprinted until used by the Author in the preparation of this work, are necessarily unique.

Apart from any literary merit or demerit, the work is a systematic and practically complete statement of the Ancestry and Posterity of WILLIAM PENN, the Founder, and as such must have a definite and permanent value in the lists of Biography and Genealogy.

*Pp. 270, octavo. 19 full-page illustrations. Handsomely bound. $3.50 net. By mail, 20 cents additional. *The print is from type, and copies are likely to be scarce.

HOWARD M. JENKINS

PUBLISHER

921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Headley Brothers, 14 Bishopsgate St., Without, London.

Macbeth lamp-chimneys save nine-tenths of the cost and all the trouble.

Go by the Index.

Write Macbeth Pittsburgh Pa

A VALUABLE PUBLICATION.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD 1899 SUMMER
EXCURSION ROUTE BOOK.

On June 1 the Passenger Department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will publish the 1899 edition of its Summer Excursion Route Book. This work is designed to provide the public with short descriptive notes of the principal Summer resorts of Eastern America, with the routes for reaching them, and the rates of fare. It contains all the principal seashore and mountain resorts of the east, and over fifteen hundred different routes or combination of routes for reaching them. The book has been compiled with the utmost care, and altogether is the most complete and comprehensive handbook of Summer travel ever offered to the public.

It is bound in a handsome and striking cover, in colors, and contains several maps, presenting the exact routes over which tickets are sold. It is also profusely illustrated with fine half-tone cuts of scenery at the various resorts and along the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

On and after June 1 it may be procured at any Pennsylvania Railroad ticket office at the nominal price of ten cents, or, upon application to the general office, Broad Street Station, by mail for twenty cents.

CONVENTION NATIONAL EDUCA-TIONAL ASSOCIATION, LOS ANGELES, CAL.

REDUCED RATES VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

For the National Educational Association Convention, to be held at Los Angeles, Cal., July 11 to 14, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets via direct routes from points on its line, to Los Angeles, Cal., and return, at rate of single fare for the round trip plus $2.00 membership fee. These tickets will be sold, good going, June 24 to July 7, and, when stamped by Joint Agent at Los Angeles, good to return, arriving at final destination, until September 5.

For further information apply to Ticket Agents.

YELLOWSTONE PARK, UTAH AND COLORADO.

The date of departure from Philadelphia of a party for an early summer tour to the Yellowstone National Park, Utah, and Colorado is Fifth-day, the 8th of next month (June). After a week in the Yellowstone National Park, there are to be interesting visits to Butte, Montana, Salt Lake City, Utah, and Glenwood Springs, Manitou, the summit of Pike's Peak, and Denver, Colorado. There will also be a party on the same date for the Park and return. These tours are so planned that those participating in them will get home in time for the opening of the summer season at our eastern resorts. A book giving all particulars of these early tours will be sent to any address without cost by Raymond & Whitcomb, 1005 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.

Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.

210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

Not so very many years ago it would have been looked upon as a terrible breach of etiquette, on the Continent at least, for a Princess to be taught such useful things as cooking or dressmaking; but nowadays all that is changed and there are not many royal ladies, especially in Germany, who have not been thoroughly instructed in all that pertains to house-keeping down to its minutest details.

It is all very well to prate about its being a long lane that has no turning—there are a good many in life that run up against a blind wall.

GRIEF can be outgrown much quicker than habit.

FOREIGNERS in China buy nearly everything on credit, giving signed "chits" for every purchase, the reason being their unwillingness to load themselves down with silver or native coin, while paper money fluctuates too much.

TESTS have been made in Finland to determine the comparative value of iron and aluminium as material for horse shoes. After six weeks' use by the cavalry, the aluminium shoes were in all cases proved to be in better condition than the others.

THE following queer political announcement appears in a Georgia newspaper:

"I announce myself as a candidate to succeed myself, having held the office thirteen years, and not desiring to leave it on the thirteenth year, which would be unlucky. If elected, I promise to resign promptly when I shall have been in office fourteen years even."—[Atlanta Constitution.]

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serv-
DAIRIES. ing families. Office 603 North
Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

Friends' Book Association,
OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,

Kindergarten, School Supplies.
All Books furnished at as low prices as they can be purchased elsewhere. Friends' Books and Literature a specialty. Also everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

AN IDEAL FOOD FOR CHILDREN

GREAT CARE
Should be exercised in selecting food intended for growing children.

Wheatlet

...is the best Cereal Food because it contains all the nourishing elements of the whole wheat. Your grocer keeps it. If not send us his name and your order—we will see that you are supplied.

Made only by the
Franklin Mills Co., Lockport, N. Y.

Send for booklet containing valuable receipts and opinions of noted physicians and chemists.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St.,
Philadelphia.

Plain Millinery

MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDEN STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

John C. Hancock & Co.,

N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.
(P. & R. R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF

LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING
Telephone Connection.

F. GUTEKUNST,

FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a., Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA B. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3¼ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD TRUST CO.

LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND

CAPITAL, $1,000,000
SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS,
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWBOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

HENRY TATNALL, Vice-President.
N. B. CRENSHAW, Real Estate Officer.
A. A. JACKSON, Ass't to Pres. and Vice-Pres.
WM. E. AUMONT, Manager Trust Dept.
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, Jr.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN B. GARRETT,
FEMBERTON S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

RAYMOND & WHITCOMB'S TOURS.

ALL TRAVELLING EXPENSES INCLUDED

A party under special escort will leave Philadelphia, June 8, for an Early Summer Tour through the Yellowstone National Park, UTAH, COLORADO, Etc.

Also on the same date a party for the Yellowstone Park and return, with a choice of routes returning east of Minneapolis, either via the all-rail route or through the

GREAT LAKES

Alaska and Yellowstone, July 6 and 18.
Europe, June 7 and July 11.
Thirty-six short summer trips between June 28 and October 12.
Tour to Yellowstone Park, Pacific Northwest, California, Utah, and Colorado, about September 1.

Railroad and Steamship Tickets to all points.
Send for descriptive book.

RAYMOND & WHITCOMB,
1005 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Penna.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.
SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to
READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS
IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

New York Public Library
40 Lafayette Place

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
SPEED.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

Are You Going To California?

The California Limited, Santa Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation car with spacious parlor, especially for use of ladies and children. 2¼ days Chicago to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,
The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
CHICAGO.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, SIXTH MONTH 10, 1899.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School,

FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing
students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.

Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

LOUIS B. AMBLER, Principal,

Or
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.

Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter
college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month
18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms,
$100 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.

RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph. D.,
West Chester, Pa.

Special Train to George School.

Leaves Reading Terminal at 9.15, morning of the 15th., stopping at Columbia Ave., Huntingdon St., Wayne Junction, Fox Chase, Huntingdon Valley, By-berry Road, and Southampton; returning will leave George School about 2 p. m.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam,
and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls
and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to
JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St.,
Philadelphia.

Plain Millinery

MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDEN STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?

No liquors or other offensive goods or methods
resorted to. 1311 Market St., Phila.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

John C. Hancock & Co.,

N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.

(P. & R. R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF

LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING

Telephone Connection.

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent,"
"For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion.
Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

BOARD WANTED.—TWO YOUNG MEN DEsire board in the country, private family preferred.
Must be within 10 miles of city, railroad and trolley accommodation. Terms must be moderate. Please state conveniences. Address No. 89, this Office.

BOARDING IN A FRIENDS' FAMILY, TERMS
moderate. Apply at 2012 N. Twelfth Street, Phila.

FOUR OR FIVE ADULTS CAN SECURE NICE
rooms with good board and conveniences in a Friend's family near the station in Hatboro, Pa. Address
Box 5, Hatboro, Pa.

WANTED.—MOTHER'S ASSISTANT, TO board in country; also, small adult family to take furnished house for three months. 1863 Willington St.

WANTED.—EXPERIENCED WOMAN TO help care for baby and act as general assistant.
P. O. Box 176, Swarthmore, Pa.

WANTED.—A RELIABLE GIRL OR WOMAN
(white or colored), for general housework. DR.
I. N. WOODMAN, Morrisville, Pa.

CHEERFUL SYLVAN COTTAGE IN WHITE
Oak Grove is a cosy home Friends can love. For Rent. It is furnished with, (or not) owner to board, at such a fair price as he can afford. Address O. S. Fell,
Swarthmore, Pa.

FOR SALE OR TO RENT.—A FRAME COTtage, 11 rooms, near George School, with all modern improvements. Lot 60 x 200 feet. Trolley running by the door. Apply to H. G. Reeder, 105 Chancellor St., or G. B. Girtan, 105 Congress St., Newtown, Pa.

FOR RENT.—SMALL FURNISHED HOUSE near Chappaqua, N. Y. Address No. 88, this Office.

WANTED.—AT A QUIET, RESTFUL FARM house, a few boarders at the family table. Charges moderate. Address K., this Office.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY.
Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's
Mills, Pa.

DURING THE ERECTION OF OUR BUILDING The Young Friends' Association Office

has been placed in the Library Room at Race St.,
where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p. m., and on Seventh-days from 9
a. m. to 5 p. m. Address letters to 152 North 15th St.
ANNA JENKINS FERRIS,
Corresponding Secretary.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable
watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

1020 Chestnut St.—2d Floor.
Established 1820 at 84 North Second Street.

F. GUTEKUNST, FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
 (LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Draw~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XXIII.	441
VERSE: "AS A MUSTARD SEED," . . .	441
NEW YORK YEARLY MEETING, (Continued),	441
IN MEMORY OF AARON MACY POWELL, (with portrait),	443
WORTHY FRIENDS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY: SAMUEL M. JANNEY. BY ELIZA F. RAWSON (With Illustrations) (Continued),	444
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS: Old Testament Lesson,	446
New Testament, "International" Text,	447
EDITORIAL: "Success" of Nations,	448
Notes,	448
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	448, 449
BLOCH'S GREAT BOOK ON MODERN WAR,	449
NEWS OF FRIENDS: Blue River Quarterly Meeting,	450
LETTER FROM NEW MEXICO,	450
MISSION WORK OF QUAKERISM,	451
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	452
EDUCATIONAL NOTES,	453
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	453
LITERATURE,	454
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	454
POETRY: The Silent Years; If He Knew,	455
SAMUEL M. JANNEY'S SELF-POSSESSION,	456
THE MAN WITH A BRANDED HAND,	456
PRAISING ONE'S SELF,	457
MISCELLANY: The Discovery of Valuable Pictures; The Pansy; Rosa Bonheur's Art; To Produce Miniature Oaks; A Catamaran; Trolleys for Freight; A New Penn Document; New Method of Marketing; Co-operative Stores in Iowa; Good Treatment and Confidence; Telegraphing Without Wires; St. Francis' Ideal,	457, 458
CURRENT EVENTS,	459
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	459
NOTICES,	460

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.
 LAW
 CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
 SCIENCE
 14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
 Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

NOW READY The Family of William Penn Founder of Pennsylvania Ancestry and Descendants

By Howard M. Jenkins.

AUTHOR OF VOLUME ONE, MEMORIAL HISTORY OF PHILADELPHIA, HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS
 RELATING TO GWYNEDD, ETC.

THIS work presents the results of a careful collation of known authorities, consultation of the Friends' records in Great Britain and Ireland, and an examination of the now-unequalled Collections of Penn Papers in the Library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia.

Some of the information gathered is to be found in fragmentary form in some scores of printed works, many of them rare, but a large part has been drawn from the family letters. These letters, unprinted until used by the Author in the preparation of this work, are necessarily unique.

Apart from any literary merit or demerit, the work is a systematic and practically complete statement of the Ancestry and Posterity of WILLIAM PENN, the Founder, and as such must have a definite and permanent value in the lists of Biography and Genealogy.

*Pp. 270, octavo. 19 full-page illustrations. Handsomely bound. $3.50 net. By mail, 20 cents additional.
 *The print is from type, and copies are likely to be scarce.

HOWARD M. JENKINS
 PUBLISHER

921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.
 Headley Brothers, 14 Bishopsgate St., Without, London.

HISTORY AND BIOGRAPHY

BY
 HOWARD M. JENKINS.

JUST PUBLISHED.

THE FAMILY OF WILLIAM PENN, FOUNDER OF PENNSYLVANIA: HIS ANCESTORS AND DESCENDANTS. 8vo. Pp. 270. With 19 illustrations. $3.50 net. If sent by mail, postage 20 cents.

From Dr. Charles J. Stille, President of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania:

"By your labor, bringing together a vast amount of material, you have given us an account of the Family, (genealogically) which one will seek in vain for elsewhere. . . . I regard these articles [now collected] as exhibiting in a most desirable and attractive form all that is known of the illustrious man's family."

RECENTLY PUBLISHED.

HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS RELATING TO GWYNEDD. Second Edition. 8vo. Pp. 494. Cloth. Beveled edges. With 8 illustrations. $4.00 net. If sent by mail, postage 23 cents.

American Historical Review:
 "Within the limits which the author proposes to himself he provides a model of accurate local investigation."

IN PRESS.

GENEALOGICAL SKETCH OF THE DESCENDANTS OF SAMUEL SPENCER, OF UPPER DUBLIN, PENNSYLVANIA. 8vo. About 300 pages. Illustrated. $3.00 net.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,
 Publisher,

921 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.

Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40 pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins. Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 5 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 8 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION,
 Limited,
 921 Arch Street, Phila

The Kathlu,

ELEVENTH AND CENTRAL AVENUES,
 OCEAN CITY, N. J.

New house, fine ocean view, large piazzas, and pleasant rooms.

K. E. Lewis and L. C. Conard.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET.

OCEAN CITY, N. J.
 Now open for the reception of guests.
 SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
 The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR

OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
 Atlantic City, N. J.
 Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
 M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
 CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
 JOSEPH L. JONES.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
 and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

Friends' Book Association, OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers, Blank Book Manufacturers, Engravers, and Printers, Artists' Materials, Kindergarten, School Supplies. All Books furnished at as low prices as they can be purchased elsewhere. Friends' Books and Literature a specialty. Also everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School, FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS., PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, }
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, } Principals.

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing
students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL, (Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or, Jenkintown, Pa.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.

Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter
college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,
will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month
18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms,
$100 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal,
RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph. D.,
West Chester, Pa.

No amount of argument can convince the experienced, honest grocer that any other soap will give his customers such general satisfaction as Ivory Soap. He knows that they prefer Ivory Soap to new kinds, of unknown quality.

Ivory Soap will sell because the people want it, the other soaps may look like Ivory, but his customers want the real thing—they may buy a new soap once to try it, but they come back again and again for Ivory Soap, and they insist on having it.

Copyright, 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

The Kathlu,

ELEVENTH AND CENTRAL AVENUES,
OCEAN CITY, N. J.

New house, fine ocean view, large piazzas,
and pleasant rooms.

K. E. Lewis and L. C. Conard.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths;
one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET, OCEAN CITY, N. J.

Now open for the reception of guests.

SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.

The house has every convenience, including electric
elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc.
Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE. Atlantic City, N. J.

Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.

M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street,

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing and

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad. Pa.

Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Twp.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St. Philadelphia

Plain Millinery

MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

335 SWEDD STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering advertisements in it. This is of value to and to the advertisers.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, SIXTH MONTH 24, 1899.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School, FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS., PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL, (Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.

Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
On Jenkintown, Pa.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.

Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

Chelton Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.

Darlington Seminary, FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month 18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms, $100 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.

RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph D.,
West Chester, Pa.

The Cedars, ASBURY PARK, N. J.

Two blocks from the Ocean. Accommodations home-like. Terms moderate. Special rates to ministers.

A. SHOTWELL, Asbury Park, N. J.

THE WHITTIER, 19TH AND CENTRAL AVE., Ocean City, N. J.

Small private family, Friends, can take a few boarders at low rates. Very near and facing ocean; unobstructed view; extensive porches.

JOSIAH AND REBECCA OFFLEY BRADWAY.

Cottage Board

SEVENTH AND WESLEY AVE.,
OCEAN CITY, N. J.

Address PHEBE SHOEMAKER.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET. OCEAN CITY, N. J.

Now open for the reception of guests.

SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.

The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR

OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.

Atlantic City, N. J.

Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.

M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

The Kathlu,

ELEVENTH AND CENTRAL AVENUES,
OCEAN CITY, N. J.

New house, fine ocean view, large piazzas, and pleasant rooms.

K. E. Lewis and L. C. Conard.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

A CHANGE OF ROUTE.

A 40-days' trip, $280.00, through California, Colorado Springs, Yosemite, Oregon, and Washington. Leave June 30. Pullman service. Further information, R. B. NICHOLSON, Camden, N. J.

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

A YOUNG WOMAN FRIEND OF EXPERIENCE wishes to engage to teach young children at their home by the hour, during the coming year. Good references. Address No. 90, this Office.

THE MANAGERS OF THE HOME FOR DESTITUTE Colored Children desire to find a position for a half-grown girl, at small wages. Apply to R. P. DUNCAN, 3303 Powelton Avenue.

WANTED.—A PLACE ON A FARM FOR A boy of 13, in Friends' family. Address, LUCY GRISCOM SANDS, 326 Harrison Street, Pottsville, Pa.

FOUR OR FIVE ADULTS CAN SECURE NICE rooms with good board and conveniences in a Friend's family near the station in Hatboro, Pa. Address Box 5, Hatboro, Pa.

CHEERFUL SYLVAN COTTAGE IN WHITE Oak Grove is a cosy home Friends can love. For Rent. It is furnished with, (or not) owner to board, at such a fair price as he can afford. Address O. S. Fell, Swarthmore, Pa.

FOR SALE OR TO RENT.—A FRAME COTTAGE, 11 rooms, near George School, with all modern improvements. Lot 60 x 200 feet. Trolley running by the door. Apply to H. G. Reeder, 105 Chancellor St., or G. B. Gorton, 105 Congress St., Newtown, Pa.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

Young Friends' Association, 140 N. 15th Street,

will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to

ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angie St., Tioga.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia.

Plain Millinery

MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDEN STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
 (LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XXV., . . .	481
POETRY: A THOUGHT,	481
WORTHY FRIENDS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY: SAMUEL M. JANNEY. BY ELIZA F. RAWSON (Conclusion), . . .	481
WEEK-DAY MEETINGS,	482
THE POEMS OF HENRY TIMROD,	483
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSON: No. 27,	483
ADDRESS AT SWARTHMORE COMMENCEMENT,	484
EDITORIALS:
"Pharisees,"	486
The Perpetual Watch,	486
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	487
EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE:
II.—London Yearly Meeting,	487
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
Prairie Grove Quarterly Meeting, . . .	488
Friends at Sparta, Ontario,	489
ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF MEMORIAL, . . .	489
SELLING RUM TO INDIANS,	489
THE LAKE MOHONK CONFERENCE,	490
MEMORIAL SERVICE AT PLAINFIELD, . . .	490
THE DOUKHOBORS,	491
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	491
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . . .	493
LITERATURE,	494
COMMUNICATION:
An Acknowledgement,	495
A WORTHY CHARITY,	495
POETRY: Worship,	495
MISCELLANY: New Words; Survival of Moral Teaching; Armenian Relief Work; What Is the War For? Contrasts Emphasized at The Hague; Watering Plants; Cost of the Armed Peace; Sounds from a Balloon,	498, 499
CURRENT EVENTS,	499
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	500
NOTICES,	500

Established 1820 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post-Office.)

The Summer Morning Breakfast.

Pillsbury's VITOS, the ideal wheat food, does not heat the blood. It is sterilized, and will keep until used. Fruit, Pillsbury's VITOS with cream, and tea or coffee, form an admirable menu for a summer morning breakfast. Pillsbury's VITOS, being made from hard spring wheat grown in the famous Red River Valley of the North, contains an unusual percentage of gluten, and feeds both body and brain. It is natural nourishment for summer. Write for book of VITOS recipes.

THE PILLSBURY-WASHBURN FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
 GROCERS EVERYWHERE SELL VITOS.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
 Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.
 1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

John C. Hancock & Co.,
N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.
 (P. & R. R.)
 DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF
 LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING
 Telephone Connection.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,
 Undertaker
 and Embalmer,
 1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.
 Telephone 2-28-25-A.

M. L. PHILIBERT,
 French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
 AND DRY CLEANER.
 Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
 a specialty.
 210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.
 Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

TYPEWRITERS
 REBUILT nearly equal to new
 Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.
 Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,
 135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

Needles.

ENGLAND for many years has supplied the world with needles. Now it is said that this country is about to begin manufacturing needles; that a factory is to be built in Pennsylvania, right in the center of the iron manufacturing region, in which needles will be made. Needles are made of the finest quality of steel. The molten metal is poured into guages, out of which it comes a fine wire, about the fifteenth part of an inch thick for fine needles, a little thicker for the coarser needles. Then the wire is cut the length of two needles, after which it is straightened in bundles of 4,000 and 5,000. The points are then made, and this is a dangerous process because of the dust and sparks. If you have ever watched a man using a grindstone to sharpen scissors, knives, or axes, you have seen the sparks fly. The needles are not ground to points one by one, but in large numbers. The eyes are made one by one, by the use of machinery, and the polishing is done by machinery and acids.

All the machinery is of fine, strong construction, and the makers must all be skilled.

Where the Krupp guns are now made in Germany is where steel needles were first made. Later an Englishman bought the works, but transferred them to England, where, as has been stated, the needles for the whole world have been made for many years.—[Selected.]

S. F. Balderston's Son, WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum, Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,
33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

WALL PAPER of Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,
1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

RUBBER GARDEN HOSE HEADQUARTERS Globe Rubber Co.'s Goods.

These goods being made by a reliable and well-known Rubber Company are sold to be as represented, and can be depended upon to give

ENTIRE SATISFACTION.

A Fair Hose, for 7½c. foot.
A Good Hose, " 10c. "
A Very Good Hose, " 12c. "
An Extra Heavy Hose, " 15c. "

REELS, 75 cts. All attachments at very low figures.

E. L. PEIRCE, 248 MARKET STREET, PHILAD'A.

PENNSYLVANIA CHAUTAUQUA.

REDUCED RATES TO MT. GRETTA, VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

For the Pennsylvania Chautauqua, to be held at Mt. Gretna, Pa., Seventh month 4 to Eighth month 18, 1899, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell special excursion tickets to Mt. Gretna from New York, Washington, Baltimore, Frederick, Md., Canandaigua, and intermediate points, including all stations on its line in the State of Pennsylvania.

Tickets will be sold Sixth month 25, to Eighth month 10, inclusive, and will be good to return until Eighth month 15, inclusive.

REDUCED RATES TO RICHMOND, VA., VIA. PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD, ACCOUNT INTERNATIONAL CON- VENTION BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE'S UNION.

On account of the International Convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of America, to be held at Richmond, Va., Seventh month 13 to 16, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has arranged to sell excursion tickets from points on its line, to Richmond, at rate of single fare for the round trip (tickets via Baltimore and steamboat fifty cents more than single fare.)

Tickets will be sold Seventh month 11 to 13, and will be good to return until Seventh month 31, inclusive, except that on deposit of ticket with the Joint Agent at Richmond before Seventh month 28, and the payment of fifty cents, the return limit may be extended to leave Richmond not later than Eighth month 15, 1899.

Stop over at Washington on return trip for ten days, not to exceed final limit of ticket.

For specific rates and conditions apply to Ticket Agents.

REDUCED RATES TO DETROIT VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD, AC- COUNT CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION.

On account of the Convention of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, to be held at Detroit, July 5 to 10, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from points on its line, to Detroit, at rate of single fare for the round trip.

Tickets will be sold on July 3, 4, and 5, and will be good to return until July 15, inclusive, except that by depositing ticket with the Joint Agent at Detroit before July 12, and the payment of fifty cents, the return limit may be extended to leave Detroit not later than August 15.

For specific rates and conditions apply to Ticket Agents.

Friends' Book Association, OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,
Kindergarten, School Supplies.
Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

Washable Dress Fabrics.

These prices—for the great Summer Sale—are not matched anywhere, qualities considered:

French Organdies at 18 cents.—Of all the sheer and gauzy textures for Summer, Organdies lead. These are exquisite patterns, regularly priced at 35 cents.

Mercerized Cheviots at 25 cents.—A very popular fabric, in dainty colorings of mercerized stripes and plaids on white and colored grounds; worth 40 cents.

Silk Gingham at 30 cents.—Choice for women's shirt waists; dainty colorings in plaids and stripes; regularly 45 cents.

Fine Printed Dimities at 5 cents.—Light and dark effects; excellent value; worth 8 cents a yard.

Fine Printed Dimities at 8 cents.—In navy and white, black and white; small figures; regular price, 12½c.

Edinburgh Corded Zephyrs at 10 cents.—In neat checks, plaids, and stripes; a choice range of colorings; this season's price has been 16 cents.

Printed Piques at 6¼ cents.—Pink, blue, and navy dots, and pink, blue, and black stripes on white grounds; worth 12½ cents.

Printed Pique at 18 cents.—On white grounds, with all sorts of designs and colorings; just a small lot; very choice; sold regularly at 30, 37½, and 40 cents.

Mail orders receive prompt and accurate attention.

Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier, PHILADELPHIA.

HISTORY AND BIOGRAPHY

BY

HOWARD M. JENKINS.

JUST PUBLISHED.

THE FAMILY OF WILLIAM PENN, FOUNDER OF PENNSYLVANIA: HIS ANCESTORS AND DESCENDANTS. 8vo. Pp. 270. With 19 illustrations. $3.50 net. If sent by mail, postage 20 cents.

From Dr. Charles J. Stille, President of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania:

"By your labor, bringing together a vast amount of material, you have given us an account of the Family, (genealogically) which one will seek in vain for elsewhere. . . . I regard these articles [now collected] as exhibiting in a most desirable and attractive form all that is known of the illustrious man's family."

RECENTLY PUBLISHED.

HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS RELATING TO GWYNEDD. Second Edition. 8vo. Pp. 494. Cloth. Beveled edges. With 8 illustrations. $4.00 net. If sent by mail, postage 23 cents.

American Historical Review:

"Within the limits which the author proposes to himself he provides a model of accurate local investigation."

IN PRESS.

GENEALOGICAL SKETCH OF THE DESCENDANTS OF SAMUEL SPENCER, OF UPPER DUBLIN, PENNSYLVANIA. 8vo. About 300 pages. Illustrated. $3.00 net.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,
Publisher,

921 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE and INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD TRUST CO.

LIFE INSURANCE,
ANNUITY, AND

CAPITAL, $1,000,000
SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS,
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWBOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

HENRY TATNALL, Vice-President.
N. B. CRENSHAW, Real Estate Officer.
A. A. JACKSON, Ass't to Pres. and Vice-Pres.
WM. E. AUMONT, Manager Trust Dept.
GEORGE TUCKER BISHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, Jr.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN B. GARRETT,
PETERBORTON S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

BAIRD'S PURE NON-ALCOHOLIC Flavoring Powders and Spices are strongest, purest, best, most economical.

Vanilla, Orange, Banana,
Lemon, Strawberry, Pineapple,
Almond, Chocolate.

Price, 25 cents per box, which includes postage, if sent by mail.

FOR SALE BY HANNAH PAXSON,
West Chester, Pa.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal New York Public
40 Lafayette Place
ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
SPEED.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal advanced to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Merchants' Trust Company, 611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
CAPITAL (paid in), $50,000.00
SURPLUS, 50,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 30,054.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveyancing done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.
JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.
ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.
WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS.

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY, I. BOLTON WINFREY,
S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHOADS, EDWIN S. DIXON,
JOHN F. LEWIS, WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
JOHN R. GILL, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
THOMAS H. HINCHMAN, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, ALFRED I. PHILLIPS.

Read These Books

TO CALIFORNIA AND BACK,
176 pp., 176 illustrations.
5 cts.

THE MOKI SNAKE DANCE,
60 pp., 64 illustrations.
3 cts.

GRAND CANON OF ARIZONA,
32 pp., 15 illustrations.
3 cts.

NEW MEXICO HEALTH RESORTS,
80 pp., 31 illustrations.
5 cts.

ARIZONA HEALTH RESORTS,
78 pp., 18 illustrations.
5 cts.

LAS VEGAS HOT SPRINGS,
48 pp., 3 illustrations.
5 cts.

Mailed free
for postage named

They tell the story

of wonderful sights and scenes, and special resorts for tourists and home-seekers in the Great West. They are published by the

Santa Fe Route,

are literary and artistic, and will make you better acquainted with the attractions of your own land.

C. A. HIGGINS,
A.G.P.A., A.T. & S.F. Ry., CHICAGO.
Great Northern Bldg.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

THE NEW YORK
PUBLIC LIBRARY

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, SEVENTH MONTH

ASTOR, LENOX AND
TILDEN FOUNDATIONS.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School, FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS., PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia;
furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly
Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing
students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL, (Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal
course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or,
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.

Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter
college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill
country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.
ANNIE HEACOCK.
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes.
Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low.
Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.

Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month
18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms,
$100 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.

RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph D.,
West Chester, Pa.

The Cedars, ASBURY PARK, N. J.

Two blocks from the Ocean. Accommodations homelike. Terms moderate. Special rates to ministers.

A. SHOTWELL, Asbury Park, N. J.

THE WHITTIER, 19TH AND CENTRAL AVE., OCEAN CITY, N. J.

Small private family, Friends, can take a few boarders at low rates. Very near and facing ocean; unobstructed view; extensive porches.

JOSIAH AND REBECCA OFFLEY BRADWAY.

Cottage Board

SEVENTH AND WESLEY AVE.,
OCEAN CITY, N. J.

Address PHEBE SHOEMAKER.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET.

OCEAN CITY, N. J.

Now open for the reception of guests.

SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.

The house has every convenience, including electric
elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc.
Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR

OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.

Atlantic City, N. J.

Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.

M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

The Kathlu,

ELEVENTH AND CENTRAL AVENUES,

OCEAN CITY, N. J.

New house, fine ocean view, large piazzas,
and pleasant rooms.

K. E. Lewis and L. C. Conard.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths;
one-half block from the ocean.

For particu

SAH BORTON,
No. 7 Sea View, Ocean Grove, N. J.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOHOCKEN S attention given to serv-

DAIRIES. in ilies. Office 603 North

Eighth Street, Philadelphia, JOSEPH L. JONES.

A YOUNG WOMAN FRIEND OF EXPERIENCE wishes to engage to teach young children at their home by the hour, during the coming year. Good references. Address No. 90, this Office.

BOARDING IN A FRIENDS' FAMILY.—FRONT room, terms moderate. Southeast corner Twenty-second and Wallace Streets.

WANTED.—A PLACE ON A FARM FOR A boy of 13, in Friends' family. Address, LUCY GRISCOM SANDS, 326 Harrison Street, Pottsville, Pa.

WANTED.—A MATRON FOR PARK AVENUE
Friends' Home, Baltimore, Md. References desired. Address ANNIE L. LEWIS, Roland Park, Baltimore, Md.

WANTED.—A SEWING TEACHER'S POSItion, or a position in a boarding school to keep pupils' clothes in order. Fine mending a specialty.
Address S. H., 302 Hicks St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

FOUR OR FIVE ADULTS CAN SECURE NICE
rooms with good board and conveniences in a Friend's family near the station in Hatboro, Pa. Address
Box 5, Hatboro, Pa.

FOR SALE OR TO RENT.—A FRAME COTtage, 11 rooms, near George School, with all modern improvements. Lot 60 x 300 feet. Trolley running by the door. Apply to H. G. Reeder, 105 Chancellor St., or G. B. Gilton, 105 Congress St., Newtown, Pa.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY.
Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's
Mills, Pa.

HOMES WANTED

For eight little boys, ranging from four to seven years of age, and six little girls, ranging from four to nine years of age.

No personal applications received. Address with references, JOHN A. M. PASSMORE, 1326 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Chairman Com. on Admission and Dismiss-ion, Friends' Home for Children.

Young Friends' Association,

140 N. 15th Street,

will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to

ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam,
and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls
and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to
JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2213 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: } 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
} Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDR STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 20 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Do~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XXVI.,	501
POETRY: FOR ALL THY GIFTS,	501
A SUCCESSFUL LIFE. (Paper by Isaac Roberts),	501
ENGLISH FRIENDS AT THE HAGUE,	503
THE EMPIRE OF SILENCE,	504
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSON:
No. 28,	505
WILLIAM PENN'S PLAN FOR PEACE,	506
ARE FRIENDS TOO SELF-CENTERED? (Paper by Herbert P. Worth),	506
EDITORIAL:
The Hague Conference,	508
Note,	508
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	508, 509
EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE:
III.—Notes From the Holland Capital,	509
DEEDS OF VIOLENCE,	511
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
Two Circular Meetings,	511
BLOCH'S GREAT BOOK ON MODERN WAR.
III.—Translated by Professor Edward H. Magill,	512
BOOKS OF REFERENCE,	513
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	513
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	514
LITERATURE,	515
COMMUNICATION:
A Comment,	515
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	516
POETRY: June; The Message of Peace,	516
A BIRD CLASS FOR CHILDREN,	517
MISCELLANY: The Friendly Man; A Short Nap Daily; Old-Time Words; Sherman on the Philippines; Who Speak the English Language? A Historic Tree; Water Your Horses Often,	518, 519
CURRENT EVENTS,	520
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	520
NOTICES,	iii

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.
LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE
14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

There are frauds in soaps as well as other things. Sometimes a grocer will offer you a substitute for Ivory Soap, because his profits are larger on the substitute. He and the purchaser are losers in this transaction. The dealer ultimately loses the customer, and the customer suffers from the mischief of the substitute. A person accustomed to Ivory Soap will not be satisfied with any other. Ask for Ivory Soap and insist upon getting it.

A WORD OF WARNING—There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it

Copyright, 1900, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,
Undertaker
and Embalmer,
1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.
Telephone 2-28-25-A.

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.
Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.
210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.
Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new
Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.
Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,
135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY
712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.
Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

Friends' Book Association,
OF PHILADELPHIA
Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,
Kindergarten, School Supplies.
Everything relating to the Kindergarten and school.
S. W. corner Fifth and Race Streets.

NOTICES.

. The Executive Committee of the First-day School General Conference will meet in Whittier Hall, Asbury Park, N. J., Seventh month 22, 1899, at 2 o'clock p. m. Important work, in preparation for Conferences of 1900, will be considered.

ROBERT M. JANNEY, Clerk.

. A Circular Meeting under the care of a committee of the Western Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Kennett meeting-house, First-day afternoon, Seventh month 9, 1899, to convene at 3 o'clock.

SAMUEL H. BROOMELL, Clerk.

. The Friends' Book Association acknowledges receipt of the following additional contributions to the Children's Country Week Association, viz:

Cash,	$ 1 00
Anna T. Jeanes,	25.00
A Friend,	2.00

$ 28.00

Previously acknowledged, 117.00

$145.00

JOHN COMLY, Superintendent.

Sixth month 26, 1899.

. The Friends' Book Association acknowledges receipt of the following contributions to the Beach Street Mission for taking children to the seashore:

A. E. B.,	$5 00
T. P. B.,	5.00
M. E. S.,	2.00

Amount, $12.00

JOHN COMLY, Superintendent.

Sixth month 26, 1899.

. Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches has made the following appointments:
SEVENTH MONTH:

9. Schuylkill, 10.30 a. m.

23. Germantown, 10.30 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

WALL PAPER of
Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

CHAUTAUQUA.

LOW-RATE EXCURSION VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

On July 7 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will run a special excursion from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Reading, Altoona, Bellefonte, Lock Haven, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Sunbury, and Williamsport, and principal intermediate stations, and stations on the Delaware Division, Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad, and on the Cumberland Valley Railroad, to Chautauqua, N. Y. Special train will start from Harrisburg at 11.35 a. m. Connecting trains will leave Philadelphia 8.40 a. m., Washington 7.55 a. m., Baltimore 8.55 a. m., Altoona 7.15 a. m., Wilkesbarre 7.30 a. m., Lock Haven 11.25 a. m. Round-trip tickets, good to return on regular trains not later than August 5, will be sold at rate of $10.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, and at proportionate rates from other stations.

Passengers from Atlantic City, Bridgeton, Vineland, Clayton, N. J., and stations on the Delaware Division will use trains to Philadelphia on day preceding date of excursion.

For specific rates and time of connecting trains apply to nearest ticket agent.

PENNSYLVANIA CHAUTAUQUA.

REDUCED RATES TO MT. GRETTA, VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

For the Pennsylvania Chautauqua, to be held at Mt. Gretna, Pa., Seventh month 4 to Eighth month 18, 1899, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell special excursion tickets to Mt. Gretna from New York, Washington, Baltimore, Frederick, Md., Canandaigua, and intermediate points, including all stations on its line in the State of Pennsylvania.

Tickets will be sold Sixth month 25, to Eighth month 10, inclusive, and will be good to return until Eighth month 15, inclusive.

REDUCED RATES TO RICHMOND, VA.,
VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD, ACCOUNT INTERNATIONAL CON-VENTION BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE'S UNION.

On account of the International Convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of America, to be held at Richmond, Va., Seventh month 13 to 16, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has arranged to sell excursion tickets from points on its line, to Richmond, at rate of single fare for the round trip (tickets via Baltimore and steamboat fifty cents more than single fare.)

Tickets will be sold Seventh month 11 to 13, and will be good to return until Seventh month 31, inclusive, except that on deposit of ticket with the Joint Agent at Richmond before Seventh month 28, and the payment of fifty cents, the return limit may be extended to leave Richmond not later than Eighth month 15, 1899.

Stop over at Washington on return trip for ten days, not to exceed final limit of ticket.

For specific rates and conditions apply to Ticket Agents.

"MOMENTS of insight, of fine personal relation, a smile, a glance, what ample borrowers of eternity they are!"

At The Hague, in the Peace Conference, twenty-one governments are represented by sixty-eight delegates. Besides the great States of Christendom, and many smaller ones, delegates are also present from Turkey, China, Japan, and Siam. Over the doorway to the hall in which the Conference meets is a fine allegorical group of statuary,—Peace entering the temple of Janus, the god of war, to close its gates. May it prove prophetic!

ON arising in the morning the eyes should be bathed gently in cold water—twenty "passes" are said to be decidedly strengthening. While using them closely they should be rested at intervals of an hour or two, for the strain of constant reading or sewing is like that of extending the arms at a certain height immovable. Imagine then the taxing of the eyes, which cannot complain save after years of irreparable neglect. When dust settles in the eyes warm water will soothe them of any inflammation; rose-water is extremely refreshing, but it should be bought in small quantities, as it keeps but a short time. Five cents worth will give a daily eye bath for several weeks. Tea leaves and alum-water were the eye tonics which our grandfathers used; but in these modern days of absolutely hygienic and antiseptic simplicity, water, especially in a distilled form, is considered powerful enough.—[Harper's Bazar.]

In some parts of Switzerland a custom obtains for the friends of the bride to present an elaborate cheese to her on her wedding day. It is then used as a family register and heirloom, the births, deaths, and marriages of the various members of the family being recorded upon it. Some of these old cheeses date back as far as 1660.

Washable Dress Fabrics.

These prices—for the great Summer Sale—are not matched anywhere, qualities considered:

French Organdies at 18 cents.—Of all the sheer and gauzy textures for Summer, Organdies lead. These are exquisite patterns, regularly priced at 35 cents

Mercerized Cheviots at 25 cents.—A very popular fabric, in dainty colorings of mercerized stripes and plaids on white and colored grounds; worth 40 cents.

Silk Gingham at 30 cents.—Choice for women's shirt waists; dainty colorings in plaids and stripes; regularly 45 cents.

Fine Printed Dimities at 5 cents.—Light and dark effects; excellent value; worth 8 cents a yard.

Fine Printed Dimities at 8 cents.—In navy and white, black and white; small figures; regular price, 12½c.

Edinburgh Corded Zephyrs at 10 cents.—In neat checks, plaids, and stripes; a choice range of colorings; this season's price has been 16 cents.

Printed Piques at 6½ cents.—Pink, blue, and navy dots, and pink, blue, and black stripes on white grounds; worth 12½ cents.

Printed Pique at 18 cents.—On white grounds, with all sorts of designs and colorings; just a small lot; very choice; sold regularly at 30, 37½, and 40 cents.

Mail orders receive prompt and accurate attention.

Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
 President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3¼ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE and INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

THE GIRARD TRUST CO.

LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY, AND

CAPITAL, $1,000,000
SURPLUS, $2,000,000

EXECUTES TRUSTS.
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DEPOSITS.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES FOR RENT,
CARES FOR REAL ESTATE.

OFFICERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS, President.
WM. NEWBOLD ELY, Treas. and Sec'y.
EDW. SYDENHAM PAGE, Ass't Sec'y.
CHARLES JAMES RHOADS, Ass't Treas.

HENRY TATNALL, Vice-President.
N. B. CRENSHAW, Real Estate Officer.
A. A. JACKSON, Ass't to Pres. and Vice-Pres.
WM. E. AUMONT, Manager Trust Dept.
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM, Solicitor.

MANAGERS:

EFFINGHAM B. MORRIS,
JOHN A. BROWN, JR.,
BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS,
JOHN B. GARRETT,
PEMBERTON S. HUTCHINSON,

WILLIAM H. JENKS,
GEORGE TUCKER BISPHAM,
WILLIAM H. GAW,
FRANCIS I. GOWEN,

GEO. H. MCFADDEN,
HENRY TATNALL,
ISAAC H. CLOTHIER,
JOHN C. SIMS,
JOSIAH M. BACON.

BROAD AND CHESTNUT STREETS

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

John C. Hancock & Co.,
N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.
(P. & R. R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF
LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING
Telephone Connection.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.
SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, SHAMONSVILLE, AND POINTS ALONG PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
SPEED.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.
FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

JUST PUBLISHED

Disarmament of Nations; or, Mankind One Body.

By George Dana Boardman, D.D., LL.D.
OF PHILADELPHIA.

An Address, expanded and revised, delivered at Washington, D. C., in the presence of distinguished public officials.

Of great interest and value in the present crisis.

A strong presentation of fact and argument.
Pp. 27. Price, Five Cents. $1 for 25 copies.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,

921 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Are You Going To California?

The California Limited, Santa Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation car with spacious parlor, especially for use of ladies and children. 2¾ days Chicago to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
CHICAGO.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, SEVENTH MONTH 8, 1899.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' Central School, FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS., PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL, (Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES. Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or, JENKINTOWN, PA.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends.

Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college. Board and tuition $150 per school year. New Building with modern conveniences.

For particulars, address

PRINCIPAL FRIENDS' ACADEMY,
Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

Chelton Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS, will re-open September 21st, 1898, (17th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.

Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month 18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms, $100 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.

RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph D.,
West Chester, Pa.

HOMES WANTED

For eight little boys, ranging from four to seven years of age, and six little girls, ranging from four to nine years of age.

No personal applications received. Address with references, JOHN A. M. PASSMORE, 1326 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Chairman 'Com. on Admission and Dismissal, Friends' Home for Children.

Young Friends' Association,

140 N. 15th Street,

will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to

ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

FOR SALE.

A very desirable property in Media, at 519 Orange street, less than a square from the station. The residence contains 14 rooms and a bath-room, is heated by steam, and has all modern conveniences. On the rear of property, fronting on South avenue, there are two box stalls and other stabling, for several horses or cows, a carriage-house, and a cottage for coachman. For a quick purchaser, price is $7,500. Apply on premises, or to JOHN J. WILLIAMS, Media, Pa.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 2714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1230 Angle St., Tioga.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDR STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

A YOUNG LADY WOULD LIKE POSITION as governess. Friends' family preferred. Address No. 91, this Office.

A YOUNG WOMAN FRIEND OF EXPERIENCE wishes to engage to teach young children at their home by the hour, during the coming year. Good references. Address No. 90, this Office.

WANTED.—A MATRON FOR PARK AVENUE Friends' Home, Baltimore, Md. References desired. Address ANNIE L. LEWIS, Roland Park, Baltimore, Md.

WANTED.—A SEWING TEACHER'S POSITION, or a position in a boarding school to keep pupils' clothes in order. Fine mending a specialty. Address S. H., 308 Hicks St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

The Cedars, REST BY THE SEA.

Two blocks from the Ocean. Accommodations home-like. Terms moderate. Special rates to members of Conference. A. SHOTWELL, Asbury Park, N. J.

THE WHITTIER, 19TH AND CENTRAL AVE., OCEAN CITY, N. J.

Small private family, Friends, can take a few boarders at low rates. Very near and facing ocean; unobstructed view; extensive porches.

JOSIAH AND REBECCA OFFLEY BRADWAY.

Cottage Board

SEVENTH AND WESLEY AVE.,
OCEAN CITY, N. J.

Address PHEBE SHOEMAKER.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET, OCEAN CITY, N. J.

Now open for the reception of guests.
SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City. The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR

OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

The Kathlu,

ELEVENTH AND CENTRAL AVENUES,
OCEAN CITY, N. J.

New house, fine ocean view, large piazzas, and pleasant rooms.

K. E. Lewis and L. C. Conard.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
 (LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
 WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Do not~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XXVII.,	521
POETRY: THE PRESENT,	521
LONDON YEARLY MEETING EPISTLE,	521
WOMEN IN THE GOSPEL MINISTRY, (Paper by Mercy Griffith Hammond),	523
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSON:
No. 29,	525
FRIENDS AWAY FROM HOME,	526
CHRISTIAN IDEALS IN BUSINESS AFFAIRS,	526
A GOOD CONSCIENCE,	527
TROUBLES REFINE OUR GROSSNESS,	527
EDITORIAL:
The Long Summer Vacations,	528
Notes,	528
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	528, 529
THE DOUKHOBOR FUND,	529
EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE:
IV.—A Continental Excursion,	529
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
Fishing Creek Half-Year Meeting,	531
WHY DO WE GO TO MEETING,	531
THE INDIAN LACE-MAKERS, (Illustrated),	532
OUR DELEGATION AT THE HAGUE,	533
ADDRESS TO THE CZAR,	534
OUR SORROWS,	534
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	535
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	535
LITERATURE,	536
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	536
COMMUNICATION:
Children's Early Impressions,	536
POETRY: Grandmother's Answer; In an Old Meadow,	537
THE DOUKHOBORS,	537
MISCELLANY: The Beauty of Rural England; Ruskin to Visit a Turner Exhibition; Are We Ready for a Vacation? Rosa Bonheur and Unser Fritz; A Caution; Idle Plutocrats; Our Short Periods of Prosperity; International Arbitration,	538, 539, 540
CURRENT EVENTS,	540
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	540
NOTICES,	iii

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
 CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving dairies. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
 JOSEPH L. JONES.

Why Most People Eat this Bread.

Pillsbury's Best Flour is the favorite with the two largest classes of buyers--those who want the best at any price and those who want the most for their money. A barrel of Pillsbury's Best will make not only better bread, but also more loaves than will a barrel of other flour.

PILLSBURY-WASHBURN FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

MAKERS OF PILLSBURY'S VITOS.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
 1311 Market St., Phila.

WALL PAPER of Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
 Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,
 1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Friends' Book Association,
 OF PHILADELPHIA
 Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
 Blank Book Manufacturers,
 Engravers, and Printers,
 Artists' Materials,
 Kindergarten, School Supplies.
 Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.
 S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
 and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

NOTICES.

 The Executive Committee of the First-day School General Conference will meet in Whittier Hall, Asbury Park, N. J., Seventh month 22, 1899, at 2 o'clock p. m. Important work, in preparation for Conferences of 1900, will be considered.

ROBERT M. JANNEY, Clerk.

 A Circular Meeting under the care of a committee of the Western Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Kennett meeting-house, First-day afternoon, Seventh month 9, 1899, to convene at 3 o'clock.

SAMUEL H. BROOMELL, Clerk.

 Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches has made the following appointments:

SEVENTH MONTH:

9. Schuylkill, 10.30 a. m.
23. Germantown, 10.30 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

REDUCED RATES TO INDIANAPOLIS.

VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD ACCOUNT
EPWORTH LEAGUE INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION.

On account of the Epworth League International Convention, to be held at Indianapolis, Ind., July 20 to 23, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from points on its line, to Indianapolis, at rate of single fare for the round trip.

Tickets will be sold on July 18 and 19, and will be good to return until July 24, inclusive, except that by depositing ticket with the Joint Agent at Indianapolis before July 24, and the payment of fifty cents, the return limit may be extended to leave Indianapolis not later than August 20, 1899.

For specific rates and conditions apply to Ticket Agents.

Established 1820 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.

Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.

210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new

Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.

Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,
135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

John C. Hancock & Co.,
N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.
(P. & R. R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF

LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING
Telephone Connection.

SUMMER TOURS TO THE NORTH.
TWO TOURS TO CANADA VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

For the Summer of 1899 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has arranged to run two personally-conducted tours to Canada and Northern New York.

The first tour, leaving July 22, includes Niagara Falls, Toronto, Thousand Islands, Rapids of the St. Lawrence, Quebec, Lake St. John, The Saguenay, Montreal, Au Sable Chasm, Lakes Champlain and George, Saratoga, and Highlands of the Hudson, occupying seventeen days. Round trip rate, $125.

The second tour, leaving August 12, covers the same territory with the exception of Lake St. John and The Saguenay, and occupies fourteen days. Round trip rate $100.

Each tour will be in charge of one of the company's tourist agents, assisted by an experienced lady as chaperon, whose especial charge will be unescorted ladies.

The rate covers railway and boat fare for the entire round trip, parlor-car seats, meals en route, hotel entertainment, transfer charges, and carriage hire.

For detailed itinerary, tickets, or any additional information, address Tourist Agent, Pennsylvania Railroad Company, 1196 Broadway, New York; 860 Fulton street, Brooklyn; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS.

LOW-RATE VACATION TRIPS VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has selected the following dates for its popular ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington: July 27; August 10 and 24, September 7 and 21, and October 5 and 19. An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion.

Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and all points on the Delaware Division; $11.25 from Atlantic City; $9.60 from Lancaster; $8.50 from Altoona and Harrisburg; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $5.75 from Williamsport; and at proportionate rates from other points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo, Rochester, Canandaigua, and Watkins within the limit returning.

A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion. An extra charge will be made for parlor car seats.

Tickets for a side trip to the Thousand Islands (Alexandria Bay) will be sold from Rochester in connection with excursions of July 27, August 10 and 24, September 7 and 21, good to return to Rochester or to Canandaigua via Syracuse within five days, at rate of $5.50.

Tickets for a side trip to Toronto will be sold at Niagara Falls for $1.00 on July 29, August 12 and 26, and September 23. In connection with excursion of September 7, tickets will be sold to Toronto and return at reduced rates, account Toronto Fair.

For time of connecting trains and further information apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

In St. Paul recently a boy fell from a wall sixty feet to a railroad track below, and escaped without serious injury.

A MAN is the happier for life from having made once an agreeable tour, or lived for any length of time with pleasant people, or enjoyed any considerable interval of innocent pleasure.—[Sidney Smith.]

THE song of the wood robin is one of retrospection, a recalling of the greater joy of other days rather than of content with what now is: not melancholy, yet nearer than than a song of thankfulness for mate and nest and young. Flute-like, free from all dross of harshness, mellow as the fruit the summer's sun has ripened, a magically melodic song is the weird, uplifting hymn of the thrush at close of day.—[Lippincott's.]

Washable Dress Fabrics

—at prices reduced one-third to one-half—or more:

Printed Dimities and Lawns—a good assortment of the 10- and 12½-cent qualities—now 5 cents all around.

Printed Lawns—choice styles:

The 10-cent quality—now 7 cents.

The 12-cent quality—now 8 cents.

The 15-cent quality—now 10 cents.

French Percales—a fine range of exclusive designs; regular price is 25 cents—now 15 cents.

Printed Piques—all sorts of new patterns; have been 37½ and 45 cents—now 18 cents.

Silk Gingham—in pinks, blues, and lavender; have been 37½c.—now 18c.

Best French Printed Organdies—have been 35 cents—now 18 cents.

Imported Brillante—regular price, 37½ cents—now 25 cents.

Samples sent upon request.

Mail orders receive prompt and accurate attention.

Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.

LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE

14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

RUBBER GARDEN HOSE
HEADQUARTERS

Globe Rubber Co.'s Goods.

These goods being made by a reliable and well-known Rubber Company are sold to be as represented, and can be depended upon to give

ENTIRE SATISFACTION.

A Fair Hose, for 7½c. foot.

A Good Hose, " 10c. "

A Very Good Hose, " 12c. "

An Extra Heavy Hose, " 15c. "

REELS, 75 cts. All attachments at very low figures.

E. L. PEIRCE, 245 MARKET STREET,
PHILAD'A.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY

N. E. Cor. Broad and Chestnut Sts.

Capital, $100,000,000. Chartered 1836 Surplus, $200,000,000.

ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, AND RECEIVER.

FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INDIVIDUALS OR CORPORATIONS.

INTEREST ALLOWED ON INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATION ACCOUNTS.

ACTS AS TRUSTEE OF CORPORATION MORTGAGES.

DEPOSITARY UNDER PLANS OF REORGANIZATION.

REGISTRAR AND TRANSFER AGENT.

ASSUMES ENTIRE CHARGE OF REAL ESTATE

SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

E. B. MORRIS, President.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE and INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

JUST PUBLISHED

Disarmament of Nations; or, Mankind One Body.

By George Dana Boardman, D.D., LL.D.
OF PHILADELPHIA.

An Address, expanded and revised, delivered at Washington, D. C., in the presence of distinguished public officials.

Of great interest and value in the present crisis.
A strong presentation of fact and argument.
Pp. 27. Price, Five Cents. $1 for 25 copies.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,

921 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

S. F. Balderston's Son, WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS
IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker
and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. Wm. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Merchants' Trust Company,

611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
CAPITAL (paid in), 250,000.00
SURPLUS, 50,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 39,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveyancing done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHODES, President.

JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.

ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.

WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS.

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY, I. BOLTON WINFREY,
S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHODES, EDWIN S. DIXON,
JOHN F. LEWIS, WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
THOMAS R. GILL, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
ALFRED I. PHILLIPS.

Read These Books

TO CALIFORNIA AND BACK,
176 pp., 176 illustrations.
5 cts.

THE MOKI SNAKE DANCE,
60 pp., 64 illustrations.
3 cts.

GRAND CANON OF ARIZONA,
32 pp., 15 illustrations.
2 cts.

NEW MEXICO HEALTH RESORTS,
80 pp., 31 illustrations.
2 cts.

ARIZONA HEALTH RESORTS,
72 pp., 18 illustrations.
2 cts.

LAS VEGAS HOT SPRINGS
48 pp., 39 illustrations.
2 cts.

Mailed free
for postage named

They tell the story

of wonderful sights and scenes, and special resorts for tourists and homeseekers in the Great West. They are published by the

Santa Fe Route,

are literary and artistic, and will make you better acquainted with the attractions of your own land.

C. A. HIGGINS,
A.G.P.A., A.T.&S.F.R'y, CHICAGO.
Great Northern Bldg.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, SEVENTH MONTH 15, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK.—XXVIII.	541
POEM: TO AARON M. POWELL.	541
THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF PHILADELPHIA.	541
FRIENDS OF THIS CENTURY, (Paper by Anna P. Smedley).	542
YOUNG FRIENDS AND THE CHRISTIAN MINISTRY.	543
A NEW LIFE OF GEORGE FOX.	546
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSON: No. 30.	546
BAPTISM.	547
EDITORIALS:
The Hague Conference Work.	548
Why Summon the Peaceable?	549
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS.	549
EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE:
IV.—The "White Slave" Congress.	550
ON SEEING A TURNER LANDSCAPE.	551
FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE, (Letter from Dr. James Tyson).	552
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.	554
EDUCATIONAL NOTES.	555
LITERATURE.	555
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED.	555
PERSONAL NOTES.	555
COMMUNICATION:
Reply to an Inquirer.	556
METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY FOR SIXTH MONTH, 1899.	556
POETRY: Peace, Sonnet;	556
THE GREATNESS OF SIMPLICITY.	557
WOMEN RECEIVED AT WINDSOR CASTLE.	557
MANNERS OF COLLEGE GIRLS.	558
MISCELLANY: Daniel Webster's Oratory; A Cow's Spectacles; Bicycle Riders at Church; How Kipling Became a Prohibitionist; Date Palms for Arizona; The Ideal American Citizen; "Sunday" Newspapers; Poverty no Barrier to a College Education.	558, 559
CURRENT EVENTS.	560
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS.	560
NOTICES.	iii

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

A FEW BOARDERS WANTED ON A FARM, mile and half from Willow Grove Station, Reading road: five minutes from Horsham Station, Trenton Cut-off Branch Pennsylvania railroad. Lawn with plenty of shade. ANNIE R. COMLY, Willow Grove, Montgomery county, Pa.

BOARDING IN A FRIENDS' FAMILY.—FRONT 100m, terms moderate. Southeast corner Twenty-second and Wallace Streets.

A YOUNG LADY WOULD LIKE POSITION as governess. Friends' family preferred. Address No. 91, this Office.

COMPETENT MARRIED MAN, 39, (FRIEND), desires position. Experienced in produce commission, grocery, salesman, or manager. Address No. 92, this Office.

WANTED.—A SEWING TEACHER'S POSITION, or a position in a boarding school to keep pupils' clothes in order. Fine mending a specialty. Address S. H., 302 Hicks St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

FOR RENT.—IN LANGHORNE, PA., TEN-room house. Old shade, porches, excellent water. Half square from trolley. Apply to DR. JOHN PAXSON, Newtown, Penna.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

Young Friends' Association,
140 N. 15th Street,

will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDER STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
 { Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

John C. Hancock & Co.,

N. W. Cor. 9th and Master Sts.
(P. & R. R.)

DEALERS IN BEST GRADES OF
LEHIGH AND COAL FREE BURNING
Telephone Connection.

The Cedars, REST BY THE SEA.

Two blocks from the Ocean. Accommodations home-like. Terms moderate. Special rates to members of Conference. A. SHOTWELL, Asbury Park, N. J.

THE WHITTIER, 19TH AND CENTRAL AVE.,
Ocean City, N. J.

Small private family, Friends, can take a few boarders at low rates. Very near and facing ocean; unobstructed view; extensive porches.

JOSIAH AND REBECCA OFFLEY BRADWAY.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND
SIXTH STREET.
OCEAN CITY, N. J.

Now open for the reception of guests.

SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.

The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J.

Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.

M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

The Kathlu,

ELEVENTH AND CENTRAL AVENUES,
OCEAN CITY, N. J.

New house, fine ocean view, large piazzas, and pleasant rooms.

K. E. Lewis and L. C. Conard.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.
OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?

No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to. 1311 Market St., Phila.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving DAIRIES. ing families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.

JOSEPH L. JONES.

Friends' Book Association,
OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,
Kindergarten, School Supplies.
Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month 18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms, $300 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.

RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph. D.,
West Chester, Pa.Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.

Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,

Or, CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.THAT GREASE SPOT.

How did it come there? Or, to ask a more important question, "What will remove it?" This very day stop at the grocer's and get a cake of Ivory Soap. Don't be afraid of the cloth! "Ivory" is different from every other soap manufactured and can be used on any cloth safely.

Now rub well, using flannel and hot water. If it is obstinate, employ a nail brush.

The vegetable oils of which Ivory Soap is made, and its purity, fit it for many special uses for which other soaps are unsafe and unsatisfactory.

Copyright 1891, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS, will re-open September 20th, 1899, (18th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.

LAW }
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE }14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.S. F. Balderston's Son, WALL PAPERS.All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.*Benjamin Green,
33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade - established three generations ago - and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.

210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA

Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new

Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.

Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,

135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

NOTICES.

. The Monthly Meeting of Friends of Philadelphia, held at Race Street, will be held on Fourth day next, the 19th, in the evening, at 7.30 o'clock.

. There is a Friends' meeting held at Asbury Park, on First-day afternoons at 4 p. m. On the 23d inst. Friends from New York and Philadelphia will be in attendance, and possibly some from other yearly meetings.

All are invited.

. There will be a meeting of the Central Committee of Friends' Conferences on the 21st inst., at 8 o'clock p. m., at Whittier Hall, Asbury Park, N. J., with subsequent meetings by adjournment on Seventh- and Second-days ensuing. Meetings of the Executive Committees of the First-day School, Philanthropic, and Educational Conferences will be held on the 22d inst. at 2 p. m., with probable continuance until some time on the 24th. A religious meeting or meetings will be held on First-day at the same place. There will be a welcome for interested Friends at all of these meetings. Important business in relation to the Conference of 1900 at Chataqua will claim the attention of the Committees. ROBERT S. HAVILAND, Chairman of the Central Committee.

. Change in time and place of holding Indiana Yearly Meeting of Friends.

It will be now held on Second day before last First-day in Eighth month 1899, at 10 a. m., at Fall Creek (Pendleton), Ind; Richmond, Ind., in 1900; Waynesville, Ohio, 1901; meeting of Ministers and Elders, Seventh-day previous at 3 p. m.; youths' meeting, First-day, at 3 p. m. The Yearly Meeting was formerly held on Second-day following the last Seventh-day in Ninth month.

. The next Conference under the care of Concord Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Philanthropic Labor will be held in the meeting-house at Birmingham, Chester county, Pa., on First-day, Seventh month 16, 1899, at 2.30 p. m. CHARLES PALMER, Clerk.

. A Conference under the care of the Western Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Temperance and Philanthropic Work will be held at Doe Run meeting-house, on First-day, Seventh month 16, at 2.30 o'clock p. m.

Dr. Joseph S. Walton is expected to address the Conference on Temperance. All interested are cordially invited to be present.

HORACE L. DILWORTH, Clerk.

. The Executive Committee of the First-day School General Conference will meet in Whittier Hall, Asbury Park, N. J., Seventh month 22, 1899, at 2 o'clock p. m. Important work, in preparation for Conferences of 1900, will be considered.

ROBERT M. JANNEY, Clerk.

. Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches has made the following appointments:

SEVENTH MONTH:

23. Germantown, 10.30 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

An enterprising London woman has hit on a capital, although probably painful, business. She earns a profitable living by "breaking in" boots for leaders of society. She wears them for a few days until they become easy and comfortable to their owners.—[London Answers.]

SUMMER TOURS TO THE NORTH.

TWO TOURS TO CANADA VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

For the Summer of 1899 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has arranged to run two personally-conducted tours to Canada and Northern New York.

The first tour, leaving July 22, includes Niagara Falls, Toronto, Thousand Islands, Rapids of the St. Lawrence, Quebec, Lake St. John, The Saguenay, Montreal, Au Sable Chasm, Lakes Champlain and George, Saratoga, and Highlands of the Hudson, occupying seventeen days. Round trip rate, $125.

The second tour, leaving August 12, covers the same territory with the exception of Lake St. John and The Saguenay, and occupies fourteen days. Round trip rate $100.

Each tour will be in charge of one of the company's tourist agents, assisted by an experienced lady as chaperon, whose especial charge will be unescorted ladies.

The rate covers railway and boat fare for the entire round trip, parlor-car seats, meals en route, hotel entertainment, transfer charges, and carriage hire.

For detailed itinerary, tickets, or any additional information, address Tourist Agent, Pennsylvania Railroad Company, 1196 Broadway, New York; 860 Fulton street, Brooklyn; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS.

LOW-RATE VACATION TRIPS VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has selected the following dates for its popular ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington: July 27; August 10 and 24, September 7 and 21, and October 5 and 19. An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion.

Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and all points on the Delaware Division; $11.25 from Atlantic City; $9.60 from Lancaster; $8.50 from Altoona and Harrisburg; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $5.75 from Williamsport; and at proportionate rates from other points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo, Rochester, Canandaigua, and Watkins within the limit returning.

A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion. An extra charge will be made for parlor car seats.

Tickets for a side trip to the Thousand Islands (Alexandria Bay) will be sold from Rochester in connection with excursions of July 27, August 10 and 24, September 7 and 21, good to return to Rochester or to Canandaigua via Syracuse within five days, at rate of $5.50.

Tickets for a side trip to Toronto will be sold at Niagara Falls for $1.00 on July 29, August 12 and 26, and September 23. In connection with excursion of September 7, tickets will be sold to Toronto and return at reduced rates, account Toronto Fair.

For time of connecting trains and further information apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

WALL PAPER of

Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St.

Philadelphia, Pa.

REDUCED RATES TO INDIANAPOLIS.

VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD ACCOUNT EPWORTH LEAGUE INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION.

On account of the Epworth League International Convention, to be held at Indianapolis, Ind., July 20 to 23, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from points on its line, to Indianapolis, at rate of single fare for the round trip.

Tickets will be sold on July 18 and 19, and will be good to return until July 24, inclusive, except that by depositing ticket with the Joint Agent at Indianapolis before July 24, and the payment of fifty cents, the return limit may be extended to leave Indianapolis not later than August 20, 1899.

For specific rates and conditions apply to Ticket Agents.

"I can't understand how some people always have a good time, wherever they go." "That's easy enough, they take it along with them."—[Indianapolis Journal.]

DAFFODIL is a corruption of affodilly, which is derived from Asphodelus. Its other name is narcissus, and the legend of the latter is well known.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

SUMMER FABRICS
IN BLACK.

Black All-wool Nun's Veiling—a thin, cool fabric for mid-summer wear; 38 inches wide—special price, 31c. a yard.

Black All-wool Surah Serge—French finish; 50 inches wide—special price, 50 cents a yard.

Black English Mohair Brilliantine—brilliant finish; 38 inches wide; the regular 50-cent quality—at 39 cents.

Black English Mohair Brilliantine—very high lustre and finish; 45 inches wide; the 65-cent quality—at 50 cents.

Black Mohair Sicilian—much in demand for bathing suits; 50 inches wide; the regular $1.00 grade—at 65 cents.

Black Mohair Brilliantine—a rich, bright, lustrous finish; 45 inches wide; regularly worth $1.00—75 cents a yard.

SAMPLES sent upon request. Mail orders receive prompt and accurate attention. Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY

N. E. Cor. Broad and Chestnut Sts.

Capital, $1,000,000. Chartered 1836 Surplus, $2,000,000.

ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, AND RECEIVER.

FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INDIVIDUALS OR CORPORATIONS.

INTEREST ALLOWED ON INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATION ACCOUNTS.

ACTS AS TRUSTEE OF CORPORATION MORTGAGES.

DEPOSITARY UNDER PLANS OF REORGANIZATION.

REGISTRAR AND TRANSFER AGENT.

ASSUMES ENTIRE CHARGE OF REAL ESTATE

SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

E. B. MORRIS, President.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

NOW READY

The Family of William Penn
Founder of Pennsylvania
Ancestry and Descendants

By Howard M. Jenkins.

AUTHOR OF VOLUME ONE, MEMORIAL HISTORY OF PHILADELPHIA, HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS RELATING TO GWYNEDD, ETC.

THIS work presents the results of a careful collation of known authorities, consultation of the Friends' records in Great Britain and Ireland, and an examination of the now-unequalled Collections of Penn Papers in the Library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia.

Some of the information gathered is to be found in fragmentary form in some scores of printed works, many of them rare, but a large part has been drawn from the family letters. These letters, unprinted until used by the Author in the preparation of this work, are necessarily unique.

Apart from any literary merit or demerit, the work is a systematic and practically complete statement of the Ancestry and Posterity of WILLIAM PENN, the Founder, and as such must have a definite and permanent value in the lists of Biography and Genealogy.

*Pp. 270, octavo. 19 full-page illustrations. Handsomely bound. $3.50 net. By mail, 20 cents additional.

*The print is from type, and copies are likely to be scarce.

HOWARD M. JENKINS
PUBLISHER

921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Headley Brothers, 14 Bishopsgate St., Without, London.

F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
SPEED.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker
and Embalmer,

PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

JUST PUBLISHED

Disarmament of Nations; or, Mankind One Body.

By George Dana Boardman, D.D., LL.D.
OF PHILADELPHIA.

An Address, expanded and revised, delivered at Washington, D.C., in the presence of distinguished public officials.

Of great interest and value in the present crisis.

A strong presentation of fact and argument.

Pp 27. Price, Five Cents. $1 for 25 copies.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,

921 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

Are You Going To California?

The California Limited, Santa Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation car with spacious parlor, especially for use of ladies and children. 2½ days Chicago to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,

The Nicholson, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
CHICAGO.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

THE NEW YORK
PUBLIC LIBRARY

ASTOR, LENOX AND
TILDEN FOUNDATIONS.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, SEVENTH MONTH 22, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY Friends' Intelligencer Association, (LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 10 cents per line, one time; 7½ cents per line each insertion, two times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Draw~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK,	561
POETRY: DEVOTIONAL POEM,	561
WORSHIP AND RELIGION, (B seph Powell),	561
THE LORD'S PRAYER: ITS UNIVERSALITY, (By Wilbur M. Stine),	562
JOHN WOOLMAN,	563
FRIENDS OF THIS CENTURY, (Concluded),	564
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSON, No. 31,	565
REMARKS AT THE "WHITE SLAVE" CONGRESS, (By Howard M. Jenkins),	566
THE JOYS OF CAMPING OUT,	567
EDITORIALS:
Superior "Races,"	568
Note,	568
BIRTHS, DEATHS,	568, 569
THE DOUKHOBORS,	569
EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE:
VI.—The English Friends' School at Ackworth,	569
BLOCH'S GREAT BOOK ON MODERN WAR: IV.—Translated by Professor Edward H. Magill,	571
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	573
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	574
LITERARY NOTES,	574
COMMUNICATION:
"The Last of the Lenapé,"	575
THE NATIONAL RELIEF COMMISSION,	575
CONTRIBUTIONS TO BEACH ST. MISSION,	575
POETRY: Yet Am I Not for Pity,	575
THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS,	575
HOMES FOR EPILEPTICS,	576
TEMPERANCE SPEECHES,	577
THE LAND OF LEAST HAPPINESS,	578
WHEN IS THE END OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY?	578
MISCELLANY: Jewish Philanthropists; Moral Value of Manual Training; The Name "Yankee"; An Indian Asylum; A Queen's Charity; A Priest-Ridden Land,	579, 580
CURRENT EVENTS,	580
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	580
NOTICES,	iii

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

A YOUNG FRIEND WISHES POSITION AS governess to small children, or companion. Has had experience and can give good references. ANNIE HOUGH, New Market, Md.

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL WISHES a lady Teacher of Piano, who can combine Vocal Music, Elocution, Physical Culture, if possible. Address, with full particulars, EDWARD C. DIXON, 1420 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

A FEW BOARDERS WANTED ON A FARM, mile and half from Willow Grove Station, Reading road; five minutes from Horsham Station, Trenton Cut-off Branch Pennsylvania railroad. Lawn with plenty of shade. ANNIE R. COMLY, Willow Grove, Montgomery county, Pa.

BOARDING IN A FRIENDS' FAMILY.—FRONT room, terms moderate. Southeast corner Twenty-second and Wallace Streets.

COMPETENT MARRIED MAN, 39, (FRIEND), desires position. Experienced in produce commission, grocery, salesman, or manager. Address No. 92, this Office.

WANTED.—A SEWING TEACHER'S POSITION, or a position in a boarding school to keep pupils' clothes in order. Fine mending a specialty. Address S. H., 302 Hicks St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

FOR RENT.—IN LANGHORNE, PA., TEN-room house. Old shade, porches, excellent water. Half square from trolley. Apply to DR. JOHN PAXSON, Newtown, Penna.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

Young Friends' Association, 140 N. 15th Street,

will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to
ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDEN STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET.
OCEAN CITY, N. J.
Now open for the reception of guests.
SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

The Kathlu,

ELEVENTH AND CENTRAL AVENUES,
OCEAN CITY, N. J.

New house, fine ocean view, large piazzas, and pleasant rooms.

K. E. Lewis and L. C. Conard.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.
OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

JUST PUBLISHED

Disarmament of Nations; or, Mankind One Body

By George Dana Boardman, D.D., LL.D.
OF PHILADELPHIA.

An Address, expanded and revised, delivered at Washington, D. C., in the presence of distinguished public officials.

Of great interest and value in the present crisis.

A strong presentation of fact and argument.

Pp 27. Price, Five Cents. $1 for 25 copies.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,

921 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.

Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40 pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins. Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 2 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION,
Limited,
921 Arch Street, Phila

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month 18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms, $900 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.

RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph. D.,
West Chester, Pa.Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or,
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.
For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Friends' Central School,
FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.
For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,
will re-open September 30th, 1899, (18th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.

All Grades.

Estimates Given.

Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.*Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

WALL PAPER of Attractive Styles

Popular Prices

Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.

210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

Branch Office, 757 South Second Street.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new

Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.

Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,
135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.

LAW
CONVENTION
SCIENCE } STENOGRAPHER.14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.RUBBER GARDEN HOSE
HEADQUARTERS
Globe Rubber Co.'s Goods.

These goods being made by a reliable and well-known Rubber Company are sold to be as represented, and can be depended upon to give

ENTIRE SATISFACTION.

A Fair Hose, for 7½c. foot.
A Good Hose, " 10c. "
A Very Good Hose, " 12c. "
An Extra Heavy Hose, " 15c. "

REELS, 75 cts. All attachments at very low figures.

E. L. PEIRCE, 245 MARKET STREET,
PHILAD'A.SUMMER FABRICS
IN BLACK.

Black All-wool Nun's Veiling—a thin, cool fabric for mid-summer wear; 38 inches wide—special price, 31c. a yard.

Black All-wool Surah Serge—French finish; 50 inches wide—special price, 50 cents a yard.

Black English Mohair Brilliantine—brilliant finish; 38 inches wide; the regular 50-cent quality—at 39 cents.

Black English Mohair Brilliantine—very high lustre and finish; 45 inches wide; the 65-cent quality—at 50 cents.

Black Mohair Sicilian—much in demand for bathing suits; 50 inches wide; the regular $1.00 grade—at 65 cents.

Black Mohair Brilliantine—a rich, bright, lustrous finish; 45 inches wide; regularly worth $1.00—75 cents a yard.

SAMPLES sent upon request. Mail orders receive prompt and accurate attention. Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.*NOW READY

The Family of William Penn
Founder of Pennsylvania
Ancestry and Descendants

By Howard M. Jenkins.

AUTHOR OF VOLUME ONE, MEMORIAL HISTORY OF PHILADELPHIA, HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS
RELATING TO GWYNEDD, ETC.

THIS work presents the results of a careful collation of known authorities, consultation of the Friends' records in Great Britain and Ireland, and an examination of the now unequalled Collections of Penn Papers in the Library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia.

Some of the information gathered is to be found in fragmentary form in some scores of printed works, many of them rare, but a large part has been drawn from the family letters. These letters, unprinted until used by the Author in the preparation of this work, are necessarily unique.

Apart from any literary merit or demerit, the work is a systematic and practically complete statement of the Ancestry and Posterity of WILLIAM PENN, the Founder, and as such must have a definite and permanent value in the lists of Biography and Genealogy.

*Pp. 270, octavo. 19 full-page illustrations. Handsomely bound. $3.50 net. By mail, 50 cents additional.
*The print is from type, and copies are likely to be scarce.

HOWARD M. JENKINS
PUBLISHER

921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Headley Brothers, 14 Bishopsgate St., Without, London.

Friends' Book Association,
OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,

Artists' Materials,
Kindergarten, School Supplies.
Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

NOTICES.

. Westbury Quarterly Meeting's Philanthropic Committee has arranged for a Conference, to be held on Seventh-day, the 29th, at 2.45 p. m., in the meeting-house at Westbury, L. I. Sarah Bancroft, of Wilmington, Del., will read a paper, subject "Opportunities."

HARRY A. HAWKINS,
MARY W. ALBERTSON, } Clerks.

. There is a Friends' meeting held at Asbury Park, on First-day afternoons at 4 p. m. On the 23d inst Friends from New York and Philadelphia will be in attendance, and possibly some from other yearly meetings.

All are invited.

. Change in time and place of holding Indiana Yearly Meeting of Friends.

It will be now held on Second day before last First-day in Eighth month 1899, at 10 a. m., at Fall Creek (Pendleton), Ind.; Richmond, Ind., in 1900; Waynesville, Ohio, 1901; meeting of Ministers and Elders, Seventh-day previous at 3 p. m.; youths' meeting, First-day, at 3 p. m. The Yearly Meeting was formerly held on Second-day following the last Seventh-day in Ninth month.

. The Executive Committee of the First-day School General Conference will meet in Whittier Hall, Asbury Park, N. J., Seventh month 22, 1899, at 2 o'clock p. m. Important work, in preparation for Conferences of 1900, will be considered.

ROBERT M. JANNEY, Clerk.

. Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches has made the following appointments:

SEVENTH MONTH:

23. Germantown, 10.30 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

. Circular Meetings will be held at the following places:

Mullica Hill, Seventh month 30, at 10 a. m. Emma W. Peaslee, Waddington B. Ridgway, Elma H. Livezey, Lydia A. Bradway, John Bishop, Anna P. Ridgway, Joseph B. Livezey, Committee

Mickleton, Eighth month 6, at 10 a. m. Sarah C. Wilson, Waddington B. Ridgway, Anna P. Ridgway, John Bishop, Sarah J. Powell, Priscilla M. Lippincott, David B. Bullock, Samuel Powell, Virginia B. Test, Charlotte S. Bishop, William P. Test, Committee.

Cape May, Eighth month 20, at 11 a. m. (Ocean View Station.) Ocean City the same evening. Elizabeth D. Lippincott, Henry Lippincott, Rachel M. Lippincott, John Heritage, Mary E. Borton, David B. Bullock, Lydia A. Bradway, Joel Borton, Hannah A. Heritage, Charlotte S. Bishop, Martha R. Heritage, Committee

Alloway's Creek, Eighth month 27, at 10 a. m. Ellen B. Haines, Edwin A. Holmes, Warner Underwood, T. Eliza Underwood, Mary Robinson, Hannah B. Griscom, William T. Hilliard, Eliza G. Hilliard, Louella Waddington, Joseph Miller, Committee.

Greenwich, Ninth month 3, at 10 a. m. Elizabeth L. Engle, David B. Bullock, Emma W. Peaslee, Sarah J. Powell, John G. Borton, Elma H. Livezey, Samuel Powell, Lydia A. Bradway, Joseph B. Livezey, Committee.

The first named, in attendance, on the above committees, will please report in writing to the Clerk promptly after each meeting. The Committee adjourned to meet at "The Friends' Home," Woodstown, Ninth month 7, 1899, at 9 a. m.

WILLIAM MOORE, a Kentuckian 71 years of age, has not left his bed for sixty-three years. He was injured by a horse when a child.

It would be quite correct to say that lavender is very hardy, though the past winter, unusually severe killed some plants. In sunny gardens and dry soil it thrives perfectly, and it is only strange that it is not more common. The foliage and stems are not lavender color, as usually recognized, but are silvery gray. The small flowers make that wonderful color so popular with the ladies. But all stems, leaves, and flowers have that pleasant aroma which makes it so useful.—[Meehans' Monthly.]

An engineer declares that 50,000 people now do the work with the aid of machinery which 16,000,000 persons were needed to do a few years ago.

REDUCED RATES TO PITTSBURG

VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD, ACCOUNT
YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHRISTIAN UNION,
U. P. CHURCH.

On account of the Young People's Christian Union, U. P. Church, to be held at Pittsburg, Pa., August 2 to 7, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from points on its line, to Pittsburg, at rate of single fare for the round trip; minimum rate, twenty-five cents.

Tickets will be sold on August 1 and 2, and will be good to return until August 9, inclusive, except that by depositing ticket with the Joint Agent at Pittsburg, before August 6, and the payment of fifty cents, the return limit may be extended to leave Pittsburg not later than August 31, 1899

For specific rates and conditions apply to Ticket Agents.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS.

LOW-RATE VACATION TRIPS VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has selected the following dates for its popular ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington: July 27; August 10 and 24, September 7 and 21, and October 5 and 19. An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion.

Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and all points on the Delaware Division; $11.25 from Atlantic City; $9.60 from Lancaster; $8.50 from Altoona and Harrisburg; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $5.75 from Williamsport; and at proportionate rates from other points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo, Rochester, Canandaigua, and Watkins within the limit returning.

A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion. An extra charge will be made for parlor car seats.

Tickets for a side trip to the Thousand Islands (Alexandria Bay) will be sold from Rochester in connection with excursions of July 27, August 10 and 24, September 7 and 21, good to return to Rochester or to Canandaigua via Syracuse within five days, at rate of $5.50.

Tickets for a side trip to Toronto will be sold at Niagara Falls for $1.00 on July 29, August 12 and 26, and September 23. In connection with excursion of September 7, tickets will be sold to Toronto and return at reduced rates, account Toronto Fair.

For time of connecting trains and further information apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

CHAUTAUQUA.

LAST LOW RATE EXCURSION VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

On July 28 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will run the last special excursion of the season from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Reading, Altoona, Bellefonte, Lock Haven, Shamokin, Wilkesbarre, Sunbury, and Williamsport, and principal intermediate stations, and stations on the Delaware Division, Philadelphia, Wilmington, and Baltimore Railroad, and on the Cumberland Valley Railroad, to Chautauqua, N. Y. Special train will start from Harrisburg and run on the following schedule:

	Special Train Excursion
	Leaves.	Rate.
Harrisburg,	11.35 a. m.	$9.40
Sunbury,	12.59 p. m.	7.80
Montandon,	1 15 "	7.65
Williamsport,	2.30 "	6.65
Chautauqua, Arrive about	10.30 "

CONNECTING TRAINS.

Leave Philadelphia	Excursion Rate.
" Washington	8.40 a. m. $10.00
" Baltimore (Un. Sta.) . . .	7.55 " 10.00
" Altoona (v Lk. Hvn.) . . .	8.55 " 10.00
" Huntingdon (v. Hbg.) . . .	7.15 " 7.95
" Shamokin (v. Sunb'y) . . .	8.30 " 9.40
" Wilkesbarre (v. Sunb) . . .	12.05 p. m. 8.35
" Lock Hv. (v. Wmsp)	7.30 a. m. 9.70
" Winchester, Va. (C.V. R. R.)	11.25 " 6.65
	7.30 " 10.00

Round-trip tickets, good to return on regular trains not later than August 26, will be sold at rates named above, and at proportionate rates from other stations.

Passengers from Atlantic City, Bridgeton, Vineland, Clayton, N. J., and stations on the Delaware Division will use trains to Philadelphia on day preceding date of excursion.

For specific rates and time of connecting trains apply to nearest ticket agent.

THE unsuccessful man generally spends so much of his time explaining why things did not turn out as he expected that he has very few moments to spare for new efforts.

" WELL to suffer is divine—

Pass the watchword down the line,

Pass the countersign, 'Endure';

Not to him who rashly dares,

But to him who nobly bears,

Is the victor's garland sure."

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY

N. E. Cor. Broad and Chestnut Sts.

Capital, $1,000,000. Chartered 1836 Surplus, $2,000,000.

ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, AND RECEIVER.
FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INDIVIDUALS OR CORPORATIONS.
INTEREST ALLOWED ON INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATION ACCOUNTS.
SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

E. B. MORRIS, President.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3 1/4 MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES are NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President, HARRY F. WEST. Vice-President, GEORGE K. JOHNSON. Secretary and Treasurer, HENRY C. BROWN.

It is a well-worn fallacy that lawns should not be watered while the sun shines. Perhaps the only gain from this statement is to the owners of the water supply, as there will be less waste from sprinklers going all day long. Where deemed necessary, the water may be used in unlimited quantity in full sun-light so far as danger from the latter source is concerned. Some heavy, poorly-drained soils will not stand too much water, and this should be considered.—[Meehans' Monthly.]

THE longest piece of surface railroad in the United States on which electricity has been substituted for steam is the Buffalo and Lockport, a twenty-five mile feeder of the Erie system. It was formerly operated by four steam locomotives, and now runs four electric locomotives. The point of widest interest in the change is that more frequent trains are run, and at a faster rate of speed, which has resulted in a passenger traffic twice as large as formerly.

It is hard to decide which is the more deserving of pity: the poor man who is grieving because he can not become a millionaire, or the millionaire who is bewailing the fact that he must pay taxes on his possessions.

THE Emperor of China has never left his palace except to pray at the Temple of Heaven.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.
SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to
READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYS-
BURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMO-
KIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS
IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to
ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SPEED.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,
Undertaker
and Embalmer,
1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.
Telephone 2-28-25-A.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5 1/2 per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroes, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILA'DA.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Merchants' Trust Company,

611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
CAPITAL (paid in), $50,000.00
URPLUS, 50,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 30,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveyancing done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.

JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.

ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.

WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS.

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY, I. BOLTON WINFENNY,
S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHOADS, EDWIN S. DIXON,
JOHN F. LEWIS, WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
THOMAS R. GILL, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
ALFRED I. PHILLIPS.

Read These Books

TO CALIFORNIA AND BACK,
176 pp., 176 illustrations.
5 cts.

THE MOKI SNAKE DANCE,
60 pp., 64 illustrations.
3 cts.

GRAND CANON OF ARIZONA,
32 pp., 15 illustrations.
2 cts.

NEW MEXICO HEALTH RE-SORTS, 80 pp., 31 illustrations. 2 cts.

ARIZONA HEALTH RESORTS,
72 pp., 18 illustrations.
2 cts.

LAS VEGAS HOT SPRINGS
48 pp., 39 illustrations.
2 cts.

Mailed free
for postage named

They tell the story of wonderful sights and scenes, and special resorts for tourists and seekers in the Great West. are published by the

Santa Fe Route,

are literary and artistic, and will make you better acquainted with the attractions of your own land.

C. A. HIGGINS,
A.G.P.A., A.T. & S.F. R'y. CHICAGO.
Great Northern Bldg.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, SEVENTH MONTH 29, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Draw~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, xxx., . . .	581
POEM: TO ONE ARISEN, (In Memory of Aaron M. Powell),	581
WORSHIP AND MINISTRY,	581
THE PATRIARCH ABRAHAM, (By Elizabeth H. Coale),	582
AN IMPORTANT WORK ON TEMPERANCE, EXPERIENCE IN A MID-WEEK MEETING, (By Joseph Powell),	583
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No. 32,	584
A NEW VIEW OF PROHIBITION,	585
THE DOUKHOBORS, (Illustration),	585
DR. TRUEBLOOD'S OBSERVATIONS,	587
EDITORIALS:
The Doctrine of Repose,	588
Notes,	588
DEATHS,	588, 589
EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE:
VII.—Days in London,	589
A FOREIGN LETTER: Bicycling in England,	591
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	591
WHAT SHALL CHILDREN DO IN VACATION?	592
LITERARY NOTES,	593
COMMUNICATIONS:
The Standard of the Ministry,	594
Friendly Mode of Expression,	594
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	594
YOUNG FRIENDS' MEETING,	594
POETRY: The Desire of Nations; Birthday Song; A Morning Greeting,	595
HOLMES AND LOWELL,	595
ADVANTAGES OF COLLEGE TRAINING,	596
MISCELLANEOUS: To Banish Flies; Songs of Birds; Large Charity; The Oldest Family in the World; The Art of Flower Arrangement in Japan; A Charming Old City; Women Workers Displacing Children; English Flower Gardens; Poets are Practical; Imprisonment for Debt; Plumage of Birds,	597, 598
CURRENT EVENTS,	599
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	599
NOTICES,	600

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

A YOUNG FRIEND WISHES POSITION AS governess to small children, or companion. Has had experience and can give good references. ANNIE HOUGH, New Market, Md.

INSTRUCTION BY CORRESPONDENCE: HISTORY, English, Latin, beginners' German and Greek. Also, teaching by the hour. Classes in Literature a specialty. Send for particulars and references. ANNA WILDMAN, Langhorne, Pa.

WANTED.—TO INVEST FROM $2,000 TO $4,000 on first mortgage. Address No. 93, this Office.

WANTED.—A SEWING TEACHER'S POSITION, or a position in a boarding school to keep pupils' clothes in order. Fine mending a specialty. Address S. H., 302 Hicks St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

FOR RENT.—IN LANGHORNE, PA., TEN-room house. Old shade, porches, excellent water. Half square from trolley. Apply to DR. JOHN PAXSON, Newtown, Penna.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

Young Friends' Association,
140 N. 15th Street,

will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 2714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2222 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDR STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
 { Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.

LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE }

14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET.
OCEAN CITY, N. J.
Now open for the reception of guests.
SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

The Kathlu,

ELEVENTH AND CENTRAL AVENUES,
OCEAN CITY, N. J.

New house, fine ocean view, large piazzas, and pleasant rooms.

K. E. Lewis and L. C. Conard.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.
OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.
Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.

210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new

Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.

Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,
135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a., Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' School,

West Street, Wilmington, Delaware.

Excellent advantages for complete school course.
Thorough preparation for college or technical school.
Training class for Kindergarten teachers.

Year Begins Ninth Month 11th.

For Catalogues and information apply to HERSCHEL A. NORRIS, M.A., Principal.

Park Ave. Friends' Elementary and High School,

will open in the New Buildings NINTH MONTH 18, 1890. Co-educational. Prepares for any university, college, or for business. Board and tuition, $225 per school year. Send for Catalogue.

JOHN W. GREGG, M.A., Principal,

ELI M. LAMB, Associate Principal.

Park Place and Laurens St., Baltimore, Md.

Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month 18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms, $100 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.

RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph. D.,
West Chester, Pa.Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 20th, 1890, (18th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,

LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Put a piece of Ivory Soap in the dainty basket mother love prepares for the baby. Pure, unscented white soap, like the Ivory, is the best for the rose-leaf skin of the new-comer. Scents too often disguise impurities that would injure it. Be wise in time, before the mischief is done.

The vegetable oils of which Ivory Soap is made, and its purity, fit it for many special uses for which other soaps are unsafe and unsatisfactory.

Copyright, 1893, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or, CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.

All Grades.

Estimates Given.

Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

WALL PAPER of

Attractive Styles

Popular Prices

Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St.

Philadelphia, Pa.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK
CONSHOHOCKEN DAIRIES. Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.

JOSEPH L. JONES.

* Quarterly Meetings during Eighth month will occur as follows:

1. Concord, at Concord, Pa.
8. Philadelphia, at Valley.
10. Abington, at Gwynedd.
21. Indiana Yearly Meeting, at Pendleton.
28. Ohio Yearly Meeting, at Salem.
29. Burlington, at Mt. Holly, N. J.
30. Southern, at Easton, Md.
31. Bucks, at Falls, Pa.

* Change in time and place of holding Indiana Yearly Meeting of Friends.

It will be now held on Second day before last First-day in Eighth month 1899, at 10 a. m., at Fall Creek (Pendleton), Ind.; Richmond, Ind., in 1900; Waynesville, Ohio, 1901; meeting of Ministers and Elders, Seventh-day previous at 3 p. m.; youths' meeting, First-day, at 3 p. m. The Yearly Meeting was formerly held on Second-day following the last Seventh-day in Ninth month.

THE MOUNTAINS AT READING.

Under the shadows of Mount Penn, Mount Washington, and Neversink Mountain, is the beautiful city of Reading, one of the oldest settlements in Pennsylvania, having been laid out in 1748 by William and Richard Penn, proprietaries of the province, and named after the English cathedral town of Reading.

For a one-day outing no more attractive destination could be chosen. The train service via the Philadelphia and Reading Railway enables one to make the trip from Philadelphia, or even from more distant points, reaching Reading in the mid-morning, and returning in the late afternoon or evening, after riding over the two famous mountains by electric and "switch-back" railways, and partaking of the good cheer for which the various mountain hostelries are celebrated.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS.

LOW-RATE VACATION TRIPS VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has selected the following dates for its popular ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington: July 27; August 10 and 24, September 7 and 21, and October 5 and 19. An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion.

Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and all points on the Delaware Division; $11.25 from Atlantic City; $9.60 from Lancaster; $8.50 from Altoona and Harrisburg; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $5.75 from Williamsport; and at proportionate rates from other points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo, Rochester, Canandaigua, and Watkins within the limit returning.

A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion. An extra charge will be made for parlor car seats.

Tickets for a side trip to the Thousand Islands (Alexandria Bay) will be sold from Rochester in connection with excursions of July 27, August 10 and 24, September 7 and 21, good to return to Rochester or to Canandaigua via Syracuse within five days, at rate of $5.50.

Tickets for a side trip to Toronto will be sold at Niagara Falls for $1.00 on July 29, August 12 and 26, and September 23. In connection with excursion of September 7, tickets will be sold to Toronto and return at reduced rates, account Toronto Fair.

For time of connecting trains and further information apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

Queer People.

THE Chinese do everything backward. Their compass points to the south instead of the north. The men wear skirts and the women trousers; while the men wear their hair long, the women coil theirs in a knot. The dressmakers are men: the women carry burdens. The spoken language is not written, and the written language is not spoken. Books are read backward, and any notes are inserted at the top. White is used for mourning; and the bridesmaids wear black,—instead of being maidens, these functionaries are old women. The Chinese surname comes first, and they shake their own hands instead of the hands of one whom they would greet. Vessels are launched sideways, and horses are mounted from the off side. They commence their dinner with dessert, and end up with soup and fish. In shaving, the barber operates on the head, cutting the hair upward, then downward, and then polishes it off with a small knife, which is passed over the eyebrows and into the nose to remove any superfluous hairs; and the performance is completed by removing the wax from the ears with a bit of cotton-wool on a wire. —[New York Times.]

"WHO to the sod a tree has given
Sends prayer of faith and works to heaven.

He plants a trust in sun and showers,
In buds and bloom of springtime hours;
He plants a hope for coming years,
For wider reach and fuller spheres.
So may our lives with purpose true
Reach out and upward through the blue;
So may our faith look from earth's gloom
To an eternal springtime's bloom.
A teacher he of life to be
Who plants a tree."

AN insect so minute as to be almost invisible ran 3 inches in half a second, and it is estimated that it made no fewer than 450 steps in the time a healthy man would breathe once. A man with proportionate agility could run twenty-four miles in a minute.

IN the reign of Edward III. all the brewers and bakers were women, and when men first began to engage in these occupations it was thought so strange that they were called men brewers and men bakers.

REDUCED RATES TO PITTSBURG

VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD, ACCOUNT
YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHRISTIAN UNION,
U. P. CHURCH.

On account of the Young People's Christian Union, U. P. Church, to be held at Pittsburg, Pa., August 2 to 7, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from points on its line, to Pittsburg, at rate of single fare for the round trip; minimum rate, twenty-five cents.

Tickets will be sold on August 1 and 2, and will be good to return until August 9, inclusive, except that by depositing ticket with the Joint Agent at Pittsburg, before August 6, and the payment of fifty cents, the return limit may be extended to leave Pittsburg not later than August 31, 1899.

For specific rates and conditions apply to Ticket Agents.

WALL paper does not hang, and yet the person whose business it is to paste it up is called a paper hanger. The reason is simple. Long before the introduction of wall papers, Arras, a town in France, was famous for its tapestries, called "Arras." These were used as wall coverings, and the men who were employed to put them up were called "hangers." When paper succeeded tapestry as a mural decoration the name "hangers" stuck to the men, though instead of being tapestry hangers they were now paper hangers. —[Chicago News.]

THE life of an editor in Serbia is not a delightful one. Within the last two years a weekly paper has had sixteen editors. Fifteen of them are in jail for too keenly commenting upon government affairs, and the sixteenth has just been sent to join them for the same offense.

Shawls and Steamer Rugs

Woven Silk and Embroidered China Silk Shawls—from $3.00 to $10.00 each—much less than actual value.

Shetland and Zephyr Shawls—in black, white, and colors; a beautiful collection—at 50 cents, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, and $2.00 each.

All-wool Steamer Rugs—new and attractive patterns—special values at $4.50, $5.00, $8.00, and $10.00.

Household Linens Department

Silver Bleached Damask—exceptionally high quality, and worth much more than to-day's asking—50 cents a yard.

Cream Damask—a grade that ordinarily commands 45 to 50 cents a yard—here now at 35 cents.

17-inch all-linen Glass Toweling—unusual value at 8 cents a yard.

Cream Turkish Bath Towels—24 by 52 inches, extra heavy; will go rapidly at the special price—20 cents each.

MAIL orders receive prompt and accurate attention. Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY

N. E. Cor. Broad and Chestnut Sts.

Capital, $1,000,000. Chartered 1836 Surplus, $2,000,000.

ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, AND RECEIVER.

FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INDIVIDUALS OR CORPORATIONS.

INTEREST ALLOWED ON INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATION ACCOUNTS.

ACTS AS TRUSTEE OF CORPORATION MORTGAGES.

DEPOSITORY UNDER PLANS OF REORGANIZATION.

REGISTRAR AND TRANSFER AGENT.

ASSUMES ENTIRE CHARGE OF REAL ESTATE

SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

E. B. MORRIS, President.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALBOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

RUBBER GARDEN HOSE

HEADQUARTERS

Globe Rubber Co.'s Goods.

These goods being made by a reliable and well-known Rubber Company are sold to be as represented, and can be depended upon to give

ENTIRE SATISFACTION.

A Fair Hose, for 7½c. foot.

A Good Hose, " 10c. "

A Very Good Hose, " 12c. "

An Extra Heavy Hose, " 15c. "

REELS, 75 cts. All attachments at very low figures.

E. L. PEIRCE, 245 MARKET STREET, PHILAD'A.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Re

ATTENTION AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND SPEED.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker
and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.

Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40 pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins. Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 2 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION
Limited,

921 Arch Street, Phila

Are You Going To California?

The California Limited, Santa Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation car with spacious parlor, especially for use of ladies and children. 2½ days Chicago to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
CHICAGO.

Friends' Book Association,

OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,

Blank Book Manufacturers,

Engravers, and Printers,

Artists' Materials,

Kindergarten, School Supplies.

Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, EIGHTH MONTH 5, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Draw~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XXXI.,	601
POEM: THE SILENT VOICES,	601
REMEMBER THE SABBATH-DAY,	601
"TURN ON THE DARK!"	602
LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF ALMS-GIVING,	603
A TRIBUTE TO AARON M. POWELL,	604
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No 33,	604
INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION PLAN,	605
HUIS TEN BOSCH—"THE HOUSE IN THE WOODS," (Illustration),	606
THE HAGUE CONFERENCE,	606
FRIENDS' WEDDINGS,	607
EDITORIALS:
The Invasion of Privacy,	608
Notes,	608
BIRTHS, DEATHS,	608, 609
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	609
EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE:
VIII.—Manchester and Neighbors,	609
FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE:
II.—A Journey to Norway, (By Dr. James Tyson),	611
II.—In Eastern England, (By Edward C. Wilson),	612
PLAY IS DIFFICULT,	613
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	613
EDUCATIONAL NOTES,	614
LITERARY NOTES,	614
COMMUNICATION:
Beach Street Mission,	615
POETRY: Susqueco; Good Night; Great Truths,	615, 616
HENRY FONTENELLE,	616
DANGERS OF CULTURE,	617
PROGRESS AT THE HAGUE,	618
MISCELLANEOUS: Courtesy of Speech; A Desert Simoon; Salvation Through Whittier's Poems; Golf Raising the Prices of Land,	618, 619
CURRENT EVENTS,	619
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	620
NOTICES,	620

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

A YOUNG FRIEND WISHES POSITION AS governess to small children, or companion to lady. Has had experience and can give good references. ANNIE HOUGH, New Market, Md.

INSTRUCTION BY CORRESPONDENCE: HISTORY, English, Latin, beginners' German and Greek. Also, teaching by the hour. Classes in Literature a specialty. Send for particulars and references. ANNA WILDMAN, Langhorne, Pa.

WANTED.—TO INVEST FROM $2,000 TO $4,000 on first mortgage. Address No. 93, this Office.

FOR RENT.—IN LANGHORNE, PA. TEN-room house. Old shade, porches, excellent water. Half square from trolley. Apply to DR. JOHN PAXSON, Newtown, Penna.

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS A SPECIALTY. Eggs $1.00 for 15. JOS. P. PALMER, Geiger's Mills, Pa.

FOR SALE.

A farm, consisting of 120 acres, lying immediately west of Illinois Yearly Meeting House Grounds, in Putnam County. Price, ten thousand dollars. Buildings, moderate. Fencing, Osage orange. For further particulars address ABEL MILLS, Agent, Mt. Palatine, Ill.

ALSO FOR SALE.

A farm, consisting of 160 acres, situated in Jewell County, Kansas. Good land, and the improvements are good. Buildings are in fine order. For further information address, ABEL MILLS, Agent, Mt. Palatine, Ill.

Young Friends' Association,
140 N. 15th Street,

will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,
Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1225 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Atgile St., Tioga.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDE STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET, OCEAN CITY, N. J.
Now open for the reception of guests.
SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

The Kathlu,

ELEVENTH AND CENTRAL AVENUES,
OCEAN CITY, N. J.

New house, fine ocean view, large piazzas, and pleasant rooms.

K. E. Lewis and L. C. Conard.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.
OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.
Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.
210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.
Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new
Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.

Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,
135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
CONSHOHOCKEN DAIRIES. Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

Friends' School,

West Street, Wilmington, Delaware.

Excellent advantages for complete school course.
Thorough preparation for college or technical school.
Training class for Kindergarten teachers.

Year Begins Ninth Month 11th.

For Catalogues and information apply to HERSCHEL A. NORRIS, A. M., Principal.

Park Ave. Friends' Elementary and High School,

will open in the New Buildings NINTH MONTH 18, 1899. Co-educational. Prepares for any university, college, or for business. Board and tuition, $225 per school year. Send for Catalogue.

JOHN W. GREGG, M.A., Principal,
ELI M. LAMB, Associate Principal,
Park Place and Laurens St., Baltimore, Md.

Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month 18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms, $1000 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.
RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph. D.,
West Chester, Pa.

Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.
For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

Friends' Central School,

FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS., PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.
For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS, will re-open September 20th, 1899, (18th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.
Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or, Jenkintown, Pa.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.*Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

WALL PAPER of

Attractive Styles

Popular Prices

Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?

No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-24-25 D.

LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE

14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

RUBBER GARDEN HOSE
HEADQUARTERS*Globe Rubber Co.'s Goods.

These goods being made by a reliable and well-known Rubber Company are sold to be as represented, and can be depended upon to give

ENTIRE SATISFACTION.

A Fair Hose, for 7½ c. foot.
A Good Hose, " 10c. "
A Very Good Hose, " 12c. "
An Extra Heavy Hose, " 15c. "

REELS, 75 cts. All attachments at very low figures.

E. L. PEIRCE, 248 MARKET STREET,
PHILAD'A.

Friends' Book Association,
OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,
Kindergarten, School Supplies.
Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

Shawls and Steamer Rugs

Woven Silk and Embroidered China
Silk Shawls—from $3.00 to $10.00 each—much less than actual value.

Shetland and Zephyr Shawls—in black, white, and colors; a beautiful collection—at 50 cents, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, and $2.00 each.

All-wool Steamer Rugs—new and attractive patterns—special values at $4.50, $5.00, $8.00, and $10.00.

Household Linens Department

Silver Bleached Damask—exceptionally high quality, and worth much more than to-day's asking—50 cents a yard.

Cream Damask—a grade that ordinarily commands 45 to 50 cents a yard—here now at 35 cents.

17-inch all-linen Glass Toweling—unusual value at 8 cents a yard.

Cream Turkish Bath Towels—24 by 52 inches, extra heavy; will go rapidly at the special price—20 cents each.

MAIL orders receive prompt and accurate attention. Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

Mary E. Borton, David B. Bullock, Lydia A. Bradway, Joel Borton, Hannah A. Heritage, Charlotte S. Bishop, Martha R. Heritage, Committee.

Alloway's Creek, Eighth month 27, at 10 a. m. Ellen B. Haines, Edwin A. Holmes, Warner Underwood, T. Eliza Underwood, Mary Robinson, Hannah B. Griscom, William T. Hilliard, Eliza G. Hilliard, Louella Waddington, Joseph Miller, Committee.

Greenwich, Ninth month 3, at 10 a. m. Elizabeth L. Engle, David B. Bullock, Emma W. Peaslee, Sarah J. Powell, John G. Borton, Elma H. Livezey, Samuel Powell, Lydia A. Bradway, Joseph B. Livezey, Committee.

The first named, in attendance, on the above committees, will please report in writing to the Clerk promptly after each meeting. The Committee adjourned to meet at "The Friends' Home," Woodstown, Ninth month 7, 1899, at 9 a. m.

THE MOUNTAINS AT READING.

Under the shadows of Mount Penn, Mount Washington, and Neversink Mountain, is the beautiful city of Reading, one of the oldest settlements in Pennsylvania, having been laid out in 1748 by William and Richard Penn, proprietaries of the province, and named after the English cathedral town of Reading.

For a one-day outing no more attractive destination could be chosen. The train service via the Philadelphia and Reading Railway enables one to make the trip from Philadelphia, or even from more distant points, reaching Reading in the mid-morning, and returning in the late afternoon or evening, after riding over the two famous mountains by electric and "switch-back" railways, and partaking of the good cheer for which the various mountain hostelries are celebrated.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS.

LOW-RATE VACATION TRIPS VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has selected the following dates for its popular ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington: July 27; August 10 and 24, September 7 and 21, and October 5 and 19. An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion.

Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and all points on the Delaware Division; $11.25 from Atlantic City; $9.60 from Lancaster; $8.50 from Altoona and Harrisburg; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $5.75 from Williamsport; and at proportionate rates from other points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo, Rochester, Canandaigua, and Watkins within the limit returning.

A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion. An extra charge will be made for parlor car seats.

Tickets for a side trip to the Thousand Islands (Alexandria Bay) will be sold from Rochester in connection with excursions of July 27, August 10 and 24, September 7 and 21, good to return to Rochester or to Canandaigua via Syracuse within five days, at rate of $5.50.

Tickets for a side trip to Toronto will be sold at Niagara Falls for $1.00 on July 29, August 12 and 26, and September 23. In connection with excursion of September 7, tickets will be sold to Toronto and return at reduced rates, account Toronto Fair.

For time of connecting trains and further information apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

GET Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" lamp-chimneys; they are made of tough glass, tough against heat; they do not break in use; they do from accident.

They are clear, transparent, not misty. Look at your chimney. How much of the light is lost in the fog?

Be willing to pay a little more.

Our "Index" describes all lamps and their proper chimneys. With it you can always order the right size and shape of chimney for any lamp. We mail it FREE to any one who writes for it.

Address MACBETH, Pittsburgh, Pa.

DELIGHTFUL VACATION TRIP.

TOUR TO THE NORTH VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

Visiting Niagara Falls, Toronto, Thousand Islands, Quebec, Montreal, Au Sable Chasm, Lake Champlain, and Lake George, Saratoga, and the Highlands of the Hudson. Leave Philadelphia by special train August 12. The tour will be in charge of one of the company's experienced tourist agents, and a chaperon, having especial charge of unescorted ladies, will also accompany the party.

The rate of $100 from New York, Brooklyn, Newark, Trenton, Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Baltimore, and Washington covers railway and boat fare for the entire round trip, parlor car seats, meals en route, hotel entertainment, transfer charges, and carriage hire.

For detailed itinerary, tickets, or any additional information, address Tourist Agent, Pennsylvania Railroad Company, 1196 Broadway, New York; Ticket Agent, 860 Fulton street, Brooklyn; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

L. A. W. MEET, BOSTON.

REDUCED RATES VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

For the Annual Meet of the League of American Wheelmen at Boston, August 14 to 19, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets, from all points on its line, to Boston at rate of single fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold on August 12 to 14, good to return August 14 to 20 when properly executed before agent of initial line from Boston. Upon depositing ticket with city ticket agent of initial line from Boston, not later than August 19, and the payment of fifty cents, tickets may be extended to leave Boston not later than August 31.

Bicycles carried free when not accompanied by other baggage. Special arrangements for clubs traveling as a body.

A RETIRED linendraper went into an English school one day and began putting the scholars through an examination in geography.

"What is the capital of 'Olland?'" he asked.

"Capital H!" was the crushing rejoinder from the smart boy of the class.

A SCOTTISH newspaper has just taken a plebiscite of its readers in order to find out the length of sermons preached north of the border on a particular Sabbath lately. It appears that the average Established church sermon is 26 minutes in length; Free church 32; United Presbyterian church, 30; Congregational, 29; Scottish Episcopal, 20; Baptist, 33; English Presbyterian, 30; Original Secession, 38. In all denominations the longest sermon was 68 minutes and the shortest 9 minutes.

THE late Professor Jowett, during his connection with Balliol College, had occasion to visit some of the farms belonging to the college near the Scottish borders. One of the leading tenants was deputed to take the Professor round. A long tramp they had, in the course of which Jowett uttered not a word, while the farmer was too much stricken with awe to venture a remark. But when the walk was almost done the Professor was roused to speech. Looking over a stone wall, over a goodly field of vivid green, he abruptly said: "Fine potatoes." Quoth the farmer: "Yon's turmetts." Not a word more was spoken between them.

THE British Museum has books written on bricks, tiles, oyster shells, bones, and flat stones, together with manuscripts on bark, ivory, leather, parchment, papyrus, lead, iron, copper, and wood. It has three copies of the Bible written on the leaves of the fan palm.

IN Warsaw, Mo., a business man named Green has a book-keeper named Simmons. During his employer's absence, not long ago, he signed a letter "Green, per Simmons." The result has been an unexpected increase in Mr. Green's business, owing to newspaper comment on the odd signature.

WATER in small lakes can be purified for use by means of a new electrical apparatus, having tanks to be inserted in the water, with electrodes attached, which discharge currents to kill all germs, the water being pumped from the interior of the tanks for use.

A FULL grown lion will tip the scale at 500 pounds. Five hundred and forty pounds is the record for an African lion. His bone is solid and heavy as ivory. The tiger runs the lion very close. A Bengal tiger, killed two years ago by an English officer, scaled 520 pounds.

A SILK handkerchief, so often recommended for wiping eye-glasses or spectacles, is not good for this purpose, as it makes the glasses electrical and causes the dust to adhere to them. The best paper for this purpose is fine tissue.

WHEN the Queen ascended the throne, more than 50 per cent. of the British people were so ignorant that they could not even write their names, while now only 7 per cent. are in that condition.

A MORE amiable toleration of the English sparrow may be created by the claim of the French naturalist, who says that if all the birds were exterminated man would live but nine years.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY

N. E. Cor. Broad and Chestnut Sts.

Capital, $1,000,000. Chartered 1836 Surplus, $2,000,000.

ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, AND RECEIVER.

FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INDIVIDUALS OR CORPORATIONS.

INTEREST ALLOWED ON INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATION ACCOUNTS.

SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

ACTS AS TRUSTEE OF CORPORATION MORTGAGES.

DEPOSITARY UNDER PLANS OF REORGANIZATION.

REGISTRAR AND TRANSFER AGENT.

ASSUMES ENTIRE CHARGE OF REAL ESTATE

SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

E. B. MORRIS, President.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES are NON-FORFEITABLE and INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

Merchants' Trust Company,

611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
CAPITAL (paid in), 250,000.00
SURPLUS, 50,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 30,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveying done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.

JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.

ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.

WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY, I. BOLTON WINPENNY,
S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHOADS, EDWIN S. DIXON,
JOHN F. LEWIS, WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
THOMAS R. GILL, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
ALFRED I. PHILLIPS.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

F. GUTEKUNST, FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, G
BURG, CHAMBERSBURG, S
KIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS
IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
SPEED.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker
and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.

JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.

Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40 pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins. Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 2 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION

Limited,

921 Arch Street, Phila

Read These Books

TO CALIFORNIA AND BACK,
176 pp., 176 illustrations.
5 cts.

THE MOKI SNAKE DANCE,
60 pp., 64 illustrations.
3 cts.

GRAND CANON OF ARIZONA,
32 pp., 15 illustrations.
2 cts.

NEW MEXICO HEALTH RESORTS,
80 pp., 31 illustrations.
2 cts.

YONA HEALTH RESORTS,
pp., 18 illustrations.
2 cts.

LAS VEGAS HOT SPRINGS
48 pp., 39 illustrations.
2 cts.

Mailed free
for postage named

They tell the story

of wonderful sights and scenes, and special resorts for tourists and homeseekers in the Great West. They are published by the

Santa Fe Route,

are literary and artistic, and will make you better acquainted with the attractions of your own land.

C. A. HIGGINS,
A.G.P.A., A.T. & S.F. R'y, CHICAGO.
Great Northern Bldg.

THE NEW
PUBLIC LIBRARY
ASTOR LENOX AND
TILDEN FOUNDATIONS.

EDUCATIONAL NUMBER FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, EIGHTH MONTH 12, 1899.

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE, SWARTHMORE, PENNSYLVANIA.

UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF FRIENDS

Offers four courses of study leading to degrees :

The Course in Arts

The Course in Science

The Course in Letters

The Course in Engineering

Preparing for business life, or for the study of the learned professions.

TEN MILES from Philadelphia, in one of the most interesting sections of Pennsylvania, the site is one of great natural beauty. Two hundred acres of wood, field, and shaded lawn, the picturesque gorge of Crum Creek, the distant view of the Delaware, lend a charming variety to the scene. Ample opportunity for all kinds of outdoor enjoyments.

CHARACTER ALWAYS THE PRIMARY CONSIDERATION

The Typical Small College

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE has no ambition to be a university. It can serve its students better as a small college than as a large one. In a small college the professors can give that close personal interest and sympathy which is the greatest force in the development of character. It can also preserve the thereby securing the companionship and fellowship among students, to which college life owes its greatest charm.

ATMOSPHERE OF HOME LIFE

It is the purpose of the Managers and Faculty not only to provide college life in a home setting, but to supply opportunities for the most liberal culture, to maintain a high standard of scholarship, and to conduct this work upon the basis of the testimonies of the Religious Society of Friends.

The President desires to be in correspondence with every young man or woman, connected with the Society, who desires a higher education, and has nearly completed the work of the preparatory schools.

For catalogues, or further information, address,

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President,
Swarthmore, Pennsylvania.

Friends' Central School, Fifteenth and Race Streets, PHILADELPHIA

Boys' Department,
JOSEPH S. WALTON, Ph.D.,
Principal.

Girls' Department,
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, A.B.,
Principal.

Intermediate School for Girls,
ANNIE L. CLEMENT, Principal.

Intermediate School for Boys,
ELLEN M. GREENE, Principal.

Primary School,
SARAH T. PRICE, Principal.

Kindergarten,
SARAH T. PRICE, Principal.

17th St. and Girard Ave.
MARY H. WHITE, Principal,

35th St. and Lancaster Ave.,
ANNA R. RICHTER, Principal.

Schools Reopen
Ninth Month 18th, 1899

PUPILS PREPARED FOR ALL THE LEADING COLLEGES. The New Building contains, besides school and class rooms, Physical, Chemical, and Biological Laboratories, and a thoroughly equipped Gymnasium. It is heated and ventilated by the most approved system; the pupils are supplied with drinking water which has been carefully boiled and filtered.

On and after Ninth month 11th, the principals may be consulted at the school, between the hours of 9 and 12. Circulars may be had from them, or from Friends' Book Association, Fifteenth and Race Streets, Philadelphia.

TO those who prefer a school where but a limited number of boarders can be taken, we would call attention to the

Cheltenham Hills School,

which will commence its Eighteenth Year Ninth Month 20, 1899.

The home and the school building are about a hundred yards apart. Both are heated by steam and lighted by electricity.

A glance at the circular will show that a number of our pupils have entered college.

Especially care is taken of the little folks, for we are convinced that if the foundation is not strong there is little chance of a good education.

With a small school and many teachers we are prepared to give the individual attention that cannot be expected in a larger school.

TERMS MODERATE.

Apply for circular to the principals,

ANNIE HEACOCK,

LIDA R. LEMAISTRE,

Wyncote, Penna.

NOTICES.

* * A Circular Meeting under the care of a committee of the Western Quarterly Meeting will be held at Hockessin, on First-day, Eighth month 13, 1899, to convene at 3 o'clock p. m., OSCAR F. PASSMORE, Clerk.

* * The Monthly Meeting of Friends of Philadelphia, held at Race Street, will take place on Fourth-day next, the 16th, in the evening, at 7.30 o'clock.

* * Friends wishing to attend Goose Creek Quarterly Meeting, held at Lincoln, Loudoun county, Va., will take cars at Pennsylvania Railroad Station at Sixth street, Washington. Ask for tickets for Friends' Meeting for Hamilton or Purcellville, where carriages will be waiting to convey to houses. Tickets issued on the 18th or 19th inst. are good to return until the 26th. Trains leave at 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. daily.

* * The Friends' Book Association acknowledges receipt of the following additional contributions to the Children's Country Week Association:

E. B. S.,	$5 00
In memory of Bessie N. Comly,	10.00
Marion S. Comly,	2.00
Howard W. Lloyd,	5.00
A Friend,	5.00

$27.00

Previously acknowledged, . . . 167.50

Amount, . . . $194.50

JOHN COMLY, Superintendent.

Eighth month 7, 1899.

* * It is desired that all who anticipate attending Indiana Yearly Meeting write immediately, telling whether they are coming by private or public conveyance. Homes will be provided for all. JOHN L. THOMAS, Pendleton, Ind.

* * Change in time and place of holding Indiana Yearly Meeting of Friends.

It will be now held on Second day before last First-day in Eighth month 1899, at 10 a. m. at Fall Creek (Pendleton), Ind.; Richmond, Ind., in 1900; Waynesville, Ohio, 1901; meeting of Ministers and Elders, Seventh-day previous at 3 p. m.; youths' meeting, First-day, at 3 p. m. The Yearly Meeting was formerly held on Second-day following the last Seventh-day in Ninth month.

* * Quarterly Meetings during Eighth month will occur as follows:

21. Indiana Yearly Meeting, at Pendleton.
28. Ohio Yearly Meeting, at Salem.
29. Burlington, at Mt. Holly, N. J.
30. Southern, at Easton, Md.
31. Bucks, at Falls, Pa.

* * Circular Meetings will be held at the following places:

Cape May, Eighth month 20, at 11 a. m. (Ocean View Station.) Ocean City the same evening. Elizabeth D. Lippincott, Henry Lippincott, Rachel M. Lippincott, John Heritage, Mary E. Borton, David B. Bullock, Lydia A. Bradway, Joel Borton, Hannah A. Heritage, Charlotte S. Bishop, Martha R. Heritage, Committee

Alloway's Creek, Eighth month 27, at 10 a. m. Ellen B. Haines, Edwin A. Holmes, Warner Underwood, T. Eliza Underwood, Mary Robinson, Hannah B. Griscom, William T. Hilliard, Eliza G. Hilliard, Louella Waddington, Joseph Miller, Committee.

Hanscoms'.

Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison? No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to. 1311 Market St., Phila.

L. A. W. MEET, BOSTON.

REDUCED RATES VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

For the Annual Meet of the League of American Wheelmen at Boston, August 14 to 19, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets, from all points on its line, to Boston at rate of single fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold on August 12 to 14, good to return August 14 to 20 when properly executed before agent of initial line from Boston. Upon depositing ticket with city ticket agent of initial line from Boston, not later than August 19, and the payment of fifty cents, tickets may be extended to leave Boston not later than August 31.

Bicycles carried free when not accompanied by other baggage. Special arrangements for clubs traveling as a body.

THE MOUNTAINS AT READING.

Under the shadows of Mount Penn, Mount Washington, and Neversink Mountain, is the beautiful city of Reading, one of the oldest settlements in Pennsylvania, having been laid out in 1748 by William and Richard Penn, proprietaries of the province, and named after the English cathedral town of Reading.

For a one-day outing no more attractive destination could be chosen. The train service via the Philadelphia and Reading Railway enables one to make the trip from Philadelphia, or even from more distant points, reaching Reading in the mid-morning, and returning in the late afternoon or evening, after riding over the two famous mountains by electric and "switch-back" railways, and partaking of the good cheer for which the various mountain hostleries are celebrated.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS.

LOW-RATE VACATION TRIPS VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has selected the following dates for its popular ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington: July 27; August 10 and 24, September 7 and 21, and October 5 and 19. An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion.

Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and all points on the Delaware Division; $11.25 from Atlantic City; $9.60 from Lancaster; $8.50 from Altoona and Harrisburg; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $5.75 from Williamsport; and at proportionate rates from other points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo, Rochester, Canandaigua, and Watkins within the limit returning.

A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion. An extra charge will be made for parlor car seats.

Tickets for a side trip to the Thousand Islands (Alexandria Bay) will be sold from Rochester in connection with excursions of July 27, August 10 and 24, September 7 and 21, good to return to Rochester or to Canandaigua via Syracuse within five days, at rate of $5.50.

Tickets for a side trip to Toronto will be sold at Niagara Falls for $1.00 on July 29, August 12 and 26, and September 23. In connection with excursion of September 7, tickets will be sold to Toronto and return at reduced rates, account Toronto Fair.

For time of connecting trains and further information apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Dairies, Philadelphia, Penna.

JOSEPH L. JONES.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET. OCEAN CITY, N. J. Now open for the reception of guests. SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City. The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE. Atlantic City, N. J. Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable. M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

The Kathlu,

ELEVENTH AND CENTRAL AVENUES, OCEAN CITY, N. J.

New house, fine ocean view, large piazzas, and pleasant rooms.

K. E. Lewis and L. C. Conard.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS. 1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa. Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street. Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tlaga.

Washable Dress Fabrics

Printed Pique—all sorts of new designs on white grounds; the 37 1/2-cent qualities—now 18 cents a yard.

Silk Gingham—choice colorings in plaids, for shirt waists; the 37 1/2-cent qualities—now 18 cents a yard.

Imported Cheviots and Madras—for men's shirts and women's shirt waists; the 37 1/2- and 45-cent qualities—now 25 cents a yard.

Crash Suitings—linen and cotton mixed; good, serviceable fabrics; the 25-cent quality—now 15 cents a yard.

Dotted Swiss Mull—a good range of styles, in light and dark effects; the 15-cent qualities—now 10 cents a yard.

Fine Printed Batiste—choice styles, white and colored grounds, neat printings; the 15c. qualities—now 10 cents.

Dimities—beautiful printings on white and colored grounds; the 10-cent qualities—now 5 cents a yard.

Madras—30 inches wide; the 12 1/2-cent quality—now 5 cents a yard.

SAMPLES sent upon request. Mail orders receive prompt and accurate attention. Address orders "Dept. C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

ABINGTON FRIENDS' SCHOOL

A Day and Boarding School for Boys and Girls, under the control of Abington Monthly Meeting.

Healthfully located near Jenkintown, Pennsylvania. Prepares for college or for business.
Offers a thorough and guarded education.

Good sanitation, modern heating system, electric lights.
Homelike surroundings make it pleasant for boarding pupils.

Academic year begins
Ninth Mo. 11th, 1899.

Send for circular to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, Prin.,
Jenkintown, Pa.

Or, CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y.
Ogontz, Penna.

Thirty-Fifth Year

PEIRCE SCHOOL

A representative American Business School for both sexes

COURSES:

Business
Shorthand and Typewriting
English

THE efficacy of its thorough and systematic training for business life is attested by hundreds of graduates now occupying positions of responsibility and trust.

The fall term will begin September 4, 1899. The office is kept open daily during the summer for the examination and enrolment of students.

Visitors are always welcome.

Send for Thirty-fifth Year Book, which contains full information and a report of the last Graduation Exercises.

PEIRCE SCHOOL, Record Building, 917-919 Chestnut St., Philadelphia

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, EIGHTH MONTH 19, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XXXIII.,	641
POEM: PRAYER,	641
JOHN TATUM: A MEMORIAL,	641
ENGLISH SKYIARKS IN LONG ISLAND, By
John D. Hicks, (Illustrated),	642
THE SKYLARK AND THE POET, (Poem),	643
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS,
No. 35,	644
FRIENDS' PRINCIPLES APPLIED,	645
"BEG PARDON!"	645
EDITORIAL:
Lack of Reverence,	646
Notes,	646
BIRTHS AND DEATHS,	646, 647
EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE:
X.—Wales and the Welsh Border,	647
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
A Visit to Illinois Friends at Clear Creek,	648
Notes,	649
LETTER FROM ABBY D. MUNRO,	649
BLOCH'S GREAT BOOK ON MODERN WAR
V.—(Translated by Professor Edward
H. Magill),	650
FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE:
IV.—At the North Cape,	652
EDUCATIONAL NOTES,	653
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	653
LITERARY NOTES,	654
COMMUNICATIONS:
Concerning Reference Books,	654
For Beach Street Mission,	654
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	655
POETRY: The Susquehanna; A Memory,	655
METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY FOR SEVENTH
MONTH, 1899,	655
MISCELLANEOUS: Notes from the Pennsylvania Experiment Station; An Ocean
Steamer's Larder; The Jersey Cow,	656
CURRENT EVENTS,	656
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	656
NOTICES,	iii.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

A COMPETENT YOUNG FRIEND WISHES A position as teacher or governess. Thorough education, including higher branches. Has had two years' experience. M. IDA ALLEY, Lagrangeville, N. Y.

A WORTHY GIRL, WOMAN, BOY, OR MAN, thrown on her or his own resources, can find a good permanent home, with remuneration in return for work. In a Christian family living alone in a large brick house on a 320 acre farm. Send stamp for reply. Address, ALTEMUS, Box 7000, New Castle, Pa.

A YOUNG FRIEND WISHES POSITION AS governess to small children, or companion to lady. Has had experience and can give good references. ANNIE HOUGH, New Market, Md.

COMPANION AND HOUSEKEEPER TO TAKE full charge of housework in family of two. Small house and every convenience for making the work easy. Washing sent out. Address, 803 Franklin Street, Wilmington, Del.

WANTED.—POSITION AS MATRON, MAN- aging housekeeper, or companion, by experienced woman. Address, Box 604-O, Mount Holly, N. J.

WANTED.—A HOUSEKEEPER AND GEN- eral houseworker, Friend, in a private family of two. State age, previous experience, and compensation expected. Address, J. ARDAN, Olyphant, Pa.

WANTED.—A PERSON AS COMPANION AND assistant in a small family, and to teach one or two children. Address H., Columbus, N. J.

INSTRUCTION BY CORRESPONDENCE: HIS- tory, English, Latin, beginners' German and Greek. Also, teaching by the hour. Classes in Literature a specialty. Send for particulars and references. ANNA WILDMAN, Langhorne, Pa.

FOR RENT.—IN LANGHORNE, PA., TEN- room house. Old shade, porches, excellent water. Half square from trolley. Apply to DR. JOHN PAXSON, Newtown, Penna.

Young Friends' Association,
140 N. 15th Street,

will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to
ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

TYPEWRITERS

REBUILT nearly equal to new
Fully guaranteed. Prices 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. below list. Catalogue free.

Philadelphia Typewriters Exchange,
135 S. 5th Street, Philada.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serv-
DAIRIES. ing families. Office 603 North
Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

CHARLES BURTON,
Practical House and Sign Painter,
Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
2225 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 2220 Angle St., Tioga.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET.
OCEAN CITY, N. J.
Now open for the reception of guests.
SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J. ASTOR, LENOX AND TILDEN FOUNDATIONS.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heated, electric sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. RUMFORD.

The Kathlu,

ELREVENTH AND CENTRAL AVENUES,
OCEAN CITY, N. J.

New house, fine ocean view, large piazzas, and pleasant rooms.

K. E. Lewis and L. C. Conard.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.
OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,
No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

WALL PAPER of

Attractive Styles

Popular Prices

Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St.

Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,

Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.

All Grades.

Estimates Given.

Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St.,

Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDD STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,
(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or,
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.Cheltenham Hills School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS, will re-open September 20th, 1899, (18th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month 18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms, $190 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.

RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph D.,
West Chester, Pa.Friends' School,

West Street, Wilmington, Delaware.

Excellent advantages for complete school course.

Thorough preparation for college or technical school.

Training class for Kindergarten teachers.

Year Begins Ninth Month 11th.

For Catalogues and information apply to

HERSCHEL A. NORRIS, A. M., Principal.Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Park Ave. Friends' Elementary and High School,

will open in the New Buildings NINTH MONTH 28, 1899. Co-educational. Prepares for any university, college, or for business. Board and tuition, $2.50 per school year. Send for Catalogue.

JOHN W. GREGG, M.A., Principal.ELI M. LAMB, Associate Principal.
Park Place and Laurens St., Baltimore, Md.HISTORY AND BIOGRAPHY

BY

HOWARD M. JENKINS.

JUST PUBLISHED.

THE FAMILY OF WILLIAM PENN. FOUNDER OF PENNSYLVANIA: HIS ANCESTORS AND DESCENDANTS. 8vo. Pp. 270. With 19 illustrations. $3.50 net. If sent by mail, postage 20 cents.

From Dr. Charles J. Stille, President of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania:

"By your labor, bringing together a vast amount of material, you have given us an account of the Family, (genealogically) which one will seek in vain for elsewhere. . . . I regard these articles (now collected) as exhibiting in a most desirable and attractive form all that is known of the illustrious man's family."

RECENTLY PUBLISHED.

HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS RELATING TO GWYNEDD. Second Edition. 8vo. Pp. 494. Cloth. Beveled edges. With 8 illustrations. $4.00 net. If sent by mail, postage 23 cents.

American Historical Review:

"Within the limits which the author proposes to himself he provides a model of accurate local investigation."

IN PRESS.

GENEALOGICAL SKETCH OF THE DESCENDANTS OF SAMUEL SPENCER, OF UPPER DUBLIN, PENNSYLVANIA. 8vo. About 300 pages. Illustrated. $3.00 net.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,

Publisher,

921 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

RUBBER GARDEN HOSE

HEADQUARTERS

Globe Rubber Co.'s Goods.

These goods being made by a reliable and well-known Rubber Company are sold to be as represented, and can be depended upon to give

ENTIRE SATISFACTION.

A Fair Hose, for 7½ c. foot.
A Good Hose, " 10c. "
A Very Good Hose, " 12c. "
An Extra Heavy Hose, " 15c. "

REELS, 75 cts. All attachments at very low figures.

E. L. PEIRCE, 245 MARKET STREET,
PHILAD'A.F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

Washable Dress Fabrics

Printed Pique—all sorts of new designs on white grounds; the 37½-cent qualities—now 18 cents a yard.

Silk Gingham—choice colorings in plaids, for shirt waists; the 37½-cent qualities—now 18 cents a yard.

Imported Cheviots and Madras—for men's shirts and women's shirt waists; the 37½- and 45-cent qualities—now 25 cents a yard.

Crash Suitings—linen and cotton mixed; good, serviceable fabrics; the 25-cent quality—now 15 cents a yard.

Dotted Swiss Mull—a good range of styles, in light and dark effects; the 15-cent qualities—now 10 cents a yard.

Fine Printed Batiste—choice styles, white and colored grounds, neat printings; the 15c. qualities—now 10 cents.

Dimities—beautiful printings on white and colored grounds; the 10-cent qualities—now 5 cents a yard.

Madras—30 inches wide; the 12½-cent quality—now 5 cents a yard.

SAMPLES sent upon request. Mail orders receive prompt and accurate attention. Address orders "Dept. C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,

PHILADELPHIA.

Ellwood Heacock,UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

NOTICES.

 The next Conference under the care of Concord Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Philanthropic Labor, will be held in the meeting-house at Goshen, Chester county, Pa., on Seventh-day, Eighth month 26, 1899, as an all-day meeting and basket pic-nic. Speakers are expected.
CHARLES PALMER, Clerk.

 Any changes in the times of holding meetings, or other needed corrections, should be sent as soon as may be to Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race street, Philadelphia, to enable them to issue the Almanac for 1900 at an early date.

 A Conference under the care of the Philanthropic Committee of the yearly and quarterly meetings will be held in the meeting-house at Wrightstown, Bucks county, Pa., on First-day, Eighth month 27, 1899, at 3 p. m. The meeting will be addressed by Elizabeth Lloyd; subject, "Improper Publications." All are respectfully invited to attend. On behalf of Committee.
SUSANNA RICH, Clerk.

 Friends wishing to attend Goose Creek Quarterly Meeting, held at Lincoln, Loudoun county, Va., will take cars at Pennsylvania Railroad Station at Sixth street, Washington. Ask for tickets for Friends' Meeting for Hamilton or Purcellville, where carriages will be waiting to convey to houses. Tickets issued on the 18th or 19th inst. are good to return until the 26th. Trains leave at 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. daily.

 Change in time and place of holding Indiana Yearly Meeting of Friends.

It will be now held on Second day before last First-day in Eighth month 1899, at 10 a. m. at Fall Creek (Pendleton), Ind.; Richmond, Ind., in 1900; Waynesville, Ohio, 1901; meeting of Ministers and Elders, Seventh-day previous at 3 p. m.; youths' meeting, First-day, at 3 p. m. The Yearly Meeting was formerly held on Second-day following the last Seventh-day in Ninth month.

 Quarterly Meetings during Eighth month will occur as follows:

21. Indiana Yearly Meeting, at Pendleton.
28. Ohio Yearly Meeting, at Salem.
29. Burlington, at Mt. Holly, N. J.
30. Southern, at Easton, Md.
31. Bucks, at Falls, Pa.

ARMSTRONG & McKEELY

Pittsburgh.

KEYMER-BAUMAN

Pittsburgh.

DAVIS-CHAMBERS

Pittsburgh.

FARNESTOCK

Pittsburgh.

ANCHOR

Cincinnati.

EOKSTEIN

ATLANTIC

BRADLEY

BROOKLYN

JEWETT

ULSTER

UNION

SOUTHERN

SHIPMAN

COLLIER

MISSOURI

RED SEAL

SOUTHERN

JOHN T. LEWIS & BROS CO

Philadelphia.

MORLEY

Cleveland.

SALEM

Salem, Mass.

CORNELL

Buffalo.

KENTUCKY

Louisville.

 It is desired that all who anticipate attending Indiana Yearly Meeting write immediately, telling whether they are coming by private or public conveyance. Homes will be provided for all.
JOHN L. THOMAS,
Pendleton, Ind.

 Circular Meetings will be held at the following places:

Cape May, Eighth month 20, at 11 a. m. (Ocean View Station.) Ocean City the same evening. Elizabeth D. Lippincott, Henry Lippincott, Rachel M. Lippincott, John Heritage, Mary E. Borton, David B. Bullock, Lydia A. Bradway, Joel Borton, Hannah A. Heritage, Charlotte S. Bishop, Martha R. Heritage, Committee.

Alloway's Creek, Eighth month 27, at 10 a. m. Ellen B. Haines, Edwin A. Holmes, Warner Underwood, T. Eliza Underwood, Mary Robinson, Hannah B. Griscom, William T. Hilliard, Eliza G. Hilliard, Louella Waddington, Joseph Miller, Committee.

Greenwich, Ninth month 3, at 10 a. m. Elizabeth L. Engle, David B. Bullock, Emma W. Peaslee, Sarah J. Powell, John G. Borton, Elma H. Livezey, Samuel Powell, Lydia A. Bradway, Joseph B. Livezey, Committee.

The first named, in attendance, on the above committees, will please report in writing to the Clerk promptly after each meeting. The Committee adjourned to meet at "The Friends' Home," Woodstown, Ninth month 7, 1899, at 9 a. m.

A WRITER in the German scientific periodical Prometheus declares that over-indulgence in tobacco will prove the ruin of South American peoples. Not only do children of 2 and 3 years smoke all day long, but mothers have been seen trying to quiet their babies by putting cigars in their mouths.

"How would you define luck?" was asked of the man who has made more money than he knows what to do with.

"It is the product of a reasonable amount of ability backed by tenacity."

ENGLAND has built for other countries this year, 121 ships, valued at £2,716,754.

WHEAT ripens in Argentine in January; in Peru in November.

IN your experience with White Lead have you ever been troubled with cracked, pulled or alligatored surfaces, or have you ever heard of such trouble in the use of White Lead?

Never; and these conditions were never known until the introduction of zinc white, "combination lead," and ready-mixed paints, the two last composed largely of zinc, barytes, whiting, etc., very little lead, if any.

—Mr. E. P. Edwards, in "Painters' Magazine."
Mr. Edwards is the senior member of the firm of Messrs. Edwards & King, Painters and Decorators, Elizabeth, N. J.

FREE By using National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, any desired shade is readily obtained. Pamphlet giving valuable information and card showing samples of colors free; also folder showing picture of house painted in different designs or various styles or combinations of colors forwarded upon application to those intending to paint.

National Lead Co., 100 William St., New York.

MACBETH'S "pearl top" and "pearl glass" lamp-chimneys are carefully made of clear tough glass; they fit, and get the utmost light from the lamp, and they last until some accident breaks them.

"Pearl top" and "pearl glass" are trade-marks. Look out for them and you needn't be an expert.

Our "Index" describes all lamps and their proper chimneys. With it you can always order the right size and shape of chimney for any lamp. We mail it FREE to any one who writes for it.

Address MACBETH, Pittsburgh, Pa.

THE MOUNTAINS AT READING.

Under the shadows of Mount Penn, Mount Washington, and Neversink Mountain, is the beautiful city of Reading, one of the oldest settlements in Pennsylvania, having been laid out in 1748 by William and Richard Penn, proprietaries of the province, and named after the English cathedral town of Reading.

For a one-day outing no more attractive destination could be chosen. The train service via the Philadelphia and Reading Railway enables one to make the trip from Philadelphia, or even from more distant points, reaching Reading in the mid-morning, and returning in the late afternoon or evening, after riding over the two famous mountains by electric and "switch-back" railways, and partaking of the good cheer for which the various mountain hostels are celebrated.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has selected the following dates for its popular ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington: July 27; August 10 and 24, September 7 and 21, and October 5 and 19. An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion.

Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and all points on the Delaware Division; $11.25 from Atlantic City; $9.60 from Lancaster; $8.50 from Altoona and Harrisburg; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $5.75 from Williamsport; and at proportionate rates from other points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo, Rochester, Canandaigua, and Watkins within the limit returning.

A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion. An extra charge will be made for parlor car seats. Tickets for a side trip to the Thousand Islands (Alexandria Bay) will be sold from Rochester in connection with excursions of July 27, August 10 and 24, September 7 and 21, good to return to Rochester or to Canandaigua via Syracuse within five days, at rate of $5.50.

Tickets for a side trip to Toronto will be sold at Niagara Falls for $1.00 on July 29, August 12 and 26, and September 23. In connection with excursion of September 7, tickets will be sold to Toronto and return at reduced rates, account Toronto Fair.

For time of connecting trains and further information apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY

N. E. Cor. Broad and Chestnut Sts.

Capital, $1,000,000. Chartered 1836 Surplus, $2,000,000.

ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, AND RECEIVER.

FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INDIVIDUALS OR CORPORATIONS.

INTEREST ALLOWED ON INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATION ACCOUNTS.

SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

ACTS AS TRUSTEE OF CORPORATION MORTGAGES.

DEPOSITORY UNDER PLANS OF REORGANIZATION.

REGISTRAR AND TRANSFER AGENT.

ASSUMES ENTIRE CHARGE OF REAL ESTATE.

E. B. MORRIS, President.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE and INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

Merchants' Trust Company,

611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
CAPITAL (paid in), 250,000.00
SURPLUS, 50,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 30,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveyancing done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.

JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.

ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.

WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS.

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY, I. BOLTON WINPENNY,
S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHOADS, EDWIN S. DIXON,
JOHN F. LEWIS, WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
THOMAS R. GILL, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
ALFRED I. PHILLIPS.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.

LAW CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE

14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker
and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
SPEED.

M. L. PHILIBERT French Steam Dyer, Scourer, AND DRY CLEANER.

Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.

210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILA'DA.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.
FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Friends' Book Association,

OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,

Blank Book Manufacturers,

Engravers, and Printers,

Artists' Materials,

Kindergarten, School Supplies.

Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

Read These Books

TO CALIFORNIA AND BACK.
176 pp., 176 illustrations.
5 cts.

THE MOKI SNAKE DANCE.
60 pp., 64 illustrations.
3 cts.

GRAND CANYON OF ARIZONA.
32 pp., 15 illustrations.
2 cts.

NEW MEXICO HEALTH RESORTS.
80 pp., 31 illustrations.
2 cts.

ARIZONA HEALTH RESORTS.
72 pp., 18 illustrations.
2 cts.

LAS VEGAS HOT SPRINGS.
48 pp., 39 illustrations.
2 cts.

Mailed free
for postage named

They tell the story of wonderful sights and scenes, and special resorts for tourists and homeseekers in the Great West.

They are published by the

Santa Fe Route,

are literary and artistic, and make you better acquainted with the attractions of your own land.

C. A. HIGGINS,
A.G.P.A., A.T. & S.F. R'y, CHICAGO
Great Northern Bldg.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, EIGHTH MONTH 26, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Do~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XXXIV.,	657
POEM: AT DAWN,	657
WORSHIP AND MINISTRY, (Concluded),	657
ANDREW D. WHITE ON THE PEACE CONFERENCE,	659
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No. 36,	659
THE LIFE OF ANN HUNT,	660
A COMMENDABLE PASTIME,	661
SUMMARY OF THE HAGUE CONFERENCE,	662
EDITORIAL:
Visiting Meetings Socially,	662
Notes,	662
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	662, 663
EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE:
XI.—A Walk to Rydal Mount,	663
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
Awakening Interest in Small First-day Schools,	665
FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE:
V.—The Coast of Norway,	665
A LETTER FROM ALASKA,	666
ACROSS THE CONTINENT,	666
LITERARY NOTES,	667
EXTRACTS FROM PRIVATE LETTERS,	668
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	668
POETRY: Overcoming; The Waking of the Lark,	668
THE TRANSVAAL REPUBLIC—AN ENGLISH STATEMENT,	669
TWO WAYS OF MANAGING CHILDREN,	670
MISCELLANEOUS: The Value of "Manual Training;" International Agricultural Congress, 1900; Love the Farm and Farm Home; Hygienic Decalogue; The Trolley in Germany; Archbishop of Canterbury for Woman Suffrage; Rev. D. P. Livermore and Equal Rights; The Jersey Cow,	671, 672
CURRENT EVENTS,	672
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	672
NOTICES,	iii.

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

A FRIEND WISHES A POSITION AS COMPANION by the middle of Ninth month. Address No. 94, this Office.

A COMPETENT YOUNG FRIEND WISHES A position as teacher or governess. Thorough education, including higher branches. Has had two years' experience. M. IDA ALLEY, Lagrangeville, N. Y.

COMPANION AND HOUSEKEEPER TO TAKE full charge of housework in family of two. Small house and every convenience for making the work easy. Washing sent out. Address, 803 Franklin Street, Wilmington, Del.

LADY WOULD LIKE SEWING EITHER AT home or out, or to help care for sick. Address M. R. H., 413 Vine St., Camden, N. J.

WANTED.—POSITION WITH INVALID OR elderly lady as companion, caretaker, and reader. Ample experience, excellent reference. Address No. 95, this Office.

WANTED, IN SWARTHMORE, SITTING room and bed room, with board, for two persons. ALICE P. HADLEY, 829 N. Broad St., Philad'a.

WANTED.—POSITION AS MATRON, MAN-aging housekeeper, or companion, by experienced woman. Address, Box 604-O, Mount Holly, N. J.

WANTED.—A HOUSEKEEPER AND GENERAL houseworker, Friend, in a private family of two. State age, previous experience, and compensation expected. Address, J. ARDAN, Olyphant, Pa.

INSTRUCTION BY CORRESPONDENCE: HISTORY, English, Latin, beginners' German and Greek. Also, teaching by the hour. Classes in Literature a specialty. Send for particulars and references. ANNA WILDMAN, Langhorne, Pa.

FOR RENT.—IN LANGHORNE, PA., TEN-room house. Old shade, porches, excellent water. Half square from trolley. Apply to DR. JOHN PAXSON, Newtown, Penna.

FLUSHING.

Corner of Sanford Ave. and King St.—To let or for sale; lot 100 feet front, 125 feet deep; a house of 7 bedrooms, parlor, dining-room, and library, roomy piazza, kitchen, and laundry; all improvements. Inquire of D. & J. MASTERS, 69 Main St., Flushing.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison? No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to. 1311 Market St., Phila.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK. CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna. JOSEPH L. JONES.

CHARLES BURTON,
Practical House and Sign Painter,
Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to. CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS. 1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa. Thompson Shourds, 2222 Wallace Street. Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal,
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

The Driftwood
OCEAN CITY, N. J.
Now open for the reception of guests.
SARAH J. PAXSON, SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST,
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable. M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.
OCEAN GROVE, N. J.
New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.
For particulars address
HANNAH BORTON,
No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

WALL PAPER of
Attractive Styles
Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address
A. L. Diamant & Co.,
1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,
Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,
33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.
All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.
902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,
325 SWEDEN STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

Young Friends' Association,
140 N. 15th Street,
will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to
ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for college.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON,
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, } Principals.

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or, Jenkintown, Pa.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.Cheltenham Hills School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS, will re-open September 20th, 1899, (18th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month 18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms, $900 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.

RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph.D.,
West Chester, Pa.Friends' School,

West Street, Wilmington, Delaware.

Excellent advantages for complete school course.

Thorough preparation for college or technical school.

Training class for Kindergarten teachers.

Year Begins Ninth Month 11th.

For Catalogues and information apply to

HERSCHEL A. NORRIS, A.M., Principal.Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Park Ave. Friends' Elementary and High School,

will open in the New Buildings NINTH MONTH 18, 1899. Co-educational. Prepares for any university, college, or for business. Board and tuition, $25 per school year. Send for Catalogue.

JOHN W. GREGG, M.A., Principal.ELI M. LAMB, Associate Principal.

Park Place and Laurens St., Baltimore, Md.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER

and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

HISTORY AND BIOGRAPHY

BY

HOWARD M. JENKINS.

JUST PUBLISHED.

THE FAMILY OF WILLIAM PENN, FOUNDER OF PENNSYLVANIA: HIS ANCESTORS AND DESCENDANTS. 8vo. Pp. 270. With 19 illustrations. $3.50 net. If sent by mail, postage 20 cents.

From Dr. Charles J. Stille, President of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania:

"By your labor, bringing together a vast amount of material, you have given us an account of the Family, (genealogically) which one will seek in vain for elsewhere. . . . I regard these articles [now collected] as exhibiting in a most desirable and attractive form all that is known of the illustrious man's family."

RECENTLY PUBLISHED.

HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS RELATING TO GWYNEDD. Second Edition. 8vo. Pp. 494. Cloth. Beveled edges. With 8 illustrations. $4.00 net. If sent by mail, postage 23 cents.

American Historical Review:

"Within the limits which the author proposes to himself he provides a model of accurate local investigation."

IN PRESS.

GENEALOGICAL SKETCH OF THE DESCENDANTS OF SAMUEL SPENCER, OF UPPER DUBLIN, PENNSYLVANIA. 8vo. About 300 pages. Illustrated. $3.00 net.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,

Publisher,

921 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

NATIONAL EXPORT EXPOSITION,
PHILADELPHIA.

REDUCED RATES VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The National Export Exposition, which opens at Philadelphia on September 14, and continues until November 30, will be the most interesting and important event occurring in Philadelphia since the Centennial Exhibition of 1876. In addition to its valuable commercial exhibits it will present many features of popular interest and amusement. The United States Marine Band, Sousa's Band, the Banda Rossa, Innes' Band, Damrosch's Orchestra, and other celebrated bands will furnish music alternately, and a Midway Plaisance, equal if not superior to the famous World's Fair Midway at Chicago, and comprising a Chinese Village, a Chinese Theatre, acrobats, and customs; an Oriental Village, London Ghost Show, Hagenbeck's Wild Animal Show, Blarney Castle, and many other unique presentations, will furnish abundant and diversified amusement. Arrangements have also been made for Mandolin, Guitar, and Banjo Concerts, and for a grand chorus from the German Singing Societies.

For this occasion the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from all points on its line, to Philadelphia and return, at rate of a fare and a third for the round trip plus price of admission. These tickets will be sold during the continuance of the Exposition and will be good for return passage until November 30.

For specific rates and additional information apply to nearest Ticket Agent.

Washable Dress Fabrics

Printed Pique—all sorts of new designs on white grounds; the 37½-cent qualities—now 18 cents a yard.

Silk Gingham—choice colorings in plaids, for shirt waists; the 37½-cent qualities—now 18 cents a yard.

Imported Cheviots and Madras—for men's shirts and women's shirt waists; the 37½- and 45-cent qualities—now 25 cents a yard.

Crash Suitings—linen and cotton mixed; good, serviceable fabrics; the 25-cent quality—now 15 cents a yard.

Dotted Swiss Mull—a good range of styles, in light and dark effects; the 15-cent qualities—now 10 cents a yard.

Fine Printed Batiste—choice styles—white and colored grounds, neat printings; the 15c. qualities—now 10 cents.

Dimities—beautiful printings on white and colored grounds; the 10-cent qualities—now 5 cents a yard.

Madras—30 inches wide; the 12½-cent quality—now 5 cents a yard.

SAMPLES sent upon request. Mail orders receive prompt and accurate attention. Address orders "Dept. C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

—Dr. J. L. Worlman and Dr. Coggsball, formerly of the American Museum of Natural History, who have charge of the work in the Carnegie fossil quarry in Wyoming, have discovered and exhumed a monster fossil dinosaur in a perfect state of preservation, and have obtained nearly the whole of this new species. This animal had a long neck, tail, and hind legs, and short fore legs, the whole length of the animal being sixty feet, and it stood twenty feet at the hips, the thigh bone, or femur, being six feet long and fifteen inches in diameter. It had a head like a frog.

—Dr. Charles J. Stille, President of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, and a former Provost of the University of Pennsylvania, died at Atlantic City, on the 12th inst. He was born in Philadelphia in 1819.

NOTICES.

* * The regular sessions of Illinois Yearly Meeting will begin on Second-day, Ninth month 11th; meeting of Ministers and Elders, and one session of First-day School Conference will be held the Seventh-day preceding.

Friends having a prospect of attending should inform some member of the following named committee. Conveyance will be provided to meet day trains at Lostant, on Illinois Central Railroad, on Sixth- and Seventh-day, to carry all friends whose names are furnished the committee, to Friends' settlement, eight miles distant.

Oliver Wilson, Magnolia, Illinois.
Florence A. Given, Clear Creek, Illinois.
Raymond Bumgarner, Mt. Palatine, Illinois.
William L. Mills, Clear Creek, Illinois.

* * The Friends' Book Association acknowledges receipt of the following additional contributions to the Children's Country Week Association:

Rebecca T. Webb, . . . $5.00
Hannah H. Woodnutt, . . . 5.00

Previously acknowledged, . . . $10.00
194.50

Amount, . . . $204.50

JOHN COMLY, Superintendent.

Eighth month 21, 1899.

* * Members of the Circular Meeting Committee of Concord Quarterly Meeting will meet with Friends at Lansdowne, on First-day, Ninth month 3, 1899, at 11 a. m.

MARY P. HARVEY, Clerk.

* * Any changes in the times of holding meetings, or other needed corrections, should be sent as soon as may be to Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race street, Philadelphia, to enable them to issue the Almanac for 1900 at an early date.

* * The next Conference under the care of Concord Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Philanthropic Labor, will be held in the meeting-house at Goshen, Chester county, Pa., on Seventh-day, Eighth month 26, 1899, as an all-day meeting and basket pic-nic. Speakers are expected.
CHARLES PALMER, Clerk.

* * A Conference under the care of the Philanthropic Committee of the yearly and quarterly meetings will be held in the meeting-house at Wrightstown, Bucks county, Pa., on First-day, Eighth month 27, 1899, at 3 p. m. The meeting will be addressed by Elizabeth Lloyd; subject, "Improper Publications." All are respectfully invited to attend. On behalf of Committee.
SUSANNA RICH, Clerk.

* * Quarterly Meetings during Eighth month will occur as follows:

28. Ohio Yearly Meeting, at Salem.
29. Burlington, at Mt. Holly, N. J.
30. Southern, at Easton, Md.
31. Bucks, at Falls, Pa.

* * Circular Meetings will be held at the following places:

Alloway's Creek, Eighth month 27, at 10 a. m. Ellen B. Haines, Edwin A. Holmes, Warner Underwood, T. Eliza Underwood, Mary Robinson, Hannah B. Griscom, William T. Hilliard, Eliza G. Hilliard, Louella Waddington, Joseph Miller, Committee.

Greenwich, Ninth month 3, at 10 a. m. Elizabeth L. Engle, David B. Bullock, Emma W. Peaslee, Sarah J. Powell, John G. Borton, Elma H. Livezey, Samuel Powell, Lydia A. Bradway, Joseph B. Livezey, Committee.

The first named, in attendance, on the above committees, will please report in writing to the Clerk promptly after each meeting. The Committee adjourned to meet at "The Friends' Home," Woodstown, Ninth month 7, 1899, at 9 a. m.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS.

LOW-RATE VACATION TRIPS VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

September 7 and 21 and October 5 and 19 are the dates of the remaining Pennsylvania Railroad popular ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, and intermediate points.

Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and all points on the Delaware Division; $11.25 from Atlantic City; $9.60 from Lancaster; $8.50 from Altoona and Harrisburg; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $5.75 from Williamsport; and at proportionate rates from other points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo, Rochester, Canandaigua, and Watkins within the limit returning.

A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion. An extra charge will be made for parlor car seats. An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion.

Tickets for a side trip to the Thousand Islands (Alexandria Bay) will be sold from Rochester in connection with excursions of September 7 and 21, good to return to Rochester or to Canandaigua via Syracuse within five days, at rate of $5.50.

Tickets for a side trip to Toronto will be sold at Niagara Falls for $1.00 on September 23. In connection with excursion of September 7, tickets will be sold to Toronto and return at reduced rates, account Toronto Fair.

For pamphlets giving full information and hotels, and for time of connecting trains, apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

GETTYSBURG, LURAY, WASHINGTON.

PERSONALLY-CONDUCTED TOUR VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

Over the battlefield of Gettysburg, through the picturesque Blue Mountains, via Hagerstown and Antietam, and down the beautiful and historic Shenandoah Valley to the unique Caverns of Luray; thence across the rolling hills of Northern Virginia to Washington, is the route of this tour—a section of the country intensely interesting from both a historic and a scenic standpoint.

The tour will leave New York 7.00 a. m., and Philadelphia 12.20 p. m., Saturday, September 16, in charge of one of the company's tourist agents, and will cover a period of five days. An experienced chaperon, whose especial charge will be unescorted ladies, will accompany the trip throughout. Round-trip tickets, covering transportation, carriage drives, and hotel accommodations, will be sold at the extremely low rate of $25 from New York, $24 from Trenton, $22 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points.

For itineraries and full information apply to ticket agents. Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

ARMSTRONG & McKELVY
Pittsburgh.
BEYMER-BAUMAN
Pittsburgh.
DAVIS-CHAMBERS
Pittsburgh.
FAHNESTOCK
Pittsburgh.
ANCHOR } Cincinnati.
ECKSTEIN }
ATLANTIC }
BRADLEY }
BROOKLYN } New York.
JEVETT }
ULSTER }
UNION }
SOUTHERN } Chicago.
SHIPMAN }
COLLIER }
MISSOURI } St. Louis.
RED SEAL }
SOUTHERN }

JOHN T. LEWIS & BROS CO
Philadelphia.
MORLEY
Cleveland.
SALEM
Salem, Mass.
CORNELL
Buffalo.
KENTUCKY
Louisville.

FRESH coat of paint and change of color will make your house look fresh and bright. If you want to sell it will enhance the value of your property, or enable you to rent it quicker, to better tenants and for more money; is therefore a good investment if properly painted. To paint it properly have Pure White Lead and Pure Linseed Oil applied by a competent, practical painter.

FREE By using National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, any desired shade is readily obtained. Pamphlet giving valuable information and card showing samples of colors free; also folder showing picture of house painted in different designs or various styles or combinations of shades forwarded upon application to those intending to paint.

National Lead Co., 100 William St., New York.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY

N. E. Cor. Broad and Chestnut Sts.

Capital, $1,000,000. Chartered 1836 Surplus, $2,000,000.

ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, AND RECEIVER.
FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INDIVIDUALS OR CORPORATIONS.

INTEREST ALLOWED ON INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATION ACCOUNTS.

ACTS AS TRUSTEE OF CORPORATION MORTGAGES.

DEPOSITARY UNDER PLANS OF REORGANIZATION.

REGISTRAR AND TRANSFER AGENT.

ASSUMES ENTIRE CHARGE OF REAL ESTATE.

SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

E. B. MORRIS, President.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA B. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

F. GUTEKUNST,

FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.

LAW

CONVENTION

SCIENCE

STENOGRAPHER.

14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.

Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker

and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-28-A.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND

New York Public Library
40 Lafayette Place

French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.

Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.

210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Friends' Book Association, OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,
Kindergarten, School Supplies.
Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

Are You Going To California?

The California Limited, Santa Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation car with spacious parlor, especially for use of ladies and children. 2½ days Chicago to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,

The Michison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
CHICAGO.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, NINTH MONTH 2, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XXXV.,	673
POEM: THE VISION OF THE FAITHFUL,	673
THE LIVING PRESENT,	673
BEARING ONE ANOTHER'S BURDENS,	674
WORK OF FRIENDS AMONG THE INDIANS IN THE NORTHERN SUPERINTEND- ENCY, 1869-1899. (By Joseph J. Janney),	675
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No. 37,	676
THE CHARM OF OXFORD,	677
EDITORIAL:
Leadership,	678
BIRTH, DEATHS,	678
EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE:
XII.—The Lake Country, etc.,	679
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	681
A VISIT TO THE SHINNECOCK HILLS,	681
THE DOUKHOBORS,	682
FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE:
VI.—Returning South,	683
DESTITUTE CHILDREN IN CUBA,	684
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	685
LITERARY NOTES,	685
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	685
EXTRACTS FROM PRIVATE LETTERS,	686
POETRY: To a Skylark; Grandfather's Dream,	686
NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF COLORED WOMEN,	687
MISCELLANY: Egg Lemonade for Con- sumption; An Engineering Feat; Colored Club Women at Hull House; Women Suffrage and Prize-Fight- ing,	687, 688
CURRENT EVENTS,	688
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	688
NOTICES,	iii.

FOR SALE.

A farm, consisting of 160 acres, situated in Jewell County, Kansas. Good land, and the improvements are good. Buildings are in fine order.

For further information address,
ABEL MILLS, Agent, Mt. Palatine, Ill.

Established 1850 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

AN HONEST AND CAPABLE MARRIED MAN, 38, wants position Experienced in commission, grocery, salesman, or manager. Address No. 69, INTELLIGENCER Office.

A FRIEND WISHES A POSITION AS COMPANION by the middle of Ninth month. Address No. 94, this Office.

LADY WOULD LIKE SEWING EITHER AT home or out, or to help care for sick. Address M. R. H., 413 Vine St., Camden, N. J.

WANTED.—A HOUSEKEEPER (A WIDOW with one or two children preferred), to keep house for an elderly gentleman (a Friend). Centrally located. Address X. Y. Z., INTELLIGENCER Office, 921 Arch St., Philadelphia.

WANTED.—POSITION WITH INVALID OR elderly lady as companion, caretaker, and reader. Ample experience, excellent reference. Address No. 95, this Office.

WANTED, IN SWARTHMORE, SITTING room and bed room, with board, for two persons. ALICE P. HADLEY, 829 N. Broad St., Philad'a.

WANTED.—POSITION AS MATRON, MAN-aging housekeeper, or companion, by experienced woman. Address, Box 604-O, Mount Holly, N. J.

WANTED.—A HOUSEKEEPER AND GEN-eral houseworker, Friend, in a private family of two. State age, previous experience, and compensation expected. Address, J. ARDAN, Olyphant, Pa.

FOR RENT.—TO A SMALL FAMILY, A WELL furnished twelve-roomed house, centrally located, in exchange for gentleman's board. Address, E. M. M., Office of INTELLIGENCER, 921 Arch St., Philad'a.

FOR RENT.—FURNISHED, TEN-ROOMED house. Board for two will be taken in exchange for rent. Address, for particulars, F. S., 1830 Willington St., Philadelphia.

FOR RENT.—IN LANGHORNE, PA., TEN-room house. Old shade, porches, excellent water. Half square from trolley. Apply to DR. JOHN PAXSON, Newtown, Penna.

FLUSHING.

Corner of Sanford Ave. and King St.—To let or for sale; lot 100 feet front, 125 feet deep; a house of 7 bed-rooms, parlor, dining-room, and library, roomy piazza, kitchen, and laundry; all improvements. Inquire of D. & J. MASTERS, 69 Main St., Flushing.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?

No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to. 1311 Market St., Phila.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
CONSHOCKEN Special attention given to serv-
DAIRIES. ing families. Office 603 North
Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

CHARLES BURTON,
Practical House and Sign Painter.
Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2222 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

Young Friends' Association,
140 N. 15th Street,
will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to
ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND
SIXTH STREET.
OCEAN CITY, N. J.
Now open for the reception of guests.
SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric
elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc.
Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated
sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.
OCEAN GROVE, N. J.
New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths;
one-half block from the ocean.
For particulars address
HANNAH BORTON,
No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

WALL PAPER of Attractive Styles

Popular Prices

Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,
1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum, Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,
33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

S. F. Balderston's Son, WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,
325 SWEDD STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

Friends' Academy,
LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.
A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college.
Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.
For particulars address,
FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,
(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Friends' School,

GREENE STREET, GERMANTOWN, PHILA.

Under care of Committee of School Lane Meeting. Comprises Kindergarten, Primary, and Intermediate departments, arranged as part of a graded system, which may be continued at Friends' Central School, Philad'a. The Kindergarten is a new department just added and will be under the care of a graduate kindergarten teacher. For circular, with full information, address,
ELIZABETH M. ROBERTS, Principal.Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or, JENKINTOWN, PA.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.

Cheltenham Hills School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS, will re-open September 20th, 1899, (18th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa. Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month 18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms, $100 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.

RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph. D.,
West Chester, Pa.Friends' School,

West Street, Wilmington, Delaware.

Excellent advantages for complete school course.

Thorough preparation for college or technical school.

Training class for Kindergarten teachers.

Year Begins Ninth Month 11th.

For Catalogues and information apply to

HERSCHEL A. NORRIS, A. M., Principal.

Park Ave. Friends' Elementary and High School,

will open in the New Buildings NINTH MONTH 18, 1899. Co-educational. Prepares for any university, college, or for business. Board and tuition, $245 per school year. Send for Catalogue.

JOHN W. GREGG, M.A., Principal.

ELI M. LAMB, Associate Principal.

Park Place and Laurens St., Baltimore, Md.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Household Linens

The new importations of all kinds of Household Linens are now being placed on the counters—Table Cloths, Napkins, etc., in handsome designs made exclusively for us, all marked at lowest prices:

Bleached Damask Table Linen—68 inches wide—at $1.00 a yard. 72 inches wide—at $1.10 a yard.
¾ Breakfast Napkins to match—at $2.00 a dozen.

¾ Dinner Napkins to match—at $3.00 a dozen.

Extra heavy bleached Damask Table Linen—72 inches wide—at $1.25 a yard.

¾ Napkins to match—$2.50 a doz.

¾ Napkins to match—$3.50 a doz.

Superior extra heavy Damask Bleached Table Linen—72 inches wide—at $1.35 a yard.

¾ Napkins to match—$2.75 a doz.

¾ Napkins to match—$4.00 a doz.

Extra heavy Double Damask Bleached Table Linen—72 inches wide—at $1.75 and $2.00 a yard.

¾ Napkins to match—at $3.50 and $3.75 a dozen.

¾ Napkins to match—at $5.50 and $6.00 a dozen.

Superior Double Damask Bleached Table Linen—72 inches wide—at $2.50 a yard.

¾ Napkins to match—$5.50 a doz.

¾ Napkins to match—$8.00 a doz.

ORDERS by mail promptly and accurately filled.

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

NATIONAL EXPORT EXPOSITION,
PHILADELPHIA.

REDUCED RATES VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The National Export Exposition, which opens at Philadelphia on September 14, and continues until November 30, will be the most interesting and important event occurring in Philadelphia since the Centennial Exhibition of 1876. In addition to its valuable commercial exhibits it will present many features of popular interest and amusement. The United States Marine Band, Sousa's Band, the Banda Rossa, Innes' Band, Damrosch's Orchestra, and other celebrated bands will furnish music alternately, and a Midway Plaisance, equal if not superior to the famous World's Fair Midway at Chicago, and comprising a Chinese Village, a Chinese Theatre, acrobats, and customs; an Oriental Village, London Ghost Show, Hagenbeck's Wild Animal Show, Blarney Castle, and many other unique presentations, will furnish abundant and diversified amusement. Arrangements have also been made for Mandolin, Guitar, and Banjo Concerts, and for a grand chorus from the German Singing Societies.

For this occasion the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from all points on its line, to Philadelphia and return, at rate of a fare and a third for the round trip plus price of admission. These tickets will be sold during the continuance of the Exposition and will be good for return passage until November 30.

For specific rates and additional information apply to nearest Ticket Agent.

GETTYSBURG, LURAY, WASHINGTON.

PERSONALLY-CONDUCTED TOUR VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

Over the battlefield of Gettysburg, through the picturesque Blue Mountains, via Hagerstown and Antietam, and down the beautiful and historic Shenandoah Valley to the unique Caverns of Luray; thence across the rolling hills of Northern Virginia to Washington, is the route of this tour—a section of the country intensely interesting from both a historic and a scenic standpoint.

The tour will leave New York 7.00 a. m., and Philadelphia 12.20 p. m., Saturday, September 16, in charge of one of the company's tourist agents, and will cover a period of five days. An experienced chaperon, whose especial charge will be unescorted ladies, will accompany the trip throughout. Round-trip tickets, covering transportation, carriage drives, and hotel accommodations, will be sold at the extremely low rate of $25 from New York, $24 from Trenton, $22 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points.

For itineraries and full information apply to ticket agents. Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-49-25 D.LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

NOTICES.

* * Members of the Circular Meeting Committee of Concord Quarterly Meeting will meet with Friends at the Barker Building, Lansdowne, on First day, Ninth month 3, 1899, at 11 a. m.
MARY P. HARVEY, Clerk.

* * A meeting of the Salem First day School Union will be held in Friends' meeting-house, at Salem, N. J., Ninth month 9, 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m.

The subject for consideration is: "How can we educate children so as to preserve the purity of their morals?" A cordial invitation extended to all interested.

JOHN G. BORTON, } Clerks.
LOUISA POWELL, }

* * Burlington First-day School Union will be held at Mansfield, N. J., Ninth month 9, at 10 a. m. All are cordially invited.

DANIEL WILLETS, } Clerks.
ANNE R. WALN, }

* * The meeting held only once in the year at Warrington meeting-house will be held there Ninth month 24. It is an interesting occasion, and ministering Friends feeling a drawing in that direction are encouraged to attend.

* * Quarterly and yearly meetings in Ninth month will be held as follows:

2. Whitewater, Fall Creek, Ind.
- Blue River, Benjaminville, Ill.
4. Centre, Centre, Pa.
6. Prairie Grove, Highland, Ia.
7. Salem, Woodstown, N. J.
10. Baltimore, Gunpowder, Md.
- Illinois Yearly Mt g, Mt. Palatine, Ill.*
14. Haddonfield, Moorestown, N. J.
25. Canada Half-Yearly Mt g, Yonge St.
30. Scipio, Scipio, N. Y.

* * First-day Evening Meetings will be held during Ninth month at 4th and Green streets at 7.30 o'clock. The company of all who believe in a quiet hour for social worship is invited.

The Third-day meetings will be resumed next week at 17th and Girard Avenue, at 10.30 a. m.

* * There will be a Circular Meeting at Unity Street, Frankford, First-day, Ninth month 10, at 3.30 p. m. All are invited.

SAVE 1/2 Your FUEL
now wasted up chimney
BY USING THE ROCHESTER RADIATOR.
COST $2.00 AND UP.
Money refunded if not satisfactory.
Write for booklet on economy in heating homes.
ROCHESTER RADIATOR CO.,
45 Furnace Street, Rochester, N. Y.

* * Any changes in the times of holding meetings, or other needed corrections, should be sent as soon as may be to Friends Book Association, 1500 Race street, Philadelphia, to enable them to issue the Almanac for 1900 at an early date.

* * Members of the Circular Meeting Committee of Concord Quarterly Meeting will meet with Friends at Lansdowne, on First-day, Ninth month 3, 1899, at 11 a. m.

MARY P. HARVEY, Clerk.

* * The regular sessions of Illinois Yearly Meeting will begin on Second-day, Ninth month 11th; meeting of Ministers and Elders, and one session of First-day School Conference will be held the Seventh-day preceding.

Friends having a prospect of attending should inform some member of the following named committee. Conveyance will be provided to meet day trains at Lottant, on Illinois Central Railroad, on Sixth- and Seventh-day, to carry all friends whose names are furnished the committee, to Friends' settlement, eight miles distant.

Oliver Wilson, Magnolia, Illinois
Florence A. Given, Clear Creek, Illinois.
Raymond Bumgarner, Mt. Palatine, Illinois.
William L. Mills, Clear Creek, Illinois.

* * Circular Meetings will be held at the following places:

Greenwich, Ninth month 3, at 10 a. m.
Elizabeth L. Engle, David B. Bullock, Emma W. Peaslee, Sarah J. Powell, John G. Borton, Elma H. Livezey, Samuel Powell, Lydia A. Bradway, Joseph B. Livezey, Committee.

The first named, in attendance, on the above committees, will please report in writing to the Clerk promptly after each meeting. The Committee adjourned to meet at "The Friends' Home," Woodstown, Ninth month 7, 1899, at 9 a. m.

IF you look at a dozen common lamp-chimneys, and then at Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass," you will see the differences—all but one—they break from heat; Macbeth's don't; you can't see that.

Common glass is misty, milky, dusty; you can't see through it; Macbeth's is clear.

Tough, clear glass is worth fine work; and a perfect chimney of fine tough glass is worth a hundred such as you hear pop, clash on the least provocation.

Our "Index" describes all lamps and their proper chimneys. With it you can always order the right size and shape of chimney for any lamp. We mail it FREE to any one who writes for it.

Address MACBETH, Pittsburgh, Pa.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS.

LOW-RATE VACATION TRIPS VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

September 7 and 21 and October 5 and 19 are the dates of the remaining Pennsylvania Railroad popular ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, and intermediate points.

Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and all points on the Delaware Division; $11.25 from Atlantic City; $9.60 from Lancaster; $8.50 from Altoona and Harrisburg; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $5.75 from Williamsport; and at proportionate rates from other points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo, Rochester, Canandaigua, and Watkins within the limit returning.

A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion. An extra charge will be made for parlor car seats. An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion.

Tickets for a side trip to the Thousand Islands (Alexandria Bay) will be sold from Rochester in connection with excursions of September 7 and 21, good to return to Rochester or to Canandaigua via Syracuse within five days, at rate of $5.50.

Tickets for a side trip to Toronto will be sold at Niagara Falls for $1.00 on September 23. In connection with excursion of September 7, tickets will be sold to Toronto and return at reduced rates, account Toronto Fair.

For pamphlets giving full information and hotels, and for time of connecting trains, apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

ARMSTRONG & McKELVY
Pittsburgh.
BEYMER-BAUMAN
Pittsburgh.
DAVIS-CHAMBERS
Pittsburgh.
FAHNESTOCK
Pittsburgh.
ANCHOR
Cincinnati.
ROCKSTEIN
Cincinnati.
ATLANTIC
HEADLEY
BROOKLYN
JEWETT
ULSTER
UNION
SOUTHERN SHIPMAN
CHICAGO.
COLLIER
MISSOURI
RED SEAL
SOUTHERN
St. Louis.
JOHN T. LEWIS & BROS CO
Philadelphia.
MORLEY
Cleveland.
SALEM
Salem, Mass.
CORNELL
Buffalo.
KENTUCKY
Louisville.

WHY is it that the brands of White Lead made by quick or patent process are almost invariably sold below the price of standard brands?

Because practical painters and consumers generally know that they are inferior to the brands made by the "old Dutch process" of slow corrosion. The brands named in margin are genuine.

FREE By using National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, any desired shade is readily obtained. Pamphlet giving valuable information and card showing samples of colors free; also folder showing picture of house painted in different designs or various styles or combinations of shades forwarded upon application to those intending to paint.

National Lead Co., 100 William St., New York.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY

N. E. Cor. Broad and Chestnut Sts.

Capital, $1,000,000. Chartered 1836 Surplus, $2,000,000.

ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, AND RECEIVER.

FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INDIVIDUALS OR CORPORATIONS.

INTEREST ALLOWED ON INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATION ACCOUNTS.

ACTS AS TRUSTEE OF CORPORATION MORTGAGES.

DEPOSITORY UNDER PLANS OF REORGANIZATION.

REGISTRAR AND TRANSFER AGENT.

ASSUMES ENTIRE CHARGE OF REAL ESTATE.

SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

E. B. MORRIS, President.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ABA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3 1/4 MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

NOW READY

The Family of William Penn
Founder of Pennsylvania
Ancestry and Descendants

By Howard M. Jenkins.

AUTHOR OF VOLUME ONE, MEMORIAL HISTORY OF PHILADELPHIA, HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS RELATING TO GWYNEDD, ETC.

THIS work presents the results of a careful collation of known authorities, consultation of the Friends' records in Great Britain and Ireland, and an examination of the now-unequalled Collections of Penn Papers in the Library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia.

Some of the information gathered is to be found in fragmentary form in some scores of printed works, many of them rare, but a large part has been drawn from the family letters. These letters, unprinted until used by the Author in the preparation of this work, are necessarily unique.

Apart from any literary merit or demerit, the work is a systematic and practically complete statement of the Ancestry and Posterity of WILLIAM PENN, the Founder, and as such must have a definite and permanent value in the lists of Biography and Genealogy.

* Pp. 270, octavo. 19 full-page illustrations. Handsomely bound. $3.50 net. By mail, 20 cents additional.
* The print is from type, and copies are likely to be scarce.

HOWARD M. JENKINS
PUBLISHER

921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Headley Brothers, 14 Bishopsgate St., Without, London.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker
and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND

M. L. PHILIBERT,

French Steam

AND DRY

Cleaning of Blankets a specialty.

210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5 1/2 per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.

JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Merchants' Trust Company,

611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00

CAPITAL (paid in), 250,000.00

RESERVE, 50,000.00

UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 30,994.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveyancing done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHODES, President.

JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.

ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.

WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY, I. BOLTON WINFENNY,
S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHODES, EDWIN S. DIXON,
JOHN F. LEWIS, WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
THOMAS R. GILL, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
VICTOR I. PHILLIPS.

Read These Books

TO CALIFORNIA AND BACK,
176 pp., 176 illustrations.
5 cts.

THE MOKI SNAKE DANCE,
60 pp., 64 illustrations.
3 cts.

GRAND CANON OF ARIZONA,
32 pp., 15 illustrations.
2 cts.

NEW MEXICO HEALTH RESORTS,
80 pp., 31 illustrations.
2 cts.

ARIZONA HEALTH RESORTS,
72 pp., 18 illustrations.
2 cts.

LAS VEGAS HOT SPRINGS
48 pp., 39 illustrations.
2 cts.

Mailed free
for postage named

They tell the story

of wonderful sights and scenes, and special resorts for tourists and home-seekers in the Great West. They are published by the

Santa Fe Route,

are literary and artistic, and will make you better acquainted with the attractions of your own land.

C. A. HIGGINS,
A.G.P.A., A.T.&S.F. R'y, CHICAGO.
Great Northern Bldg.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, NINTH MONTH 9, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 5 cents per line, one time; 4½ cents per line each insertion, five times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XXXVI., . . .	689
POEM: FLOWERS WITHOUT FRUIT, . . .	689
WORK OF FRIENDS AMONG THE INDIANS IN THE NORTHERN SUPERINTEND- ENCY, 1869-1899. (By Joseph J. Janney), (Concluded), . . .	689
PRAYER, . . .	691
THE PHYSIOLOGICAL EFFECT OF FAITH, . . .	692
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No. 38, . . .	694
WILLIAM PENN AND ROBERT LOUIS STEV- ENSON, . . .	695
EDITORIAL: A Danger Signal, . . .	696
Notes, . . .	696
BIRTH, MARRIAGES, DEATHS, . . .	696
EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE: XIII.—Edinburgh and Sir Walter Scott, 697	697
NEWS OF FRIENDS: A Visit to Indiana Friends, . . .	698
Notes, . . .	699
IN QUIET WATERS: I.—By Dyke and Lock, . . .	699
A GLIMPSE OF JAPAN, . . .	700
LITERATURE, . . .	701
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT, . . .	702
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . . .	702
POETRY: The Skylark; The Archer, . . .	703
MISCELLANY: American Enterprise in Asia; A Unique Post-office; German Freedom; Hopeful Outlook for Farm Owners, . . .	703
CURRENT EVENTS, . . .	704
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS, . . .	704
NOTICES, . . .	iii.

AN HONEST AND CAPABLE MARRIED MAN, 38, wants position Experienced in commission, grocery, salesman, or manager. Address No. 69, INTELLIGENCER Office.

A FRIEND WISHES A POSITION AS COM-panion by the middle of Ninth month. Address No. 94, this Office.

LADY WOULD LIKE SEWING EITHER AT home or out, or to help care for sick. Address M. R. H., 413 Vine St., Camden, N. J.

WANTED.—A HOUSEKEEPER (A WIDOW with one or two children preferred), to keep house for an elderly gentleman (a Friend). Centrally located. Address X. Y. Z., INTELLIGENCER Office, 921 Arch St., Philadelphia.

BOARDING.—THREE OR FOUR FRIENDS can find a pleasant home, with good board, in a small adult family of Friends, at 2026 Mervine street, Philadelphia. A quiet, pleasant part of the city, convenient to several trolley lines.

FOR RENT.—PARTLY FURNISHED TEN room house in Tioga. Two rooms reserved, with or without board. Address B., Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race St., Phila.

FOR RENT.—TO A SMALL FAMILY, A WELL furnished twelve-roomed house, centrally located, in exchange for gentleman's board. Address, E. M. M., Office of INTELLIGENCER, 921 Arch St., Philad'a.

FOR RENT.—FURNISHED, TEN-ROOMED house. Board for two will be taken in exchange for rent. Address, for particulars, F. S., 1830 Willington St., Philadelphia.

FOR RENT.—IN LANGHORNE, PA., TEN-room house. Old shade, porches, excellent water. Half square from trolley. Apply to DR. JOHN PAXSON, Newtown, Penna.

FLUSHING.

Corner of Sanford Ave. and King St.—To let or for sale; lot 100 feet front, 125 feet deep; a house of 7 bedrooms, parlor, dining-room, and library, roomy piazza, kitchen, and laundry; all improvements. Inquire of D. & J. MASTERS, 69 Main St., Flushing.

FOR SALE.

A farm, consisting of 160 acres, situated in Jewell County, Kansas. Good land, and the improvements are good. Buildings are in fine order. For further information address, ABEL MILLS, Agent, Mt. Palatine, Ill.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to. 1311 Market St., Phila.

CHARLES BURTON,
Practical House and Sign Painter,
Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1195 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a, Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1920 Angie St., Tioga.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,
395 SWEDEN STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

The Penington, 215 E. Fifteenth St., New York City.

Enlarged and remodelled, will re-open about Tenth month 1st. Permanent and transient boarding for Friends. Apply to A. L. GRIFFEN, 330 E. Seventeenth Street, New York City.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET.
OCEAN CITY, N. J.
Now open for the reception of guests.
SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.
OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,
No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

WALL PAPER of Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,
1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum, Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,
33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

S. F. Balderston's Son, WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Established 1820 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD.

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College. For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,
(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Friends' School,

GREENE STREET, GERMANTOWN, PHILA.

Under care of Committee of School Lane Meeting. Comprises Kindergarten, Primary, and Intermediate departments, arranged as part of a graded system, which may be continued at Friends' Central School, Philad'a. The Kindergarten is a new department just added and will be under the care of a graduate kindergarten teacher. For circular, with full information, address,

ELIZABETH M. ROBERTS, Principal.Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or,
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 20th, 1899, (18th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.
ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month 18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms, $190 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.

RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph D.,
West Chester, Pa.Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Park Ave. Friends' Elementary and High School,

will open in the New Buildings NINTH MONTH 18, 1899. Co-educational. Prepares for any university, college, or for business. Board and tuition, $245 per school year. Send for Catalogue.

JOHN W. GREGG, M.A., Principal.ELI M. LAMB, Associate Principal.

Park Place and Laurens St., Baltimore, Md.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Household Linens

The new importations of all kinds of Household Linens are now being placed on the counters—Table Cloths, Napkins, etc., in handsome designs made exclusively for us, all marked at lowest prices:

Bleached Damask Table Linen—68 inches wide—at $1.00 a yard. 72 inches wide—at $1.10 a yard.
3/8 Breakfast Napkins to match—at $2.00 a dozen.

3/4 Dinner Napkins to match—at $3.00 a dozen.

Extra heavy bleached Damask Table Linen—72 inches wide—at $1.25 a yard.

3/8 Napkins to match—$2.50 a doz.

3/4 Napkins to match—$3.50 a doz.

Superior extra heavy Damask Bleached Table Linen—72 inches wide—at $1.35 a yard.

3/8 Napkins to match—$2.75 a doz.

3/4 Napkins to match—$4.00 a doz.

Extra heavy Double Damask Bleached Table Linen—72 inches wide—at $1.75 and $2.00 a yard.

3/8 Napkins to match—at $3.50 and $3.75 a dozen.

3/4 Napkins to match—at $5.50 and $6.00 a dozen.

Superior Double Damask Bleached Table Linen—72 inches wide—at $2.50 a yard.

3/8 Napkins to match—$5.50 a doz.

3/4 Napkins to match—$8.00 a doz.

ORDERS by mail promptly and accurately filled.

Strawbridge & Clothier,

PHILADELPHIA.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

HISTORY AND BIOGRAPHY

BY

HOWARD M. JENKINS.

RECENTLY PUBLISHED.

THE FAMILY OF WILLIAM PENN, FOUNDER OF PENNSYLVANIA: HIS ANCESTORS AND DESCENDANTS. 8vo. Pp. 270. With 19 illustrations. $3.50 net. If sent by mail, postage 20 cents.

From Dr. Charles J. Stille, President of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania:

"By your labor, bringing together a vast amount of material, you have given us an account of the Family, (genealogically) which one will seek in vain for elsewhere. . . . I regard these articles [now collected] as exhibiting in a most desirable and attractive form all that is known of the illustrious man's family."

HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS RELATING TO GWYNEDD. Second Edition. 8vo. Pp. 494. Cloth. Beveled edges. With 8 illustrations. $4.00 net. If sent by mail, postage 23 cents.

American Historical Review:

"Within the limits which the author proposes to himself he provides a model of accurate local investigation."

IN PRESS.

GENEALOGICAL SKETCH OF THE DESCENDANTS OF SAMUEL SPENCER, OF UPPER DUBLIN, PENNSYLVANIA. 8vo. About 300 pages. Illustrated. $3.00 net.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,

Publisher,

2 Arch Stree, Philadelphia, Pa.

BOSTON BINDER

FOR

Friends' Intelligencer

Will hold a full year, by packing close. Better, if used for half year.

Price, 25 cents, including postage, if sent by mail.

By having your papers together, you have at the end of the year a valuable volume, of over 1000 pages of reading matter.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT.Undertaker
and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA

Telephone 2-28-29-A.

NOTICES.

. The next Conference under the care of Concord Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Philanthropic Labor will be held in the meeting-house at Chichester, First-day, Ninth month 17, 1899, at 2 30 p. m.

CHARLES PALMER, Clerk.

. A Circular Meeting under the care of the Western Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Centre, on First-day, Ninth month 10, 1899, to convene at 3 o'clock p. m.

O. F. PASSMORE, Clerk.

. A meeting of the Salem First day School Union will be held in Friends' meeting-house, at Salem, N. J., Ninth month 9, 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m.

The subject for consideration is: "How can we educate children so as to preserve the purity of their morals?" A cordial invitation extended to all interested.

JOHN G. BORTON, } Clerks.
LOUISA POWELL, }

. Burlington First-day School Union will be held at Mansfield, N. J., Ninth month 9, at 10 a. m. All are cordially invited.

DANIEL WILLETS, } Clerks.
ANNE R. WALN, }

. Quarterly and yearly meetings in Ninth month will be held as follows:

10. Baltimore, Gunpowder, Md.
Illinois Yearly Mt'g, Mt. Palatine, Ill.
14. Haddonfield, Moorestown, N. J.
25. Canada Half-Yearly Mt'g, Yonge St.
30. Scipio, Scipio, N. Y.

. First-day Evening Meetings will be held during Ninth month at 4th and Green streets at 7.30 o'clock. The company of all who believe in a quiet hour for social worship is invited.

The Third-day meetings will be resumed next week at 17th and Girard Avenue, at 10.30 a. m.

. Any changes in the times of holding meetings, or other needed corrections, should be sent as soon as may be to Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race street, Philadelphia, to enable them to issue the Almanac for 1900 at an early date.

. The regular sessions of Illinois Yearly Meeting will begin on Second-day, Ninth month 11th; meeting of Ministers and Elders, and one session of First-day School Conference will be held the Seventh-day preceding.

Friends having a prospect of attending should inform some member of the following named committee. Conveyance will be provided to meet day trains at Lostant, on Illinois Central Railroad, on Sixth- and Seventh-day, to carry all friends whose names are furnished the committee, to Friends' settlement, eight miles distant.

Oliver Wilson, Magnolia, Illinois.
Florence A. Given, Clear Creek, Illinois.
Raymond Bumgarner, Mt. Palatine, Illinois.
William L. Mills, Clear Creek, Illinois.

. There will be a Circular Meeting at Unity Street, Frankford, First-day, Ninth month 10, at 3 30 p. m. All are invited.

. The meeting held only once in the year at Warrington meeting-house will be held there Ninth month 24. It is an interesting occasion, and ministering Friends feeling a drawing in that direction are encouraged to attend.

NATIONAL EXPORT EXPOSITION, PHILADELPHIA.

REDUCED RATES VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The National Export Exposition, which opens at Philadelphia on September 14, and continues until November 30, will be the most interesting and important event occurring in Philadelphia since the Centennial Exhibition of 1876. In addition to its valuable commercial exhibits it will present many features of popular interest and amusement. Arrangements have also been made for Mandolin, Guitar, and Banjo Concerts, and for a grand chorus from the German Singing Societies.

For this occasion the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from all points on its line, to Philadelphia and return, at rate of a fare and a third for the round trip plus price of admission. These tickets will be sold during the continuance of the Exposition and will be good for return passage until November 30.

For specific rates and additional information apply to nearest Ticket Agent.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS.

LOW-RATE VACATION TRIPS VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

September 7 and 21 and October 5 and 19 are the dates of the remaining Pennsylvania Railroad popular ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, and intermediate points.

Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and all points on the Delaware Division; $11.25 from Atlantic City; $9.60 from Lancaster; $8.50 from Altoona and Harrisburg; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $5.75 from Williamsport; and at proportionate rates from other points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo, Rochester, Canandaigua, and Watkins within the limit returning.

A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion. An extra charge will be made for parlor car seats. An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion.

Tickets for a side trip to the Thousand Islands (Alexandria Bay) will be sold from Rochester in connection with excursions of September 7 and 21, good to return to Rochester or to Canandaigua via Syracuse within five days, at rate of $5.50.

Tickets for a side trip to Toronto will be sold at Niagara Falls for $1.00 on September 23. In connection with excursion of September 7, tickets will be sold to Toronto and return at reduced rates, account Toronto Fair.

For pamphlets giving full information and hotels, and for time of connecting trains, apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

GETTYSBURG, LURAY, WASHINGTON.

PERSONALLY-CONDUCTED TOUR VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

Over the battlefield of Gettysburg, through the picturesque Blue Mountains, via Hagerstown and Antietam, and down the beautiful and historic Shenandoah Valley to the unique Caverns of Luray; thence across the rolling hills of Northern Virginia to Washington, is the route of this tour—a section of the country intensely interesting from both a historic and a scenic standpoint.

The tour will leave New York 7.00 a. m., and Philadelphia 12 20 p. m., Saturday, September 16, in charge of one of the company's tourist agents, and will cover a period of five days. An experienced chaperon, whose especial charge will be unescorted ladies, will accompany the trip throughout. Round-trip tickets, covering transportation, carriage drives, and hotel accommodations, will be sold at the extremely low rate of $25 from New York, $24 from Trenton, $22 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points.

For itineraries and full information apply to ticket agents. Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.

LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE
14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

ARMSTRONG & McKELVY
Pittsburgh.
REYMER-BAUMAN
Pittsburgh.
DAVIS-CHAMBERS
Pittsburgh.
FAHNESTOCK
Pittsburgh.
ANCHOR } Cincinnati.
BOKSTEIN } ATLANTIC
BRADLEY }
BROOKLYN } New York.
JEWETT }
ULSTER }
UNION }
SOUTHERN } Chicago.
SHIPMAN }
COLLIER }
MISSOURI } St. Louis.
RED SEAL }
SOUTHERN }
JOHN T. LEWIS & BROS CO
Philadelphia.
MORLEY
Cleveland.
SALEM
Salem, Mass.
CORNELL
Buffalo.
KENTUCKY
Louisville.

YOU cannot afford to take chances in painting when, by exercising a little care and common sense, the use of mixtures of unknown composition and questionable value can be avoided and the best materials (and, as you will find, by far the cheapest) can be obtained.

The best materials are Pure White Lead and Pure Linseed Oil. The brands named in margin are genuine.

FREE By using National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, any desired shade is readily obtained. Pamphlet giving valuable information and card showing samples of colors free; also folder showing picture of house painted in different designs or various styles or combinations of shades forwarded upon application to those intending to paint.

National Lead Co., 100 William St., New York.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY

N. E. Cor. Broad and Chestnut Sts.

Capital, $1,000,000. Chartered 1836 Surplus, $2,000,000.

ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, AND RECEIVER.

FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INDIVIDUALS OR CORPORATIONS.

INTEREST ALLOWED ON INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATION ACCOUNTS.

SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

ACTS AS TRUSTEE OF CORPORATION MORTGAGES.

DEPOSITARY UNDER PLANS OF REORGANIZATION.

REGISTRAR AND TRANSFER AGENT.

ASSUMES ENTIRE CHARGE OF REAL ESTATE.

SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

E. B. MORRIS, President.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.

Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.

210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.
Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

Friends' Book Association,
OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,

Kindergarten, School Supplies.
Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.
SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN,
WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS
IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to
ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SPEED.

Young Friends' Association,
140 N. 15th Street,

will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to

ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1242 N. Bouvier St.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities
a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

Are You Going To California?

The California Limited, Santa
Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation
car with spacious parlor,
especially for use of ladies and children. 2½ days Chicago
to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
CHICAGO.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, NINTH MONTH, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.
To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers.
Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 5 cents per line, one time; $4\frac{1}{2}$ cents per line each insertion, five times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Do not~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XXXVII.,	705
POEM: IF WE BUT KNEW,	705
THE BROWNS OF BARTONBURY,	705
NEWTON M. EATING: A RETROSPECT, (By Howard M. Cooper),	707
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No. 39,	708
EDITORIALS:
What Does It Mean?	710
Fresh Consecration,	710
Notes,	710
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	711
EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE:
XIV.—The Rowntree and Sherwell Temperance Book,	711
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
A Visit to Indiana Meeting,—II.	713
Nottingham Quarterly Meeting,	713
Blue River Quarterly Meeting,	714
Duanesburg Quarterly Meeting,	715
IN QUIET WATERS:
II.—Up the Delaware,	716
LITERATURE,	717
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	718
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	719
PERSONAL NOTES,	719
POETRY: To My Father; To a Skylark; Letty's Globe,	719
MISCELLANY: Social Restlessness in Italy; Keep the Birthdays,	720
CURRENT EVENTS,	720
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	720
NOTICES,	720

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

A FRIEND WISHES A POSITION AS COMPANION by the middle of Ninth month. Address No. 94, this Office.

FRIEND WANTS POSITION AS COMPANION, caretaker, and reader with invalid or elderly lady. Experienced. Address No. 99, this Office.

LADY WOULD LIKE SEWING EITHER AT home or out, or to help care for sick. Address M. R. H., 413 Vine St., Camden, N. J.

RAPID STENOGRAPHER, YOUNG LADY, desires position. Four years' experience. Address No. 101, this Office.

WANTED.—RELIABLE PERSON WHO thoroughly understands general housework, in a family of four, in the city. Address No. 98, this Office.

WANTED.—BY EDUCATED FRIEND, POSITION with invalid or elderly lady, as companion, caretaker, and reader. Excellent reference. Address No. 100, this Office.

WANTED.—BOARD FOR THREE ADULTS and two children in private family in Germantown, or will join family in taking house in Germantown and board with them. Address No. 97, this Office.

WANTED.—A HOUSEKEEPER (A WIDOW with one or two children preferred), to keep house for an elderly gentleman (a Friend). Centrally located. Address X. Y. Z., INTELLIGENCER Office, 921 Arch St., Philadelphia.

BOARDING.—THREE OR FOUR FRIENDS can find a pleasant home, with good board, in a small adult family of Friends, at 2026 Mervine street, Philadelphia. A quiet, pleasant part of the city, convenient to several trolley lines.

FOR RENT.—PARTLY FURNISHED TEN room house in Tioga. Two rooms reserved, with or without board. Address B., Friends' Book Association, 1900 Race St., Phila.

FOR RENT.—TO A SMALL FAMILY, A WELL furnished twelve-roomed house, centrally located, in exchange for gentleman's board. Address, E. M. M., Office of INTELLIGENCER, 921 Arch St., Philad'a.

FOR RENT.—FURNISHED, TEN-ROOMED house. Board for two will be taken in exchange for rent. Address, for particulars, F. S., 1830 Willington St., Philadelphia.

FOR RENT.—IN LANGHORNE, PA., TEN-room house. Old shade, porches, excellent water. Half square from trolley. Apply to DR. JOHN PAXSON, Newtown, Penna.

FLUSHING.

Corner of Sanford Ave. and King St.—To let or for sale; lot 100 feet front, 125 feet deep; a house of 7 bedrooms, parlor, dining-room, and library, roomy piazza, kitchen, and laundry; all improvements. Inquire of D. & J. MASTERS, 69 Main St., Flushing.

FOR SALE.

A farm, consisting of 160 acres, situated in Jewell County, Kansas. Good land, and the improvements are good. Buildings are in fine order. For further information address, ABEL MILLS, Agent, Mt. Palatine, Ill.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a SELECT STOCK of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER,
(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 North 13th Street.

The Penington, 215 E. Fifteenth St., New York City.

Enlarged and remodelled, will re-open about Tenth month 1st. Permanent and transient boarding for Friends. Apply to A. L. GRIFFEN, 330 E. Seventeenth Street, New York City.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET, OCEAN CITY, N. J.

Now open for the reception of guests.
SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City. The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J.

Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.
OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

Established 1820 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1155 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1290 Angle St., Tioga.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.

LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE }

14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

Young Friends' Association,

140 N. 15th Street,

will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to

ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Friends' School,

GREENE STREET, GERMANTOWN, PHILA.

Under care of Committee of School Lane Meeting. Comprises Kindergarten, Primary, and Intermediate departments, arranged as part of a graded system, which may be continued at Friends' Central School, Philad'a.

The Kindergarten is a new department just added and will be under the care of a graduate kindergarten teacher. For circular, with full information, address,

ELIZABETH M. ROBERTS, Principal.Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or, JENKINTOWN, PA.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 20th, 1899, (18th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

An Autumn Morning Dish.

Pillsbury's VITOS, the ideal Wheat Food, can be prepared in the form of fried mush, but fried mush of unusual delicacy and ease of digestion. Fried mush made of Pillsbury's VITOS is neither greasy nor heavy. Served with maple syrup it is an ideal breakfast dish for cool autumn mornings.

PILLSBURY-WASHBURN FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

MAKERS OF PILLSBURY'S BEST FLOUR.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Park Ave. Friends' Elementary and High School,

will open in the New Buildings NINTH MONTH 18, 1899. Co-educational. Prepares for any university, college, or for business. Board and tuition, $225 per school year. Send for Catalogue.

JOHN W. GREGG, M.A., Principal.
ELI M. LAMB, Associate Principal.
Park Place and Laurens St., Baltimore, Md.Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month 18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms, $190 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.

RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph. D.,
West Chester, Pa.JOHN FABER MILLER,325 SWEDD STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

—Pittsburgers interested in the proposed bridge structural iron and steel combine, which is being promoted by J. Gifford Ladd, of New York, to be capitalized at $65,000,000, are confident the deal will go through soon. Among the Pittsburg concerns that are understood to be optioned in the deal are the Keystone Bridge Company, of the Carnegie interests; the Shiffler Bridge Company, the Pittsburg Bridge Company, and the Schultz Bridge and Iron Company.

"HONESTY is the best policy." Nobody contradicts it.

Your dealer can get lamp-chimneys that almost never break from heat, or those that break continually. Which does he get? Which do you get?

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" are tough against heat; not one in a hundred breaks in use. The glass is clear as well as tough. They are accurate, uniform.

Be willing to pay more for chimneys that last till they rot, unless some accident happens to them.

Our "Index" describes all lamps and their proper chimneys. With it you can always order the right size and shape of chimney for any lamp. We mail it FREE to any one who writes for it.

Address MACBETH, Pittsburgh, Pa.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS.

LOW-RATE VACATION TRIPS VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

September 7 and 21 and October 5 and 19 are the dates of the remaining Pennsylvania Railroad popular ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, and intermediate points.

Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and all points on the Delaware Division; $11.25 from Atlantic City; $9.60 from Lancaster; $8.50 from Altoona and Harrisburg; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $5.75 from Williamsport; and at proportionate rates from other points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo, Rochester, Canandaigua, and Watkins within the limit returning.

A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion. An extra charge will be made for parlor car seats. An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion.

Tickets for a side trip to the Thousand Islands (Alexandria Bay) will be sold from Rochester in connection with excursions of September 7 and 21, good to return to Rochester or to Canandaigua via Syracuse within five days, at rate of $5.50.

Tickets for a side trip to Toronto will be sold at Niagara Falls for $1.00 on September 23. In connection with excursion of September 7, tickets will be sold to Toronto and return at reduced rates, account Toronto Fair.

For pamphlets giving full information and hotels, and for time of connecting trains, apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

NOTICES.

 Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches as way may open will attend meetings as follows:

NINTH MONTH:

17. Green Street, 10.30 a. m.

24. Merion, 10.30 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

 An application has been received for a donation of Friends' Books for the Library of Payne University, Selma, Ala., under the auspices of the African M. E. Church. Those distributed by the Representative Committee have been secured. Any other books, whether of a Friendly character or general Literature, will be acceptable, and may be left with Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race street, or sent direct to care of Prof. R. D. Brooks, 713 Alabama street, Selma, Alabama.

 The semi-annual meeting of the Bucks county First-day School Union will be held at Langhorne, Pa., Ninth month 23, 1899, at 10.30 a. m. All are cordially invited.

ISABEL L. WASHINGTON, } Clerks.
ROBERT KENDERDINE, }

 The Monthly Meeting of Friends of Philadelphia, held at Race street, will take place on Fourth-day next, the 20th, in the evening, at 7.30 o'clock.

 The next Conference under the care of Concord Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Philanthropic Labor will be held in the meeting-house at Chichester, First-day, Ninth month 17, 1899, at 2.30 p. m.

CHARLES PAIMER, Clerk.

 First-day Evening Meetings will be held during Ninth month at 4th and Green streets at 7.30 o'clock. The company of all who believe in a quiet hour for social worship is invited.

The Third-day meetings will be resumed next week at 17th and Girard Avenue, at 10.30 a. m.

 Any changes in the times of holding meetings, or other needed corrections, should be sent as soon as may be to Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race street, Philadelphia, to enable them to issue the Almanac for 1900 at an early date.

 The meeting held only once in the year at Warrington meeting-house will be held there Ninth month 24. It is an interesting occasion, and ministering Friends feeling a drawing in that direction are encouraged to attend.

 Quarterly and yearly meetings in Ninth month will be held as follows:

25. Canada Half-Yearly Mt'g, Yonge St.

30. Scipio, Scipio, N. Y.

Carpetings, Linoleum,

Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

S. F. Balderston's Son, WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

SAVE 1/2 Your FUEL
now wasted up chimney
BY USING THE ROCHESTER RADIATOR.
COST $2.00 AND UP.
Money refunded if not satisfactory.
Write for booklet on economy in heating homes.
ROCHESTER RADIATOR CO.,
45 Furnace Street, Rochester, N. Y.

WALL PAPER of

Attractive Styles

Popular Prices

Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St.

Philadelphia, Pa.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER

and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

Household Linens

The new importations of all kinds of Household Linens are now being placed on the counters—Table Cloths, Napkins, etc., in handsome designs made exclusively for us, all marked at lowest prices:

Bleached Damask Table Linen—68 inches wide—at $1.00 a yard.

72 inches wide—at $1.10 a yard.

3/8 Breakfast Napkins to match—at

$2.00 a dozen.

3/4 Dinner Napkins to match—at $3.00 a dozen.

Extra heavy bleached Damask Table

Linen—72 inches wide—at $1.25

a yard.

3/8 Napkins to match—$2.50 a doz.

3/4 Napkins to match—$3.50 a doz.

Superior extra heavy Damask Bleached Table Linen—72 inches wide—at

$1.35 a yard.

3/8 Napkins to match—$2.75 a doz.

3/4 Napkins to match—$4.00 a doz.

Extra heavy Double Damask Bleach-

ed Table Linen—72 inches wide—at

$1.75 and $2.00 a yard.

3/8 Napkins to match—at $3.50 and

$3.75 a dozen.

3/4 Napkins to match—at $5.50 and

$6.00 a dozen.

Superior Double Damask Bleached

Table Linen—72 inches wide—at $2.50 a yard.

3/8 Napkins to match—$5.50 a doz.

3/4 Napkins to match—$8.00 a doz.

ORDERS by mail promptly and accurately filled.

Strawbridge & Clothier,

PHILADELPHIA.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
Makes the food more delicious and wholesome
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY

N. E. Cor. Broad and Chestnut Sts.

Capital, $1,000,000. Chartered 1836 Surplus, $2,000,000.

ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, AND RECEIVER.
 FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INDIVIDUALS OR CORPORATIONS.
 INTEREST ALLOWED ON INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATION ACCOUNTS.

ACTS AS TRUSTEE OF CORPORATION MORTGAGES.
 DEPOSITORY UNDER PLANS OF REORGANIZATION.
 REGISTRAR AND TRANSFER AGENT.
 ASSUMES ENTIRE CHARGE OF REAL ESTATE.
 SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

E. B. MORRIS, President.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
 President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.
 Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
 a specialty.
 210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.
 Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

F. GUTEKUNST,
FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY
 712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.
 Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

Friends' Book Association,
 OF PHILADELPHIA
 Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
 Blank Book Manufacturers,
 Engravers, and Printers,
 Artists' Materials,
 Kindergarten, School Supplies.
 Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.
 S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
 NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
 HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
 BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.
 SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
 IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to
 READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS
 IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to
 ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
 AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,
 Undertaker
 and Embalmer,
 1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.
 Telephone 2-28-25-A.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
 JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. WM. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

Merchants' Trust Company,

611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
 CAPITAL (paid in), 250,000.00
 SURPLUS, 50,000.00
 UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 30,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveyancing done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.
 JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.
 ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.
 WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS.

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
 SPENCER M. JANNEY, J. BOLTON WINPENNY,
 S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
 JOSEPH R. RHOADS, WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
 JOHN F. LEWIS, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
 THOMAS R. GILL, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
 CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, ALFRED I. PHILLIPS,
 GEORGE M. WAGNER.

Read These Books

TO CALIFORNIA AND BACK,
 176 pp., 176 illustrations.
 5 cts.
 THE MOKI SNAKE DANCE,
 60 pp., 64 illustrations.
 3 cts.
 GRAND CANON OF ARIZONA,
 32 pp., 15 illustrations.
 2 cts.
 NEW MEXICO HEALTH RESORTS,
 80 pp., 31 illustrations.
 2 cts.
 ARIZONA HEALTH RESORTS,
 72 pp., 18 illustrations.
 2 cts.
 LAS VEGAS HOT SPRINGS
 48 pp., 39 illustrations.
 2 cts.

Mailed free
 for postage named

They tell the story

of wonderful sights and scenes, and special resorts for tourists and home-seekers in the Great West.

New York Public Library published by the 40 Lafayette Place a Fe Route,

are literary and artistic, and will make you better acquainted with the attractions of your own land.

C. A. HIGGINS,
 A.G.P.A., A.T. & S.F. R'y. CHICAGO.
 Great Northern Bldg.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, NINTH MONTH 23, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 5 cents per line, one time; 4½ cents per line each insertion, five times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Do not~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XXXVIII.,	721
POEM: TWO WINGS,	721
THE BIRMINGHAM SUMMER SCHOOL,	721
NEWTON MEETING: A RETROSPECT, By
Howard M. Cooper, (Continued),	722
IN QUIET WATERS, III.—By John Russell
Hayes,	723
TRUTH MIGHTIER THAN THE SWORD,	724
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS,
No 40,	725
ILLINOIS YEARLY MEETING,	727
EDITORIAL PARAGRAPHS,	728
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	728
YOUR EDUCATION,	728
EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE:
XV.—The East Coast of England: Notes,	729
INDIANA YEARLY MEETING,	730
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
A Visit to Southern Quarter,	731
The Warrington Annual Meeting,	731
BUCKS BOARDING HOME,	731
LITERARY NOTES,	732
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	732
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	732
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	732
COMMUNICATIONS:
Farm Teaching among the Colored
People,	733
PERSONAL NOTES,	733
POETRY: The Death Song of the Hemlock; The Two Taverns; Baby has gone to School,	733, 734
IMPRESSIONS OF NORMANDY,	734
THE LATE WILLIAM JONES,	734
MISCELLANY: King Corn's New Conquest;
Helen Kellar's Triumph,	735, 736
CURRENT EVENTS,	736
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	736
NOTICES,	iii.

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

A FRIEND WISHES A POSITION AS COMPANION by the middle of Ninth month. Address No. 94, this Office.

FRIEND WANTS POSITION AS COMPANION, caretaker, and reader with invalid or elderly lady. Experienced. Address No. 99, this Office.

LADY WISHES POSITION AS SECRETARY or assistant in literary work. Is an experienced stenographer and type-writer. Address 103, this Office.

BOARDING.—THREE OR FOUR FRIENDS can find a pleasant home, with good board, in a small adult family of Friends, at 2026 Mervine street, Philadelphia. A quiet, pleasant part of the city, convenient to several trolley lines.

FOR RENT.—FURNISHED, ELEVEN-ROOM house. Board will be taken in exchange for rent. Address, for particulars, E. A. T., 1712 N. Sixteenth Street, Philadelphia.

FOR RENT.—PARTLY FURNISHED TEN room house in Tioga. Two rooms reserved, with or without board. Address B., Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race St., Phila.

FOR RENT.—TO A SMALL FAMILY, A WELL furnished twelve-roomed house, centrally located, in exchange for gentleman's board. Address, E. M. M., Office of INTELLIGENCER, 921 Arch St., Philad'a.

FOR RENT.—FURNISHED, TEN-ROOMED house. Board for two will be taken in exchange for rent. Address, for particulars, F. S., 1830 Willington St., Philadelphia.

FOR RENT.—IN LANGHORNE, PA., TEN- room house. Old shade, porches, excellent water. Half square from trolley. Apply to DR. JOHN PAXSON, Newtown, Penna.

WANTED.—TWO UNFURNISHED ROOMS, one small, heated, central. Address No. 102, this Office.

FLUSHING.

Corner of Sanford Ave. and King St.—To let or for sale; lot 100 feet front, 125 feet deep; a house of 7 bedrooms, parlor, dining-room, and library, robbery piazza, kitchen, and laundry; all improvements. Inquire of D. & J. MASTERS, 69 Main St., Flushing.

FOR SALE.

A farm, consisting of 160 acres, situated in Jewell County, Kansas. Good land, and the improvements are good. Buildings are in fine order. For further information address, ABEL MILLS, Agent, Mt. Palatine, Ill.

Young Friends' Association,

140 N. 15th Street,

will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to

ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a SELECT STOCK of our own reliable work.

ISAMUEL DUTCHER,
(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 North 13th Street.

The Penington, 215 E. Fifteenth St., New York City.

Enlarged and remodelled, will re-open about Tenth month 1st. Permanent and transient boarding for Friends. Apply to A. L. GRIFFEN, 330 E. Seventeenth Street, New York City.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET, OCEAN CITY, N. J.

Now open for the reception of guests.
SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City. The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.

Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable. M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends. OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

Established 1820 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

REMOVED.

LIZZIE J. LAMBERT, Millinery,

Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,

To 1020 GREEN STREET.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving dairies and families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.

JOSEPH L. JONES.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison? No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to. 1311 Market St., Phila.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS. 1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa. Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street. Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 2-42-25 D.

LAW CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE }

14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Park Ave. Friends' Elementary and High School,

will open in the New Buildings NINTH MONTH 18, 1899. Co-educational. Prepares for any university, college, or for business. Board and tuition, $225 per school year. Send for Catalogue.

JOHN W. GREGG, M.A., Principal.ELI M. LAMB, Associate Principal.

Park Place and Laurens St., Baltimore, Md.

Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or, Jenkintown, Pa.CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 20th, 1899, (18th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Darlington Seminary,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Near the beautiful borough of West Chester, Pa.

Forty-third School Year commences Ninth month 18th, next. Beautiful and healthy location. Grounds, 27 acres. Mathematical, Scientific, Literary, and Linguistic Courses of Study. Also an Art Department. New Gymnasium. This school has been uniformly successful for nearly half a century. Pupils from almost every State. Eight instructors, mostly specialists. Terms, $900 a year.

For illustrated Catalogue, address the Principal.

RICHARD DARLINGTON, Ph. D.,
West Chester, Pa.Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Carpetings, Linoleum,*Window Shades, etc.*Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

S. F. Balderston's Son,WALL PAPERS.

All Grades.

Estimates Given.

Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WALL PAPER ofAttractive Styles

Popular Prices

Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St.

Philadelphia, Pa.

Ellwood Heacock,UNDERTAKER*and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDR STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

*Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.Blankets and Quilts

Our stock is complete in every detail and attractively priced throughout. Special values as follows:

Durable White Blankets—of generous size and weight, broad silk binding and handsome border colorings—$4.00 a pair.

Fine Fleece Wool White Blankets—extra large and heavy—$7 a pair.

Luxurious Blankets—direct from California, in solid colors—rose-pink or light blue, or in white with dainty border colorings—$12.00 a pair.

Satine-covered Down-filled Quilts—in French designs and handsome color combinations—$5.00 each.

Down Quilts—with covering of finest figured silks and handsome solid color satins—$15.00 each.

Marseilles Quilts—fast back and fine quality, in a variety of beautiful designs—$3.00 each.

*MAIL ORDERS receive prompt and accurate attention. Address orders: "Department C."Strawbridge & Clothier,

PHILADELPHIA.

M. L. PHILIBERT,French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.

210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

F. GUTEKUNST,FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

Friends' Book Association,
OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers.

Blank Book Manufacturers,

Engravers, and Printers.

Artists' Materials,

Kindergarten, School Supplies.

Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

NOTICES.

* * A Conference under the care of the Philanthropic Committee of the Yearly and Quarterly Meetings will be held in the meeting-house at Plumstead, Bucks county, Pa., on First-day, Ninth month 24, at 2 30 p. m. Subject, "Peace and Arbitration." All interested are respectfully invited to attend.

SUSANNA RICH, Clerk.

* * A Circular Meeting, under the care of a Committee of Concord Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Birmingham, on First-day afternoon, Tenth month 1, 1899, at 3 o'clock, p. m.

MARY P. HARVEY, Clerk.

* * Haddonfield First-day School Union will be held in Westfield meeting-house on Seventh-day, Ninth month 30, at 10 a. m. The subject, "How can our Young Friends' Associations best aid our Meetings?" will be opened by Moorestown School.

GEO. L. GILLINGHAM, } Clerks.
MARY A. BRADDOCK, }

* * Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches as way may open will attend meetings as follows:

NINTH MONTH:

24. Merion, 10.30 a. m.

TENTH MONTH:

8. Appointed meeting, Radnor, 3 p. m.

22. Schuylkill, 10.30 a. m.

ELEVENTH MONTH:

5. Valley, 10 a. m.

19. Haverford, 10 a. m.

26. Reading, 10 a. m.

TWELFTH MONTH:

3. Germantown, 10.30 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk. *

* * The semi-annual meeting of the Bucks county First-day School Union will be held at Langhorne, Pa., Ninth month 23, 1899, at 10.30 a. m. All are cordially invited.

ISABEL L. WASHINGTON, } Clerks.
ROBERT KENDERDINE, }

* * Any changes in the times of holding meetings, or other needed corrections, should be sent as soon as may be to Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race street, Philadelphia, to enable them to issue the Almanac for 1900 at an early date.

* * First-day Evening Meetings will be held during Ninth month at 4th and Green streets at 7.30 o'clock. The company of all who believe in a quiet hour for social worship is invited.

The Third-day meetings will be resumed next week at 17th and Girard Avenue, at 10.30 a. m.

* * The meeting held only once in the year at Warrington meeting-house will be held there Ninth month 24. It is an interesting occasion, and ministering Friends feeling a drawing in that direction are encouraged to attend.

* * Quarterly and yearly meetings in Ninth month will be held as follows:

25. Canada Half-Yearly Mt'g, Yonge St.

30. Scipio, Scipio, N. Y.

THE PERVERSE SONGSTER.

By W. O. McClelland.

When the clover-blooms fillip the rabbit's nose,

And the hand of the summer shakes open the rose,

And the cuckoo to visit the willow-tree goes,

What a sad note is it

From the little tom-tit

As he mournfully sings to the world his woes:

"Phee-be-ee; ah, me!

How can one be happy and live in a tree?"

When the rabbit leaps up to his ears in snow,

And the puffing cheeks of the North Wind blow,

And the willow-tree rattles her fingers in woe,

Who cares not a whit?

'Tis the little tom-tit

As he cheerily calls to the world below:

"Chicadee! Look at me!

There's nothing so fine as this life in a tree!"

—St. Nicholas.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS.

LOW-RATE VACATION TRIPS VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

September 7 and 21 and October 5 and 19 are the dates of the remaining Pennsylvania Railroad popular ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, and intermediate points.

Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and all points on the Delaware Division; $11.25 from Atlantic City; $9.60 from Lancaster; $8.50 from Altoona and Harrisburg; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $5.75 from Williamsport; and at proportionate rates from other points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo, Rochester, Canandaigua, and Watkins within the limit returning.

A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion. An extra charge will be made for parlor car seats.

An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion.

Tickets for a side trip to the Thousand Islands (Alexandria Bay) will be sold from Rochester in connection with excursions of September 7 and 21, good to return to Rochester or to Canandaigua via Syracuse within five days, at rate of $5.50.

Tickets for a side trip to Toronto will be sold at Niagara Falls for $1.00 on September 23. In connection with excursion of September 7, tickets will be sold to Toronto and return at reduced rates, account Toronto Fair.

For pamphlets giving full information and hotels, and for time of connecting trains, apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

A FRENCHMAN applied to a local official for a passport to visit Klattezwingschen, in Switzerland. The functionary, who was not a fellow of any geographical society, struggled in vain with the spelling of the place's name. Then, unwilling to confess his difficulty, he blandly asked: "Would you as lief visit some other town?"—[Troy Times.]

If a man wants peace in his own house he should count ten before speaking, at times when he feels as if his clothes don't fit him. And on days when the kitchen stove doesn't draw, he should count four hundred and eighty.—Anon.

DESERTIONS from the army now being recruited have been particularly large, and the government has consequently raised the reward for the apprehension of deserters from $10 to $30.

THE native country of the German carp is not certainly known, but is supposed to be Asia, and that it was taken to Germany about nine hundred years ago.

THE largest tree in the world lies broken and petrified at the end of a defile in Northwestern Nevada. It is said to be 666 feet long.

THE Chinese Government has made an emphatic protest against the military order of General Otis excluding Chinese from the Philippines.

LAND in England is 300 times as valuable now as it was 200 years ago.

ARMSTRONG & McKELVY

Pittsburgh.

BEYMER-BAUMAN

Pittsburgh.

DAVIS-CHAMBERS

Pittsburgh.

FAHNESTOCK

Pittsburgh.

ANCHOR

Cincinnati.

ROKSTYHN

ATLANTIC

BRADLEY

BROOKLYN

JEWETT

ULSTER

UNION

SOUTHERN

SHIPMAN

COLLIER

MISSOURI

RED SEAL

SOUTHERN

JOHN F. LEWIS & BROS CO

Philadelphia.

MORLEY

Cleveland.

SALEM

Salem, Mass.

CORNELL

Buffalo.

KENTUCKY

Louisville.

THE brands of White Lead named in the margin are old friends, tried by many generations of use and proven the best. They are made by the "old Dutch process" of slow corrosion, and, with pure Linseed Oil, there is no other paint as good.

There are other brands made by quick or patent process and numerous mixtures of Barytes, Zinc, Whiting, etc., which are branded and sold as Pure White Lead. Make sure that the brand is right.

FREE By using National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, any desired shade is readily obtained. Pamphlet giving valuable information and card showing samples of colors free; also folder showing picture of house painted in different designs or various styles or combinations of shades forwarded upon application to those intending to paint

National Lead Co., 100 William St., New York.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
Makes the food more delicious and wholesome
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY

N. E. Cor. Broad and Chestnut Sts.

Capital, $1,000,000. Chartered 1836 Surplus, $2,000,000.

ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, AND RECEIVER.

FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INDIVIDUALS OR CORPORATIONS.

INTEREST ALLOWED ON INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATION ACCOUNTS.

ACTS AS TRUSTEE OF CORPORATION MORTGAGES.

DEPOSITORY UNDER PLANS OF REORGANIZATION.

REGISTRAR AND TRANSFER AGENT.

ASSUMES ENTIRE CHARGE OF REAL ESTATE.

SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

E. B. MORRIS, President.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
 President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

BOSTON BINDER

FOR

Friends' Intelligencer

Will hold a full year, by packing close. Better, if used for half year.

Price, 25 cents, including postage, if sent by mail.

By having your papers together, you have at the end of the year a valuable volume, of over 1000 pages of reading matter.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
 NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
 HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
 BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.

SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
 IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY.
 AND COMFORT. SAFE
 SPEED

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker
 and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.

Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
 JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. Wm. WEBSTER, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.

Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40 pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins. Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 5 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION.

Limited,

921 Arch Street, Phila

Are You Going
To California?

The California Limited, Santa Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation car with spacious parlor, especially for use of ladies and children. 2½ days Chicago to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,

The Nicholson, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
 CHICAGO.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, NINTH MONTH 30, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 5 cents per line, one time; 4½ cents per line each insertion, five times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Draw~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XXXIX., . . .	737
POEM: JOY,	737
FRIENDS IN ENGLAND.—I.,	737
MAKING GOD A FACTOR: Paper by Dean Bond,	739
NEWTON MEETING, N. J.: A RETROSPECT (Conclusion),	740
ILLINOIS YEARLY MEETING,	741
AUSTRALIAN POLITICAL EXPERIENCE,	743
RELIGIOUS LIFE IN MEETINGS,	743
EDITORIALS:
The Doukhobors' Needs,	744
Notes,	744
BIRTHS, DEATHS,	744, 745
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	745
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No 41,	745
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	746
SWARTHMORE COLLEGE NOTES,	747
LITERARY NOTES,	747
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	748
COMMUNICATION:
A Note from Dr. Tyson,	748
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	748
POETRY: A Prayer,	749
A SOLDIER'S REPORT FROM MANILA,	749
CHAUTAUQUA,	750
THE HURRICANE IN PORTO RICO,	751
MISCELLANEOUS: The Colored People; Gems of Irish Speech; The Dreyfus Decision; Insurance a la Chinese, 751, 752
CURRENT EVENTS,	752
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	752
NOTICES,	iii

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

A GRADUATE IN ELOCUTION AND PHYSICAL Training desires position in a school. Address No. 104, this Office.

A WOMAN FRIEND, DESIRING TO TAKE UP one study in Philadelphia during the winter months, wishes to assist with housework, for board, lodging and slight remuneration. Address G, Office of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER.

FRIEND WANTS POSITION AS COMPANION, caretaker, and reader with invalid or elderly lady. Experienced. Address No. 99, this Office.

PERMANENT AND TRANSIENT BOARDERS desired in a Friends' family in Washington, D. C. Address SARAH R. MATTHEWS and SISTERS, 1920 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

WANTED.—UPSTAIRS MAID, CAPABLE AND willing, to assist in the care of two small children. Call or address 215 W. Miner Street, West Chester, Pa.

WANTED.—THREE UNFURNISHED ROOMS, one small, heated, central. Address No. 102, this Office.

WANTED.—SOME FAMILY TO ADOPT A girl of seven years, of legitimate parentage; a bright, affectionate, good child. Best references required. Apply to ALICE C. ROBINSON, Mt. Washington, Md.

WANTED.—A RELIABLE WOMAN TO DO general housework in small Friends' family; good home, within easy access of Philadelphia. State terms. Address L, INTELLIGENCER Office.

WANTED.—IN A PRIVATE FAMILY, BOARD and oversight for woman Friend, partial invalid; in city. Address No. 105, this Office.

WANTED.—A PHYSICIAN (WITH FAMILY) will find a good opening for the practice of his profession at Lincoln, Loudoun County, Va.—a large Friends settlement. For further particulars, address JOS. H. JEWELL, Lincoln, Va.

FLUSHING.

Corner of Sanford Ave. and King St.—To let or for sale; lot 100 feet front, 125 feet deep; a house of 7 bedrooms, parlor, dining-room, and library, roomy piazza, kitchen, and laundry; all improvements. Inquire of D. & J. MASTERS, 69 Main St., Flushing.

Young Friends' Association,
140 N. 15th Street,

will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to

ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a SELECT STOCK of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER.

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 North 13th Street.

Dr. Lewis W. Darlington,
DENTIST,

1513 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION.

A regular meeting of the Young Friends' Association will be held in the Lecture Room, Fifteenth and Race Streets, on Second-day evening, Tenth month 9, at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

PROGRAM.

"The Connection between Education and Religion," by John William Graham, to be read by Isabel Chambers.

Some of our members who have been in England the past summer have promised to participate in the discussion following the paper.

ESTHER S. STACKHOUSE, Secretary.

The Penington, 215 E. Fifteenth St., New York City.

Enlarged and remodelled, will re-open about Tenth month 1st. Permanent and transient boarding for Friends. Apply to A. L. GRIFFEN, 330 E. Seventeenth Street, New York City.

The Driftwood, WESLEY AVENUE AND SIXTH STREET. OCEAN CITY, N. J. Now open for the reception of guests. SARAH J. PAXSON & SISTERS.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City. The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE. Atlantic City, N. J. Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable. M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends. OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

Established 1810 at 84 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

REMOVED.

LIZZIE J. LAMBERT, Millinery,

Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,

To 1020 GREEN STREET.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK. CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna. JOSEPH L. JONES.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison? No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to. 1311 Market St., Phila.

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1225 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.
LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE
14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street Germantown

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.
For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.
For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Park Ave. Friends' Elementary and High School,

will open in the New Buildings NINTH MONTH 18, 1899. Co-educational. Prepares for any university, college, or for business. Board and tuition, $225 per school year. Send for Catalogue.

JOHN W. GREGG, M.A., Principal.
ELI M. LAMB, Associate Principal.
Park Place and Laurens St., Baltimore, Md.

Friends' Central School,

FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Notice of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or, Jenkintown, Pa.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.

Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 20th, 1899, (18th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.
ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction fit for business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.
For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,

Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St. (4th door bel. Chestnut St.),
PHILADELPHIA.

Carpets, Linoleum, Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

S. F. Balderston's Son, WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WALL PAPER of Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

395 SWEDEN STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

Blankets and Quilts

Our stock is complete in every detail and attractively priced throughout. Special values as follows:

Durable White Blankets—of generous size and weight, broad silk binding and handsome border colorings—$4.00 a pair.

Fine Fleece Wool White Blankets—extra large and heavy—$7 a pair.

Luxurious Blankets—direct from California, in solid colors—rose-pink or light blue, or in white with dainty border colorings—$12.00 a pair.

Satine-covered Down-filled Quilts—in French designs and handsome color combinations—$5.00 each.

Down Quilts—with covering of finest figured silks and handsome solid color satins—$15.00 each.

Marseilles Quilts—fast back and fine quality, in a variety of beautiful designs—$3.00 each.

MAIL ORDERS receive prompt and accurate attention. Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.

M. L. PHILIBERT, French Steam Dyer, Scourer, AND DRY CLEANER.

Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.

210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.
Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

F. GUTEKUNST, FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

Friends' Book Association, OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,
Kindergarten, School Supplies.
Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

NOTICES.

 A Circular Meeting, under the care of a Committee of Concord Quarterly Meeting, will be held at Birmingham, on First-day afternoon, Tenth month 1, 1899, at 3 o'clock, p. m.
MARY P. HARVEY, Clerk.

 Haddonfield First-day School Union will be held in Westfield meeting-house on Seventh-day, Ninth month 30, at 10 a. m. The subject, "How can our Young Friends' Associations best aid our Meetings?" will be opened by Moorestown School.
GEO. L. GILLINGHAM, } Clerks.
MARY A. BRADDOCK, }

 Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches as way may open will attend meetings as follows:

TENTH MONTH:

8. Appointed meeting, Radnor, 3 p. m.
22. Schuylkill, 10.30 a. m.

ELEVENTH MONTH:

5. Valley, 10 a. m.
19. Haverford, 10 a. m.
26. Reading, 10 a. m.

TWELFTH MONTH:

3. Germantown, 10.30 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

 Any changes in the times of holding meetings, or other needed corrections, should be sent as soon as may be to Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race street, Philadelphia, to enable them to issue the Almanac for 1900 at an early date.

 The Visiting Committee of Abington Union will visit Richland (Quakertown) First-day School on First-day, the 1st of Tenth month, at 10 o'clock a. m.

On behalf of Committee

MARY R. LIVEZEY, Clerk.

SAVE 1/2 Your FUEL
now wasted up chimney
BY USING THE ROCHESTER RADIATOR.
COST $2.00 AND UP.
Money refunded if not satisfactory.
Write for booklet on economy in heating homes.
ROCHESTER RADIATOR CO.,
45 Furnace Street, Rochester, N. Y.

 Quarterly and yearly meetings in Ninth month will be held as follows:
25. Canada Half-Yearly Mt'g, Yonge St.
30. Scipio, Scipio, N. Y.

WOULD you rather buy lamp-chimneys, one a week the year round, or one that lasts till some accident breaks it?

Tough glass, Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass," almost never break from heat, not one in a hundred.

Where can you get it? and what does it cost?

Your dealer knows where and how much. It costs more than common glass; and may be, he thinks tough glass isn't good for his business.

Our "Index" describes all lamps and their proper chimneys. With it you can always order the right size and shape of chimney for any lamp. We mail it FREE to any one who writes for it.

Address MACBETH, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Merchants' Trust Company,
611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
CAPITAL (paid in), 250,000.00
URPLUS, 50,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 39,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveying done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.
JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.
ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.
WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY, J. BOLTON WINPENNY,
S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHOADS, WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
JOHN F. LEWIS, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
THOMAS R. GILL, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, ALFRED I. PHILLIPS,
GEORGE M. WAGNER.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS.

LOW-RATE VACATION TRIPS VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

September 7 and 21 and October 5 and 19 are the dates of the remaining Pennsylvania Railroad popular ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, and intermediate points.

Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10.00 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and all points on the Delaware Division; $11.25 from Atlantic City; $9.60 from Lancaster; $8.50 from Altoona and Harrisburg; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $5.75 from Williamsport; and at proportionate rates from other points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo, Rochester, Canandaigua, and Watkins within the limit returning.

A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion. An extra charge will be made for parlor car seats.

An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion.

Tickets for a side trip to the Thousand Islands (Alexandria Bay) will be sold from Rochester in connection with excursions of September 7 and 21, good to return to Rochester or to Canandaigua via Syracuse within five days, at rate of $5.50.

Tickets for a side trip to Toronto will be sold at Niagara Falls for $1.00 on September 23. In connection with excursion of September 7, tickets will be sold to Toronto and return at reduced rates, account Toronto Fair.

For pamphlets giving full information and hotels, and for time of connecting trains, apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

AN AUTUMN OUTING.

GETTYSBURG, LURAY, NATURAL BRIDGE, HOT SPRINGS, RICHMOND, AND WASHINGTON.

An eleven-day personally-conducted tour of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to the Battlefield of Gettysburg, Luray Caverns, Natural Bridge, Virginia Hot Springs, and the cities of Richmond and Washington will leave New York and Philadelphia in a special train of parlor cars on Fifth-day, Tenth month 19. The party will be in charge of a tourist agent and an experienced chaperon. A whole day will be spent on the Battlefield of Gettysburg, a carriage drive with lectures by an able guide being included in the ticket. Ample time will be allowed at Luray and Natural Bridge to view the wondrous natural formations, and at the Hot Springs two days will be spent. The season at this great Autumn resort in the beautiful mountains of Virginia will be at its height. At Richmond and Washington opportunities will be presented to visit all the points of interest under intelligent guidance.

The round-trip rate, including all necessary expenses, is $65 from New York, $63 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points.

For detailed itinerary apply to Ticket Agents; to Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 4 Court street, Brooklyn; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

PAPA: "See the spider, my boy, spinning his web. Is it not wonderful? Do you reflect that, try as he may, no man could spin that web?"

JOHNNY: "What of it? See me spin his top! Do you reflect that, try as he may, no spider could spin his top?"

ARMSTRONG & McKEIVY
Pittsburgh.
BEYER-BAUMAN
Pittsburgh.
DAVEY-CHAMBERS
Pittsburgh.
FARNSTOCK
Pittsburgh.
ANGON } Chelmsford.
EUKSTEIN }
ATLANTIC }
BRADLEY }
BROOKLYN } New York.
JEWETT }
ULSTER }
UNION }
SOUTHERN } Chicago.
SHIPMAN }
COLLIER }
MISSOURI } St. Louis.
RED SEAL }
SOUTHERN }
JOHN T. LEWIS & BROS CO
Philadelphia.
MORLEY } Cleveland.
SALEM }
CORNELL } Buffalo.
KENTUCKY } Louisville.

"THERE is a vast difference between an unsupported assertion and a demonstrated fact."

Our assertion that Pure White Lead made by the "old Dutch process" of slow corrosion is far superior to White Lead made by patent or quick processes, has been demonstrated by the experience of competent, practical painters everywhere. Comparative tests made by employees or parties interested do not prove anything.

FREE By using National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, any desired shade is readily obtained. Pamphlet giving valuable information and card showing samples of colors free; also folder showing picture of house painted in different designs or various styles or combinations of shades forwarded upon application to those intending to paint.

National Lead Co., 100 William St., New York.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY

N. E. Cor. Broad and Chestnut Sts.

Capital, $1,000,000. Chartered 1836 Surplus, $2,000,000.

ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, AND RECEIVER.
 FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INDIVIDUALS OR CORPORATIONS.
 INTEREST ALLOWED ON INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATION ACCOUNTS.
 ACTS AS TRUSTEE OF CORPORATION MORTGAGES.
 DEPOSITARY UNDER PLANS OF REORGANIZATION.
 REGISTRAR AND TRANSFER AGENT.
 ASSUMES ENTIRE CHARGE OF REAL ESTATE.
 SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

E. B. MORRIS, President.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
 President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA B. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President, HARRY F. WEST. Vice-President, GEORGE K. JOHNSON. Secretary and Treasurer, HENRY C. BROWN.

BOSTON BINDER FOR Friends' Intelligencer

Will hold a full year, by packing close. Better, if used for half year.
 Price, 25 cents, including postage, if sent by mail.

By having your papers together, you have at the end of the year a valuable volume, of over 1000 pages of reading matter.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
 NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
 HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.
 SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
 IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to
 READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS
 IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to
 ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
 AND COMFORT. SPEED.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,
Undertaker
and Embalmer,
1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.
 Telephone 2-26-25-A.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

EASTERN NEBRASKA INVESTMENTS.

Long or Short Time.
 Netting 5½ per cent Interest. With Perfect Security.

Collection of interest and principal attended to without cost to investor. Correspondence invited.

BANK OF MONROE, Monroe, Platte Co., Neb.
 JOSEPH WEBSTER, President. Wm. Webster, Cashier.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILADA.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.
 FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.

Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 6 pp., 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins. Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 3 cents; 5 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp.; 5 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION
 Limited,
 921 Arch Street, Phila

Read These Books

TO CALIFORNIA AND BACK.
 176 pp., 176 illustrations.
 5 cts.
 THE MOKI SNAKE DANCE.
 60 pp., 64 illustrations.
 3 cts.
 GRAND CANON OF ARIZONA.
 32 pp., 15 illustrations.
 8 cts.
 NEW MEXICO HEALTH RESORTS.
 80 pp., 31 illustrations.
 2 cts.
 ARIZONA HEALTH RESORTS.
 72 pp., 18 illustrations.
 8 cts.
 LAS VEGAS HOT SPRINGS.
 48 pp., 39 illustrations.
 8 cts.

Mailed free
 for postage named

They tell the story of wonderful sights and scenes, and resorts for tourists and seekers in the Great West.

 They are published by the

Santa Fe Route.

are literary and artistic, and will make you better acquainted with the attractions of your own land.

C. A. HIGGINS,
 A.G.P.A., A.T. & S.F. R'y, CHICAGO.
 Great Northern Bldg.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, TENTH MONTH 7, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 5 cents per line, one time; 4½ cents per line each insertion, five times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XL., . . .	753
VERSES: CONSCIENCE,	753
FRIENDS IN ENGLAND.—II.,	753
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No 42,	754
THE NEW ARBITRATION SYSTEM, . . .	755
NO "CLERGY" IN THE EARLY CHURCH, .	756
THE TYRANNY OF LITERATURE, . . .	757
FALSE AMBITION,	757
A PASSAGE FROM JOHN RUSKIN, . . .	757
EDITORIAL PARAGRAPHS,	758
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS, . . .	758, 759
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	759
A VISIT TO INDIANA FRIENDS.—III., .	760
LETTER FROM ISAIAH LIGHTNER, . . .	761
PROHIBITION IN MAINE,	761
W. M. JACKSON APPROVED,	762
FRIENDS CONNECTED WITH THE ORIGIN OF FOUR UNIVERSITIES,	763
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	764
LITERARY NOTES,	764
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	765
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., .	765
COMMUNICATION:
Semi-Centenary Women's Medical Col- lege,	766
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	766
INTELLIGENCER DOUKHOBOR FUND, . .	766
POETRY: If We Obeyed; Morning: Even- ing,	766
UNITED STATES TEA INSPECTION, . . .	767
MISCELLANY: Colored Industrial Home, Columbia, S. C.; Women's Degrees in Germany; Stood his Ground, . . .	767
CURRENT EVENTS,	768
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	768
NOTICES,	iii

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

A GRADUATE IN ELOCUTION AND PHYSICAL TRAINING desires position in a school. Address No. 104, this Office.

WANTED.—LIBRARIAN.—THE DARBY LIBRARY Company desires a suitable person with small family to act as librarian and caretaker. Compensation:—House rent, heat, light, and small additional salary. Apply to MORGAN HUNTING Secretary, Darby, Penn.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

PERMANENT AND TRANSIENT BOARDERS desired in a Friends' family in Washington, D. C. Address SARAH R. MATTHEWS and SISTERS, 1920 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

WANTED.—THREE UNFURNISHED ROOMS, one small, heated, central. Address No. 102, this Office.

WANTED.—A PHYSICIAN (WITH FAMILY) will find a good opening for the practice of his profession at Lincoln, Loudoun County, Va.—a large Friends settlement. For further particulars, address JOS. H. JEWETT, Lincoln, Va.

WANTED.—AT ONCE, A LARGE BOY OR MAN who can milk five cows. A good home and reasonable wages. A Friend preferred. WILLIAM K. HALLOWELL, Toughkenamon, Chester County, Pa.

1928 CHESTNUT STREET, VACANCIES single and en suite, for refined guests. Table board. Best reference. ALICE ROBERTS WILLIAMS.

FOR SALE.

A ten room house in the village of Mickleton, N. J. Fourteen miles from Philadelphia. One-third acre of ground with stable. Good train service. Near Friends' meeting and school; convenient to post office, store and station.

JOSEPH E. HAINES, 1500 Race Street, Phila.

FLUSHING.

Corner of Sanford Ave. and King St.—To let or for sale; lot 100 feet front, 125 feet deep; a house of 7 bedrooms, parlor, dining-room, and library, roomy piazza, kitchen, and laundry; all improvements. Inquire of D. & J. MASTERS, 63 Main St., Flushing.

Young Friends' Association,
140 N. 15th Street,

will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to

ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a SELECT STOCK of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER.

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 North 13th Street.

The Penington, 215 E. Fifteenth St., New York City.

Enlarged and remodelled, will re-open about Tenth month 1st. Permanent and transient boarding for Friends. Apply to A. L. GRIFFEN, 330 E. Seventeenth Street, New York City.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 2714 Woodstock Street, }

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION.

A regular meeting of the Young Friends' Association will be held in the Lecture Room, Fifteenth and Race Streets, on Second-day evening, Tenth month 9, at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

PROGRAM.

"The Connection between Education and Religion," by John William Graham, to be read by Isabel Chambers.

Some of our members who have been in England the past summer have promised to participate in the discussion following the paper.

ESTHER S. STACKHOUSE, Secretary.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.

The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.

Atlantic City, N. J.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.
OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

Established 1820 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD.

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

REMOVED.

LIZZIE J. LAMBERT, Millinery,

Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,

To 1020 GREEN STREET.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.

Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains a specialty.

210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,
(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Park Ave. Friends' Elementary and High School,

will open in the New Buildings NINTH MONTH 18, 1899. Co-educational. Prepares for any university, college, or for business. Board and tuition, $25 per school year. Send for Catalogue.

JOHN W. GREGG, M.A., Principal.
ELI M. LAMB, Associate Principal.

Park Place and Laurens St., Baltimore, Md.

Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or, Jenkintown, Pa.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y. Ogontz, Pa.Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 20th, 1899, (18th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.WILLIAM S. YARNALL,

Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St. (4th door bel. Chestnut St.),
PHILADELPHIA.Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.LAW }
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE }
14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia
Residence 216 W. Coulter Street GermantownCarpetings, Linoleum,*Window Shades, etc.*Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.

All Grades.

Estimates Given.

Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WALL PAPER of

Attractive Styles

Popular Prices

Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Ellwood Heacock,UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
{ Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDEN STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

California Blankets

We carry large lines of these excellent Blankets, because they give complete satisfaction, though no more expensive than the other sorts of equal grades. These Blankets are manufactured in California from the purest of native wools; are carefully made to preserve the natural softness of the fleece, though strong and durable. We quote a few prices on these very desirable goods:

Size 11-4, or 72x84 inches—all pure wool Blankets—now specially priced at $5.50 a pair.

Size 12-4, or 76x84 inches—all pure wool Blankets, with handsome border colorings in dainty pink and light blue—great value at $8.50 a pair.

Size 13-4, or 81x88 inches—all pure fleece wool Blankets, of extra heavy texture, very substantial—at $12.00 a pair.

Size 10-4, or 60x82 inches—fine California Blankets for single beds and for twin metal bedsteads—specially priced at $6.00 a pair.

Crib Blankets—a superior quality of fine California Blankets in crib sizes, with dainty border colorings: 36x50 inches—$3.50; 42x56 inches—$4.00 a pair.

MAIL ORDERS receive prompt and accurate attention. Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,
PHILADELPHIA.F. GUTEKUNST,

FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

Friends' Book Association,
OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers.

Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers.

Artists' Materials,

Kindergarten, School Supplies.

Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Sts.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

NOTICES.

* * Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches as way may open will attend meetings as follows:

TENTH MONTH:

- 8. Appointed meeting, Radnor, 3 p. m.
- 22. Schuylkill, 10.30 a. m.

ELEVENTH MONTH:

- 5. Valley, 10 a. m.
- 19. Haverford, 10 a. m.
- 26. Reading, 10 a. m.

TWELFTH MONTH:

- 3. Germantown, 10.30 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

* * Any changes in the times of holding meetings, or other needed corrections, should be sent as soon as may be to Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race street, Philadelphia, to enable them to issue the Almanac for 1900 at an early date.

* * The annual meeting of Philadelphia First-day School Union will be held in Friends' meeting-house, 15th and Race streets (Room No 1), on Sixth-day evening, Tenth month 13, 1899, at 8 o'clock.

The several First-day Schools are requested to send delegates and reports, and all interested Friends are cordially invited to attend.

ROBERT PEARSON, } Clerks.
ANNA A. EMLEY, }

* * The regular meeting of Concord First-day School Union will be held at Concord meeting-house, on Seventh-day, Tenth month 21, 1899, convening at 10 a. m. All interested are invited to attend.

HERBERT P. WORTH, } Clerks.
ANNA P. SMEDLEY, }

* * The next Conference under the care of Concord Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Philanthropic Labor will be held at the meeting-house at Providence (Media), on First-day, Tenth month 15, 1899, at 2.30 p. m.

CHARLES PALMER, Clerk.

* * A Circular Meeting under the care of the Western Quarterly Meeting will be held at London Grove, on First-day, Tenth month 8, 1899, to convene at 3 o'clock, p. m.

O. F. PASSMORE, Clerk.

At the recent first congress of Russian dentists it was decided to petition the government to appoint a visiting dentist for every school and high school in the empire.

THE United States imports about 90,000,000 pounds of tea a year, two-thirds of it through the port of New York. Only four ports, New York, Chicago, San Francisco, and Tacoma are open to the import of tea. By a law passed in 1897, there is a strict system of inspection, and native growers in the Orient say that the purest teas come to the United States.

THOMAS A. EDISON says that he has invented an electric process for extracting gold from sand. "This," he said, "is certainly the biggest thing I ever invented. Near Santa Fé, New Mexico, there is a region of 100 square miles, containing gold worth $800,000,000, that would have remained there had this process not been discovered. That gold will now be taken out and added to the world's supply. There are large gold deposits elsewhere that the process will also make available."

ARMSTRONG & McKEIVY }
Pittsburgh.
BEYMER-BAUMAN }
Pittsburgh.
DAVIS-CHAMBERS }
Pittsburgh.
FAHNESTOCK }
Pittsburgh.
ANCHOR }
Cincinnati.
ROKSTEIN }
ATLANTIC }
BRADLEY }
BROOKLYN }
New York.
JEWETT }
ULSTER }
UNION }
SOUTHERN }
Chicago.
SHIPMAN }
COLLIER }
MISSOURI }
St. Louis.
RED SEAL }
SOUTHERN }

JOHN T. LEWIS & BROS CO }
Philadelphia.
MORLEY }
Cleveland.
BAKEM }
Salem, Mass.
CORNELL }
Buffalo.
KENTUCKY }
Louisville.

National Lead Co., 100 William St., New York.

DWELLING house in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., built one hundred years ago, has always been painted with Pure White Lead and Linseed Oil—nothing else.

There is not a crack, blister, blemish or imperfection of any kind in the paint. Makers of mixtures, beat this record if you can!

Be sure the brand is right. Those in margin are genuine, and made by "old Dutch process."

FREE By using National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, any desired shade is readily obtained. Pamphlet giving valuable information and card showing samples of colors free; also folder showing picture of house painted in different designs or various styles or combinations of shades forwarded upon application to those intending to paint.

Criss-Cross CEREALS

Seven food products—prevent and relieve diabetes, dyspepsia, debility, etc. Ask dealers. Unlike all others. Look for criss-cross lines. Pamphlet and sample offer mailed free.

K. C. WHOLE WHEAT FLOUR. Prevents constipation and liver troubles. GLUTEN CRITS, New health breakfast food. PANSY Pastry Flour, Finest made. FARWELL & RHINES, Watertown, N. Y., U. S. A.

SAVE 1/2 Your FUEL
now wasted up chimney
BY USING THE ROCHESTER RADIATOR.
COST $2.00 AND UP.
Money refunded if not satisfactory.
Write for booklet on economy in heating homes.
ROCHESTER RADIATOR CO.,
45 Furnace Street, Rochester, N. Y.

VALLEY FORGE.

Forever memorable as the scene of the encampment of Washington's army during the dark winter of 1777-78. It is located on the Main Line of the Philadelphia & Reading Railway, about 25 miles from Philadelphia. The stone house occupied by General Washington as his headquarters still stands as it stood in Revolutionary days and the line of entrenchments thrown up by the "Ragged Continentals" may still be seen, as well as the ruins of the ancient forge from which the place derives its name. The locality is also noted for the natural beauty of the scenery surrounding it and is very well worth a visit. The Philadelphia & Reading Railway sell excursion tickets from Philadelphia and run frequent trains to and from Valley Forge.

IN 1885, the American Architect took a vote to name the ten "most beautiful" buildings in the United States. The following were declared: 1, Trinity Church, Boston; 2, United States Capitol, Washington; 3, W. K. Vanderbilt's house, New York; 4, Trinity Church, New York; 5, Jefferson Market Court House, New York; 6, State Capitol, Hartford, Conn.; 7, City Hall, Albany, N. Y.; 8, Sever Hall, Cambridge, Mass.; 9, State Capitol, Albany, N. Y.; 10, Town Hall, North Easton, Mass.

AN AUTUMN OUTING.

GETTYSBURG, LURAY, NATURAL BRIDGE, HOT SPRINGS, RICHMOND, AND WASHINGTON.

An eleven-day personally-conducted tour of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to the Battlefield of Gettysburg, Luray Caverns, Natural Bridge, Virginia Hot Springs, and the cities of Richmond and Washington will leave New York and Philadelphia in a special train of parlor cars on Fifth-day, Tenth month 19. The party will be in charge of a tourist agent and an experienced chaperon. A whole day will be spent on the Battlefield of Gettysburg, a carriage drive with lectures by an able guide being included in the ticket. Ample time will be allowed at Luray and Natural Bridge to view the wondrous natural formations, and at the Hot Springs two days will be spent. The season at this great Autumn resort in the beautiful mountains of Virginia will be at its height. At Richmond and Washington opportunities will be presented to visit all the points of interest under intelligent guidance.

The round-trip rate, including all necessary expenses, is $65 from New York, $63 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points.

For detailed itinerary apply to Ticket Agents; to Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 4 Court street, Brooklyn; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

EX-SECRETARY OF STATE Sherman says that when he was in the cabinet a prominent man applied personally to him for a consular post in China. He replied that he always wanted to appoint men who spoke the language of the country to which they were sent. "Now you do not, I presume, speak Chinese," he concluded. "Certainly I do," answered the applicant. "Ask me something in Chinese, and I'll reply."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY

N. E. Cor. Broad and Chestnut Sts.

Capital, $1,000,000. Chartered 1836 Surplus, $2,000,000.

ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, AND RECEIVER.
FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INDIVIDUALS OR CORPORATIONS.
INTEREST ALLOWED ON INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATION ACCOUNTS.
SAVES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

E. B. MORRIS, President.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St. Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA S. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALSOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3½ MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President, HARRY F. WEST. Vice-President, GEORGE K. JOHNSON. Secretary and Treasurer, HENRY C. BROWN.

BOSTON BINDER

FOR

Friends' Intelligencer

Will hold a full year, by packing close. Better, if used for half year.

Price, 25 cents, including postage, if sent by mail.

By having your papers together, you have at the end of the year a valuable volume, of over 1000 pages of reading matter.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to New York.
SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to
READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS
IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to ATLANTIC AND COME
SPEED.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker
and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.
FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.

Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40 pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins. Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 2 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION Limited,

921 Arch Street, Phila

SPECIAL THERMOMETERS.

With porcelain scale.

Forty-five cents.

H. C. Boden & Co.

Manufacturing Opticians.

S. E. Cor. 13th & Walnut Streets.

Are You Going To California?

The California Limited, Santa Fe Route, gives the best and speediest service. Through dining car, and observation car with spacious parlor, especially for use of ladies and children. 2½ days Chicago to Los Angeles.

Address General Passenger Office,

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway,
CHICAGO.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, TENTH MONTH 14, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 5 cents per line, one time; 4½ cents per line each insertion, five times. For longer insertion reduced rates, which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Do not~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XLI., . . .	769
POETRY: LINES FROM LANDOR,	769
FRIENDS IN ENGLAND.—III.,—The Adult Schools,	769
NOTES OF A VISIT TO DOUKHOBOR VILLAGES,	770
WEST CHESTER CENTENNIAL ODE: By Prof. J. Russell Hayes,	772
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No 43,	774
EDUCATION OF WOMEN,	775
THE FOLDED HANDS,	775
EDITORIAL:
A Symptom, Not the Disease,	776
Notes,	776
MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	777
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	777
THE GERMAN FRIENDS AT MINDEN, . . .	777
LENGTH OF MEETINGS,	778
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	778
LITERARY NOTES,	779
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . .	779
CHARITABLE REPORTS,	780
THE PARIASHS OF INDIA,	780
COMMUNICATION:
"Thou Does,"	781
POETRY: The One I Miss,	781
THE DESERTED HOUSE: By Ely J. Smith, .	781
MISCELLANY: An English Minister's Testimony; Monument to Indians; An Old Colored Man Dead; English Fruit-Growing under Glass; The South African Gold Fields; Practical Forestry Teaching,	782, 783
CURRENT EVENTS,	783
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	784
NOTICES,	iii

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

PERMANENT AND TRANSIENT BOARDERS desired in a Friends' family in Washington, D. C. Address SARAH R. MATTHEWS and SISTERS, 1920 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

WANTED.—THREE UNFURNISHED ROOMS, one small, heated, central. Address No. 102, this Office.

WANTED.—A PHYSICIAN (WITH FAMILY) will find a good opening for the practice of his profession at Lincoln, Loudoun County, Va.—a large Friends' settlement. For further particulars, address JOS. H. JEWETT, Lincoln, Va.

WANTED.—BY THREE WORKING GIRLS, board, between Arch and Spruce, Fifteenth and Ninth Streets. Heated room. Address, No. 106 this Office.

FOR SALE.

A ten room house in the village of Mickleton, N. J. Fourteen miles from Philadelphia. One-third acre of ground with stable. Good train service. Near Friends' meeting and school; convenient to post office, store and station.
JOSEPH E. HAINES, 1500 Race Street, Phila.

FLUSHING.

Corner of Sanford Ave. and King St.—To let or for sale; lot 100 feet front, 125 feet deep; a house of 7 bedrooms, parlor, dining-room, and library, roomy piazza, kitchen, and laundry; all improvements. Inquire of D. & J. MASTERS, 69 Main St., Flushing.

Fruen's Wheat Wafers

BEST

In two-pound Packages.

Made from the Best Selected
Washington State White Wheat.

The largest, richest and finest flavored Wheat
in the world.

After the defective and imperfect grains are separated, it has the outside woody hull, which is both indigestible and irritating, stripped off. It is then thoroughly cleaned, and finally rolled out into perfect and peerless wafers or flakes, the most perfect food for mankind known.

A great nerve, brain and muscle food, delicious and unequalled as a breakfast food or for puddings, omelets, griddle cakes, or mixed with any stewed fruit.

Gives children strong constitutions, rosy cheeks, good eyes, strong nerves, sound teeth, and to grown persons an active brain and strength of nerve and muscle.

Taking beef as a standard, at 18 cents per pound, Fruen's Best Wheat Wafer's food value is over 50 cents per pound.

Superior to Oat-meal, as while it is more perfectly nourishing it does not over-heat the blood or irritate the stomach like oatmeal.

A. R. HILL, 21 S. Front St., Phila.
Wholesale Agt. for Fruen Cereal Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.

Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.

210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.
Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
Atlantic City, N. J.
Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

New Arborton, Kept by Friends.
OCEAN GROVE, N. J.

New house, nicely located, near hot sea-water baths; one-half block from the ocean.

For particulars address

HANNAH BORTON,

No. 7 Sea View Avenue, Ocean Grove, N. J.

The Penington, 215 E. Fifteenth St.,
New York City.

Enlarged and remodelled, will re-open about Tenth month 1st. Permanent and transient boarding for Friends. Apply to A. L. GRIFFEN, 330 E. Seventeenth Street, New York City.

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

REMOVED.

LIZZIE J. LAMBERT, Millinery,
Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,
To 1020 GREEN STREET.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a SELECT STOCK of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER.

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 North 13th Street.

Young Friends' Association,

140 N. 15th Street,

will close for the summer on Seventh-day, Sixth month 17th, 1899. All communications regarding Association work should be sent to

ELIZA H. WORRELL, 1424 N. Bouvier St.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

CHARLES BURTON,
Practical House and Sign Painter,
Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,
(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Park Ave. Friends' Elementary and High School,

will open in the New Buildings NINTH MONTH 18, 1899. Co-educational. Prepares for any university, college, or for business. Board and tuition, $25 per school year. Send for Catalogue.

JOHN W. GREGG, M.A., Principal.ELI M. LAMB, Associate Principal.

Park Place and Laurens St., Baltimore, Md.

Friends' Central School,
FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON,
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, } Principals.

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,Or,
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Martin Academy,

KENNETT SQUARE, PENNSYLVANIA.

Under care of Friends. A Day School for both sexes. Liberal course, thorough work. Expenses very low. Boarding in private families at reasonable rates. For Catalogue, address,

EDGAR STINSON, Principal.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 20th, 1899, (18th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK,

LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Makes Sweet, White Bread.

Pillsbury's Best Flour, being made from hard spring wheat and not from soft winter wheat, requires more kneading than does winter wheat flour. Pillsbury's Best Flour also will work much better when thoroughly dried out, by keeping it a day in some warm place. Well kneaded and well dried, Pillsbury's Best Flour makes most beautiful, sweet, white bread.

PILLSBURY-WASHBURN FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
MAKERS OF PILLSBURY'S VITOS.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Ellwood Heacock,UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

Friends' Book Association,
OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,
Kindergarten, School Supplies.
Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

NOTICES.

. Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting's Committee to visit the smaller branches as way may open will attend meetings as follows:

TENTH MONTH:

22. Schuylkill, 10.30 a. m.

ELEVENTH MONTH:

5. Valley, 10 a. m.

19. Haverford, 10 a. m.

26. Reading, 10 a. m.

TWELFTH MONTH:

3. Germantown, 10.30 a. m.

AQUILA J. LINVILL, Clerk.

. Any changes in the times of holding meetings, or other needed corrections, should be sent as soon as may be to Friends' Book Association, 1500 Race street, Philadelphia, to enable them to issue the Almanac for 1900 at an early date.

. The regular meeting of Concord First-day School Union will be held at Concord meeting-house, on Seventh-day, Tenth month 21, 1899, convening at 10 a. m. All interested are invited to attend.

HERBERT P. WORTH, } Clerks.
ANNA P. SMEDLEY, }

. The next Conference under the care of Concord Quarterly Meeting's Committee on Philanthropic Labor will be held in the meeting-house at Providence (Media), on First-day, Tenth month 15, 1899, at 2.30 p. m.

CHARLES PALMER, Clerk.

. The Monthly Meeting of Friends of Philadelphia, held at Race Street, will take place on Fourth-day next, the 18th, in the evening, at 7.30 o'clock.

. The Philanthropic Committee of Abington Quarterly Meeting will hold a Conference at Upper Dublin Friends' meeting-house, on First-day, the 22d of Tenth month, at 3 o'clock. Subject, "Peace and Arbitration."

J. Q. ATKINSON, } Clerks.
ARABELLA CARTER, }

. The fall meeting of the Abington First-day School Union will be held at Upper Dublin Friends' meeting-house, Seventh-day, Tenth month 21, 1899, convening at 10 a. m. All interested are invited to attend.

MARY H. FORMAN, Clerk.

JOSEPH S. EVANS, Assistant Clerk.

. The Visiting Committee of Salem Quarterly Meeting have appointed a meeting to be held at Elmer, N. J., on Tenth month 15, at 2.30 p. m. A portion of the committee will visit Alloways Creek Meeting, on Tenth month 22, at 10 a. m.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.
LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER.
SCIENCE }
14 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.

WALL PAPER of
Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

YOUR dealer in lamp-chimneys—what does he get for you?

You can't be an expert in chimneys; but this you can do. Insist on Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass" whichever shape you require. They are right in all those ways; and they do not break from heat, not one in a hundred. Be willing to pay a nickel more for them.

Our "Index" describes all lamps and their proper chimneys. With it you can always order the right size and shape of chimney for any lamp. We mail it FREE to any one who writes for it.

Address MACBETH, Pittsburgh, Pa.

SAVE 1/2 Your FUEL
now wasted up chimney
BY USING THE ROCHESTER RADIATOR.
COST $2.00 AND UP.
Money refunded if not satisfactory.
Write for booklet on economy in heating homes.
ROCHESTER RADIATOR CO.,
45 Furnace Street, Rochester, N. Y.

LODGING ARRANGEMENTS.

Friends desiring to avail themselves of the accommodation for lodging furnished at Park Avenue meeting house, Baltimore, are requested to forward their applications as promptly as possible. The rooms will be ready for occupancy on Sixth-day evening, 27th of Tenth month, for those who wish to attend the sessions of the meeting of ministers and elders, on Seventh-day.

For those who cannot be accommodated at the meeting-house, or who may prefer to lodge elsewhere, board or lodging, or both, can be obtained in the neighborhood, at a moderate cost. The Committee is prepared to furnish names and residences of those who offer such accommodations.

Applications may be addressed to any of the following Friends:

RACHEL R. HOLT, 817 W. North Ave., Balto.
SALLIE H. STARR, 308 E. LaFayette Ave., Balto.
Sub. Committee of the Committee on Entertainment, or to BERTHA JANNEY, 1807 Bolton St., Balto.

Secretary of the General Committee.
N. B.—In making application, Friends will please name the day on which they expect to reach Baltimore.

Baltimore Yearly Meeting.

RAILROAD ARRANGEMENTS.

Friends desiring to attend the approaching Baltimore Yearly Meeting, are informed that arrangements have been made with the railroad companies so that those near the following railroads can obtain excursion tickets to Baltimore and return at a special rate of one and one-third fare.

By applying personally or by letter to the undersigned, or at the store of Friends' Book Association, southwest corner of Fifteenth and Race streets, Philadelphia, card orders on the ticket agents for tickets may be obtained of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Pennsylvania Railroad Division,—any point east of Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Erie Division, United Railroads of New Jersey Division, West Jersey Railroad, Philadelphia, Wilmington, & Baltimore Railroad, Philadelphia & Baltimore Central Railroad, Baltimore & Potomac Railroad, Northern Central Railway, and the Alexandria & Fredericksburg Railway. Also the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, east of the Ohio river and south of New York city, or other leased or affiliated lines within these limits.

Tickets may be purchased from the 25th to the 31st of Tenth month, inclusive, with limit of expiration Eleventh month 7th, 1899, inclusive.

These orders are not valid if presented at any point where the excursion rate is less than twenty-five cents. When orders are to be forwarded by mail a two-cent stamp should be enclosed to pay postage. Applicants will state specifically what railroad or what system they wish to come over.

EDWARD STABLER, JR.,
6 South St., Baltimore.
W. THOMAS STARR,
North and Centre Sts., Baltimore.

Merchants' Trust Company,

611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
CAPITAL (paid in), 250,000.00
SURPLUS, 50,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 30,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveyancing done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.

JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.

ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.

WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS.

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY, J. BOLTON WINFENNY,
S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHOADS, WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
JOHN F. LEWIS, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
THOMAS R. GILL, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, ALFRED I. PHILLIPS,
GEORGE M. WAGNER.

AN AUTUMN OUTING.

GETTYSBURG, LURAY, NATURAL BRIDGE, HOT SPRINGS, RICHMOND, AND WASHINGTON.

An eleven-day personally-conducted tour of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to the Battlefield of Gettysburg, Luray Caverns, Natural Bridge, Virginia Hot Springs, and the cities of Richmond and Washington will leave New York and Philadelphia in a special train of parlor cars on Fifth-day, Tenth month 19. The party will be in charge of a tourist agent and an experienced chaperon. A whole day will be spent on the Battlefield of Gettysburg, a carriage drive with lectures by an able guide being included in the ticket. Ample time will be allowed at Luray and Natural Bridge to view the wondrous natural formations, and at the Hot Springs two days will be spent. The season at this great Autumn resort in the beautiful mountains of Virginia will be at its height. At Richmond and Washington opportunities will be presented to visit all the points of interest under intelligent guidance.

The round-trip rate, including all necessary expenses, is $65 from New York, $63 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points.

For detailed itinerary apply to Ticket Agents; to Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 4 Court street, Brooklyn; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.

Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.

QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40 pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins. Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 2 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION,
Limited,

921 Arch Street, Phila

ALUMINIUM, which had no commercial existence a few years ago, was produced in the United States in 1898 to the extent of 5,200,000 pounds, valued at $1,716,000, or 33 cents a pound, which is one-tenth of the cost ten years ago.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY

N. E. Cor. Broad and Chestnut Sts.

Capital, $1,000,000. Chartered 1836 Surplus, $2,000,000.

ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, AND RECEIVER.

FINANCIAL AGENT FOR INDIVIDUALS OR CORPORATIONS.

INTEREST ALLOWED ON INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATION ACCOUNTS.

ACTS AS TRUSTEE OF CORPORATION MORTGAGES.

DEPOSITORY UNDER PLANS OF REORGANIZATION.

REGISTRAR AND TRANSFER AGENT. ASSUMES ENTIRE CHARGE OF REAL ESTATE.

SAFES TO RENT IN BURGLAR-PROOF VAULTS.

E. B. MORRIS, President.

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia

409 Chestnut St.

Capital, $1,000,000, Fully Paid.

INSURES LIVES, GRANTS ANNUITIES, RECEIVES MONEY ON DEPOSIT, ACTS AS EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, GUARDIAN, TRUSTEE, ASSIGNEE, COMMITTEE, RECEIVER, AGENT, ETC.

All Trust Funds and Investments are kept separate and apart from the assets of the Company.
President, SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY; Vice-President, T. WISTAR BROWN; Vice-President and Actuary, ASA B. WING; Manager of Insurance Department, JOSEPH ASHBROOKE; Trust Officer, J. ROBERTS FOULKE; Assistant Trust Officer, J. BARTON TOWNSEND; Assistant Actuary, DAVID G. ALBOP.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company furnishes ALL DESIRABLE FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT INSURANCE at actual NET COST. It is PURELY MUTUAL; has ASSETS OF THIRTY MILLIONS, and a SURPLUS of over 3 1/4 MILLIONS. ITS POLICIES ARE NON-FORFEITABLE AND INCONTESTABLE.

President,
HARRY F. WEST.

Vice-President,
GEORGE K. JOHNSON.

Secretary and Treasurer,
HENRY C. BROWN.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,

Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St. (4th door bel. Chestnut St.),
PHILADELPHIA.

SHOTS AT RANDOM,

A Book of Poems,

By Howell Stroud England.

To be had at all booksellers. Price one dollar.

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY
New York City, 1899.

Mr. England writes smoothly and with poetic feeling.
—Chicago Times-Herald.

Carpetings, Linoleum,

Window Shades, etc.

Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

S. F. Balderston's Son, WALL PAPERS.

All Grades. Estimates Given.
Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Pa.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.

ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.

Royal Blue Line to N

SWIFTEST AND SAFE
IN THE WORLD.

Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route to

ATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND
SPEED.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker
and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-28-25-A.

J. T. JACKSON & CO., Real Estate Brokers,

No. 711 WALNUT ST., PHILA.

Rents, Sales, Mortgages, etc., etc.

PETER WRIGHT & SONS

305-307 WALNUT ST., PHILAD'A.

LETTERS OF CREDIT for Travelers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE bought and sold.

The purchase and sale of Prime Investment Securities a Specialty.

Loans negotiated on Real Estate. Interest allowed on deposits.

SPECIAL THERMOMETERS.

With porcelain scale.

Forty-five cents.

H. C. Boden & Co.

Manufacturing Opticians.

S. E. Cor. 13th & Walnut Streets.

Flannels and Waists

We are fully prepared to meet the unusual demand for this popular fabric for waists. Special care has been exercised in the selection of fashionable designs in the plaids and checks, and the proper shades in the solid colors:

Fine French Printed Flannels—direct importations, just arrived; the handsomest and best grades obtainable—at 65 cents a yard.

Plain French Flannels—in twenty different solid colors, including the popular marine blue—at 50 cents a yard.

Ceylon Flannels—both plain and twilled weaves, in handsome plaids and stripes, entirely new and highly desirable—at 35 cents a yard.

Samples sent upon request.

Strawbridge & Clothier, PHILADELPHIA.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWEDD STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

F. GUTEKUNST, FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, 921 ARCH STREET, TENTH MONTH 28, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $8.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $6.00 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: 921 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XLIII., . . .	801
POETRY: ALL'S WELL,	801
FRIENDS IN ENGLAND.—V.,	801
EDUCATION AND RELIGION. By John Wm. Graham,	802
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSON, No. 45,	804
RELIGION AND PUBLIC SPIRIT,	805
EDITORIAL:
Removal: Notice,	806
"National Greatness," and "Patriotism," Notes,	806
MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	807
THE DOUKHOBORS,	807
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
Ohio Yearly Meeting,	807
Notes,	808
THE FIRST-DAY SCHOOLS:
An Object Lesson,	808
THOU, THERE, YOU, YE,	809
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT:
Course of Study in Friends' Schools,	810
Notes,	810
LITERARY NOTES,	811
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	811
COMMUNICATIONS:
Giving to Friends' Charities,	812
MT. PLEASANT SCHOOL, S. C.,	813
POETRY, Life's Afterglow; To Canon Rawnsley,	813
ARMS AND EDUCATION,	814
THE EARLY CHRISTIAN CHURCH,	815
PRESSING NEEDS OF THE DOUKHOBORS,	815
A RHODE ISLAND MEETING,	815
KINDNESS GROWS SLOWLY,	816
MISCELLANY: At the Bottom of the Dreyfus Case; Lincoln's Mercifulness; The Russian Calendar; Speaker Reed on French Justice; Glasgow's Water Supply; Remedies for Insomnia; Unsuitable Month Names,	817, 817
CURRENT EVENTS,	818
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	818
NOTICES,	819

Removal.

The offices of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER will be removed about Tenth month 31, to rooms on the second floor of the new Building of Young Friends' Association, at 15th and Cherry Streets, Philadelphia.

WANTED—IN A SMALL SCHOOL NEAR New York city, an industrious housekeeper. Should be able to instruct cook and qualified as general caretaker. Please address, with references and salary expected, CANFIELD, Morristown, N. J.

WANTED—A GOOD, PLAIN COOK, WHO thoroughly understands general housework, in a family of four, West Philadelphia Address No. 110, this Office.

WANTED—BY A YOUNG MAN, AN OFFICE position in Philadelphia, with privilege of brief periods at intervals for attending to private business. Moderate salary. Address C. B., this Office.

WANTED—IN FRIENDS' FAMILY, WITH but few boarders, a pleasantly situated room, with board, for an invalid, bath-room adjoining or on the same floor. Address WM. WRIGHT, 1501 Green St.

WANTED—A PHYSICIAN (WITH FAMILY) will find a good opening for the practice of his profession at Lincoln, Loudoun County, Va.—a large Friends settlement. For further particulars, address JOS. H. JEWETT, Lincoln, Va.

WANTED—POSITION AS MATRON, MAN-aging housekeeper, or companion, by experienced woman. Address No. 107, this Office.

FRIEND WANTS POSITION AS COMPANION, caretaker, and reader with invalid or elderly lady. Experienced. Address No. 99, this Office.

STENOGRAPHER—YOUNG LADY HAVING three years' experience desires position. Address No. 108, this Office.

TWO DESIRABLE ROOMS TO RENT, WITH or without board, near 23d and Green, in Friends' family of two. Address No. 112, this Office.

MOTHER'S HELP WANTED—A CAPABLE young woman in good health who has had some experience in the management of children, and who can sew. Address No. 109, INTELLIGENCER Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

PERMANENT AND TRANSIENT BOARDERS desired in a Friends' family in Washington, D. C. Address SARAH R. MATTHEWS and SISTERS, 1920 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

FOR SALE.

At Narberth Station, Pennsylvania railroad, seventeen minutes from Philadelphia, seven acres of very eligible building sites. North side, near station and Montgomery avenue. Apply SAMUEL B. HUEY, Drexel Building.

FOR SALE.

A ten room house in the village of Mickleton, N. J. Fourteen miles from Philadelphia. One-third acre of ground with stable. Good train service. Near Friends' meeting and school; convenient to post office, store and station. JOSEPH E. HAINES, 1500 Race Street, Phila.

FLUSHING.

Corner of Sanford Ave. and King St.—To let or for sale; lot 100 feet front, 125 feet deep; a house of 7 bedrooms, parlor, dining-room, and library, roomy piazza, kitchen, and laundry; all improvements. Inquire of D. & J. MASTERS, 69 Main St., Flushing.

Young Friends' Association.

The Young Friends' Association Office is now open in the Association Building, 15th and Cherry streets, where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 8.30 a. m. and 5.30 p. m. Address all communications to

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION,
15th and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia.

IN PRESS.—Ready about 11th mo. 10th.

"Personal Reminiscences of Anti-Slavery and Other Reforms and Reformers,"

By AARON M. POWELL.

THIS volume, which was left unfinished by the author at the time of his death, has been completed by his sister, Elizabeth Powell Bond, and is published by his widow, Anna Rice Powell. It contains reminiscences of the leading Anti-Slavery Advocate, William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, Lucretia Mott, Lydia Maria Child, John G. Whittier, and other reformers. It will have especial interest for Friends, and all interested in Philanthropic Work, and will be of peculiar value to the young. The author had repeatedly said that he intended this book to be his "legacy to the young people." The volume contains several portraits and cuts of letters not heretofore published.

Price, $2.00; by Mail, $2.20.

Orders will be received by Mary Travilla, West Chester, Pa.; Prof. W. I. Hull, Swarthmore, Pa.; Isaac Roberts, Conshohocken, Pa., and by the Publisher, Anna Rice Powell, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR SALE BY

Friends' Book Association, Philadelphia.

The Leeds & Biddle Co.

PRINTERS AND PUBLISHERS,

HAVE REMOVED TO

1019-21 Market Street,

PHILADELPHIA.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a SELECT STOCK of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER.

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 North 13th Street.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,
(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Park Ave. Friends' Elementary and High School,

will open in the New Buildings NINTH MONTH 18, 1899. Co-educational. Prepares for any university, college, or for business. Board and tuition, $25 per school year. Send for Catalogue.

JOHN W. GREGG, M.A., Principal.ELI M. LAMB, Associate Principal.

Park Place and Laurens St., Baltimore, Md.

Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Jenkintown, Pa.Or, CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Cheltenham Hills School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS,

will re-open September 20th, 1899, (18th year). College preparation. For circulars apply to the Principals.

ANNIE HEACOCK.

Wyncote, Pennsylvania.
LIDA R. LEMAISTRE.Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit or business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.Fruen's Wheat Wafers

BEST

*In two-pound Packages.*Made from the Best Selected Washington State White Wheat.*The largest, richest and finest flavored Wheat
in the world.*

After the defective and imperfect grains are separated, it has the outside woody hull, which is both indigestible and irritating, stripped off. It is then thoroughly cleaned, and finally rolled out into perfect and peerless wafers or flakes, the most perfect food for mankind known.

A great nerve, brain and muscle food. delicious and unequalled as a breakfast food or for puddings, omelets, griddle cakes, or mixed with any stewed fruit.

Gives children strong constitutions, rosy cheeks, good eyes, strong nerves, sound teeth, and to grown persons an active brain and strength of nerve and muscle.

Taking beef as a standard, at 18 cents per pound, Fruen Best Wheat Wafer's food value is over 50 cents per pound.

Superior to oat-meal, as while it is more perfectly nourishing it does not over-heat the blood or irritate the stomach like oatmeal.

A. R. HILL, 21 S. Front St., Phila.

Wholesale Agt. for Fruen Cereal Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D.

LAW } STENOGRAPHER.
CONVENTION }
SCIENCE }24 South Broad Street, Philadelphia.
Residence, 216 W. Coulter Street, Germantown.REMOVED.

LIZZIE J. LAMBERT, Millinery,

Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,

To 1020 GREEN STREET.

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street,
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angie St., Tioga.

CHARLES BURTON,

*Practical House and Sign Painter,*Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?

No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.

1311 Market St., Phila.

SHOTS AT RANDOM,

A Book of Poems,

By Howell Stroud England.

To be had at all booksellers. Price one dollar.

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY
New York City, 1899.Among these "Shots at Random" are many that attract by their simplicity and poetic sympathy.—*Wilmington Every Evening.Friends' Book Association,

OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,

Blank Book Manufacturers,

Engravers, and Printers,

Artists' Materials,

Kindergarten, School Supplies.

Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

Young Friends' Association.

The Young Friends' Association of Philadelphia will hold a regular meeting in the Lecture-room, Fifteenth and Race Streets, on Second-day evening, Eleventh month 13th, at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

PROGRAM.

A Talk by Howard M. Jenkins on A Visit to English Friends.

ESTHER S. STACKHOUSE, Secretary.WILLIAM S. YARNALL,

Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St. (4th door bel. Chestnut St.), PHILADELPHIA.BRASS and ENAMELED BEDSTEADS

There is a right way and a cheap way to make Mattresses; perhaps you have found it out. We do it the right way; try us. Furniture reupholstered. Shades, etc.

Josiah G. Williams, 13 N. 11th St.

M. L. PHILIBERT,
French Steam Dyer, Scourer,
AND DRY CLEANER.Cleaning of Blankets and Lace Curtains
a specialty.210 S. EIGHTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.
Branch Office, 727 South Second Street.WALL PAPER of

Attractive Styles

Popular Prices

Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St.

Philadelphia, Pa.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.

CONSHOCKEN DAIRIES. Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.

JOSEPH L. JONES.

Why Not ?

Yes, why not look into it? You are ill, perhaps. If so, we affirm that our treatment has cured cases as bad as your own. We bring testimony of those who have been cured. They describe their diseases and testify that they are cured by the use of Compound Oxygen Treatment of Drs. Starkey and Palen. They are ready to reiterate and confirm these statements at any time, and we are permitted to refer to them.

You have tried other means without success. You know where to find the remedy, or to learn all about it. Why not look into it?

To assist you, send for our book of 200 pages, in which you will find a history of Compound Oxygen, with numerous testimonials and record of surprising cures in chronic cases. An investigation of this treatment, by leading you to try it, may save your life. Home or office Treatment. Consultation free.

Drs. Starkey & Palen,1112 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pa.
San Francisco, Cal. Toronto, Can.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, FIFTEENTH AND CHERRY STREETS, ELEVENTH MONTH 4, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers.
Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.

WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: Y. F. A. BUILDING,
N. W. Corner Fifteenth and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XLIV., . . .	821
POETRY: WHAT DO IT MATTER, BROTHER?	821
EDUCATION AND RELIGION. By John Wm. Graham (Conclusion),	821
FRIENDS IN ENGLAND.—VI.,	823
VISITS TO DOUKHOBOR VILLAGES. By Job S. Gidley,	824
LABOR NOT A CURSE,	826
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No. 46,	827
EDITORIAL:
Preparation for Old Age,	828
Notes,	828
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	828, 829
BALTIMORE YEARLY MEETING,	829
ANNUAL CONFERENCE, Y. F. A.,	830
THE DOUKHOBORS,	830
AN INVITATION: FRIENDS' NEIGHBOR- HOOD GUILD,	831
LITERARY NOTES,	832
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	832
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	833
EDUCATIONAL,	834
COMMUNICATIONS:
The War in South Africa,	834
Beach Street Mission, No. 1,	834
CHARITABLE REPORTS,	834
METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY, EIGHTH MONTH, 1899,	834
POETRY: Autumn; Tired Mothers,	835
THE COLORED PEOPLE IN THE SOUTH,	835
A GOOD MANY BIRDS LEFT,	836
AN OLD RHODE ISLAND PREACHER,	837
THE SOUTH AFRICAN WAR,	837
ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY,	838
MISCELLANY: Great Salt Lake Drying Up; Not for Daily Use; Rest Necessary; The Hague Conference,	838
CURRENT EVENTS,	839
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	839
NOTICES,	840

Offices Removed.

The offices of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER have been removed to rooms on the second floor of the new Building of Young Friends' Association, at 15th and Cherry Streets, Philadelphia.

A FRIEND WANTED FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork. One accustomed to living on a farm preferred. Must be robust, capable of managing, refined, and between 25 and 40 years of age. To be as one of the family. Fair compensation. Address No. 113, this Office.

WANTED.—STENOGRAPHER AND TYPEwriter, three hours a day (9 to 12 a. m., preferred), four days in the week. Address No. 114, INTELLIGENCER Office.

WANTED.—IN A SMALL SCHOOL NEAR
New York city, an industrious housekeeper. Should be able to instruct cook and qualified as general caretaker. Please address, with references and salary expected, CANFIELD, Morristown, N. J.

WANTED.—POSITION AS MATRON, MANaging housekeeper, or companion, by experienced woman. Address No. 107, this Office.

FRIEND WANTS POSITION AS COMPANION,
caretaker, and reader with invalid or elderly lady. Experienced. Address No. 99, this Office.

FOR RENT.—SECOND STORY FRONT ROOM, nicely furnished; heated. 2030 Brandywine Street.

TWO DESIRABLE ROOMS TO RENT, WITH or without board, near 33d and Green, in Friends' family of two. Address No. 112, this Office.

MOTHER'S HELP WANTED.—A CAPABLE young woman in good health who has had some experience in the management of children, and who can sew. Address No. 109, INTELLIGENCER Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON
can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

PERMANENT AND TRANSIENT BOARDERS
desired in a Friends' family in Washington, D. C. Address SARAH R. MATTHEWS and SISTERS, 1900 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St.,
Philadelphia.

Plain Millinery

MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

REMOVED.

LIZZIE J. LAMBERT, Millinery,
Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,
To 1020 GREEN STREET.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

385 SWEDEN STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D
LAW
CONVENTION } STENOGRAPHER
SCIENCE
14 South Broad Street Philadelphia
Residence, 216 W. Center Street, Germantown.

Young Friends' Association.

The Young Friends' Association of Philadelphia will hold a regular meeting in the Lecture-room, Fifteenth and Race Streets, on Second-day evening, Eleventh month 13th, at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

PROGRAM.

A Talk by Howard M. Jenkins on A Visit to English Friends.

ESTHER S. STACKHOUSE, Secretary.

Young Friends' Association.

The Young Friends' Association Office is now open in the Association Building, 15th and Cherry streets, where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 8.30 a. m. and 5.30 p. m. Address all communications to

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION,
15th and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia.

The Leeds & Biddle Co.

PRINTERS
and PUBLISHERS,

Have Removed to 1019-21 Market St.,
PHILADELPHIA.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a SELECT STOCK of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER.

(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 North 13th Street.

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for college.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or, Jenkintown, Pa.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit or business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.THE VIEWS OF FRIENDS.Tracts and Leaflets for Circulation.*QUAKERISM: ITS BELIEFS AND MESSAGES. By William Edward Turner (Editor of the British Friend). 40 pp. 10 cents. 5 copies, 40 cents. By mail at these prices.

THE MEETING FOR WORSHIP. By Howard M. Jenkins. Small pamphlet. 12 pp. Single copies, 2 cents; 50 copies, 50 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

RELIGIOUS VIEWS OF FRIENDS. By Howard M. Jenkins. (Chicago Congress Paper, 1893.) 24 pp. 2 cents; 50 copies, 75 cents; 100 copies, $1.00. By mail at these prices.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION
Limited,

921 Arch Street, Phila

Publisher's Department.Club Rates for 1899.

OUR usual announcement of Club Rates with other Periodicals will be found in this issue.

We make the following notes of changes:

Harper's Round Table, juvenile, formerly issued weekly, but of late monthly, has been discontinued—with the issue for Tenth month.Little Men and Women and Babyland, both monthlies, have been united, and the price reduced to 50 cents a year. Our Club Rate for united publication, with INTELLIGENCER, is $2.45.Babyhood (monthly) is a different publication from Babyland, (noted above.) Babyhood's price is $1; Club Rate with INTELLIGENCER, $2.90.Harper's Monthly magazine has been reduced from $4 to $3. Club Rate with INTELLIGENCER, $4.70.Lippincott's Magazine, monthly, has been reduced from $3 to $2.50. Club Rate, with INTELLIGENCER, $3.80.The price of The Independent was reduced in 1898 from $3 to $2. Club Rate, with INTELLIGENCER, $3.90.We make Club Rate for Literary Digest for renewals, as well as new subscriptions. Regular price $3; with INTELLIGENCER $5.50.Christian Register, (Unitarian, Boston), makes a special rate for new subscribers. See our Club Rate with it in the advertisement elsewhere.A New Location.

THE offices of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER will hereafter be on the second floor of the new Building of Young Friends' Association, on Fifteenth street, at the corner of Cherry.

We invite all our friends to call.

THE PENNHURST,

Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.

The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR

OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.

Atlantic City, N. J.

Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.

M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

PHILADELPHIA & READING RAILWAY.ANTHRACITE COAL. NO SMOKE.
NO CINDERS. DOUBLE TRACKED.
HEAVY STEEL RAILS. STONE
BALLASTED.Royal Blue Line to New York.SWIFTEST AND SAFEST TRAINS
IN THE WORLD.Scenic Reading Route to

READING, HARRISBURG, GETTYSBURG, CHAMBERSBURG, SHAMOKIN, WILLIAMSPORT, AND POINTS IN INTERIOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Royal Reading Route toATLANTIC CITY. CLEANLINESS
AND COMFORT. SAFETY AND SPEED.Infants' Department.

We have done our utmost to make this one of our most attractive departments; it is impossible to tell of all the useful things that are here. Just a hint of a few inexpensive articles that are always in demand for baby:

Flannelette Dresses—ruffle over shoulders, yoke trimmed with lace and beading—50 cents.

Cambric Dresses—yoke of fine plaits and three rows of insertion of embroidery, ruffle over shoulders; were 75 cents—now 50 cents.

Cambric Dresses—yoke of wide insertion of embroidery and six clusters of fine plaits; were 95 cents—now 75 cents.

Dresses of fine Sheer Lawn—trimmed with clusters of fine plaits, ruffle, and insertion of embroidery; were $1.50—now $1.00.

Dresses of Colored Flannel—yoke, collar, and ruffle over shoulders, trimmed with white braid, lined throughout—$1.50.

Dresses of Henrietta—in several pretty colors; ruffle, yoke, and straps over shoulders trimmed with soutache braid; lined throughout—$1.75.

Orders by mail receive prompt and accurate attention. Address orders "Department C."

Strawbridge & Clothier,

PHILADELPHIA.

Established 1870 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

WALL PAPER of

Attractive Styles

Popular Prices

Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,

1624 Chestnut St.

Philadelphia, Pa.

Carpetings, Linoleum,Window Shades, etc.*Benjamin Green,

33 N. Second St., Philad'a.

S. F. Balderston's Son,
WALL PAPERS.

All Grades.

Estimates Given.

Window Shades Made to Order.

902 Spring Garden St.,

Philadelphia, Pa.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, FIFTEENTH AND CHERRY STREETS, ELEVENTH MONTH 11, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.
To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.
To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers.
Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: Y. F. A. BUILDING,
N. W. Corner Fifteenth and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XLV., . . .	841
POEM: THE LAND OF PROMISE, . . .	841
BALTIMORE YEARLY MEETING, (Concluded), . . .	841
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No 47, . . .	843
VISITS TO DOUKHOBOR VILLAGES. By Job S. Gidley, . . .	844
EDITORIAL:
Remembrance of the Civil War, . . .	846
Notes, . . .	846
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS, . . .	846, 847
DOUKHOBOR REPORT, . . .	847
EXCURSION DAYS IN ENGLAND:
I. A Drive to Warwick, . . .	847
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
Easton and Granville H. Y. M., . . .	849
Notes, . . .	850
PELHAM M. M. CENTENNIAL, . . .	850
AMBITION EXPRESSED IN WAR, . . .	850
LIBRARY NOTES, . . .	851
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT, . . .	851
CONFERENCE, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . . .	852
COMMUNICATIONS:
A Notable Epitaph, . . .	853
Benjamin Franklin on War, . . .	853
Friends' Ministers in England, . . .	853
Southampton Museum and Library, . . .	853
UNIVERSITY EXTENSION LECTURES, . . .	854
PHILADELPHIA F. D. S. ASSOCIATION, . . .	854
MESEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY FOR NINTH MONTH, 1899, . . .	854
POETRY: Grandma Knitting, . . .	854
A CYCLE TOUR IN GERMANY, . . .	855
THE RIGHT WAY OUT, . . .	855
MISCELLANY: Doukhobor Notes; Dog Goes with Foxes; Jump in Prices; The Meteoric Showers; White Control in the Philippines; Protestants Killing One Another, . . .	856, 857
CURRENT EVENTS, . . .	857
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS, . . .	858
NOTICES, . . .	859

Established 1810 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEORGE C. CHILD.

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

Publisher's Department.

Do Advertisements Pay

In the INTELLIGENCER? Yes; undoubtedly they do.

But always provided the thing advertised is something the readers of the INTELLIGENCER want. If it is something they do not care for, the advertising goes for nothing. If it is something they do care for, then about 20,000 persons—we estimate—will see and note the announcement.

How do we estimate that about 20,000 persons will read the advertisement? This way: We print 3,900 copies of the paper. An ordinary estimate is that each copy is read by five persons. In the case of this paper it is probable that the average is above five. Five times 3,900 is 19,500.

The INTELLIGENCER, we believe, is looked through, from cover to cover. Any page in it is a good page.

A friend who had had a "Want" advertisement in, the other day, came in and paid for it. He expressed his satisfaction, and even some surprise at the number of replies he had had. The experience surprised him, and he ordered in his business card for a year.

Cereal Foods.

The food value of cereals has been fully admitted, and as the habit of eating them has grown, a greater discrimination is shown in selecting the best. Analysis shows that in Barley Crystals, prepared as a health food by Farwell & Rhines, Watertown, N. Y., practically the whole bulk is nutriment, there being 99.1 per cent. of flesh, blood, brain, nerve, and bone building substance. It is made of the heart of barley, entirely free from bran or hulls. Their latest product is Gluten Grits, a breakfast and dessert cereal prepared for that large class of people who have to be careful in the use of starchy foods.

Farwell & Rhines are also makers of "Gluten Flour," "Special Diabetic Flour," and "K. C. Whole Wheat Flour." Their goods have come to be known as the "Criss Cross Cereals," the criss cross lines on the face of each package being a part of their trade mark.

. There is a very small margin of profit to us in the "Club List" business,—just about enough to cover the time and labor; but we are willing to do it for our readers, and are further willing to increase it. We shall therefore be obliged for orders.

Donation Day

Friends' Home for Children, 4011 Aspen Street, Philadelphia, on Third-day, Eleventh month 21, 1899.

Donations of Money, Dry Goods, Provisions, etc., will be gratefully received.

EXPERIENCED MATRON WANTS POSITION, school preferred. Address S. V. D., 249 North Twelfth Street, Philadelphia.

WANTED.—TWO SMALL UNFURNISHED rooms, central. Address No. 115, this Office.

WANTED.—STENOGRAPHER AND TYPE-writer, three hours a day (9 to 12 a. m., preferred), four days in the week. Address No. 114, INTELLIGENCER Office.

WANTED.—POSITION AS MATRON, MAN-aging housekeeper, or companion, by experienced woman. Address No. 107, this Office.

YOUNG LADY STENOGRAPHER DESIRES position. Three years' experience in wholesale house. Address No. 116, this Office.

FRIEND WANTS POSITION AS COMPANION, caretaker, and reader with invalid or elderly lady. Experienced. Address No. 99, this Office.

FOR RENT.—SECOND STORY FRONT ROOM, nicely furnished; heated. 2030 Brandywine Street.

TWO DESIRABLE ROOMS TO RENT, WITH or without board, near 23d and Green, in Friends' family of two. Address No. 112, this Office.

MOTHER'S HELP WANTED.—A CAPABLE young woman in good health who has had some experience in the management of children, and who can sew. Address No. 109, INTELLIGENCER Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1866 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

PERMANENT AND TRANSIENT BOARDERS desired in a Friends' family in Washington, D. C. Address SARAH R. MATTHEWS and SISTERS, 1930 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D
Stenographer

14 SOUTH BROAD STREET, PHILADA.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia.

Plain Millinery

MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

REMOVED.

LIZZIE J. LAMBERT, Millinery,
Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,
To 1020 GREEN STREET.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

325 SWIDE STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

CATALOGUES, CIRCULARS, BOOKLETS, ANNOUNCE-MENTS, LETTER HEADS, BILL HEADS, ANNUAL REPORTS

The Leeds & Biddle Co.

PRINTERS
and PUBLISHERS,

1019-21 Market Street, Phila.

Offices Removed.

The offices of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER have been removed to rooms on the second floor of the new Building of Young Friends' Association, at

N. W. Cor. 15th and Cherry Sts.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.

Friends' Central School,

FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Or, JENKINTOWN, PA.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit or business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
JOSEPH L. JONES.

A Simple Recipe for Muffins.

Pillsbury's VITOS, the ideal Wheat Food, makes remarkably good muffins. This is the recipe of Fannie Merritt Farmer, Principal, Boston Cooking School:

"Mix one cup flour, one-half cup VITOS, two tablespoonfuls sugar, three and one-half teaspoonfuls baking powder, and one-quarter teaspoonful salt. Add one egg well beaten, three-fourths cup of milk, and two tablespoonfuls melted butter. Bake in buttered gem pans twenty to twenty-five minutes."

Try this simple recipe and you will be pleased with the result.

PILLSBURY-WASHBURN FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
MAKERS OF PILLSBURY'S BEST FLOUR.

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,

Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St. (4th door bel. Chestnut St.)
PHILADELPHIA.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will continue the manufacture of Custom Shoes and carry a SELECT STOCK of our own reliable work.

SAMUEL DUTCHER.
(SECOND FLOOR.) 45 North 13th Street.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,
Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

WALL PAPER of Attractive Styles

Popular Prices
Samples Free to any Address

A. L. Diamant & Co.,
1624 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Ellwood Heacock,

UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, FIFTEENTH AND CHERRY STREETS, ELEVENTH MONTH 18, 1899.

BOOKS OF INTEREST TO FRIENDS.

Ellwood Roberts' Publications.

The attention of Friends and others is called to the following publications which may be had of the author, Ellwood Roberts, Norristown, Pa., by remitting the price, he paying freight or postage.

LYRICS OF QUAKERISM.

Seventy poems on topics relating to Friends; 256 pages, 14 half-tone illustrations, uncut, bound in cloth, gilt top. Suitable for holiday gift. Only a few copies remain. Price, $1.25. Special rates to Friends' or First-Day School libraries.

OLD RICHLAND FAMILIES.

Octavo volume, cloth, gilt top, uncut, 246 pages. Elegantly illustrated. Forty pages devoted to the records of Richland Monthly Meeting (Quakertown, Pa.), from 1743. Information as to fifty families of Friends of Eastern Penna., whose descendants are found in many States. Edition limited to 200; a few copies remain. Price, $5.

PLYMOUTH MEETING.

In press. Same size, style, and binding as above. Only 150 copies are being printed, and after the first hundred copies have been sold, the price will be advanced. Everything authentic that can be gleaned in reference to an interesting meeting in Montgomery county, Pa., including its early history, biography, marriages, deaths, burials, etc. Order at once. Price, $2.00. Ready about Fourth month 1, 1900.

EARLY ABINGTON FRIENDS.

In preparation. Uniform with the two previously mentioned.

ELLWOOD ROBERTS, Norristown, Pa

The Christiana Riot

A Chronicle of Events at Christiana, Lancaster County, Pa., in the Period before the Civil War.

CLOTH. GILT TOP. $1.00.

A few copies only remain of this work. May be had of the publisher,

DAVID R. FORBES,

Sun Printing House, S. Church Street, Quarryville, Pa.

SECOND EDITION.

QUAKER POEMS.

A Collection of Verse relating to the Society of Friends, gathered from all sources, and edited, with an Introduction and Notes,

BY CHARLES FRANCIS JENKINS.

About Sixty Poems from about fifty authors, illustrative of the principles of the Society—its history, personnel, associations, customs, etc. Selections from Whittier, Bayard Taylor, Holmes, Longfellow, Charles Lamb, Wordsworth, Southey, Bernard Barton, and others.

Forty illustrations, made expressly for this book, some of which are original drawings, others from paintings, photographs, and prints.

Nearly 300 pages, large 12mo, well printed on good paper, neatly bound in cloth, gold side lettering and design, $2.00. Will be sent postpaid on receipt of price.

JOHN C. WINSTON & CO., Publishers, 718 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

FRIENDS' BOOKS.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF LOUISA J. ROBERTS. With two Portraits. Price, $1.00.

THE LORD'S SUPPER. A Historical Study from the stand-point of the Society of Friends. By John William Graham, M.A. Price, 10 cts.

THE OLD RED SCHOOL HOUSE. By Elizabeth Lloyd. Price, 65 cents, postage 10 cents.

A CHRONOLOGY OF THE SOCIETY OF FRIENDS. By Alice N. Townsend. Price, 35 cents, postage 5 cents.

BI-CENTENNIAL ANNIVERSARY OF THE FRIENDS' MEETING HOUSE AT MERION, PENNSYLVANIA. Price 25 cents, postage 5 cents.

A HISTORY OF QUAKER GOVERNMENT IN PENNSYLVANIA. By Isaac Sharpless, L. L. D. 2 vols., cloth. Price, $3.00.

GLEANINGS FROM POETIC FIELDS. By Robert Tilney. Price, $1.00.

FRIENDS' ALMANAC FOR 1900. Large, 10 cents; postage, 2 cents; pocket size 10 cents, postage 1 cent.

MAP SHOWING THE LOCATIONS OF MEETINGS WITHIN PHILADELPHIA YEARLY MEETING, 1897. Price, 25 cents.

MULLICA HILL FRIENDS' MEETING CENTENNIAL, 1897. Price 30 cents, postage 4 cents.

THE EARLY HISTORY OF ABINGTON MEETING HOUSE. By William J. Buck. Price, 25 cents.

For Sale by

Friends' Book Association,
PHILADELPHIA.

SHOTS AT RANDOM,

A Book of Poems,

By Howell Stroud England.

To be had at all booksellers. Price one dollar.

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY
New York City, 1899.

Mr. England's muse is versatile, and the poems have a wide range. They are very interesting, and many of them show a power, a facility of expression, and an artistry of construction that should make them widely known.—Wilmington Sunday Star.

IN PRESS.—Ready about 11th mo. 10th.

"Personal Reminiscences of Anti-Slavery and Other Reforms and Reformers,"

By AARON M. POWELL.

THIS volume, which was left unfinished by the author at the time of his death, has been completed by his sister, Elizabeth Powell Bond, and is published by his widow, Anna Rice Powell. It contains reminiscences of the leading Anti-Slavery Advocate, William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, Lucretia Mott, Lydia Maria Child, John G. Whittier, and other reformers. It will have especial interest for Friends, and all interested in Philanthropic Work, and will be of peculiar value to the young. The author had repeatedly said that he intended this book to be his "legacy to the young people." The volume contains several portraits and cuts of letters not heretofore published.

Price, $2.00; by Mail, $2.20.

Orders will be received by Mary Travilla, West Chester, Pa.; Prof. W. I. Hull, Swarthmore, Pa.; Isaac Roberts, Conshohocken, Pa., and by the Publisher, Anna Rice Powell, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR SALE BY

Friends' Book Association, Philadelphia.

The Family of William Penn Founder of Pennsylvania Ancestry and Descendants

By Howard M. Jenkins,

AUTHOR OF VOLUME ONE, MEMORIAL HISTORY OF PHILADELPHIA, HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS RELATING TO GWYNEDD, ETC.

With 19 full-page Illustrations.

*Pp. 270, octavo. Handsomely bound. $3.50 net. By mail, 20 cents additional.

*The print is from type, and copies are likely to be scarce.

Historical Collections Relating to Gwynedd,

A Township of Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, settled 1698, by Immigrants from Wales; With Some Data Referring to the Adjoining Township of Montgomery, also Settled by Welsh. By HOWARD M. JENKINS, of Gwynedd, author of Volume One, "Memorial History of Philadelphia." Second Edition.

*Octavo, uncut, 494 pages. Cloth, beveled edges.

*With Eight Illustrations, including Three Original Etchings, by Blanche Dillaye. Price, $4.00, net. If sent by mail, postage, 23 cents additional.

Within the limits which the author proposes to himself he provides a model of accurate local investigation.—American Historical Review.

HOWARD M. JENKINS,

Publisher,

N. W. Cor. 15th and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
 (LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
 WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: Y. F. A. BUILDING,
 N. W. Corner Fifteenth and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 5 cents per line, one time; 4½ cents per line each insertion, five times. For longer insertion reduced rates which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XLVI., . . .	861
POETRY: THE STILL HOUR, . . .	861
BUILDING BEFORE OUR OWN DOORS. By Dean Bond, . . .	861
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No. 48, . . .	863
EXCUSE MAKING, . . .	864
LIFE'S CLOSING YEARS, . . .	865
THE SPIRITUAL LIFE, . . .	865
"ADVANCED CIVILIZATION," . . .	865
EDITORIAL:
"Strenuousness" in Life, . . .	866
Notes, . . .	866
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS, . . .	866, 867
DOUKHOBOR REPORT, . . .	867
VACATION DAYS IN ENGLAND: II.—Days on Ullswater, . . .	867
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
San Francisco Notes, . . .	869
Notes, . . .	869, 870
WILLIAM SAUNDERS' DOUKHOBOR VISIT, . . .	870
THE REVIVAL OF POLYGAMY (Illustration), . . .	872
AN AGED FRIEND'S REVERIE, . . .	872
LITERARY NOTES, . . .	873
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED, . . .	873
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . . .	873
EDUCATIONAL, . . .	874
COMMUNICATIONS:
The Use Made of the "Intelligencer," . . .	874
W. C. T. U. Resolutions, . . .	874
Books Recommended, . . .	875
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES, . . .	875
CONCORD Q. M. BOARDING HOME, . . .	875
METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY FOR TENTH MONTH, 1899, . . .	875
SONNET. By Lloyd Mifflin, . . .	876
"MANNERS." By Edward Everett Hale, . . .	876
CURRENT EVENTS, . . .	877
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS, . . .	878
NOTICES, . . .	879

INQUIRY.

H. D. Cranor, of Conshohocken, Pa., will be glad to correspond with some of the descendants of William Jones (son of David, of Plymouth, Philadelphia county), who married Rebecca Yarnall, First month 20, 1739-40, daughter of Philip and Dorothy (Baker) Yarnall, of Chester county.

Established 1820 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

LADY, FRIEND, WISHES EMPLOYMENT.—housekeeper, companion, or some light work. Address Box 20, Rancocas, N. J.

NURSE, A FRIEND, TRAINED AND EXPERIENCED, would like a position for the winter, either private or institution. Fond of the country. Reference from prominent Friends. Address No. 117, this Office.

EXPERIENCED MATRON WANTS POSITION, school preferred. Address S. V. D., 249 North Twelfth Street, Philadelphia.

THE HARRISON SAFETY BOILER WORKS, Seventeenth Street below Allegheny Avenue, Phila., wants a bright, active, well-educated boy for general office duties; also a young man with some knowledge or experience of draughting room work. Address in handwriting of applicant, with references.

FRIEND WANTS POSITION AS COMPANION, caretaker, and reader with invalid or elderly lady. Experienced. Address No. 99, this Office.

TWO DESIRABLE ROOMS TO RENT, WITH or without board, near 23d and Green, in Friends' family of two. Address No. 112, this Office.

MOTHER'S HELP WANTED.—A CAPABLE young woman in good health who has had some experience in the management of children, and who can sew. Address No. 109, INTELLIGENCER Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

PERMANENT AND TRANSIENT BOARDERS desired in a Friends' family in Washington, D. C. Address SARAH R. MATTHEWS and SISTERS, 1920 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Morgan Bunting Arthur Shrigley
 BUNTING AND SHRIGLEY
 ARCHITECTS
 1420 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D
 Stenographer
 14 SOUTH BROAD STREET, PHILADA.

CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia.
 Plain Millinery
 MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

REMOVED.
 LIZZIE J. LAMBERT, Millinery,
 Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,
 To 1020 GREEN STREET.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,
 ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
 { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
 OFFICES: { Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

JOHN FABER MILLER,
 325 SWEDEN STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.
 ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
 Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
 Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
 The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
 OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
 Atlantic City, N. J.
 Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
 M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.
 CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
 1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
 Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
 Charles W. Richards, 1220 Angle St., Tioga.

CHARLES BURTON,
 Practical House and Sign Painter,
 Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street,
 Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?
 No liquors or other offensive goods or methods resorted to.
 1311 Market St., Phila.

Offices Removed.

The offices of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER have been removed to rooms on the second floor of the new Building of Young Friends' Association, at

N. W. Cor. 15th and Cherry Sts.,
 PHILADELPHIA.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
 George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
 Swarthmore, Pa.

Friends' Central School, FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS., PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, } Principals.
 ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, }

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
 Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
 Or, Jenkintown, Pa.
 CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
 Chappaqua, New York.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK.
 CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving dairies. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.

JOSEPH L. JONES.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, FIFTEENTH AND CHERRY STREETS, ELEVENTH MONTH 25, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: Y. F. A. BUILDING,
N. W. Corner Fifteenth and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 5 cents per line, one time; 4½ cents per line each insertion, five times. For longer insertion reduced rates which will be furnished upon application.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XLVII., . . .	881
STANZA: HE WHO FOR LOVE,	881
VACATION DAYS IN ENGLAND:
III.—Stoke Poges and Jordans (Illustrations),	881
RELIGION OF THE SOUTHERN NEGROES, . . .	883
NO FREEDOM WITHOUT RESTRAINT,	884
PASSING OF FRIENDLY INTERCOURSE, . . .	885
EDITORIAL:
Only One Right Standpoint	886
Notes,	886
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	887
DOUKHOBOR REPORT,	887
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS,
No. 49,	888
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
Nebraska Half-Year Meeting,	889
Shrewsbury and Plainfield H. Y. M., .	889
Notes,	890
GLIMPSES OF FRIENDLY NEIGHBORHOODS, .	890
MILITARY GAMBLERS IN GERMANY,	891
LITERATURE:
Recent Issues of Verse,	892
Notes,	892, 893
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	893
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . . .	893, 894
EDUCATIONAL,	895
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	895
COMMUNICATIONS:
How Charitable Bequests Suffer, . . .	895
An Inquiry about Daily Papers,	895
CHARITABLE REPORTS,	895
FELLOWSHIP FOR ALL THE WORLD,	896
CURRENT RELIGIOUS COMMENT,	896
MISCELLANY: Anna W. Longstreth; Civilized Vocabularies; An Earthquake Register; Intemperance Among Women; Chatham's Boldness; Teachers' Salaries in Philadelphia,	897
CURRENT EVENTS,	897
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	898, 899
NOTICES,	899

Advertisements of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," etc., 5 cents a line, each insertion. Seven average words make a line. No advertisement inserted for less than 20 cents.

FOR RENT.—SUBURBAN HOME, IN A pleasant and convenient location, containing eight rooms. Piazzas, lawn, garden, etc. About two acres together. Address S. S. LIPPINCOTT, Andalusia.

WANTED.—STENOGRAPHER AND TYPE-writer, three hours a day (9 to 12 a.m., preferred), four days in the week. Address No. 114, INTELLIGENCER Office.

WANTED.—A RELIABLE PERSON, WHO IS a good plain cook and thoroughly understands general housework, in a family of four. House has every convenience for such a person. Good wages and a pleasant home. Address No. 117, this Office.

NURSE, A FRIEND, TRAINED AND EXPER-ienced, would like a position for the winter, either private or institution. Fond of the country. Reference from prominent Friends. Address No. 117, this Office.

FRIEND WANTS POSITION AS COMPANION, caretaker, and reader with invalid or elderly lady. Experienced. Address No. 99, this Office.

MOTHER'S HELP WANTED.—A CAPABLE young woman in good health who has had some experience in the management of children, and who can sew. Address No. 109, INTELLIGENCER Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

PERMANENT AND TRANSIENT BOARDERS desired in a Friends' family in Washington, D. C. Address SARAH R. MATTHEWS and SISTERS, 1920 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Attractive Home at Private Sale.
A Farm of Fifty Acres, good improvements, eight-room Brick House, new Barn, excellent water, plenty of fruit. Near borough of West Grove, on P. & B.C.R. Call on, or address:
REBECCA P. PENNELL,
Jennersville, Chester County, Pa.

Morgan Bunting Arthur Shrigley
BUNTING AND SHRIGLEY
ARCHITECTS
1420 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D
Stenographer
14 SOUTH BROAD STREET, PHILADA.

SWARTHMORE IDYLLS.

A book of verse by JOHN RUSSELL HAYES. With eight illustrations of Swarthmore scenes by Robert Shaw. Bound, 75 cents; paper, 50 cents.

By the same author,
THE BRANDYWINE. Second edition. With eight illustrations by Robert Shaw. Bound, 75 cents; paper, 50 cents.

THE OLD FASHIONED GARDEN.
Bound, 80 cents.

At Friends' Book Association, Strawbridge & Clothier's, and Wanamaker's; and Wilmington and West Chester book stores. Or sent, post-paid, on receipt of price, mailed to College Book-Room, Swarthmore, Pa.

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the STOCKHOLDERS OF SWARTHMORE COLLEGE will be held at Friends' Meeting-house, Race and Fifteenth Streets, Philadelphia, Penna., on Third-day, Twelfth month 5, at 2 o'clock, p.m.
ROBERT M. JANNEY, } Clerks.
ABBY W. MILLER, }

WM. D. YARNALL & CO.

REAL ESTATE, CONVEYANCING

CITY, WEST PHILADELPHIA, AND DELAWARE CO.

Properties of Every Description Bought, Sold, Rented, or Exchanged.

MORTGAGES NEGOTIATED

We have unusually good securities to offer.

FIRE INSURANCE in Leading Companies.

ARCHITECT.

Phone No. 9. 526 MAIN STREET, DARBY, PA.

If you are planning to have printed a

CATALOGUE BOOKLET
ANNOUNCEMENT
CIRCULAR

or any work designed to promote your business, let us give you an estimate.

The Leeds & Biddle Co.
1019-21 MARKET ST.,
PRINTING PHILADELPHIA.

Many MOTHERS can testify to the VALUE of DELAVAU'S REMEDY

AS A CURE FOR
WHOOPIING COUGH and CROUP, also for BRONCHITIS, BRONCHIAL CATARRH,
and ORDINARY COUGHS.

AT DRUGGISTS.

Fruen's Whole Wheat Flour

10 lb. Bags, 35 cents.
Cases of 9 Bags, $2.75.

Contains all the valuable nourishing properties of the two finest and richest wheats grown, without any of the indigestible, woody hull, which is removed.

In ordinary flour 80 per cent. of that part of the grain that nourishes and builds up nerve, bone, and muscle is bolted out, and what principally remains produces heat and fat, but not strength and force. Weak bones, flabby muscles, and defective teeth and eyesight may often be caused by want of these elements bolted out of white flour.

Fruen's Whole Wheat Flour contains all this valuable part of the grain without any of the indigestible woody fibre.

Makes a delicious, sweet, light brown bread.

A postal card will bring it.

A. R. HILL, 21 S. Front St, Phila.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

Established 1820 at 844 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,

11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

WILLIAM S. YARNALL,

Manufacturing Optician.

118 South Fifteenth St. (4th door bel. Chestnut St.)
PHILADELPHIA.Ellwood Heacock,*UNDERTAKER
and EMBALMER

ESTABLISHED 1860.

TELEPHONE 5807.

1313 Vine Street, Philad'a.

Calls outside of city answered promptly.

Friends' Book Association,
OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,
Blank Book Manufacturers,
Engravers, and Printers,
Artists' Materials,
Kindergarten, School Supplies.
Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

Merchants' Trust Company,

611-613 CHESTNUT STREET.

CAPITAL (subscribed), $500,000.00
CAPITAL (paid in), 250,000.00
SURPLUS, 50,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS, 30,094.49

Interest allowed on Deposits. Titles to Real Estate insured, and conveying done. Loans made on Mortgage and Approved Collateral. Surety entered for Administrators and others. The Company also acts as Administrator, Guardian, Trustee, etc. Safe Deposit Boxes to rent from $2 and upwards, per annum.

JOSEPH R. RHOADS, President.JOHN F. LEWIS, Vice-President.*ROBERT MORRIS EARLY, Sec. and Treas.*WM. B. LANE, Title and Trust Officer.*DIRECTORS

NICHOLAS BRICE, EDWARD S. SAYRES,
SPENCER M. JANNEY, I. BOLTON WINPENNY,
S. DAVIS PAGE, ELLWOOD BECKER,
JOSEPH R. RHOADS, EDWIN S. DIXON,
JOHN F. LEWIS, WARREN G. GRIFFITH,
THOMAS R. GILL, SAMUEL BANCROFT, JR.,
CHAS. S. HINCHMAN, EDWARD G. MCCOLLIN,
ALFRED I. PHILLIPS.

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

SHOTS AT RANDOM,

A Book of Poems,

By Howell Stroud England.

To be had at all booksellers. Price one dollar.

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY
New York City, 1899.

J. S. Ogilvie & Co., have published a volume of Poems which are far above the average. They are those of Howell S. England, and are of true literary value. One finds no halting rhythm or faulty rhymes in it. The poems are strong, and Mr. England shows that he has true poetic feeling, and the ability of expressing that feeling in an intelligent manner, and so as to impress others with the same emotions that stirred his own breast—Omaha World-Herald.

IN PRESS.—Ready about 11th mo. 20th.

"Personal Reminiscences of Anti-Slavery and Other Reforms and Reformers,"By AARON M. POWELL.

THIS volume, which was left unfinished by the author at the time of his death, has been completed by his sister, Elizabeth Powell Bond, and is published by his widow, Anna Rice Powell. It contains reminiscences of the leading Anti-Slavery Advocate, William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, Lucretia Mott, Lydia Maria Child, John G. Whittier, and other reformers. It will have especial interest for Friends, and all interested in Philanthropic Work, and will be of peculiar value to the young. The author had repeatedly said that he intended this book to be his "legacy to the young people." The volume contains several portraits and cuts of letters not heretofore published.

Price, $2.00; by Mail, $2.20.

Orders will be received by Mary Travilla, West Chester, Pa.; Prof. W. I. Hull, Swarthmore, Pa.; Isaac Roberts, Conshohocken, Pa., and by the Publisher, Anna Rice Powell, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR SALE BY

Friends' Book Association, Philadelphia.CAROLINE RAU, 736 Spring Garden St., Philadelphia.Plain Millinery

MEDIUM FELTS AND STRAW BONNETS.

REMOVED.LIZZIE J. LAMBERT, Millinery,
Successor to E. SHOEMAKER,
To 1020 GREEN STREET.JOHN FABER MILLER,

395 SWEDE STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties.

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.THE PENNHURST, Open all the year

Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.

The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR

OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.

Atlantic City, N. J.

Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.

CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.

1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1230 Angle St., Tlona.

CHARLES BURTON,Practical House and Sign Painter,

Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

Hanscoms'. Our prices are the lowest, our variety the most complete, and quality as near perfect as can be had. Shall we mail you a price catalogue for comparison?

No liquors or other expensive foods or methods resorted to.
1311 Market St., Phila.

Offices Removed.

The offices of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER have been removed to rooms on the second floor of the new Building of Young Friends' Association, at

N. W. Cor. 15th and Cherry Sts., PHILADELPHIA.*Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
George School, Penna.*SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,
(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
Swarthmore, Pa.*Friends' Central School,FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, }
ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, } Principals.

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted whenever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
Jenkitown, Pa.
CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.*Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit for business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.Chappaqua Mountain Institute,A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
Chappaqua, New York.*AQUILA J. LINVILL,Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL

PHILADELPHIA, FIFTEENTH AND CHERRY STREETS, TWELFTH MONTH 2, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

OFFICES: Y. F. A. BUILDING,
N. W. Corner Fifteenth and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XLVIII.,	901
POETRY: TWO VOICES,	901
NEED OF INCREASED INTEREST IN OUR BUSINESS MEETINGS: Paper by Susan H. Jarrett,	901
"SWARTHMORE IDYLLS": Review by Dr. Edward H. Magill,	903
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No 50,	904
EDITORIAL:
Nineteenth Century Afflictions,	906
Notes,	906
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	906, 907
DOUKHOBOR REPORT,	907
EXCURSION DAYS IN ENGLAND:
IV.—Over Hereford Hills,	908
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	909
THE LATE WILLIAM JONES (Portrait),	909
LITERARY NOTES,	910
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.,	911
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	911, 912
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	912
POETRY: To England; The Sparrow's Creed,	911, 912
CLARA BARTON ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE,	913
THE DISASTER AT DARJEELING,	914
THE PRICE OF WHEAT,	914
JUSTICE BREWER'S VIEW,	915
AN OLD COLORED WOMAN'S HOME,	915
MISCELLANY: The Children Question; The Evidence of Ice; What a Boy Costs; A Wordsworth That Is Wanted; Sun and Stars as Time- Keepers; Americans and the Boer War,	916
CURRENT EVENTS,	917
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	918
NOTICES,	918

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal
1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

Richards & Shourds, Jobbing attended to.
CARPENTERS, BUILDERS, AND CONTRACTORS.
1125 Spring St. (first street above Race), Philad'a., Pa.
Thompson Shourds, 2212 Wallace Street.
Charles W. Richards, 1250 Angie St., Tioga.

CHARLES BURTON,

Practical House and Sign Painter,
Office, 907 N. Thirteenth Street, } Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 1714 Woodstock Street, }

FOR RENT.—SUBURBAN HOME, IN A pleasant and convenient location, containing eight rooms. Piazas, lawn, garden, etc. About two acres together. Address S. S. LIPPINCOTT, Andalusia.

LADY, FRIEND, WISHES EMPLOYMENT—housekeeper, companion, or some light work. Address Box 20, Rancocas, N. J.

NURSE, A FRIEND, TRAINED AND EXPERIENCED, would like a position for the winter, either private or institution. Fond of the country. Reference from prominent Friends. Address No. 117, this Office.

FRIEND WANTS POSITION AS COMPANION, caretaker, and reader with invalid or elderly lady. Experienced. Address No. 99, this Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1656 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

PERMANENT AND TRANSIENT BOARDERS desired in a Friends' family in Washington, D. C. Address SARAH R. MATTHEWS AND SISTERS, 1920 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

LEARN SHORTHAND AT HOME.

Easiest, most legible, and best system successfully taught by mail, at moderate rates. Send for Free Lesson, Dept. M. PERNIN SCHOOL, 20 S. Broad St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Attractive Home at Private Sale.

A Farm of Fifty Acres, good improvements, eight-room Brick House, new Barn, excellent water, plenty of fruit. Near borough of West Grove, on P. & B.C.R. Call on, or address, REBECCA P. PENNELL, Jennersville, Chester County, Pa.

"Swarthmore Idylls."

A book of verse by JOHN RUSSELL HAYES. With eight illustrations of Swarthmore scenes by Robert Shaw. Bound, 75 cents; paper, 50 cents.

By the same author, "THE BRANDYWINE." Second edition. With eight illustrations by Robert Shaw. Bound, 75 cents; paper, 50 cents.

"THE OLD-FASHIONED GARDEN AND OTHER VERSES."

Bound, 75 cents.

At Friends' Book Association, Strawbridge & Clothier's, and Wanamaker's; and Wilmington and West Chester book stores. Or sent, post-paid, on receipt of price, mailed to College Book-Room, Swarthmore, Pa.

Many MOTHERS can testify to the VALUE of
DELAVALU'S REMEDY

AS A CURE FOR

WHOOPIING COUGH AND CROUP, also for BRONCHITIS, BRONCHIAL CATARRH, and ORDINARY COUGHS.

At DRUGGISTS.

JOHN FABER MILLER,

335 SWEDEN STREET, NORRISTOWN, PENNA.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

Practicing in Montgomery and Philadelphia counties

JOSEPH T. FOULKE,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

OFFICES: { 623 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.
Ambler, Montgomery Co., Pa.

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the STOCKHOLDERS OF SWARTHMORE COLLEGE will be held at Friends' Meeting-house, Race and Fifteenth Streets, Philadelphia, Penna., on Third-day, Twelfth month 5, at 2 o'clock, p.m.

ROBERT M. JANNEY, } Clerks.
ABBY W. MILLER, }

Young Friends' Association.

The Young Friends' Association Office is now open in the Association Building, 15th and Cherry streets, where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 8.30 a. m. and 5.30 p. m. Address all communications to

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION,
15th and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia.

WM. D. YARNALL & CO.

REAL ESTATE, CONVEYANCING

CITY, WEST PHILADELPHIA, AND DELAWARE CO.

Properties of Every Description Bought, Sold, Rented, or Exchanged.

MORTGAGES NEGOTIATED

We have unusually good securities to offer.

FIRE INSURANCE in Leading Companies.

ARCHITECT

Phone No. 9. 526 MAIN STREET, DARBY, PA.

Morgan Bunting Arthur Shrigley

BUNTING AND SHRIGLEY

ARCHITECTS

1420 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D
Stenographer

14 SOUTH BROAD STREET, PHILADA.

PRESUPPOSING THAT YOU HAVE A

CAMERA, or at least some of your family are Amateurs, we wish to call your attention to the fact that we make a specialty of Developing Kodak Films and Plates, Printing from them and Mounting on cards or in albums, Enlarging them for framing or Reducing for Miniatures, Touching up and Spotting out defects, and so making a pleasing picture of what otherwise might not be so.

We employ a number of experienced Artists, both men and women, who devote their whole time and energies to this work, enabling us to give much satisfaction to our Patrons.

We also keep a full supply of the best CAMERAS, PLATES, FILMS, and ALBUMS, indeed everything used by the Amateur.

Believing that promises and promptness are important factors in business, our customers may rely on us for the prompt fulfilment of engagements, for we appreciate the annoyance occasioned by failure to fulfill such.

Orders may be sent by mail and they shall have the same prompt attention and care.

THOS. H. MCCOLLIN CO.,
123 S. 11th St., Philadelphia.

We omitted to say we have a most complete shop especially fitted up for repairing of Cameras, Snap Shutters, etc., where all such repairs can be expeditiously made.

The Christmas Century.

"The Leading Monthly Periodical of the World."

From Ernest Seton-Thompson's
"Biography of a Grizzly."

Cover Design, The Christmas Angel Henry Hutt
In six printings.

The Old Master.
A Poem, with frontispiece by Louis Loeb, and decorations by Edward Edwards. Printed in tints.

The Christmas Dancers Edith Thomas
A legend of Saxony. With three full-page pictures and decorations by Henry Hutt. Printed in tints.

The Kid Hangs Up His Stocking Jacob A. Riis
A Christmas story of a newsboys' lodging-house. "Fellers, what d'ye t'ink? I'm blamed if de Kid ain't gone an' hung up his sock fer Chris'mas!" And how the boys broke "de bank" and filled the "sock." Illustrated by C. M. Relyea.

King Christmas and Master New Year Dr. S. Weir Mitchell
A Poem.

A Provençal Christmas Postscript Thomas A. Janvier
Christmas in Southern France—the Yule Log—the Great Supper—Noëls—Mistral's Story, etc. Illustrated by Louis Loeb.

The Art of Seeing Things John Burroughs
"Some people seem born with eyes in their heads, and others with buttons or painted marbles, and no amount of science can make the one equal to the other in the art of seeing things."

A Hill Prayer Marian Warner Wildman
Prize Poem in The Century's College Competition. With decorations and a full-page picture by Maxfield Parrish.

The Biography of a Grizzly Ernest Seton-Thompson
The second part of this delightful story, with three full-page pictures and marginal decorations by the author. "Mr. Thompson here demonstrates once more his unrivalled gift of describing animal life from the inside point of view; and here, as in the past, his pencil has ably supplemented his pen."—Commercial Advertiser.

Full-Page Engraving Timothy Cole
After Sir Thomas Lawrence's portrait of Lady Derby.

Out of the Fog Edward Marshall
A story, the action taking place on an ocean steamer.

Sailing Alone Around the World Captain Joshua Slocum
The personal narrative of the experiences of the sloop "Spray" in her single-handed voyage of 46,000 miles. A most entertaining narrative,—one of the best sea stories ever printed.

The Matrimonial Opportunities of Maria Pratt Virginia Woodward Cloud
A story. "I used to be a great hand for making matches. . . . I believe what opened my eyes was the way I labored over that Maria Pratt."

"I Believe" Margaret Sutton Briscoe
A brief essay on the heroism of self-confidence.

The Christmas Tree J. Alden Weir
A Picture, engraved on wood by Henry Wolf. Printed in tints.

The Autobiography of a Quack Dr. S. Weir Mitchell
A novelette, with illustrations by Arthur J. Keller.
"A story that from the very start promises to develop into a splendid story of adventure in modern life—a novel of the nineteenth century Ishmael."—Mail and Express, N. Y.

French's Washington.
An engraving of the head of the new equestrian statue by Daniel Chester French.

THE CROMWELL HISTORY.

By JOHN MORLEY.

"It is good to find writing like this in a monthly magazine.
The illustrations are superb." New York Tribune.

Mr. Morley's papers on Oliver Cromwell, of which this is the second, will be richly illustrated with original pictures and with reproductions of many of the most famous paintings in the great collections of Europe. The present instalment contains chapters on Puritanism and the Double Issue, the Short Parliament, the Long Parliament, the Fall of Strafford, etc.

OLD WHITEHALL PALACE AND WHITEHALL STAIRS.
From the Cromwell History.

One of Two Millions in East London Sir Walter Besant
Illustrated by Joseph Pennell and Phil May. The first of a series of papers on life in the East End of London, by the author of "All Sorts and Conditions of Men," the book that made possible the famous People's Palace. In this article Sir Walter Besant takes a single creature out of the millions and follows her from babyhood to marriage—in her childhood on the street, in the board school and the factory, her work-days and her holidays. The next article in the series will describe the life of the water side above London Bridge.

Zionism Richard Gottheil
"It is not in vainglorious pride, but in courage born of a strong hope, that I repeat the words which Disraeli, the great Jewish Zionist, when quite spent in years, said to a Jewish boy, 'Never forget that you and I belong to a race which can do everything but fail.'"

McCribben Sues the City Harry Stillwell Edwards
With illustrations by Frederic Dorr Steele. One of the most amusing stories ever printed in The Century. Mr. McCribben sues for $5000 damages on account of falling into a sewer, which was built in front of his house—"an' it wor illeven fate dape, an' two fate av wather standin' knay-dape in the same."

Glass Houses Gelett Burgess
A psychological comedy, in which there is a love story.

Put Up the Sword James Jeffrey Roche
A stirring poem by the author of "Ballads of Blue Water."

The Judgment of Peter and Paul on Olympus By the Author of "Quo Vadis"
A "poem in prose," by Henryk Sienkiewicz, author of "Quo Vadis," "With Fire and Sword," etc. It has not yet been published in Polish, and this translation, by Jeremiah Curtin, is the only one that has been made. In the story the heathen gods appear before Peter and Paul for judgment.

Fear and Death R. R. Bowker
A Poem.

Fakes and Fakirs Gustav Kobbé
An account of the exhibition of burlesque pictures that is held yearly by the Art Student's League of New York; reproducing some of the most amusing examples.

The Automobile Dray Virginia Fraser Doyle
With other bits of fun in the "Lighter Vein" department.

Printed in Tints. Price 35 Cents. On all News-stands.

SPECIAL TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS

After the issue of the December number, new yearly subscribers who begin with December will receive a copy of the November number free of charge, if they ask for it on subscribing, thus obtaining the first issue of the volume and the beginning of the important serials, including the Cromwell History. Remit $4.00 to the publishers,

FREE

THE CENTURY CO., Union Square, New York.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, FIFTEENTH AND CHERRY STREETS, TWELFTH MONTH 9, 1899.

THE NEW
PUBLIC LIBRARY
ASTOR, LENOX AND
TILDEN FOUNDATION

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN'S & CO.'S HOLIDAY BOOKS.

BACKLOG STUDIES

By CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER. Holiday Edition. With 12 illustrations and 13 headpieces by Edmund H. Garrett. 12mo, $2.00.

A beautiful edition of one of Mr. Warner's most delightful books, and a peculiarly attractive gift volume.

THE MARBLE FAUN

By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE. Roman Edition. Illustrated with 48 reproductions of carefully selected recent photographs of famous sculptures, paintings, and historic localities. Carefully printed, tastefully bound. 2 vols, 16mo, gilt top, $3.00.

THE TENT ON THE BEACH

By JOHN G. WHITTIER. Holiday Edition. A very good book for a gift. With rubricated initials and 12 full-page illustrations by Charles H. and Marcio O. Woodbury. 12mo, $1.50.

LOVELINESS

A Story. By ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS. With illustrations. Square 12mo, attractively bound, $1.00.

An exceedingly interesting story of a pet dog that almost fell a victim to vivisection, but was rescued.

THE OTHER FELLOW

Eleven strong, breezy stories by F. HOPKINSON SMITH. Illustrated. $1.50.

PLANTATION PAGEANTS

By JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS, author of the "Uncle Remus" and "Thimblefinger" stories. Fully illustrated by E. Boyd Smith. Square 8vo, $2.00.

Another of Mr. Harris's charming "Thimblefinger" books.

THE BOYS OF SCROOBY

By RUTH HALL, author of "In the Brave Days of Old." With a frontispiece illustration. 12mo, $1.50.

A JERSEY BOY IN THE REVOLUTION

By EVERETT T. TOMLINSON, author of "The Boys of Old Monmouth." With illustrations. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

THE HELPERS

A Novel of the Far West, by FRANCIS LYNDÉ. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

MR. JACK HAMLIN'S MEDIATION AND OTHER STORIES

By BRET HARTE. 16mo, $1.25.

A YOUNG SAVAGE

The story of a wild western girl civilized in New York, by BARBARA YECHTON. 12mo, $1.50.

A TENT OF GRACE

A striking story of race and religious hatred, with a strong love story, by ADELINA C. LUST. 12mo, $1.50.

THE DUTCH AND QUAKER COLONIES IN AMERICA

By JOHN FISKE. With 8 maps. 2 vols. crown 8vo, gilt top, $4.00.

Two delightful volumes, which describe the origin and growth of the colonies of New York and Pennsylvania.

THE END OF AN ERA

A very interesting and candid book on the South and the Southern Confederacy, by JOHN S. WISE. Large crown 8vo, $2.00.

REMINISCENCES

1819-1899. A book of uncommon interest, by JULIA WARD HOWE. With numerous portraits and other illustrations. Crown 8vo, $2.50.

MEMOIRS OF A REVOLUTIONIST

An extraordinarily interesting book, by P. KROPOTKIN. With three portraits. Small 8vo. $2.00.

CONTEMPORARIES

Delightful papers on Emerson, Theodore Parker, Whittier, Whitman, "H. H.," Garrison, Phillips, Sumner, etc., by THOMAS WENTWORTH HIGGINSON, author of "Cheerful Yesterdays," etc. 12mo, $2.00.

HORACE BUSHNELL

An admirable book on a great light of the American pulpit, by THEODORE T. MUNGER, D.D. With 2 portraits. 12mo. $2.00.

LIFE OF EDWIN M. STANTON

A work of remarkable interest on Lincoln's great War Secretary, by GEORGE C. GORHAM. Illustrated. 2 vols. 8vo, $6.00.

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL AND HIS FRIENDS

A delightful book of biography and reminiscence, by EDWARD EVERETT HALE, D.D. With 48 illustrations, including many portraits. 8vo, $3.00.

THE QUEEN'S TWIN AND OTHER STORIES

Another charming series of tales, two of them introducing scenes and characters of "The Country of the Pointed Firs," by SARAH ORNE JEWETT. 16mo, $1.25.

SQUARE PEGS

A readable novel, with high purpose, by Mrs. ADELIN D. T. WHITNEY. 12mo, $1.50.

PRISONERS OF HOPE

An historical novel of rare power, dramatic force, and literary mastery, by MARY JOHNSTON. With a frontispiece illustration. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

TIVERTON TALES

A book of delightful New England stories, by ALICE BROWN. 12mo, $1.50.

FOR SALE BY ALL BOOKSELLERS. SENT, POSTPAID, BY

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO., Boston. 11 East 17th Street, New York.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
 (LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
 WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 5 cents per line, one time; 4½ cents per line each insertion, five times. For longer insertion reduced rates which will be furnished upon application.

OFFICES: Y. F. A. BUILDING,
 N. W. Corner Fifteenth and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, XLIX., . . .	921
POETRY: IN EARNEST, . . .	921
THE GROWTH OF THE CHURCH, . . .	921
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No 51, . . .	922
THE "MOLOKAINS" IN THE TRANS-CAU- CASUS . . .	923
A PATHETIC DOUKHOBOR INCIDENT, . . .	925
EDITORIAL:
Ritual leads Romeward, . . .	926
Notes, . . .	926, 927
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS, . . .	927
DOUKHOBOR REPORT, . . .	928
NEWS OF FRIENDS, . . .	928
EXCURSION DAYS IN ENGLAND:
V.—In North Wales, . . .	929
JOSEPH CARPENTER, (Portrait), . . .	930
SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA CLIMATE, . . .	931
THE SOUTH AFRICAN WAR, . . .	932
LITERARY NOTES, . . .	933
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED, . . .	933
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . . .	933, 934
EDUCATIONAL, . . .	935
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES, . . .	935
POETRY: The Loom of Life; Put Up the Sword, . . .	925, 936
CURRENT EVENTS, . . .	936
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS, . . .	937
NOTICES, . . .	937

Brick's
 Mince Meat.

A Christmas Luxury.
 Makes a fitting climax to a good dinner.

Flavor Delicious.

Absolutely Pure and Wholesome.
 No Seeds. No Dirt.
 CLEAN.

EDGAR BRICK.

CROSSWICKS, N. J.

An Ideal Winter Breakfast Dish.

Pillsbury's VITOS, the ideal Wheat Food, makes popular dishes more popular. Take Griddle Cakes for instance. Nearly every one likes Griddle Cakes, but some find them indigestible, and heavy on the stomach. Griddle Cakes made of Pillsbury's VITOS are easily made and easily digested. They are satisfying and delicious. Served with maple syrup these winter mornings they form an ideal breakfast course.

PILLSBURY WASHBURN FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
 MAKERS OF PILLSBURY'S BEST FLOUR.

WANTED.—A RELIABLE PERSON, WHO IS a good plain cook and thoroughly understands general housework, in a family of four. House has every convenience for such a person. Good wages and a pleasant home. Address No. 118, this Office.

DRESSMAKER WILL DO ANY KIND OF sewing, by day or week, or take work home. Skirts a specialty. Also children's clothes. Reference. Address 1337 N. Hollywood St., Phila.

FOR RENT.—SUBURBAN HOME, IN A pleasant and convenient location, containing eight rooms. Piazzas, lawn garden, etc. About two acres together. Address S. S. LIPPINCOTT, Andalusia.

FRIEND WANTS POSITION AS COMPANION, caretaker, and reader with invalid or elderly lady. Experienced. Address No. 99, this Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

PERMANENT AND TRANSIENT BOARDERS desired in a Friends' family in Washington, D. C. Address SARAH R. MATTHEWS and SISTERS, 30 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Fruen's Whole Wheat Flour

10 lb. Bags, 35 cents.
 Cases of 9 Bags, $2.75.

Contains all the valuable nourishing properties of the two finest and richest wheats grown, without any of the indigestible, woody hull, which is removed.

In ordinary flour 80 per cent. of that part of the grain that nourishes and builds up nerve, bone, and muscle is bolted out, and what principally remains produces heat and fat, but not strength and force. Weak bones, flabby muscles, and defective teeth and eyesight may often be caused by want of these elements bolted out of white flour.

Fruen's Whole Wheat Flour contains all this valuable part of the grain without any of the indigestible woody fibre.

Makes a delicious, sweet, light brown bread.
 A postal card will bring it.

A. R. HILL, 21 S. Front St., Phila.

GEORGE B. COCK, Telephone 1-42-25 D
Stenographer
 14 SOUTH BROAD STREET, PHILADA.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

THE NEW PUBLICATION
ASTOR, LENOX AND
TILDEN FOUNDATIONS

PHILADELPHIA, FIFTEENTH AND CHERRY STREETS, TWELFTH MONTH 16, 1899.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
(LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.
To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.
To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers.
Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 5 cents per line, one time; 4½ cents per line each insertion, five times. For longer insertion reduced rates which will be furnished upon application.

OFFICES: Y. F. A. BUILDING,
N. W. Corner Fifteenth and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS,
DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSO-CIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, L.,	941
POETRY: THE FLOWER BY THE WALL, . . .	941
CUBA AFTER THE WAR (Illustrations), . .	941
FIRST-DAY SCHOOL SCRIPTURE LESSONS, No 52,	943
WILLIAM B. HARVEY'S DOUKHOBOR NOTES,	944
THE TRANSVAAL WAR,	945
A PRACTICAL SCRIPTURE LESSON,	946
ELIZA WIGHAM, OF EDINBURGH,	947
EDITORIAL: Upwise Giving,	948
Notes,	948
BIRTHS, DEATHS,	949
DOUKHOBOR REPORT,	949
EXCURSION DAYS IN ENGLAND: VI.—A Glimpse of "Cranford,"	950
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	951
FROM ISAAC WILSON,—I.,	951
BEARING TESTIMONY AGAINST WAR, . . .	952
FROM THE SCHOFIELD SCHOOL,	952
CIRCULATING THE "INTELLIGENCER," . .	953
THE FIRST-DAY SCHOOLS,	953
LITERARY NOTES,	954
PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED,	954
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	954
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . .	955
Y. F. A. BUILDING, PHILADELPHIA, . .	955
METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY FOR ELEVEN MONTH,	956
THE ART OF SEEING THINGS,	956
MISCELLANY: The Fear of Death; The Error of Militarism; Three Women Speakers; Warmth of Living Rooms, . .	957
CURRENT EVENTS,	958
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	959
NOTICES,	959

DRESSMAKER WILL DO ANY KIND OF
sewing, by day or week, or take work home.
Skirts a specialty. Also children's clothes. Reference.
Address 1337 N. Hollywood St., Phila.

FOR RENT.—SUBURBAN HOME, IN A pleasant and convenient location, containing eight rooms. Piazzas, lawn, garden, etc. About two acres together. Address S. S. LIPPINCOTT, Andalusia.

FRIEND WANTS POSITION AS COMPANION,
caretaker, and reader with invalid or elderly lady.
Experienced. Address No. 99, this Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON
can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

PERMANENT AND TRANSIENT BOARDERS
desired in a Friends' family in Washington, D. C.
Address SARAH R. MATTHEWS and SISTERS,
20 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

DR. LEWIS W. DARLINGTON,
DENTIST
1513 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

LEARN SHORTHAND AT HOME.
Easiest, most legible, and best system successfully taught by mail, at moderate rates. Send for Free Lesson, Dept. M. PERNIN SCHOOL,
20 S. Broad St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Attractive Home at Private Sale.
A Farm of Fifty Acres, good improvements, eight-room Brick House, new Barn, excellent water, plenty of fruit. Near borough of West Grove, on P. & E.C.R.
Call on, or address,
REBECCA P. PENNELL,
Jennersville, Chester County, Pa.

A SATISFACTORY PRESENT.
"DOWN THE O-H-I-O," a Story of Quaker Life.
By CHARLES HUMPHREY ROBERTS.
Sent postpaid to any address for 50 cents, by C. H.
KELLER, Manager, 614 Roanoke Building, Chicago, Ill.

FOR CHRISTMAS! JUST OUT!
Lloyd Mifflin's New Book
ECHOES OF GREEK IDOLS. $1.00.
At all Philadelphia Booksellers.
"At the Gates of Song." $1.23.
"The Slopes of Helicon." $1.00.
Both finely Illustrated. Sent postpaid.

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of "The Pennsylvania Society for Promoting the Abolition of Slavery, and for the Relief of Free Negroes Unlawfully Held in Bondage, and for Improving the Condition of the African Race" will be held at Friends' Parlor, 15th and Race streets, Philadelphia, on Twelfth month 28, 1899, at 3 p. m.
It is proposed, at this meeting, to consider, for presentation to the Court of Common Pleas, certain amendments to the Charter.
JOSEPH M. TRUMAN, JR., Secretary.

Young Friends' Association.

The Young Friends' Association Office is now open in the Association Building, 15th and Cherry streets, where those wishing information may apply between the hours of 8.30 a. m. and 5.30 p. m. Address all communications to
YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION,
15th and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia.

College OF Commerce

and SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND
1520-22 Chestnut St., Phila.

Practical Business Training for Both Sexes.
Day and Evening Sessions.

T. H. M'COOL, Ph. D., Principal.
Call or Write. Catalogues Free.

Morgan Bunting Arthur Shrigley
BUNTING AND SHRIGLEY
ARCHITECTS
1420 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Fruen's Whole Wheat Flour

10 lb. Bags, 35 cents.
Cases of 9 Bags, $2.75.

Contains all the valuable nourishing properties of the two finest and richest wheats grown, without any of the indigestible, woody hull, which is removed.

In ordinary flour 80 per cent. of that part of the grain that nourishes and builds up nerve, bone, and muscle is bolted out, and what principally remains produces heat and fat, but not strength and force. Weak bones, flabby muscles, and defective teeth and eyesight may often be caused by want of these elements bolted out of white flour.

Fruen's Whole Wheat Flour contains all this valuable part of the grain without any of the indigestible woody fibre.
Makes a delicious, sweet, light brown bread.
A postal card will bring it.

A. R. HILL, 21 S. Front St., Phila.

Brick's Mince Meat.

A Christmas Luxury.
Makes a fitting climax to a good dinner.

Flavor Delicious.

Absolutely Pure and Wholesome.
No Seeds. No Dirt.
CLEAN.

EDGAR BRICK.

CROSSWICKS, N. J.

SHOTS AT RANDOM

A Book of Poems.

By Howell Stroud England.

To be had at all booksellers. Price one dollar.

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY
New York City, 1899.

Mr. England has a happy aptitude in alternatives, passing from grave to gay and from gay to heroic with more than ready ease of treatment.—Philadelphia Item.

NOW READY.

"Personal Reminiscences of Anti-Slavery and Other Reforms and Reformers,"

By AARON M. POWELL.

THIS volume, which was left unfinished by the author at the time of his death, has been completed by his sister, Elizabeth Powell Bond, and is published by his widow, Anna Rice Powell. It contains reminiscences of the leading Anti-Slavery Advocate, William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, Lucretia Mott, Lydia Maria Child, John G. Whittier, and other reformers. It will have especial interest for Friends, and all interested in Philanthropic Work, and will be of peculiar value to the young. The author had repeatedly said that he intended this book to be his "legacy to the young people." The volume contains several portraits and cuts of letters not heretofore published.

Price, $2.00; by Mail, $2.20.

Orders will be received by Mary Travilla, West Chester, Pa.; Prof. W. I. Hull, Swarthmore, Pa.; Isaac Roberts, Conshohocken, Pa., and by the Publisher, Anna Rice Powell, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR SALE BY

Friends' Book Association, Philadelphia.

"Swarthmore Idylls."

A book of verse by JOHN RUSSELL HAYES, With eight illustrations of Swarthmore scenes by Robert Shaw. Bound, 75 cents; paper, 50 cents.

By the same author,

"THE BRANDYWINE." Second edition.

With eight illustrations by Robert Shaw. Bound, 75 cents; paper, 50 cents.

"THE OLD-FASHIONED GARDEN AND OTHER VERSES."

Bound, 75 cents.

At Friend's Book Association, Strawbridge & Clothier's, and Wanamaker's; and Wilmington and West Chester book stores. Or sent, post-paid, on receipt of price mailed to College Book-Room, Swarthmore, Pa.

Friends' Book Association,

OF PHILADELPHIA

Publishers, Booksellers, Stationers,

Blank Book Manufacturers,

Engravers, and Printers,

Artists' Materials,

Kindergarten, School Supplies.

Everything relating to the Kindergarten and School.

S. W. corner Fifteenth and Race Streets.

Ellwood Roberts' Publications.

The attention of Friends and others is called to the following publications which may be had of the author, Ellwood Roberts, Norristown, Pa., by remitting the price, he paying freight or postage.

LYRICS OF QUAKERISM.

Seventy poems on topics relating to Friends; 256 pages, 14 half-tone illustrations, uncut, bound in cloth, gilt top. Suitable for holiday gift. Only a few copies remain. Price, $1.25. Special rates to Friends' or First-Day School libraries.

OLD RICHLAND FAMILIES.

Octavo volume, cloth, gilt top, uncut, 246 pages. Elegantly illustrated. Forty pages devoted to the records of Richland Monthly Meeting (Quakertown, Pa.), from 1743. Information as to fifty families of Friends of Eastern Penna., whose descendants are found in many States. Edition limited to 200; a few copies remain. Price, $5.

PLYMOUTH MEETING.

In press. Same size, style, and binding as above. Only 150 copies are being printed, and after the first hundred copies have been sold, the price will be advanced. Everything authentic that can be gleaned in reference to an interesting meeting in Montgomery county, Pa., including its early history, biography, marriages, deaths, burials, etc. Order at once. Price, $2.00. Ready about Fourth month 1, 1900.

EARLY ABINGTON FRIENDS.

In preparation. Uniform with the two previously mentioned.

ELLWOOD ROBERTS, Norristown, Pa

Free for Ten Days

Any of the following books will be sent on approval, postage paid. Either return the book or send money within Ten Days.

Practical Christianity

By RUFUS M. JONES, Litt.D.

This is a collection of short, practical articles on important religious subjects. It deals with questions which every thinking man must meet in a practical way, and it contains a positive message for the times. In these fifty-three essays many of the most important phases of the spiritual life receive consideration, and the notes of hope and victory, and faith in the overcoming life, are everywhere manifest. It is a book which should appeal to all classes of Christians. The book also contains a suggestive chapter on "The Message of Quakerism."

18mo. 208 pages. Oxford laid paper. Bound in extra silk cloth, gilt top. Price, $1.00.

Quaker Poems.

A Collection of Verse relating to the Society of Friends, gathered from all Sources, and edited, with Introduction and Notes, by Charles Francis Jenkins.

About Sixty poems on a great variety of subjects, from about fifty authors, illustrative of the principles of the Society—its history, personelle, associations, customs, etc. There are selections from Whittier, Bayard Taylor, Holmes, Longfellow; while the English poets are represented by Charles Lamb, William Wordsworth, Robert Southey, William Howitt, Bernard Barton and others.

Forty Illustrations: Portrait of George Fox, from the painting by Sir Peter Lely; also, portraits of William Penn, Whittier, John Bright, Joseph Gurney, and of other well-known Friends to whom poems refer. Also, pictures of many places of historical interest referred to in the text.

Nearly 300 pages, large 18mo, well-printed on good paper, neatly bound in cloth, gold side lettering and design, $1.25. Will be sent postpaid on receipt of price.

Our Red Brothers

AND THE

Peace Policy of President Ulysses S. Grant.

By LAWRIE TATUM, formerly United States Indian Agent.

A most interesting book relating to the history and customs of the Indians, written by one who has spent much time with "Our Red Brothers," and who is well equipped for the task he has undertaken. "The prime motive for writing this volume has been to record some important items of history in connection with the Indians and the overruling providence of God, and to show that 'the Peace Policy' in dealing with the Indians, which commenced in 1869, has proved a great blessing to them, to the government, and to people of the nation."

Containing 386 pages, well printed on good paper, neatly bound in cloth, with gold lettering on side and back. Sixteen full page half-tone engravings.

Price, $1.25.

THE LIFE AND LETTERS OF

Elizabeth L. Comstock,

Compiled by her sister, C. HARE,

WITH PORTRAIT.

This interesting book consists largely of extracts from letters written and received by Elizabeth L. Comstock during her long sojour in America. Her experiences in visiting prisons, asylums, hospitals, etc., during the time of the American war, are most graphically described, and form interesting reading. Her visits to England and Ireland form part of the concluding chapters.

18mo. Cloth. 590 pp. With portrait. Price, $1.50.

Penelvé; or, Among the Quakers.

An American Story by

RICHARD H. THOMAS, M.D.

Author of "Echoes and Pictures," "A History of the Society of Friends in America," etc. Preface by W. C. Braithwaite, B.A., LL.B.

Five original full-page illustrations.

The story is intended to portray home life among the Society of Friends in the Eastern Middle States, in its influence upon a serious-minded man, fresh from the New York world and agnostic in his faith.

350 pages, 8vo. Handsomely bound in cloth. Price, $1.25.

ANY OF THE ABOVE BOOKS WILL MAKE A SUITABLE PRESENT FOR CHRISTMAS OR NEW YEARS

John C. Winston & Co., Publishers, 718 ARCH STREET
PHILADELPHIA

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, FIFTEENTH AND CHERRY STREETS, TWELFTH MONTH 23, 1899.

Publisher's Department.

. We want names of persons to whom we may send sample copies of the INTELLIGENCER. Let us have as many as you can give us.

. We have, we think, good prospects for the INTELLIGENCER next year. Our plans as to its contents should make it more interesting and more valuable than in the time gone by.

. It helps the prompt receipt of our letters to have on them the P. O. box number—"Box 924." When they have only the street number they are liable to be sent first to the Chestnut street sub-station, and from there they must be sent to the Central Post-office, Ninth and Chestnut Streets.

Payments to Club-Getters.

THERE are a large number of Friends, men and women, in different parts of the country, who interest themselves in behalf of the circulation of the INTELLIGENCER,—"get up Clubs" for us. We are unable to make them much compensation; we give them a free copy with each ten paid names. Their labor for the paper is therefore in large part a labor of love. Sometimes, when they write us on the subject, they say that they do not themselves receive all the money for forwarding to us, but advance part out of their own pockets, and then have trouble getting it. This is certainly not fair to them.

A friend advanced in years, who has long been one of our best supporters, in a postal card note sent recently, says: "I was in hopes that you would find some younger person to attend to the matter, as I am now between eighty and ninety. However I will try to give it renewed attention, as soon as I can, for I feel a great interest in the matter." And then he closes with this sentence: "No one has offered me the pay for the paper for 1900, and not all have yet paid what I advanced for 1899."

We hope that this allusion to the subject may have a good effect where needed. It must, of course, be an oversight on the part of those who have not paid up.

A Book on the South.

The Passenger Department of the Southern Railway Company (whose lines extend from Washington City southward into Virginia, the Carolinas, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi), sends us a remarkable volume, "The Empire of the South," a book of 184 quarto pages, and some 500 illustrations. It is remarkable because its text-matter is an excellent description, intelligently prepared, of the region traversed by the S. R. lines, and also for the wealth of fine illustration. Nothing so good in either respect, referring to the South, is within our knowledge. The pictures have been made from the best photographs, and they are "worked" by engraver and printer in the best possible style of the art of reproduction. The author is Frank Presbrey, New York City, and he is quite justified in feeling proud of his work.

It is interesting to note, among the abundant stores of information and description, what opportunity there is for people yet in the Southern States. They have an average population of 9 to the square mile; Belgium has 541 to the square mile, and Saxony 606. The United Kingdom, (England, etc.), has 315 to the square mile, and if the Southern States were so densely peopled they would have 256,000,000 inhabitants.

Copies of the book can be had by sending 15 cents, (for postage), to Ch. Hopkins, Division Passenger Agent, 828 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

MOTHER'S HELP WANTED.—CAPABLE young woman who has had some experience with children, and who can sew. Must be bright, of good disposition, and a cheerful companion. Address No. 120, this Office.

WANTED.—CAPABLE WOMAN OF EXPERIENCE to do up-stairs work and help in care of children. Address MRS. W. H. LEWIS, 335 North Franklin Street, West Chester, Pa.

FOR RENT.—SUBURBAN HOME, IN A pleasant and convenient location, containing eight rooms. Plazas, lawn, garden, etc. About two acres together. S. S. LIPPINCOTT, Andalusia, Pa. 2 1/2 m.

FRIEND WANTS POSITION AS COMPANION, caretaker, and reader, with invalid or elderly lady. Experienced. Address No. 99, this Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

PERMANENT AND TRANSIENT BOARDERS desired in a Friends' family in Washington, D. C. Address SARAH R. MATTHEWS and SISTERS, 1920 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

DR. LEWIS W. DARLINGTON,
DENTIST,
1513 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

FOR SALE OR RENT.

A ten-roomed house, all modern conveniences, with front and back stairways, near George School Trolley running by the door, connecting with Doylestown and Bristol. Apply to GARRET B. GIRTON or HORACE G. REEDER, Newtown, Bucks county, Pa.

LEARN SHORTHAND AT HOME.

Easiest, most legible, and best system successfully taught by mail, at moderate rates. Send for Free Lesson, Dept. M. PERNIN SCHOOL, 20 S. Broad St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Attractive Home at Private Sale.

A Farm of Fifty Acres, good improvements, eight-room Brick House, new Barn, excellent water, plenty of fruit. Near borough of West Grove, on P. & B. C. R. Call on, or address, REBECCA P. PENNELL, Jennersville, Chester County, Pa.

A SATISFACTORY PRESENT.

"DOWN THE O-HI-O," a Story of Quaker Life.

By CHARLES HUMPHREY ROBERTS.

In Tasteful Cloth Binding. Sent postpaid to any address until January 10, for 50 cents, by C. H. KELLER, Manager, Room 614, No 145 La Salle Street, Chicago, Ill.

Morgan Bunting Arthur Shrigley
BUNTING AND SHRIGLEY
ARCHITECTS
1420 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

College of Commerce

and SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND

1520-22 Chestnut St., Phila.

Practical Business Training for Both Sexes.
Day and Evening Sessions.

T. H. M'COOL, Ph. D., Principal.
Call or Write. Catalogues Free.

Established 1850 at 824 North Second Street.

WATCHES.

As one of the oldest houses in the watch trade—established three generations ago—and up to date in every feature of the business, we are able to offer the best and most serviceable watches for the least money. Give us a call.

GEO. C. CHILD,
11 S. 9th St., (below Market, opposite Post Office.)

FOR CHRISTMAS! JUST OUT!

Lloyd Miffin's New Book
ECHOES OF GREEK IDYLS. $1.00.

At all Philadelphia Booksellers.

"At the Gates of Song." $1.23.
"The Slopes of Helicon." $1.00.

Both finely Illustrated. Sent postpaid.

NOW ON PRESS

BUSHIDO:

The Soul of Japan.

An Exposition of Japanese Thought.

By INAZO NITOBE, A. M., Ph. D.,
Professor in the Imperial College,
Sapporo, Japan.

Author of "History of the Intercourse between the United States and Japan," "Landed Property in Japan," etc., etc.

About 115 pages, 12mo., white leatherette cover. Price, postpaid, 75 cents.

Books intended for Christmas or New Year's presents will be mailed (with your card enclosed) so as to be delivered Christmas or New Year's morning. Address

The Leeds & Biddle Co.,

1019-21 Market Street,

PRINTERS AND PUBLISHERS Philadelphia.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association.
 (LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers residing west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME.
 WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 5 cents per line, one time; 4½ cents per line each insertion, five times. For longer insertion reduced rates which will be furnished upon application.

OFFICES: Y. F. A. BUILDING,
 N. W. Corner Fifteenth and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Do~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, LI., . . .	961
POETRY: CHRISTMAS,	961
THE MINISTRY OF THE SABBATH. By Elizabeth Powell Bond,	961
SOUTHERN QUARTERLY MEETING AND ITS MEMBERSHIP. (Illustration),	963
WHAT IS TRUE SUCCESS?	964
"THE SENSE OF THE MEETING,"	964
PASTORATE TROUBLES,	965
AT THE TOMB OF GROTIUS,	965
EDITORIAL:
Friends, "Olden Time" and Modern, Notes,	966
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	967
DOUKHOBOR REPORT,	967
FROM ISAAC WILSON.—II.,	967
NEWS OF FRIENDS:
Prairie Grove Quarterly Meeting, . . .	968
STATISTICS FROM BALTIMORE,	968
SCRIPTURE LESSONS,	969
LITERARY NOTES,	970
EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,	970
CONFERENCES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC., . .	971, 972
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	973
COMMUNICATION:
Joseph Carpenter's Picture,	973
ANNUAL MEETING PEACE SOCIETY, . . .	973
POETRY: Be not so Sad; The Battle of Blenheim,	973, 974
PROHIBITION IN MAINE, (Concluded), . .	974
LABORS OF DOUKHOBOR WOMEN,	975
THE ART OF SEEING THINGS,	976
DECISION AND ACTION,	976
MISCELLANY: Aid for the Boer Wounded; Black as "Mourning"; War and Irrigation; Advantages of the Moccasin; College Girls as Debaters,	977, 978
CURRENT EVENTS,	978
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	979
NOTICES,	979

Please mention FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, when answering Advertisements in it. This is of value to us and to the advertisers.

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of "The Pennsylvania Society for Promoting the Abolition of Slavery, and for the Relief of Free Negroes Unlawfully Held in Bondage, and for Improving the Condition of the African Race" will be held at Friends' Parlor, 15th and Race streets, Philadelphia, on Twelfth month 28, 1899, at 3 p. m. It is proposed, at this meeting, to consider, for presentation to the Court of Common Pleas, certain amendments to the Charter.

JOSEPH M. TRUMAN, JR., Secretary.

SHOTS AT RANDOM

A Book of Poems.

By Howell Stroud England.

To be had at all booksellers. Price one dollar.

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY
 New York City, 1899.

There is a strong and loyal Americanism in Howell S. England's volume, "Shots at Random."

NOW READY.

"Personal Reminiscences of Anti-Slavery and Other Reforms and Reformers,"

By AARON M. POWELL

THIS volume, which was left unfinished by the author at the time of his death, has been completed by his sister, Elizabeth Powell Bond, and is published by his widow, Anna Rice Powell. It contains reminiscences of the leading Anti-Slavery Advocates, William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, Lucetta Mott, Lydia Maria Child, John G. Whittier, and other reformers. It will have especial interest for Friends, and all interested in Philanthropic Work, and will be of peculiar value to the young. The author had repeatedly said that he intended this book to be his "legacy to the young people." The volume contains several portraits and cuts of letters not heretofore published.

Price, $2.00; by Mail, $2.20.

Orders will be received by Mary Travilla, West Chester, Pa.; Prof. W. I. Hull, Swarthmore, Pa.; Isaac Roberts, Conshohocken, Pa. and by the Publisher, Anna Rice Powell, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR SALE BY

Friends' Book Association, Philadelphia.

Many MOTHERS can testify to the VALUE of

DELAVALU'S REMEDY

AS A CURE FOR

WHOOPIING COUGH and CROUP, also for BRONCHITIS, BRONCHIAL CATARRH, and ORDINARY COUGHS.

At DRUGGISTS.

AQUILA J. LINVILL,

Dealer in Choice Lehigh Coal.

1827 North 10th Street, Philadelphia.

F. GUTEKUNST, FINE ART IN PHOTOGRAPHY

712 Arch St., Philad'a, Pa.

Branch, 1700 N. Broad St.

CLEMENT A. WOODNUTT,

Undertaker

and Embalmer,

1728 GIRARD AVENUE, PHILADELPHIA.

Telephone 2-29-38-D.

Swarthmore College,

SWARTHMORE, PENNA.

WM. W. BIRDSALL, President.

Under care of Friends. Send for Catalogue.

George School,

NEAR NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PA.

Under the care of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Course of study extended and thorough, preparing students either for business or for College.

For catalogue, apply to

GEORGE L. MARIS, Principal,
 George School, Penna.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

(Formerly SWARTHMORE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.)

New stone buildings; cottage plan; light, heat, ventilation, and drainage the best; combined advantages of individual attention and class enthusiasm.

For circulars address

ARTHUR H. TOMLINSON, Principal,
 Swarthmore, Pa.

Friends' Central School,

FIFTEENTH AND RACE STS.,
 PHILADELPHIA.

Under care of the Monthly Meetings of Philadelphia; furnishes a practical, guarded education, and prepares for college.

JOSEPH S. WALTON, }
 ANNA W. SPEAKMAN, } Principals.

Circulars on application.

Abington Friends' School,

FOR BOARDING AND DAY PUPILS OF BOTH SEXES.
 Near Jenkintown, Penna., 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Liberal course of study. Students prepared for college or business. The home-like surroundings make it especially attractive to boarding pupils. Students admitted wherever there are vacancies. Send for circulars to

GEORGE M. DOWNING, M.S., Principal,
 Or,
 CYNTHIA G. BOSLER, Sec'y, Ogontz, Pa.

Friends' Academy,

LOCUST VALLEY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

A Boarding and Day School for Boys and Girls, under the care of Friends. Thorough instruction to fit or business or to enter college.

Terms are moderate by reason of endowment.

For particulars address,

FRIENDS' ACADEMY, Locust Valley, N. Y.

Chappaqua Mountain Institute,

A FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL FOR
 BOYS AND GIRLS.

The building is modern, and the location is the hill country thirty-two miles north of New York City.

For Circulars, address

CHAPPAQUA MOUNTAIN INSTITUTE,
 Chappaqua, New York.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY MILK

CONSHOHOCKEN Special attention given to serving DAIRIES. ing families. Office 603 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Penna.

JOSEPH L. JONES.

Offices Removed.

The offices of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER have been removed to rooms on the second floor of the new Building of Young Friends' Association, at

N. W. Cor. 15th and Cherry Sts.,
 PHILADELPHIA.

FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER AND JOURNAL.

PHILADELPHIA, FIFTEENTH AND CHERRY STREETS, TWELFTH MONTH 30, 1899.

PUBLISHER'S DEPARTMENT.

Our Outlook for 1900.

WE can see, at this time, what some of the contents of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER, in 1900, are likely to be.

We have in hand:

1. John William Graham's Paper on Isaac Penington. It is not only an interesting personal sketch of that devoted and worthy pioneer of Truth, but a searching and suggestive study of essential Quakerism—one of the best pieces of literary work our friend has produced.

2. Travel sketches in the Canadian Provinces. A paper to be printed in three numbers. By Dr. Newlin Williams,—who intimates that he has more such in mind.

3. A paper on Edwin Markham, the poet, by Henry Bryan Binns, of York, England, who knew Markham in California.

4. The second Biography in our series of "Worthy Friends of the 19th Century," that of Benjamin Hallowell, is nearly ready, but the materials need some editorial revision and arrangements—which engagements of the editor during 1899 prevented. It will be on the plan of the paper on Samuel M. Janney, and will have several illustrations.

Our friend Isaac Wilson, now on his way to the Pacific Coast, on a religious journey, will write us, it is expected, from week to week, of his trip.

We are preparing a series of Signed Articles on various subjects of present-day concern. These will be, probably, mostly by the Managing Editor, who feels that in such a series he will be able to present more fully than in an ordinary editorial article facts and views that seem to be called for.

We expect to continue the several Departments of the paper already established, and may add one or two. We shall use, probably, more illustrations in 1900 than in any previous year, though we do not mean to admit any unsuitability to the INTELLIGENCER. We shall have letters and contributions from many Friends, as usual.

One of the interesting events of the year for Friends will be the Conferences at Chautauqua, in Eighth month. These will be reported, and the papers read will be printed as far as possible. These Conferences of 1900 can hardly fail to be of unusual importance and interest.

Altogether we feel that the prospect for a good paper the coming year is bright. We ask all our old friends to sustain us, and we hope to make many new ones. The circulation of the INTELLIGENCER was never before up to the present mark. It is nearly twice as great as was the circulation of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER at the time of union with the in 1885.

. Names for sample copies are coming in. Occasionally a friend writes, "I know of no names to send." We think in such cases our friends may regard the paper as of interest only to those already connected with our religious body. It has, we believe, a wider interest than this. Names may be sent of those who might care to look at a sample copy, leaving further results to the future.

. We have some calendars sent us for 1900. A striking one is sent by the H. T. Paiste Company, manufacturers of electric light supplies, whose factory is in this city, and main western business place 703 Omaha Building, Chicago. This calendar has a portrait in color of an Indian girl, the original having been made at Fort Sill by E. A. Burbank. A convenient small calendar is sent out by the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

. Letters whose answer will be a favor to the first writer and not of advantage to one addressed, should of course always contain a stamp to carry the reply. Though this is a well-known rule, and one of the most obvious reasonableness, it is surprising how often it is disregarded.

. No; this is not the first year of the Twentieth Century. Why? Because it takes a hundred years to make a century, and nineteen hundred years to make nineteen centuries. We begin the Twentieth Century with the year 1901.

Bread the Great Food.

Leading up to the conclusion that the best form of bread is a great object, and suggesting that whole wheat bread is that best form, the manufacturers of the Franklin Mills flour, advertised elsewhere in the INTELLIGENCER, say:

"All food is comprehended in this one word—Bread. It is so the world over. During the famine in India, the cry that rose from that far-away land and was borne across the sea to us, was a cry for Bread; when in the days of Lafayette, the starving and maddened people of France crossed the Seine and mounting the hill stormed the place of Versailles, and the Queen appearing upon the balcony essayed to quiet their frenzy with promises, their terrible shoutings were for Bread; and the uprisings among the poor and hungry of London that are the most vividly remembered tragedies of that great city are the outbreaks of the masses in their fierce demands for Bread.

"The makers of literature also in seeking to group together all the wage-workers of the world in one graphic word, have called them the Bread-winners; and one of the world's periods of most wonderful and far-reaching Epoch-making events was ushered in by the going down of Jacob and his children into Egypt at the invitation of Joseph, the Prime Minister, in answer to his starving brethren's appeal for Bread.

"That is to say, from the beginning of recorded time throughout all the world, and by all people until this day, the primary and only absolutely essential food, the only food that will of itself supply every need of the human body, is Bread."

"With these facts in mind, it is manifest that the highest wisdom of man could not be more nobly employed than in producing a Flour containing in the largest possible measure the vital elements of a perfect Bread food. And it is not a little singular that these vital elements of the physical life are not found in any considerable sum in the high-priced fine white flours."

Telephone.

There is now a telephone in the Young Friends' Association Building, by which FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER can be spoken to. The number is 36-68. When our friends want to communicate with us in haste keep this in mind—INTELLIGENCER Telephone, 36-68.

. Those who send us lists of names have to say, nearly every year, "there will be some dropped, who are dead." Yes, and sorry we all are. In many cases, however, a member of the family continues the subscription—the son in the father's place, the daughter in the mother's. In any case, we want a new name in place of the old one,—besides all others that can be had.

. We wish all our readers a Happy New Year!

. It helps the prompt delivery of our mail matter to have the box address—Box 924.

. Our advertising columns have been filling up in the past two months and we think they will continue so. The use of the INTELLIGENCER as an advertising medium was never so well warranted on business grounds as now.

. No newspaper is more read or more carefully read than the small-page, neatly-printed, carefully-edited weekly. Any page in it is a good page for the advertiser.

. Fruen's Whole Wheat Flour, advertised elsewhere by A. R. Hill, 21 S. Front St., Philadelphia, is reported to have all the good qualities attainable in such an article.

. FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER Telephone—36-68.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
Friends' Intelligencer Association,
 (LIMITED.)

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER ANNUM.

To subscribers reading west of the Mississippi River a discount of one-fourth from this rate, making the price $1.50 per annum.

To those who get up and forward "Clubs" we will give one extra copy, free, for each ten subscribers. Single copies, 5 cents.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME. WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO DISCONTINUE, NOTICE MUST BE GIVEN. WE DO NOT "STOP" PAPERS EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUBSCRIBER.

ADVERTISING RATES.—For transient advertisements, 5 cents per line, one time; 4½ cents per line each insertion, five times. For longer insertion reduced rates which will be furnished upon application.

OFFICES: Y. F. A. BUILDING,
 N. W. Corner Fifteenth and Cherry Sts., Philadelphia.

REMITTANCES by mail should be in CHECKS, DRAFTS, or POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS; the last preferred. Money sent us by mail will be at the risk of the person so sending. ~~Do not~~ Draw checks and money orders to the order of FRIENDS' INTELLIGENCER ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

CONTENTS OF THIS ISSUE.

A GOOD WORD EACH WEEK, LII., . . .	981
POETRY: A NEW YEAR MELODY, . . .	981
CHURCH OR MEETING. By Caroline E. Stephen, . . .	981
THE FRIENDLY RENAISSANCE. By Robert E. Reese, . . .	982
A BOOK ON THE "EASTERN SHORE," (Illustrations), . . .	983
OLD TESTAMENT LESSONS, 1899.—No. 1., . . .	986
VILLAGE SCENES NEAR METZ, 1870, . . .	987
EDITORIAL:
Pastors and Tent-Making,	988
Notes,	988
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS,	989
FRIENDS' MEETING AT OXFORD, ENG., . . .	989
NEWS OF FRIENDS,	990
FROM ISAAC WILSON.—III.,	990
DISOWNMENTS, SIXTY YEARS AGO, . . .	991
LITERATURE:
Recent Issues of Verse,	991
Notes,	992
AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT FROM DOUKHO-BORS,	992
THOUGHTS FOR THE TIME,	993
A MONUMENT FOR FLUSHING,	993
LINES FROM LOWELL,	994
THE USE OF A "GOOD WORD,"	994
PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES,	995
THE WIRELESS TELEGRAPHER,	995
MISTAKEN METHODS,	996
A POTATO DAY,	996
"SABBATH" AND FIRST-DAY IN JERUSALEM,	996
MISCELLANY: One Man Ministry; The Lash in the Wrong Place; Getting Liquor into Maine; Newspaper Publicity; Dr. Parkhurst Emphatic; The Spanish Losses in Cuba,	997, 998
CURRENT EVENTS,	998
NEWS AND OTHER GLEANINGS,	999
NOTICES,	999

YOUNG FRIENDS' ASSOCIATION OF PHILADELPHIA have arranged for a lecture by WALTER A. WYCKOFF, of Princeton, University, on to be delivered in the Auditorium of the Young Friends' Association Building, corner 15th and Cherry Streets, on Fifth-day, First month 18, 1900, at 8 o'clock. Admission 50 cents.

"The Social Problem,"

WILLIAM H. GASKILL,
 Chairman Lecture Committee.

MOTHER'S HELP WANTED.—CAPABLE young woman who has had some experience with children, and who can sew. Must be bright, of good disposition, and a cheerful companion. Address No. 120, this Office.

WANTED.—BY TWO ADULTS, BOARD FOR three months in Friends' family in Philadelphia. Address, Box 299, Moorestown, N. J.

WANTED.—TO RENT ONE OR TWO ROOMS to one or two ladies. 1863 Willington St., Phila.

WANTED.—A CAPABLE YOUNG MARRIED couple to take charge of a farm of one hundred acres on the halves, or salary. Friends preferred. ALISON BAKER, Smyrna, Lan. Co., Pa.

WANTED.—CAPABLE WOMAN OF EXPERIENCE to do up-stairs work and help in care of children. Address, MRS. W. H. LEWIS, 335 North Franklin Street, West Chester, Pa.

FOR RENT.—SUBURBAN HOME, IN A pleasant and convenient location, containing eight rooms. Piazzas, lawn, garden, etc. About two acres together. S. S. LIPPINCOTT, Andalusia, Pa.

FRIEND WANTS POSITION AS COMPANION, caretaker, and reader with invalid or elderly lady. Experienced. Address No. 99, this Office.

PARTIES DESIRING TO VISIT WASHINGTON can be accommodated with rooms and board in a Friends' family. One block from street cars passing railroad stations, Capitol, and public buildings. Terms, $1.50 a day. Address, FRIEND, 1626 Nineteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

DR. LEWIS W. DARLINGTON,
 DENTIST,
 1513 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

FOR SALE OR RENT.

A ten-roomed house, all modern conveniences, with front and back stairways, near George School Trolley running by the door, connecting with Doylestown and Bristol. Apply to GARRET B. GILTON or HORACE G. REEDER, Newtown, Bucks county, Pa.

LEARN SHORTHAND AT HOME.

Easiest, most legible, and best system successfully taught by mail, at moderate rates. Send for Free Lesson, Dept. M. PERNIN SCHOOL, 20 S. Broad St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Attractive Home at Private Sale.

A Farm of Fifty Acres, good improvements, eight-room Brick House, new Barn, excellent water, plenty of fruit. Near borough of West Grove, on P. & B.C.R. Call on, or address, REBECCA P. PENNELL, Jennersville, Chester County, Pa.

THE PENNHURST, Open all the year
 Michigan Ave., near the Beach, Atlantic City.
 The house has every convenience, including electric elevator, running to level of pavement, steam heat, etc. Send for illustrated booklet. JAMES HOOD.

THE AQUARILLE, OPEN ALL THE YEAR
 OCEAN END OF TENNESSEE AVE.
 Atlantic City, N. J.
 Enlarged, remodelled, steam heat, electric bells, heated sun parlor, home-like and comfortable.
 M. E. and H. M. HUMPTON.

Information Wanted.

THE persons named below are registered as members of New York Monthly Meeting, and have not been heard from for several years.

Any information as to their present address, if living, or date of death, if deceased, or any other information in relation to them, will be gladly received by GEORGE A. McDOWELL,

Clerk of the Monthly Meeting,
 457 West 21st Street, New York City.
 George Edward Brown, son of George E.
 Nathaniel M. Coffin, certificate from Troy, 1845.
 Frederick L. Coggeshall, son of George D.
 Gilbert D. Everingham, son of Joseph D.
 Arthur E. Firmin, by request, 1882.
 William Freeborn, son of Thomas.
 Philip Hale, certificate from Miami, 1870.
 Edward Hicks Healey, certificate from Westbury, 1857.
 Wilson Merritt Hosier, son of John.
 Charles S. F. Hubbard, by request, 1881.
 Mary Jones, sister of Elizabeth and A. E. Freeborn.
 George Augustus Lawton, son of Charles.
 Sarah B. Osborn, certificate from Evesham, 1864.
 Louisa Ransom, daughter of Wm. F. Leggett.
 John T. Refford, by request, 1887.
 Elizabeth Covert, daughter of John Dodgson.
 Charles A. Smith, certificate from Baltimore, 1871.
 Henry H. Smith, certificate from Creek, 1845.
 Sarah Jane Sutton, certificate from Scipio, 1855.
 Samuel A. Townsend.
 Dr. George M. Ward, certificate from Spruce street, Philadelphia, 1881.
 Charles Williams, certificate from Coeymans, 1836.
 Deborah Ann Williams, certificate from Amawalk, 1853.

Many MOTHERS can testify to the VALUE of DELAVAU'S REMEDY

AS A CURE FOR

WHOOPIING COUGH AND CROUP, also for BRONCHITIS, BRONCHIAL CATARRH,
 and ORDINARY COUGHS.

AT DRUGGISTS.

NOW READY.

"Personal Reminiscences of Anti-Slavery and Other Reforms and Reformers,"

By AARON M. POWELL.

THIS volume, which was left unfinished by the author at the time of his death, has been completed by his sister, Elizabeth Powell Bond, and is published by his widow, Anna Rice Powell. It contains reminiscences of the leading Anti-Slavery Advocate, William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, Lucretia Mott, Lydia Maria Child, John G. Whittier, and other reformers. It will have especial interest for Friends, and all interested in Philanthropic Work, and will be of peculiar value to the young. The author had repeatedly said that he intended this book to be his "legacy to the young people." The volume contains several portraits and cuts of letters not heretofore published.

Price, $2.00; by Mail, $2.20.

Orders will be received by Mary Travilla, West Chester, Pa.; Prof. W. I. Hull, Swarthmore, Pa.; Isaac Roberts, Conshohocken, Pa.; and by the Publisher, Anna Rice Powell, Plainfield, N. J.

FOR SALE BY

Friends' Book Association, Philadelphia.

SHOTS AT RANDOM A Book of Poems.

By Howell Stroud England.

To be had at all booksellers. Price one dollar.

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY
 New York City, 1899.

Howell Stroud England is the author of an interesting volume of verse which has just appeared. Many of the lines show the delicate touch, vivid coloring, and poetic spirit that we expect to find in great poets. Some of the war poems are very stirring, but in the lighter verse Mr. England is more pleasing.—Syracuse Daily Mail.

JUST PUBLISHED

BUSHIDO:

The Soul of Japan.

An Exposition of Japanese Thought.

By INAZO NITOBE, A. M., Ph. D.,

Professor in the Imperial College,
 Sapporo, Japan.

Author of "History of the Intercourse between the United States and Japan," "Landed Property in Japan," etc., etc.

140 pages, 12mo., white leatherette cover. Price, postpaid, 75 cents.

Books intended for New Year's presents will be mailed (with your card enclosed) so as to be delivered New Year's morning. Address

The Leeds & Biddle Co.,

1019-21 Market Street,

PRINTERS
 AND PUBLISHERS

Philadelphia.

This book is under no circumstances to be taken from the Building

[illegible]

Form 410

B. APR 24 1917

